SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., April 29, 1935 (U.S.D.A.): Cattle and hogs registered price losses as the week opened, slaughter steers being around 25c or more off, cows 50c-$1.00 lower than last week's best time. Medium to good yearlings and light steers brought $8.50-10.50, some kinds held around $11.50 and above. Medium to good heifers earned $7.75-10.00, cutter and common $4.00-7.00, beef cows $5.25-8.00, low cutters and cutters $3.00-4.75, common to medium bulls $5.25-6.25, beef bulls $6.75 or more. Medium to good stock steers brought $6.50-8.00, plainer lightweights $4.00-6.00, stock heifers $5.00-6.50, stock cows $4.00-5.50. Vealers were mostly 50c lower, better grades $6.00-7.50 or above, cull and common $3.50-5.00.

Better 190-250 lb. hogs brought $8.40-8.50, a few $8.60. Good to choice 160-190 lb. earned $8.00-8.40, light lights $7.50-8.00, desirable pigs $7.25-7.75, good sows $7.65-7.90, mostly $7.75 up, Better 290-375 lb. butchers brought $8.15-8.40.

Lamb trade was slow, tending lower. A part deck of 90 lb. good to choice clipped lambs brought $7.00, some held higher. Medium to good wooled lambs sold at $6.75-7.00. Good to choice clipped ewes brought $3.00-4.00, comparable wooled ewes $4.00-5.00.

Northern Packing Co. Grand Forks

Tuesday, April 30th.

Hogs and cattle were offered in light supply from trucks.

HOGS—Market is fully steady. Well finished butcher hogs weighing from 190 to 300 lbs. sold here today at from $8.15 to $8.40 with a top of $8.40 paid for the best kinds weighing 210 to 260 lbs. Packer sows sold mostly at from $7.00 to $7.50.

CATTLE—Market is weak without much change in quotation. Medium to good steers, heifers and yearlings continue to sell at from $8.50 to $8.00 while the common and fair steers and heifers ranged mostly from $4.00 to $8.00; butcher cows sold mostly at from $4.50 to $6.00. Canners and cutters brought from $4.00 downward. Good heavy bulls ranged from $5.00 to $6.25 while the medium and light kinds sold mostly at from $4.50 downward.

CALVES—Market is very weak. Only the very best vealers are salable here at $5.75 to $8.00 other kinds ranged from 5.50 downward.

SHEEP— Desirable lambs are very scarce. The market is about steady; strictly desirable killing lambs may sell here at from $6.50 to $8.50.

Seed Corn Should be Treated This Spring, U Farm Man Advises

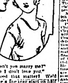
Two outstanding reasons make it important to treat seed corn this spring, says J. J. Christensen, plant disease specialist, University Farm, St. Paul. First, many lots of seed are badly infected with molds which gained entrance through earworm injury last summer. Second, drouth prevented corn from maturing normally last summer, and seedlings from such seed are less resistant to certain diseases. Consequently, says Mr. Christensen, if the spring is cool and moist, low yields, resulting from poor germination, seedling blight, and root rot, may be expected.

Losses can be avoided by treating seed, using either Merko or New Improved Semesan, Jr. The chemicals are inexpensive and easy to apply. The cost amounts to about 20 cents per bushel of seed or 2½ cent an acre.

The seed can be treated in any apparatus that will mix the seed corn and chemical dust thoroughly, such as an old barrell churn or any similar homemade device containing baffle plates. The important thing to remember is that the mixing is not complete until the seeds are thoroughly coated with the dust, which should be applied at the rate of 2 ounces per bushel. Larger amounts may injure the seed. Seed may be planted as soon as treated or stored for later planting.

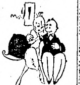
Persons mixing the two dusts [illegible] should avoid inhaling them; [illegible] are poisonous. A dust mask [illegible] over the mouth and nose will protect [illegible]

A GOOD START



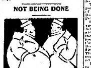
"Why won't you marry me?"
"Because I don't love you."
"Why need that matter? We'd simply have a five year start on half the people in our set."

TAKING A CHANCE



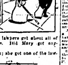
Girl—Do you believe there are germs in kisses?
Young Man—I don't know. But I'm always willing to volunteer for any.

NOT BEING DONE



"It would be a lot of trouble."
"What would?"
"If we were all as honest as we expect the other fellow to be."

THE REMNANTS



"Do the lawyers get about all of the estate. Did Mary get anything?"
"Oh, yes; she got one of the lawyers."

USUAL RUN

Mrs. Townbred—How many servants do you keep?
Mrs. Suburbs—About one out of twelve.

FORESIGHT

"What do you suppose he sees in her that is so attractive?"
"Her wealthy parents, perhaps."

NO USE NOW

"Say, look at my head after taking all that hair tonic. I'm completely bald."
"Well, you don't need hair; you've nothing to protect."

300 Grooms at Track

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Thief River Falls, Minnesota

The City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in regular session in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on April 23, 1935. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with all members present.

Minutes of the meetings of April 9th and 11th were read and were declared as approved.

Paul Lundgren representing the Civic & Commerce Association of the City appeared before the Council with recommendation that the City Council proceed with the necessary details towards the securing of additional electric generating equipment and in order to save time in the matter he urged that the question of financing be brought to the attention of the Citizens in the form of a special election as quickly as possible. He also recommended that at the time when the light and power rates are to be revised that the one meter system be adopted. On motion of Alderman Gislebein the City Attorney was instructed to prepare the necessary proceedings for the calling of a special election on bond issue. The motion was seconded by Aldermen Knight and carried.

Victor [illegible], operating an auto paint shop and body works at 305 Bridge Street requested permission to make a sanitary sewer connection with the river at a point directly above the Bridge Street bridge. A motion was made by Alderman Christofferson, which was seconded by Alderman Gislebein, that the matter be referred to the Health Officer of the City, which motion was declared carried.

In a written communication the Auxiliary of American Legion Unit No. 117 expressed their thanks to the City Council for the use of the Council Chambers as a check room during the Spring Exposition.

Applications for building permits were presented, as follows: [illegible], residence, Lots [illegible], Block [illegible], Red Lake Rapids, cost $4,200.00; M. T. McFarland, residence, Lots [illegible], Block 27, O. T. S. cost [illegible]. Motion was made by Alderman Knight, seconded by Christofferson and carried that the same be approved and granted.

[illegible] appeared before the Board and objected to the necessity for closing his shooting gallery on LaBree Avenue at 11:00 o'clock and also to the amount of license fee required by ordinance. The matter was referred to the Mayor for recommendation.

The matter of the objections to the parking of trucks on the north side of 4th Street, between Main and LaBree Avenue was referred to the Police and Street Department.

In the matter of tax reduction against Lot 9, Block 2, P. [illegible] Addition presented by Harry [illegible], the accumulated taxes being for the years 1921 to 1931, motion was made by Alderman Jung that the Council recommend to the County Board of Pennington County that [illegible] be accepted in full settlement. The motion was seconded by Alderman Gislebein and the same adopted unanimously.

The City Attorney was instructed to appear on behalf of the City in the matter of tax exemption hearing of St. Lukes Hospital Association to be held in the near future.

Mayor Hinkel announced the appointment of [illegible] as Poundmaster for the year 1935 and recommended that his fees be set as follows: For disposing of dogs $1.00 each, for licensing of dogs, ½ of the license fee, which arrangement was unanimously approved.

In the matter of the hearing set for this date, April 23, 1935, notice of such hearing having been served on Farmers and Merchants State Bank and Charles Fiterman, occupant, the building situated on the West 40 feet of Lots 1 and 2 and 3 of Block 13, of the Original Townsite, which adjacent property owners had petitioned the Council for removal, the Council was informed by telegram that the defendant, Charles Fiterman was an inmate of a Minneapolis Hospital and was unable therefore to appear, and had no one present to represent him in the matter. A motion was made by Alderman Gislebein that the City Attorney be instructed to issue an order setting an extension of 30 days time from the date of this meeting for which the building could be used for its present purpose, according to the requirements of Ordinance No. [illegible] and moved the adoption of the said motion. The motion was seconded by Alderman Christofferson and unanimously adopted.

Alderman Christofferson introduced a resolution approving for payment various current bills against the city and moved its adoption. The motion was seconded by Alderman Gislebein and unanimously adopted.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned to April 30th, 1935, at eight o'clock P. M.

P. O. MYHRUM,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

RESOLUTION

At a regular meeting of the City Council held April 23, 1935 Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Alderman Gislebein, introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Chances for Profits in Grass and Legume Seed Producing Seen

Minnesota farmers have an unusual opportunity to profit during the next few years by producing grass and legume seed to supply the demand which seems likely to exist, says Andrew Boss, state director of AAA programs, University Farm, St. Paul.

With soil moisture ample in most parts of the state this spring, now is a good time to plant grass and legumes for seed production of basic crops under the various agricultural adjustment programs, as well as any other suitable land, may be used for such seed production, Mr. Boss points out.

Factors which have created an unusual shortage of grass and legume seed and which promise, for some time to come, to maintain a strong demand for such seed are as follows:

1. The unusually large number of failures of new seedings of these crops, due to drouth, and of old stands, due to winter-killing. These stands must be replaced.

2. The government's efforts to control washing and blowing of the soil, both through public projects and encouragement given farmers under the agricultural adjustment programs. The planting of grass and legumes is an essential part of these programs. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is also encouraging farmers to plant legumes to restore the fertility of their rundown fields.

Grass and legume crops, from which seed crops can be grown successfully in Minnesota, include the following: red clover, alsike clover, mammoth clover, sweet clover and timothy. Reed canary grass can also be produced successfully on fertile, lowland meadows. Alfalfa seed, in most years can be produced more successfully in western and northwestern Minnesota than in other parts of the state. Grimm alfalfa seed is most in demand because of the hardiness of this variety. It should be planted whenever long-time stands and the production of seed in favorable seasons are the factors to be considered.

DUST STORMS DRIVE DUCKS, GEESE EAST

Hills—Big flocks of geese traveling northward are reported in several sections of the state, the dust storms in the southwest apparently driving those which would ordinarily have gone north through the Dakotas and Montana through this section. A flock estimated at from two to three thousand birds settled in fields north-east of Hills in the fields where the grain had been seeded but not covered over, many farmers are reporting the loss of all their seed, which will necessitate another seeding. If the birds fly back down through Minnesota the way they are coming up, the hunting will be a sportsmen's paradise this fall.

FOUR BROTHERS MARRY FOUR SISTERS—A HABIT

Cokato—Residents of Cokato apparently believe in keeping things in the family! There are three Cokato brothers married to three Cokato sisters, P. L. Johnson, Swan L. Johnson and Nels Johnson all having married a trio of Dahl sisters. In addition, a fourth brother, the late Otto Johnson, was married to a fourth Dahl sister.

SEVEN U. S. ROUTES INCLUDING T. H. 73 CHANGED IN STATE

U. S. Highway 59 to Replace State Highway 73 Thru Thief River Falls

Route numbers of seven U. S. highways in Minnesota including Highway 73 thru this city, will be changed by the state highway department the latter part of this week to conform to a revision of U. S. routes recently announced at Washington. Several state trunks also are affected. The new numbers are shown on the 1935 state highway maps, just issued.

Following are the changes:

U. S. 59 replaces Minnesota Trunk Highway 73 from Pembina on the north to the Iowa line on the south.

U. S. 10 enters Minnesota at Prescott, Wis., instead of at Hudson, and follows U. S. 61 to its present junction with U. S. 10 in St. Paul. U. S. 10 replaces Trunk Highway 94 between Prescott and U. S. 61.

U. S. replaces U. S. 50 from Iowa line through Rochester to Lake City follows U. S. 61 to Red Wing and replaces T. H. 58 from Red Wing to Wisconsin line.

Trunk Highway 73 replaces T. H. 63 from Moose Lake to Gheen.

U. S. 65 from the south ends in Minneapolis. From Minneapolis north it becomes Minnesota Trunk Highway 65.

U. S. 69 replaces T. H. 13 between Albert Lea and the Iowa line.

Trunk Highway 94 replaces T. H. 69 in and west of Duluth.

U. S. 212 from the west ends in St. Paul. From St. Paul to Stillwater it becomes T. H. 212.

U. S. 218 from the south ends at Owatonna. From Owatonna north to Brainerd it becomes T. H. 218.

"Laddie" Film Shown at Avalon Next Sunday

Gene Stratton-Porter's world famous story, "Laddie" will be presented at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday, the scene of the story being an Indiana farm in the 1870's. The title role is played by John Beal, last seen opposite Katharine Hepburn in "The Little Minister." Others in the cast are Gloria Stuart, Charlotte Henry, Gloria Shea, Donald Crisp and Dorothy Peterson.

Crookston Pirates to Open Northern League Season Next Wednesday

On Wednesday afternoon, May 8th, the Crookston Pirates will enter their third season as an entry in the Northern League. Their opponents for the take-off contest will be their bitterest rival in the loop, the Greater Grand Forks Colts. The opener will be at Highland Park, Crookston, and will commence at 4:30 P. M.

Manager Danny Boone, has this year assembled a more likely looking bunch of youngsters for training than in either of the two previous seasons. He has retained six of the regulars that were with him last year and even though his pre-season squad is the smallest in number, their caliber has caught the eye of the fans who have watched the Pirates in the spring training activities.

Boone, this year has entered into a working agreement with the Milwaukee Baseball Club, a member of the American Association, whereby he gets the pick of the youngsters on that club who are not quite ready for that class of baseball. Personally selecting just what he wanted and needed, the Crookston manager spent a week at the Milwaukee Club training camp at Hot Springs, and returned with four players.

Northern Chevrolet Co., Gonvick, Holds Opening

Members of the staff of the Northern Chevrolet company went to Gonvick Saturday to attend the formal opening of the company's branch in that village. A huge crowd was attracted by the event, a feature of which was dancing with old and modern music supplied by two orchestras. A resident of the Clearbrook community was announced as the winner of a Chevrolet car given away in the course of the evening. Arthur Abbott of this city is actively connected with the Gonvick branch, and William Sandeen is also located there for the present.

Last of Series of 4-H Leader Meetings Held

The last of a winter series of meetings for developing 4-H club leaders among the older boys and girls engaged in various club projects was held Tuesday evening in the Civic and Commerce association rooms with 22 present. The meetings have been held at regular intervals since January.

Gets Ten Day Sentence for Drunken Driving

George Snyder, who was arrested on Johnson st. April 14 on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, pleaded guilty before District Judge M. A. Brattland last Friday and was sentenced to serve ten days in jail an was forbidden to drive a car for the next three months.

CENSUS OF FARMS SHOWS BIG GAIN IN NUMBER OCCUPIED

Supervisor Reports Gain of Fourteen Per Cent in 9th District

An increase of fourteen and a half per cent in the number of farms in the Ninth congressional district in the five-year period from 1930 to 1935 is indicated in the final report of C. W. Bouvette, supervisor of the agricultural census for the district. Farms gained in number from 31,633 in 1930 to 36,206 this year.

The increase is believed to be largely due to the arrival of many families from the drouth stricken districts of the Dakotas and elsewhere, and in locating here the great majority of them have chosen the eastern counties of the district, where fuel is plentiful, land is cheap and the water supply above average.

Every county in the district shows a substantial increase ranging from around six per cent in Norman, Clay and Wilkin to twenty-nine per cent in Clearwater, twenty in Roseau and eighteen in Beltrami.

This does not mean new farms to any great extent. While a few new places have been opened, the great bulk of the increase has come through occupation of farms that were idle in 1930. As a result there are now very few idle and abondoned farms left in the district. The new places opened are generally small, consisting of a few acres and usually located close to the larger towns, and a number along the lakes and rivers.

Charged With Operating Automobile While Drunk

Arrested by local police Monday evening on Third st. on a charge of driving while intoxicated, Herbert Marquis appeared Tuesday before Judge J. M. Bishop in municipal court, where he waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the next term of district court under $200 bonds.

More Marriage Licenses Issued Past Two Months

A substantial increase in marriage licenses issued from the office of Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund took place during the past two months, ten applications being filed in April and six in March, compared to six and three for the respective months of 1934. A total of 25 licenses were issued up to May 1 this year, compared to 20 for the same period last year.

Red Lake Falls Cuts Bonded Indebtedness

Retirement of another $10,000 of city bonds was announced by the Red Lake Falls city council Monday evening following their regular business meeting, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette.

The $10,000 bonds to be retired at this time is a part of $79,000 bond issue and all of the series up to 1917 are now paid, there being no further payments due before that time on this issue. There will no doubt be a substantial reduction in the city levy for next year on account of this bond and interest reduction.

During the past year the city's indebtedness has been reduced approximately $35,000. $23,000 of bonds have been taken up and outstanding city warrants in the amount of $9,000 have been redeemed. The interest saving along on this amount of debt would be at least $1,500.

Neighboring Masonic Lodges Guests at Past Masters Night in City

Members of thirteen Northwestern Minnesota Masonic lodges have been invited to be guests of the local lodge at a past masters' night scheduled for this evening. Former masters of the lodge will be in charge of the program and will exemplify third degree work, and lunch will be served at the close of the evening. Lodges invited to be represented include those at Mahnomen, Crookston, Fosston, East Grand Forks, Argyle, Stephen, Hallock, Roseau, Warren, Baudette, Bemidji and Red Lake Falls.

GOVERNOR'S VETO PREVENTS BIG CUT IN PROPERTY TAX

Sponsors of Program State Battle Will Not be Given up

Taxpayers in this county lost a $65,44[illegible] reduction in their general property taxes when Governor Olson vetoed the omnibus tax replacement bill, the Minnesota Federation of Associations for Tax reform reported in a communication received here today urging property owners to continue the fight for relief.

The total represents the amount which general property owners in this county would have saved from eliminating the state tax levy and from distribution of additional state aid to schools here. The bill provided for paying state expenses out of the proceeds of a new $21,000,000 tax replacement fund and as finally passed by large majorities in both houses would have allowed a distribution of at least $6.20 in additional state school aid for each child of compulsory school age.

Fight Will Continue

The fight for relief for general property taxpayers is not over, however, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the Minnesota Federation of Associations for Tax Reform, said in his communication, and all agencies working for a readjustment of the tax burden now will redouble their efforts.

"The governor blocked efforts for any immediate relief to owners of general property," he said, "but he could not thwart entirely the movement to reduce taxes on homes and farms. The legislature passed a bill submitting to a vote of the people in 1936 a constitutional amendment which would do away with the state levy on general property with the exception of the one-mill road and bridge levy. Approval of the governor is not required to submit a constitutional amendment, and the people may adopt it despite the governor.

"We are going to keep up the fight, not only for this amendment, but for other measures that will bring about a proper reduction in taxes on real estate and other general property. A state tax levy of 14.95 mills has been authorized in 1935, or fully 3 mills more than the record levy of last year. With an increase like that staring us in the face, property owners now must get together and fight for their existence. "More than thirty states have passed measures raising money from other sources to reduce taxes on homes and farms. It is unthinkable that the will of one man should prevent that relief in Minnesota."

SEDAN DESTROYED BY FIRE SUNDAY EVENING

A Graham sedan driven by Arthur Bugge, for the purchase of which he had been negotiating, was almost completely destroyed late Sunday night when it caught fire on the highway a mile and one-half south of the city. The car was the property of Mrs. E. A. Stoughton.

Wednesday, May 1, brought the annual trapping season to a close in Minnesota. On that date the legal season for the trapping of skunks ended. No open season was declared in the state this spring on muskrats.

STATE SOLONS END BIENNIAL SESSION IN ST. PAUL THURSDAY

Applicants denied a pension may appeal to the board of control which shall be the final judge in such matters, the measure provides.

With enactment of its omnibus 22-million dollar revenue bill to relieve the tax burden on real estate blocked by Governor Olson's veto during the closing hours, the major laws written into the statutes by the 1935 Legislature were:

The old age pension bill.

Fourteen measures sponsored by the Minnesota Crime commission and the Minnesota Law and Order League and designed to lessen crime and increase efficiency of law enforcement agencies in the state.

Exemption of all household goods and farm machinery from taxation, sought for many years and finally authorized by a constitutional amendment adopted in 1934.

A bill to submit to voters in 1936 a constitutional amendment abolishing the state property levy except for the 1-mill road and bridge tax.

The crime prevention bills, most of which already have been signed by Governor Olson, increase the personnel of the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension from 12 to 28 men, increase the State Highway patrol from 70 to 100 men, establish a state police system, create two prison camps for first offenders, require notice of an alibi defense in criminal trial and make several other changes in present laws designed to speed up prosecution of criminals.

The bills were drafted by a crime commission, comprising nearly 100 prominent citizens from all parts of the state, and the Law and Order league did most of the work to support the bills before committee in both houses.

SUMMER HOMESITES AVAILABLE IN STATE

Grover Conzet, Director of the Minnesota Division of Forestry, announced that there are still a large number of desirable lakeshore lots available for lease. These lots which rent for a normal fee of $10 a year are situated on some of the most desirable lakes in the northern part of the state. All of the lots provide at least 75 feet of lakeshore and run back from the short 150 to 300 feet. They are for the most part heavily wooded.

AVERAGE OVER 70 MILES PER HOUR IN QUICK TRIP

Fergus Falls.—Clear the highway for Flynn Olson and Izzy Green, who believe in tying the foot accelerator of their car to the floor while driving. A record of 70.3 miles per hour was established by these two in a drive from Fergus Falls to Minneapolis recently. They started from down town in Fergus Falls at 6 a. m. and drove up to the curb of a downtown Minneapolis hotel at 7:49 a. m., making a time of two hours and 49 minutes for the 198 miles, the deported distance between the cities listed by the A A A. The small amount of traffic on the highway in the early morning gave the opportunity for such fast time. Twenty-five years ago a day was required to make the trip, and that was considered right fast.

Home Management Topic Chosen Wednesday for 1936 Women's Project

At a meeting in this city Wednesday afternoon Miss Julia O. Newton, home demonstration agent at University Farm, St. Paul, discussed with township chairmen plans for the woman's project to be carried out in Pennington county next spring. The 15 township leaders present decided on Home Management I as the 1936 project. Topics to be discussed at a series of monthly meetings beginning next March include the home work shop, money management, health and labor savers for the homemaker, cleaning made less hectic and storage space throut the house. The project will be organized and carried out with the assistance of Mary M. Miller, state home management specialist.

Farmers and Money Win War With Grasshoppers, University Farm Says

A total of $464,500 spent for grasshopper control in Minnesota, during the four years, 1931-1934 inclusive, saved $28,000,000 in crops, according to reports received from county officers and farmers by the State Department of Agriculture and the University agricultural extension division, University Farm, St. Paul.

A total of $484,500 was appropriated by the state for this period. Of this, $20,000 remained unexpended on January 1, 1935. All but 2.5 per cent of the appropriation used was for materials and their transportation. Poison bait was the only form in which grasshopper funds were received by farmers of the state.

Farmers were organized to do their own work in protecting their own crops, by the county agents and the county leaders, under the leadership of officials from the office of the state entomologist. In other words, the project was carried on with the idea of helping the farmer to help himself under an extreme emergency condition which was obviously caused by no act of his own.

THREE HUNTERS BAG 138 CROWS

Barnesville— Three Barnesville sportsmen have the "jump" on other hunters of clay county who plan to enter crow shooting contests this year. Game Warden H. E. Streich reported that Al Olson, Ed Home and Frank Racek, all of Barnesville, went out one evening recently into a tree claim near there and bagged 138 crows between them. They estimated that there were at least 3,000 crows in the flock, which represented more or less of a cloud rather than a flock of birds. Branches of trees nearby were black with the crows, and it was simply a case of opening up into the middle of the tree with both barrels.

Relief Garden Output in State is Expected to Treble Last Year's

Sufficient quality seed from Minnesota growers to start over 50,000 subsistence gardens, or almost three times the number planted last year, is being shipped out to the various county relief workers for free distribution to clients, it is announced by O. A. Dahlberg, garden supervisor, social service division, Minnesota SERA (State Emergency Relief administration).

Every relief case in towns of 5,000 population, or less, may have a garden. The value of the yield will not affect the budget deficiency. The gardeners are urged to store any surplus for use next winter. Canning centers will be established in every county in the fall.

Last year, according to the supervisor, the relief garden projects made possible the preservation of a million and a half cans of vegetables. The total output this season may approach $5,000,000 in value.

CONSERVATION WEEK PROGRAMS MAY 5 TO 11

Well known conservation authorities and enthusiasts will carry a plea to Minnesotans to conserve and restore as far as possible the dwindling natural resources of the state during Conservation week, May 5-11, and on Arbor and Bird day, Friday, May 3. Minnesota radio broadcasting stations have provided liberally of valuable time so that messages on various phases of conservation may be presented to the people of the state.

FIRST PAGEANT OF SEASON AT ITASCA PARK HELD JUNE 30

To Tell Story of Arrival of Early Fur Traders and Missionaries

Far and wide has spread the fame of the pageants at Itasca park sponsored annually by Northwestern Minnesota Historical society. Each year has seen greater interest and better planned, more elaborately presented pageants. The pageant now in preparation for 1935 is no exception, says the Wadena Pioneer-Journal.

It concerns the history of Minnesota from the arrival of John Baptiste Cadotte, who first sensed the fur-trading possibilities of Minnesota, through to the arrival of the first settlers and missionaries.

The pageant should be of more than usual interest to folks in this locality as Cadotte, on his trip of exploration through Minnesota came up the Mississippi to Pillager and then traveled by canoe up the Crow Wing, the Leaf, into the Leaf Lakes, over the OtterTail lake and thence by way of the Red River of the North to Winnipeg.

Picturesque oxen, prairie schooners, and Indian settings will be stressed this year with more emphasis also being placed upon the music.

The first pageant will be presented at Itasca park on June 30 and presentations will be made on alternating Sundays until the first of September.

At the first pageant of commission of ten prominent Norwegians will be present. The fame of the Itasca pageants has crossed the water and these men will be in the audience to witness the pageant and see if something of a similar nature cannot be adapted to a setting in some of the national parks in Norway.

Arvid Salmi, Grand Rapids, dropped thru the ice to a depth of 35 feet in his truck, but broke a window and managed to get ashore.

Former Local Family Joins in Alaska Trek Under U. S. Auspices

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Erickson and family of Rhinelander, Wisconsin, until nine years ago residents of Thief River Falls, are one of a group of Wisconsin families that will leave May 12 enroute to Alaska to share in the federal government's huge rehabilitation program. Each family is allowed to take 2,000 pounds of personal belongings on the trip to Alaska. Arriving there, they will be furnished with a 40-acre farm, of which about six acres will be cleared the first year. The government is loaning approximately $3,000 to each farmer. Two hogs, two sows, some chickens and a house and barn will be furnished. Horses and tractors will be used on a community basis, three or four farmers using the same team.

U. S. Meat Stocks Down to Point Below Average

"Meat stocks held in cold storage houses of the United States continue light, and available information regarding future supplies of meat animals indicates that stocks undoubtedly will continue to diminish," says the weekly market bulletin issued by the Central Co-Operative Association, farmer owned, livestock selling agency at South St. Paul. Total meat stocks on April 1 this year were 806,083,000 lbs., compared with an average of 858 million pounds for the last five years. In 1919 stocks were heaviest at 1,354,261,000 lbs. Present stocks are among the lightest on record for this season of the year.

FINED FOR MISUSE OF AUTO LICENSE PLATES

Frank Burdick of this community was brought into municipal court Friday by the state highway patrol on a charge of wrongful use of automobile license plates. Following his plea of guilty he was ordered to pay a fine of $25 and costs.

TO VOTE SOON ON CONTINUATION OF WHEAT PROGRAM

Two Local Men Present at Discussion of Plans in St. Paul Monday

Vast acreages still available for wheat hold a threat of surpluses and lower prices, M. L. Wilson of Montana, assistant secretary of agriculture and the principal author of the voluntary domestic allotment plan, told a state conference of representatives of county wheat production control associations and agricultural extension workers at the Minnesota college of agriculture in St. Paul Monday.

Present at the conference were County Agent R. M. Douglass and Alfred Longren, president of the Pennington County Wheat Production Control association. They announced on their return that the directors of the association will meet in a few days to arrange details of the forthcoming vote on continuation of the wheat adjustment plan.

In his address Monday Mr. Wilson revealed greater flexibility has been set as the major goal of future wheat adjustment programs, urging wheat farmers to cast their votes in a nationwide referendum May 25 to determine whether the farmers want further curtailed acreages and other allotment schemes.

Decision to offer a program in the future will hinge on an affirmative vote by wheat producers in the coming referendum, he explained. He said that the tentative outline of the future program would call for:

Continuation of the individual farm contract system with the same base period for acreage and production.

Maximum reduction which might be required in any given year 25 per cent.

Prolonging the period of the contract for three to four years in order to cut down administrative expenses, with provision for optional termination of the contract at the close of any marketing year after a referendum of contract-signers.

Stressing greater flexibility through authorizing wheat allotment committees to adjust acreage to take care of unusual cases.

Encouragement of employment of control acreage for long-time non-competitive and erosion-preventing crops.

Providing for participation by farmers and their representatives in drafting of programs and entirely voluntary participation in them.

Mr. Wilson did not think the 53-cent advance in wheat prices in the last two years was an indication these prices could be maintained, because of the large acreages on which wheat can be grown.

O'TOOLE NEW CHIEF WARDEN

Effective May 1, Martin J. O'Toole, State game warden located at Janesville, assumes the position of chief game warden in the Minnesota Division of Game and Fish. Mr. O'Toole has served as a game warden for nearly four years and has earned his promotion to the more responsible position.

George Weaver, chief warden for the past year and one-half, will devote his entire time to fish lakes improvement work through removal of rough fishes and with game fish rescue work.

Rural Correspondents to Receive Prizes in Nation-Wide Contest

Editors of country newspapers throughout the United States are showing keen interest in the recognition which is being given to rural correspondents in a nationwide contest inaugurated by a national farm magazine.

A prize of $50 is to be given annually, for the best item of rural news published in the columns of a country newspaper. The first contest is now under way, and will close on May 20.

Scribes, their friends, and their editors are alike invited to send in entries. Any reader can submit his favorite clipping, provided only that it comes from the columns of a bonafide country newspaper and that it was published during the 1930's. Only printed news and comment will be judged.

Wheeler McMillen, editor of The Country Home, who has given the first year's prize and will act as chief judge in the contest, says in his preliminary statement:

"The country correspondent is the forgotten man of American letters. Novelists, poets, playwrights, historians, reporters for metropolitan newspapers,— all these have prizes to which they may aspire. But the country correspondent has had no such opportunity for recognition. We propose to give it to him."

Clippings should be sent to Wheeler McMillen, editor the Country home, 250 Park Avenue, New York City, New York.

Last Remaining Herd of Caribou is Holding Own in Red Lake Area

The last lingering remnant of the once vast herd of woodland caribou that roamed the northern forests and swamps of the United States is at least holding its own and probably making a small net gain yearly, according to an article by Edwin C. Torrey, appearing in a recent issue of the St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Two years ago there were not to exceed twelve of these animals; today the count is placed at more than double the number.

C. M. Aldous, assistant biologist of the United States Biological Survey, and Erling Swenson, director of the division of game and fish of the Minnesota State Conservation department, some time ago visited the swampy wilderness north of Upper Red Lake in Minnesota where the caribou are to be found. It was there that the state commission, at the urgent appeal of Mr. Aldous and of Dr. Vernon Bailey, a veteran government biologist, established two years ago what is known as the Red Lake Wild Life Refuge for the protection and propagation of game animals and birds and for the special purpose of saving the caribou from extinction.

In June, 1932, biologists, wardens and old settlers of the district agreed that no more than ten or twelve caribou remained. On their visit to the refuge, Aldous and Swenson were assured by James F. Hayes, game warden, that he had counted 26 of the animals including seven yearling calves.

There is plenty of evidence that the caribou survive and will increase if protected from their predatory two-legged and four-legged foes. Aldous and Swenson in their short stay glimpsed one specimen a bull browsing on the bank of a drainage ditch. A settler whose land is inside the refuge saw a band of four the past season and a newly appointed trapper warden counted five in one group.

The moose population of the refuge is estimated by Warden Hayes at about 175 and the deer up in the thousands. Beavers have flourished and now number about 40 colonies. Mr. Aldous and his companion were directed to a spot where two bull moose had fought each other to the death. Pictures were made of the bleaching remains of the two monarchs which lay headon in the northland jungle.

OLSON PURCHASES BANK BUILDING IN ST. HILAIRE

Walter Olson last week became owner of the former Merchants State Bank building in St. Hilaire which housed the postoffice for many years and is now used by Land O'Lakes as a egg and feed station, says the St. Hilaire Spectator. The latter business will occupy the building until about July first after which Mr. Olson plans to repair and renovate it and will then occupy it with his lunch room and soft drink stand.

SMILEY

The Smiley Community Club held its annual meeting last Friday evening at the hall. Fred Luhe was elected to succeed Will McCrum as president of the club for the coming year. Mr. Owen Weckworth succeeds Leon Lendobeja as vice president, Mrs. James McCrum succeeds Signe Valsvik as secretary. Arthur Stenseth was elected as treasurer, thus relieving the secretary of the treasurer's duties. The vice president selected the various committees for the year as follows: program committee, Mrs. Freeman Allen, Harriet Anderson and Mrs. Carl Belswenger, Jr.; refreshment committee, Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Mrs. Norton Nelson; sports for men, Mark Olson and Clarence Weckworth; sports for women, Martha Anderson and Signe Stenseth. These people on the above committee are requested to please meet at the hall Sunday to outline plans for the year. The officers will also be present. It was decided at the meeting to have all old and new members renew their memberships by paying their dues of 25c a family for the entire year. Please pay your dues as soon as possible, either to the secretary or treasurer. Twenty-eight Plummer residents came up in the school bus, in spite of the bad roads, and presented their clever one-act comedies. A group of boy scouts under the direction of their scout master, Peter Rolf Ohnstad presented their hilarious comedy "Dr. Kill-me Quick's Clinic" and a group of women under the direction of Lou Lauer, presented the "Better City Campaign Club" which proved to be very humorous. A number of musical selections by Waldemar and Alfred Walter, completed the program. Lunch was served by Harriet Anderson. —Roy Stay and Jonas Sharp of Bemidji were visitors at the Christ Larson home on Thursday. —Signe Valsvik was a week end guest at Grand Forks at the home of her two sisters, Ann and Mabel, who are employed there. She also visited with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walsvik.—Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckworth and family and the Elmer Erickson family were dinner guests at the home of the former's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson, Sunday.

The Smiley Adult Study Club did not meet last Thursday evening due to bad road conditions, but will meet this Thursday evening with Walter Lendobeja as chairman and Mrs. Denning as instructor. —Norton Nelson and daughter, Jean were shoppers in Thief River Falls Tuesday. —Lillian Larson of Grand Forks spent the week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christ Larson. She returned to Grand Forks Monday accompanied by Violet and Betty Lou Larson who stayed a few days.

"Tell It To The Judge" a three act play will be presented by a group of Mavie folks at the Smiley Hall Friday evening at 8 o'clock. A dance will follow the presentation of the play and lunch will be served by the Smiley Community Club. A good time is really assured, so be sure to come.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Jacobson and children and Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Rierson and family, all of Thief River Falls were Sunday guests at the J. D. Turnwall home. —The closing day picnic at the Washington school was very well attended by parents and friends on Friday. The events of the afternoon were the leg race, vegetable races, spelling contest, sack race for little tots, individual leg race, spell down for married women, balloon race, and sack race for middle groups. The pupils who received yearly attendance awards were, Agnes Torkelson, Marian Wikerb, Myrtle Snetting, Lois and Robert Peterson. Those who were on the honor roll all year were: Myrtle Snetting, Lois and Jeanette Peterson. The teacher, Miss Schaak received many gifts from her pupils and friends in appreciation of her capable work through the year. —Sunday guests at the Christ Larson home were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bjornson and son, Loren, Mr. and Mrs. Selmer Berg and children, Alpha and Elsie Larson of Grafton, Mrs. Henry Bolstad, Perry Borgie of Rockbury, Millard Torkelson of Grafton and Lillian Larson of Grand Forks.

Owen Weckworth and son, James motored to Crookston Tuesday on business.—The "Do-a-Way" sewing club will meet at the Adolph Barstad home, Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Barstad and Mrs. A. B. Newton as hostesses. Ladies are requested by their leader, Clara Olson, to please bring cotton batting or wool for stuffing and small silk scraps to be used in making cushions, and please bring your own sewing supplies.

Those having perfect attendance for the month at Dist. 4 are; Robert, Marion and Alice Wiener. Honor roll pupils for the month include, Julian Lendobeja, Gladys and Alice Wiener. —Mr. and Mrs. Owen Weckwerth entertained at a birthday party for their twins and Owen Jr., Sunday. A social time was enjoyed throughout the afternoon, after which a delicious lunch was served. Those participating in the affair were: Beulah, Harvey, Pearl, and Archie Renkenberger, Edna, Marcella and Julius Helmer, Donald, Wallace and Bobby Erickson, and Lucille Anderson of Roseau. —Play Day will be held at the Hiawatha school, Dist. 26 on Friday. School districts participating are, Hummer school, Dist. 31; Washington school, Dist. 221; Dist. 4, Dist. 5, and Hiawatha school. The contests will commence at 10 o'clock. Each school will bring their own lunches. Everyone welcome. —Mrs. Freeman Allen assisted Mrs. Ayres as hostess at the latter's home for the Good Cheer club in Norden on Wednesday. —The Bethania Ladies Aid will be entertained by Mrs. Bert Johnson at her home today. Rev. Bjorgan of Goodridge will conduct services. —Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and infant daughter returned to their home Sunday from a Thief River Falls hospital. —Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Korupp and daughter Doris of Erie, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Corbet and son Wendell Jr., of St. Hilaire, George Tapa, James Bainbridge of Goodridge and Dale Johnson spent Sunday at the Freeman Allen home.

Gustafson Assigned Lead; Knauf Added to Play Cast

Miss Edberg, it seems, has had great difficulty in choosing the characters of the play "Tons of Money" to be presented by the Seniors May 17. This is very likely due to that talented group of seniors. Miss Edberg has rewritten a part of the play so that it now calls for two maids instead of only one. Ruth Knauf has been chosen for the new part. It has been definitely decided that Kendall Gustafson will play the part of Aubrey and Marvin Lindberg has been cast for the part of Henery. Both boys played the parts of Aubrey and Henery equally well but because Kendall gives a better characterization of a minister he will play the part of Aubrey.

Lois Morell.

JOSIE'S NOTES

A Baer let go with a terrific left and his opponent went down, with the referee taking a number from one to ten. This is sort of a beef against Baer. The boxing that he thinks makes the gong ring, isn't even a tinkle. Right here in Lincoln H. there's that well known red headed boxer, the cream of the crop, noted for his fighting prowess, introducing Wedul. We-dul our part says he. During the boxing season in the old Elks Hall, where I was steered for this great boxing show, there were present about 20 Plushbottoms, Baers, and Hemmingways—all gone simple over this red head boxing. After about three nights of this racket, I got needled and went the fourth night, all alone, to see what would come of it. To get back to Baer, for every knockout he put over, a flag was hoisted—It's just a gag—well when Wedul started, the referee didn't have enough flags, so you can see Wedul was going good. By the time he had finished with his opponent after the first round the opponent was like an old hat that was tattered and torn. After the boxing match was finished and done there of course had to be an interview. Wedul, answering the question of what he thought of boxing, only had one statement to put forth for the Progress and it was this, that, Boring and Knockouts are as tough as knocking out flies around a garbage can with fly paper and just as sporting.

Day of Humiliation

Senator Henry Clay was the author of a resolution which appointed "a day of public humiliation, fasting and prayer" as a gesture to the Deity to save the nation from yellow fever, which was epidemic in New Orleans and Philadelphia.

SHOP NEWS

Shop II students are learning the "ins" and "outs" of the treatment of copper surfaces for coloration and ornamentation. Chemical cleaning and coloration, hammered effects, designs, and various types of finishes are being studied. Some work in brass is also being done. The making of copper trays and bowls is being continued.

All Shop I students must have completed some work on the lathe by the end of the school term.

Some Shop I students are preparing to welcome our feathered friends by building bird houses. Bows and arrows and different kinds of bats are also being made.

The eighth grade students are continuing their study of electricity, while glasswork is being studied by the seventh grades.

HERE AND THERE

Winter sports have finally left the boys gym classes. They already have a good start in baseball, diamond ball, tennis, and track.

Mr. Chalmers has picked the baseball and diamond ball teams for interclass play, although tennis and track are not advanced quite this far. However, tennis matches are now being played to decide the teams and find who are the champions.

Interclass will go on in these sports just as it did in basketball and the fall sports.

—Jerome Salveson

Last Friday about forty of Miss Fletcher's Home Economic girls motored to Grand Forks to attend the Open House at the University of North Dakota. They will model their Open House after it. The Open House of Miss Fletcher's classes will be May sixth.

Miss Tandberg's English III classes are giving debates. They have been debating for two weeks. The judges are the members of the high school debating squad.

Miss Edberg's English I classes are starting their grammar review. Ten minutes during the first part of the period is devoted to "hash" recitation. By the "hash" Miss Edberg means questions on anything her pupils have studied in literature during the whole year.

Miss Greenland is reading "The Standard Bearer" to her Latin II class.

The Season has begun! Kittenball has started! Last week the girls warmed up by pitching, batting, catching, and playing "Work-up". Each class chose two regular teams for class-work and played on these teams the latter part of the week.

The girls, with Miss Pierson's permission, have been playing tennis during their regular gym periods.

If nice, warm weather returns the girls will begin their work outside.

PROGRESS POKES ITS NOSE AROUND

Have you ever wondered what an ideal school would be like? Here are a few suggestions which should help make any school more perfect. Let's say that Lincoln High School has been created into a school where everyone receives high marks and doesn't have to wrinkle up his brow to think. In 1940 the school would perhaps be like this:

The Board of Education is really the foundation of a school. Because he also believed so, "Jimmy" Cosgrove made himself the president. Elected at the same time were Tom Protz, Donald Houfek, Ray Parist and Wallace Olson. These five gentlemen "got together" and decided on new rules and regulations which were heralded by one and all. School began at nine-thirty in the morning with a fifteen minute period of singing in the assembly. Audrey Anderson is the girl who waves the little stick and gets such good results.

The next class, which lasts for forty-five minutes, is selected by each individual. The elective subjects include tap dancing, preparing for radio broadcasting, dramatics, and a special course on salesmanship. Needless to say, these classes are much enjoyed.

Then comes fifteen minutes of varied entertainment in the assembly. These programs are conducted by a group of students who have shown special talent in their classes. Booking agents are welcome guests. Only last week one of them discovered a new and profound thinker, Edna Swanson. She has been invited to study under Einstein, the famous scientist. This is only one of the many cases which occurs in these different programs.

And thus ends the morning session. Very few students return home at noon because of the fact that L. H. S. serves free lunches. Miss Rochelle Kielty is in charge of the preparing of the meals. Her assistants include Ardella Gjerner, Beatrice Nicholson, and Margaret McKechnie. Very simple foods are served at this meal, as most of the students have not as yet settled down for a day's work. But, since you insist, the foods include chow mein, creole sponge cake, fruit ice cream, and some foods prepared by the students themselves including The Students' Delight and School Days.

After the meal is finished most of the students are allowed to participate in the dancing, which is held each noon in the gymnasium. Those students who feel inclined to remain quiet are allowed time off in which to sleep or rest.

School is again called to order at one forty-five. At this time each day the students have a regular period of military drill. Iris Ayers and Walter Gibson are the head supervisors.

We'll leave the students now, as they are quite fatigued with all of this work. Next week we'll continue in a day's visit through the L. H. S. ideal school.

Tip About Soup

Soup should never be used the same day as made, if possible. Allow it to stand one night and all the flavorings will blend, which makes all the difference when the soup is reheated.

JUST THAT

"Do you know the fable of the grasshopper and the ant?"

"Oh, yes. The grasshopper danced while the ant toiled to get the money to take a few lessons."

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING HELD LAST WEDNESDAY

Purpose of Meeting to Plan For Junior-Senior Prom; Committees Chosen

A Junior class meeting was held in the assembly last Wednesday. The purpose was to decide upon a plan that would take care of the Junior-Senior Prom. It was decided that a number of committees be chosen, for decorations, invitations, refreshments, and entertainment. The following committees were chosen, with the help of Miss Tandberg and Miss Greenland.

Decorations: Jack Booren, chairman; Edna Lee, Margaret Larson, Phillip Prichard and Audrey Anderson.

Invitations will be taken care of by Loretta Kelly and Rochelle Kielty.

Refreshments: Alice Ann Severson, chairman; Annette Simonson and Edna Gilchrist

Entertainments: Helen Granum, chairman; Lois Nelson, and Oscar Bickley.

The Scale Stick

A scale stick, used by piano action manufacturers, is a long, thin wooden strip, which shows the location, inside a piano case, of the action brackets and the exact location of the centers of the hammer flanges. It is from this stick that an action manufacturer makes up the action for any particular scale piano. A scale stick is generally about one-fourth inch thick and an inch wide, the length depending upon the length of the scale.

EDITORIAL

What has happened to all the students who promised to purchase 1935 "Prowlers?" Why have only a very small percentage of seniors bought yearbooks? What can be done to speed up the sale of "Prowlers?" Are students inclined to believe that the publication is not worth the fifty-cents that is being asked?

These questions and similar ones the members of the "Prowler" staff are asking. Before it was decided to publish a "Prowler" this year there was a demand for a good yearbook. Students promised to enthusiastically support such a movement. Now the work on the book is nearing completion and only a little more than half of the number of students who were expected to purchase copies have purchased them.

Let's recapture some of that enthusiasm by buying a "Prowler" and by making sure that everyone else has bought one. In the latter part of May a forty-eight page book that will delight and satisfy every owner will roll from the presses. Be sure that one is saved for you.

Digressions

On the eighteenth of May a district track meet will be held in the city of Thief River Falls. The main entries will be Lincoln High and Crookston High. On May seventeenth T. R. F. will be the scene of a Junior-Senior prom. We venture to say that no records will fall in above mentioned track meet. We pass into the last six-week's period and await the time when instructors will tack quarantine signs for spring fever on their respective class room doors. Why do merciless instructors have to keep reminding us of state boards and the small amount of knowledge that we have absorbed since last September?

Contempt

Seven freshmen boys and one sophomore boy upheld the honor of Lincoln High at the music contest last Saturday. Their selection was awarded first place, the only one that the L. H. S. representatives received. This should come as a slap in the face to juniors and seniors who could have been in the contest and probably won honors for their school.

These winners were willing to work hard and make sacrifices to be entered in the music festival. To them it was a privilege and an honor. We hope that those juniors and seniors who would not enter the contest because they represent the acme of indolence and stubborness are by now properly squelched.

To the winning boys and the other members of the Thief River Falls aggregation that participated we extend our congratulations: to those talented young Lincolnites who would not and did not take part we merely say that your action has done nothing to bring honor upon yourselves.

PLUMMER

Joseph Fallon Valedictorian

Joseph Fallon has been named valedictorian of the Senior Class of 1935 with a percentage rating of 93 and Irene Saum Salutatorian with an average of 91. The 1935 class will be the largest in the history of the school with a membership of sixteen who, at the present time, are eligible for graduation. Commencement exercises will be held on Friday, May 31st according to present plans.

At a meeting of the Junior Class, committees were selected to work with faculty members to prepare for the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom which will be held [illegible] in May.

Attendance has been very good in school for the past week.

Surprise Party

A group of friends pleasantly surprised Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Ripple at their home Monday evening, the occasion being Mr. Ripple's birthday. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Messner, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Priebe, Mrs. Frank Chase, Mrs. Arthur Torstveit, Mrs. [illegible], Mrs. Clarence Anderson, Mrs. Lars Hage, Mrs. Louis Mortenson, Misses Alma Hage and Lucile Berg. The self invited guests served a delicious lunch at the close of the evening. R. W. Johnson of Red Lake Falls was a business caller in Plummer Tuesday. —Miss LaVerne Mourisette spent Monday in Thief River Falls.

Red River Valley History

The Hudson's Bay Company

This week we present paragraphs from the Holcombe history revealing machinations of the Hudson's Bay company in this part of the state. We have learned that under its charter from the English crown the company claimed virtually all of Minnesota and that it was slow to surrender its unsupported claims. Now Holcombe shows us that the officials of the great Canadian concern were over-influenced by their loyalty to their company. It is probable that Holcombe is a bit severe, but there is ample authority for his charges regarding liquor sales. We pick up Holcombe's account:

"After having its posts and agents banished from the United States, in 1821, the Hudson's Bay company confined its operations to its own territory or other portions of Canada. There was great ill feeling by the American traders against the traders and posts of the great English corporation. The agents of this corporation seem to have been always rapacious and they became unscrupulous and bold. They sought every means to capture and secure the Indian trade in the northern part of the United States west of Lake Superior and as far south of the international boundary as possible. They supplied the Indian hunters freely with whiskey, during the trading season, induced hundreds to come over to Canada to trade and even to sell their furs to the company's servants at points within the United States. They frequently came upon trading excursions up the Red river and often were at Red Lake, always bringing whisky. They were not allowed under an English law to 'sell' ardent spirits to the liquor-loving Indians, but it was held that 'exchanging' these beverages for furs was not selling!

"All along during the decade of 1840, and in the early part of that of 1850, Norman Kittson, Joe Rolette, and other American traders in this quarter had complained often and vehemently of the injuries done them by the Bay company's traders and hunters. They said that in addition to seducing the Indian trade away from them, the company's men habitually raided what is now the northern part of North Dakota and killed and drove off so many buffaloes that often there was a meat famine among the Teton and Mandan Sioux and the Assiniboine, Cree, and Chippewa, upon whom the traders depended for patronage.

"In the winter of 1849 Kittson and Henry M. Rice—the latter having a number of trading houses in the Chippewa country—made strenuous efforts to stop the predatory incursions upon their preserves. Kittson wrote to Delegate Sibley: 'The traders of the Hudson's Bay company have, during a few months past, been engaged extensively in introducing liquor among the Indians within our limits.' "

It should interest readers of all ages to know that Minnesota contained only nine counties in 1849. The Thief River Falls territory was included in Pembina county, as we know. We read:

"After the creation and organization of Minnesota Territory, in the early part of 1849, the first legislature divided the territory into nine counties, called Washington, Ramsey, Benton, Itasca, Wabashaw, Dakotah, Wahnahta, Mahkato, and Pembina. At the time the Missouri river was the western boundary. Pembina county extended from the west line of Itasca to the Missouri river and from the Canadian boundary southward to the mouth of the Buffalo river. It comprised generally what is now nearly all of the northwestern part of Minnesota and practically all of the present state of North Dakota east of the Missouri river. What is now and has in the past been North Dakota was for nine years a part of Pembina county.

"The census of that county in 1849 gave it a population of 637, of which number 295 males. The post office of all these persons was given as Pembina, though many of them lived at what is now St. Vincent, on the east bank of the Red river, opposite Pembina. Of the entire population 27 persons were listed as born at Red lake or elsewhere in 'Minnesota Territory', and seven were natives of other states. Nearly all the people were of mixed Indian blood. It is certain that in 1849 there were white people living within the present confines of Pennington but we do not know who and exactly where they were."

As a matter of fact there seems to be some confusion about this early census and the census of 1850 as well. As we shall show later on, many contemporary situations seem to prove the unreliability of the figures. After all, most of the residents, including the whites, were nomadic and were not closely identified with the region, since no farming, other than cultivation of the soil on a scale no larger than gardening, was done. Trapping and hunting were occupations that did not link men to the land. This section simply was a frontier to be borne as a necessary evil in connection with the privileges of a rich trapping and hunting region.

U. S. INSPECTORS PUT O. K. ON STATE ROADS

Federal engineers who made an inspection of 195 representative sections of the Minnesota trunk highway system in April found maintenance operations satisfactory in 191 cases, the United States Bureau of Public Roads has reported to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner. The engineers reported that 8 of the 195 sections need further construction work. In March the federal engineers approved maintenance conditions on 50 out of 54 sections inspected. They recommended further construction on 6 sections.

SHRINKAGE

Shrinkage in the transportation of livestock is a very important item. Statistics show that the average shrink on animals transported to distant markets average about 3% in weight each twenty-four hours unless animals are fed; and when fed, of course that is additional expense. This shrinkage, of course, comes directly out of the pocket of livestock producers or shippers; and when animals are shipped long distances, processed, and then shipped back, consumers again pay shrinkage and freight.

This market can be reached quickly, over hard surfaced highways, by truck, and at a minimum expense.

We buy livestock—single animals, to a truck load, or a carload, daily except Sunday, and pay SPOT CASH.

STUDENTS AT N. W. SCHOOL CONTINUE WORK IN SUMMER

Each Student to Carry out Home Projects Under Supervision

Vacation time for students attending the Northwest School of Agriculture does not mean that studies are to be discontinued. By means of home projects they simply transfer their classroom activities to the field, the shop, or the home where the instruction received during the winter is put into actual practice. According to Home Project Leader E. R. Clark, 110 boys and 60 girls scattered thruout Northwestern Minnesota are now busily engaged in carrying forward their various summer projects.

Each student is visited at least twice during the vacation period by E. R. Clark or R. J. Christgau who offer timely suggestions as to the method of procedure. Thus, miniature demonstration farms have been scattered thruout this region. In many cases, practices resulting from these projects have ultimately been adopted for field and home use.

Two new projects have been added to the list of regular agricultural and home economics activities; namely, insect collection and rock and mineral collection. The insect project, under the direction of T. M. McCall, station horticulturist, involves the collection, mounting and identification of insects common to this territory. The rock and mineral project includes the collection and identification of rocks and minerals to be found in this section and is being sponsored by R. M. Dunham, station agronomist.

In addition to the regular projects, all Northwest School students have agreed to plant an elm tree somewhere about the home grounds, this tree to be designated as the Northwest School Memorial elm. This project has been sponsored by the Class of 1934. Former students and alumni who are interested in planting a memorial tree should communicate with the Northwest School for further information and instruction.

PHEASANT HITS BUS, 3 PEOPLE ARE INJURED

[illegible]—An unusual accident happened to an east bound bus last [illegible] afternoon three miles [illegible] here at Goose Lake, when a pheasant flew into the windshield of the carrier and injured three passengers. Miss Ellen Hasteres, a teacher at Comfrey suffered the greatest injury. She was in the front seat opposite the driver when the pheasant struck the windshield as she looked out a side window. Flying glass and possibly the claws of the pheasant cut an ugly gash from her left eye into her [illegible] just above the ear. Blood flowed profusely from the large wound and she was so weak from the loss of blood that it was necessary to return and take her to a local physician. The wound was dressed and Miss Hasteres was taken to Memorial hospital for observation until the next day when she was able to continue to her home.

Number of Young Men Eligible to Military Training Camp Doubled

Due to an increase in the appropriations for citizens' military training camps, 4000 young men, or more than twice as many as were trained last year, will be given an opportunity to attend a C.M.T. Camp in the seventh corps area this year. The seventh corps area consists of the states of North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, and Arkansas. A camp will be held at Fort Snelling July 3 to August 1.

An encampment lasts thirty days and all necessary expenses are paid by the Government. Uniforms, lodging, food, laundry service, and medical care are furnished without expense to the candidate, and travel expenses are refunded by paying candidates, upon arrival at camp, the travel allowance of five cents per mile for the distance from their homes to the nearest camp. The same allowance is paid for the return travel the day the candidates leave camp. There are also offered without charge many amusements and recreational facilities, such as baseball, tennis, swimming, dancing, movies, and "local talent" vaudeville shows and dramatics.

No obligation for future military service of any kind is incurred by those who attend these camps, but those who complete the four courses, Basic, Red, White and Blue, may go before an examining board and take an examination for appointment as second lieutenant in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

President Roosevelt Designates May 1 as Children's Health Day

President Franklin D. Roosevelt last week issued a proclamation calling on the nation to observe May 1 as Child Health day. His statement follows:

"Whereas the Congress, by joint resolution of May 18, 1928, requests the President of the United States to proclaim annually May 1 as Child Health day; and

"Whereas, the welfare of the nation and the welfare of its children are inseparable; and

Whereas, the future happiness and efficiency of the children depend upon our exercise of proper present care; and

"Whereas, it is of national importance that we pause each year to give serious thought to what has been done to promote the physical and mental development of children, and that we strive to improve the child welfare program;

"Now, therefore, I, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim and designate the first day of May of this year as Child Health Day, and do urge all agencies and organizations and all individuals seriously to consider the purpose for which this day is set apart and to observe it by such exercises as will awaken the people of the nation to the fundamental necessity of a year-round program for the protection and development of the health of the nation's children."

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE IN CITY PREPARED

Dr. Weltzen of University of North Dakota Will Deliver Address

MORNING EXERCISES IN CITY AUDITORIUM

Procession to March to Greenwood Cemetery for Brief Exercises

Plans for the formal local observance of Memorial day next Thursday were announced today by S. P. Orwoll, commander of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, sponsor of the day's program. Local stores will remain closed for the day in observance of the occasion.

Exercises will be conducted in the Auditorium in the morning at 10 o'clock, and will be featured by an address by Dr. Frederick Weltzen of the department of education at the University of North Dakota.

The program will open with the playing of "America" by the municipal band, followed by the invocation by Rev. E. A. Cooke; a reading, "This Flag and the Country for Which It Stands" by Kathleen Monsebroten; and a selection, "Vanished Army", by the band. Following Dr. Weltzen's address the Woman's club chorus directed by Mrs. H. L. Sjogren will sing "In Flanders Field". The program will close with taps by the band.

Immediately after the Auditorium exercises a procession will be formed to march to Greenwood cemetery, stopping at the bridge en route to drop a wreath in memory of the sailor dead. Short services will be held at the cemetery, after which the firing squad will proceed to the Catholic cemetery for brief exercises. Graves of approximately 70 war dead, including those lying in other cemeteries in the county, will be decorated for the occasion.

Units in the procession will include service men of all wars, gold star mothers, Legion auxiliary members and the drum corps, the municipal band, Boy Scouts and Brownies.

MR. AND MRS. K. K. AUSTIN OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

250 Friends Honor Venerable Couple at Home in Kratka Sunday

Two hundred fifty friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. K. K. Austin of Kratka township assembled at their home Sunday afternoon to honor the venerable couple on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

In addition to a large number of residents of their home community, friends also were present from Fosston, Grand Forks, Middle River and Gatzke. In behalf of the assemblage Rev. E. O. Sabo presented Mr. and Mrs. Austin with a gold table service set and a purse of money. Rev. T. H. Myhrer also spoke briefly.

Mr. Austin was married in Fosston in 1885 to Miss Betsy Haroldson, and the couple lived in the Crookston community until 1901, moving to Kratka township at the time of the opening to settlement of the Indian reservation. Present for the celebration were their son, Milen Austin, and their daughter, Mrs. Alma Lorentz of Grand Forks.

Maurice Chevalier at the Avalon Next Sunday

Maurice Chevalier, popular French musical comedy star, will play the leading role in "Folies Bergere", girl-and-music play which comes to the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. In the production, in which he introduces a half-dozen new song hits, Chevalier is supported by Ann Sothern and Merle Oberon.

State Levies Funds in County to Meet Defaults

State taxes levied in Pennington county to cover defaults on rural credit obligations amount to $14,339, while taxes levied for ditch bond defaults aggregate $11,115.82 for this county, according to a statement issued this week by Representative Roy E. Dunn of Ottertail county.

Judge M. A. Brattland Decides in Favor of Helm

District Judge M. A. Brattland last Friday handed down a decision for the defendant in the case of Gunnuf Gunstensen vs. Sever L. Helm, involving a chattel mortgage. The court held Gunstenson was not entitled to recover in the action, and awarded a judgment to the defendant for his costs and disbursements.

Younger Businessmen Form New Group Here

To Adopt Constitution and By-laws at Meeting This Evening

Plans to organize a new group made up of the younger business and professional men of the community were perfected last Thursday evening at a dinner meeting in the Civic and Commerce association rooms.

Twenty-two young men attended the meeting, together with a group of members of the Civic and Commerce association. Gorman Thompson presided as temporary chairman, and called for talks by Frank L. Benson, president of the Cavaliers, junior organization in Grand Forks, and Alvin Purcell of that city, one of the founders of the group.

Mr. Purcell outlined the procedure followed in organizing the Grand Forks unit, and told how the membership had been built up from an original group of seven to a present total of 250.

Chester Myrom, Lincoln Arnold and Clarence Sande were designated as a committee to draw up a proposed constitution and by-laws for consideration at a meeting this evening, at which time it is also planned to elect a set of officers to serve during the coming year.

CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS WELL UNDER WAY HERE

Excavations Completed for Postoffice and Gustafson Building

Work on several local construction projects made substantial headway, excavations being completed for the new postoffice building and for the large addition to the Gustafson and Son building.

Lloyd Kensel of Detroit Lakes, construction engineer representing the federal government, was in the city Wednesday to confer with Fred Gardiner, construction foreman for the Carl Steen company, postoffice contractors. It was indicated that installation of forms for the concrete will begin early next week.

A Lund & Son dragline has been at work this week on the approaches to the new bridge, and activities are expected to be expanded within the next few days. Pouring of concrete on the new O. K. service station building is now in progress, and work on the stock barns on the fair grounds is well under way.

A class of 22 girls and 15 boys will be confirmed Sunday morning at services in Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, pastor, announced today. Included in the group are Hjalmer Aasehy, Lawrence Brodén, Gerald Evenson, John Foster, Robert Hagen, Milan Hogenson, Raymond Johnson, Warren Jorde, Clifford Lunki, Lowell Nesse, Clifford Olson, Edgar Sorenson, Kenneth Sorenson, Lawrence Swanson, Harry Syverson, Joyce Bennes, Mary Chommie, Joan Dahlquist, Gloria Engelstad, Beatrice Fimrite, Ina Groslie, Carol Hovland, Margaret Jacobson, Palma Jahr, Edna Jorde, Evelyn Jorde, Ellyn Lee, Nona Nelson, Marion Oien, Theresa Olson, Ardith Prestebak, Ilene Rolland, Lillian Samuelson, Ardith Sandum, Thelma Skaar, Adeline Syverson and Barbara Winge.

Rev. Tungseth to Fill Speaking Engagements

Rev. E. L. Tungseth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, will preach the baccalaureate sermon at services in Fosston Sunday evening, and will deliver the commencement address at Holt Friday evening of next week. He is in Minneapolis today attending a joint meeting of the Oak Grove and Augsburg school boards, having served as secretary of the Oak Grove board since 1926.

More Than 100 Members Sign With Farm Bureau

More than 100 members have signed up to date with the Pennington county farm bureau in the drive now being conducted by E. L. Ferguson of the state bureau in cooperation with officers of the county unit, County Agent R. M. Douglass announced this week. He added that it is planned to continue the campaign until the county's quota of 200 has been attained.

Two Local Speakers on Memorial Day Program

Two local speakers will deliver Memorial day addresses in other communities next Thursday. Mrs. J. M. Bishop will be the speaker at exercises in Middle River, while Morris Bye, superintendent of schools, will deliver an address at Warren.

More CCC Enrollments to be Made in County

Another enrollment of Civilian Conservation camp members will be made in this city for Pennington county Saturday, June 15, Mrs. Trudie King, county relief worker, announced today. Applications will be received up to that date, she said, adding that the age limit has been extended so that single men of ages from 18 to 28 are now eligible for enrollment.

PLAN INCREASE IN DISTRIBUTION OF POPPIES SATURDAY

Mrs. S. P. Orwoll in Charge of Campaign Sponsored by Local Auxiliary

An increase of nearly one million in the number of poppies to be distributed by the American Legion Auxiliary on Poppy Day, May 25th, is indicated by orders for poppy making material received at the Auxiliary's national headquarters, according to Mrs. S. P. Orwoll, poppy chairman of Elmer J. Eklund unit of the Auxiliary. More than ten million of the little memorial flowers will be worn this year to honor the World War dead and aid the disabled and dependents, she said.

Manufacture of the poppies is now being completed in 59 government hospitals and veterans' workrooms maintained by the Auxiliary in 40 states. Hundreds of disabled veterans have been given employment in the work through the winter and spring. The flowers are now being shipped from the manufacturing centers to the local Auxiliary Units which will conduct the distribution.

The local Unit is hoping for a generous response to its Poppy Day appeal this year to refill its welfare fund for the coming year. Every penny of the money contributed for poppies will be expended in Legion and Auxiliary welfare work which is growing heavier constantly due to the increasing number of veterans removed from the ranks of earners by death and disability.

"Snow White", Puppet Show, to be Presented at Library Saturday

At 10:30 a. m. next Saturday, at the library, Mrs. Arnold Carlson assisted by Miss Murriet Lamson will put on the puppet show, "Snow White" for the children of the lower grades.

In spite of rain the last show was attended by more than 125 children. A very much absorbed audience witnessed the presentation of "Red Riding Hood" and "Queen of Hearts". Mrs. Carlson was assisted by Miss Harriet Lamson and Miss Ruth Fletcher.

Tentative plans are being made to present a number of these shows next winter in place of the regular story hour. Mrs. Carlson, who has been the children's librarian in South St. Paul for the past few years, has won favorable notice with her work in puppetry and may consent to conduct a class in the making and operating of puppets after her return next fall.

MASS MEETING SPEAKERS CITE NEW UNIT NEED

Agree City is Faced With a Critical Power Situation in Fall

QUALE SPEAKS FOR COUNCIL MEMBERS

Workman's Group Spokesman States They Will Vote "No" Tuesday

Speakers at the mass meeting in the Auditorium Monday evening called for the purpose of discussing the need of additional equipment in the municipal power plant were unanimous in agreeing that a new Diesel unit is needed at this time, differing mainly in opinions as to the proper method of financing the purchase. Mayor Frank Rinkel presided at the meeting and called on a number of citizens and officials for statements.

W. H. Mann, member of the Civic and Commerce association committee named to study the matter, said his group was agreed that prompt action was necessary to acquire a new unit in view of the strong likelihood that the current demand next winter will be beyond the capacity of the present equipment.

L. S. Hess of the group named early this year by former Mayor E. L. Tungseth to study the local light and power rate structure stated that an adjustment in rates is needed, but that before this can be done the present equipment of the plant must be increased.

City Attorney Theodore Quale, speaking for the council, explained the need of prompt action to prepare for next winter, citing the fact that when the McIntosh & Seymour unit was purchased in 1930 installation was not completed until five months after the contract had been let.

Mr. Quale said the council did not wish to go to the expense of having specifications prepared and calling for bids on a new unit until it knew the citizens would authorize the purchase. He con-

SERVICES FOR SENIOR CLASS SUNDAY NIGHT

132 Lincoln Seniors to Hear Sermon by Rev. H. L. Sjogren

SERVICES TO BE HELD IN CITY AUDITORIUM

Dr. Bryngelson of University to Deliver Commencement Address

The arrival of the commencement season at Lincoln high school will be signalized next Sunday evening when the 132 members of the graduating class together with members of their families and friends will assemble at the Auditorium at 8 o'clock for the annual baccalaureate services. Rev. H. L. Sjogren, pastor of Augustana Lutheran church, will be in charge.

Supt. Morris Bye announced today that the commencement address Friday evening of next week will be delivered by Dr. Bryng Bryngelson of the speech department of the University of Minnesota, who is reported to be an able speaker. Dr. A. E. Jacobson will be the speaker at eighth grade graduation exercises Friday morning of next week, Mr. Bye stated.

The baccalaureate services Sunday will open with the playing of the processional march, "Pomp and Circumstance", by Miss Erma Springen, followed by the doxology, invocation and the singing by the audience of the hymn "How Firm a Foundation".

The Lincoln high school chorus under the direction of Miss Springen will sing "Adoramus Te" by Palestrina and "Cherubim Song" by Bortnyansky, after which Reverend Sjogren will deliver the sermon on the theme "Walk with God".

The chorus will follow with two selections, "As by the Streams of Babylon", by Campion-Bett, and "Now the Day Is Over", by Barnaby, with Arnhild Fjelstad as soloist. The program will close with the singing by the audience of the hymn, "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name", the benediction and the recessional march played by Miss Springen.

Continuing Program of Wheat Control to be Voted on May 25 by Pennington Wheat Growers

Pennington county signers of wheat contracts, as well as other interested wheat growers, Saturday, May 25, will cast their votes on the question of continuing some form of production control program. Of the 191 contract signers in the county, approximately 60 per cent had cast their ballots by mail up to the first of the week, County Agent R. M. Douglass stated.

The remaining votes will be cast Saturday between the hours of 1 and 9 at the following places, Mr. Douglass said:

Polk Center township: C. E. Naplin home. Bray and Numedal: Ever John on school. Sanders: Nesse school, Dist. 154. River Falls and Black River: St. Hilaire Creamery. Wyandotte, Mayfield and Deer Park: Bruggeman school, Dist. 125.

Rocksbury: Valhall hall. North and Norden: County Agent's office. Silverton and Cloverleaf: Silverton town hall. Goodridge, Reiner, Star and Highlanding: Korstad's store, Highlanding. Smiley and Kratka: R. B. Hammer school.

"The thirty-five cent price of wheat in 1932 was due to an estimated carry-over that year of 400 million bushels and due to the loss of our export trade," Mr. Douglass says. "Farmers had increased their wheat acreage to approximately 66 million acres, although domestic consumption, with everyone well-fed provided an outlet for an average production of only 50 million acres. Export demand practically vanished because of embargoes, tariffs, and trade agreements between foreign countries.

"Now the burdensome wheat surplus is a thing of the past. Thinking farmers are determined to prevent if possible, the recurrence of over-production and the ruinous prices of 1932."

Two Men Charged With Third Degree Burglary

Leland Mandt of Goodridge and Willard Erickson of the Rosewood community were taken into custody at Fisher Monday morning by Sheriff Arthur Ramleck on a charge of having entered the Ellingson store at Highlanding early that morning and taking a cash register containing about $10 as well as a few packages of cigarets. Brought before Judge J. M. Bishop in Municipal court Wednesday morning the two men waived examination and were bound over to district court under $500 bonds.

Any local young men desirous of entering one of the camps in July or August may obtain further details from Dr. Bratrud.

Independents to Meet St. Paul Team Sunday

C. W. Nelson Returns From Trip to Denmark

C. W. Nelson of this city returned last week from a journey to Copenhagen, Denmark, where he spent ten days in his boyhood surroundings. He was accompanied on the trip to Europe by Nels Peterson who remained for a longer visit. Mr. Nelson, who left Denmark for this country 53 years ago, reported that he found only one old acquaintance in the communities where he visited. He made the return trip on the liner Bremen, one of the largest in trans-atlantic service, being 935 feet long.

SCARCITY OF FARM HANDS, DOMESTICS, SNYDER REPORTS

Reemployment Head Notes Demand for Labor in Building Trades

With the starting of construction on the new bridge approach and the post office project, increasing numbers of applicants are contacting the National Reemployment office for work on federal construction jobs, it was reported this week by Donald L. Snyder, district manager.

Last year at this same time the reemployment office was able to place a great number of farm hands and domestics with private employers but the demand for this type of work has declined sharply and at the present time no workers in these divisions are available thru the office.

This is attributed largely to more favorable work opportunities in other occupations of private industry in Thief River Falls and to the improved financial status of many families both in town and the surrounding rural area. Many girls who formerly sought domestic work are now able to stay at home and are reluctant to accept maid servant jobs at the prevailing wage rate.

With the local building contractors calling back their regular crews, there is also a scarcity of labor in the building and hand trades. It is expected that a crew will be called for construction of the postoffice this week and local workers who are qualified in the building and hand trades are asked by Mr. Snyder to register if they have not already done so. Skilled workers who have not called at the office within the last thirty days are urged to do so at once.

Local Softball League Continues Its Schedule With 3 Games This Week

Playing in the local softball league Monday evening the Land O'Lakes team defeated the Bridgemans 5 to 4 in an extra-inning contest. Tuesday night the Al's Coffee Shop team took Bill's Eat Shop into camp by a score of 6 to 5, the coffee shop overcoming a four run lead in the last half of the seventh inning. The Barzens Wednesday night defeated the Ford V-8s 8 to 6. Tonight the Glucks meet the Harts team, other coming games including Land O'Lakes vs. Bill's Eat Shop Monday; Bridgemans vs. Barzens Tuesday; and Al's Coffee Shop vs. Harts Wednesday.

Dekko's Aggregation Show Fine Form in Winning Opening Game

The local independent baseball team last Sunday opened the season in this city by defeating the Park Rapids aggregation by a score of 8 to 1. A large crowd was in attendance and saw Lefty Helberg, local pitcher, set the visitors down with but three hits while his teammates collected 11 hits off Gaer and Nichols, Park Rapids moundsmen.

The highly touted Minnesota Colored Gophers of St. Paul will meet Manager Dekko's team on the local grounds next Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Dekko is determined to avenge an 8 to 2 defeat suffered at the hands of the Gophers last season. It was announced that the diamond will be in greatly improved shape for this game.

Neither side scored in the first inning of last Sunday's contest. In the second Park Rapids got one hit but did not score, while Mandy Thordahl, first local man up, knocked a three bagger to left field. Haugen then singled, scoring Thordahl.

Brevick hit a long fly to center field which looked like a home run, but a nice throw-in by Gregerson held him to three bases, scoring

VOTERS GO TO POLLS IN CITY NEXT TUESDAY

Bond Issue up to $60,000 for New Diesel Unit Is Issue

POLLS TO BE OPEN 6:30 A. M. TO 8 P. M.

City Administration Urges Citizens to Register Their Attitude

Following several weeks of discussion designed to explain the imminent approach of a capacity load in the municipal power plant, voters of Thief River Falls next Tuesday will go to the polls in the Auditorium to express their attitude in the matter of authorizing the city council to issue not more than $60,000 in bonds to be used in financing the purchase of another Diesel unit for the local plant.

Mayor Frank Rinkel and members of the city council this week urged the importance of getting out a large and thoroly representative vote, so that the election may accurately reflect the judgment of local citizens. While not urging voters to cast their ballots in favor of the bond issue, the administration has taken the stand that a failure to authorize it to proceed at this time will relieve it of any responsibility in the event of a power shortage next winter.

The question to be voted on Tuesday is phrased in the following language: "Shall the city of Thief River Falls issue its negotiable coupon electric light plant bonds in the aggregate principal sum of not to exceed $60,000, maturing serially three to 12 years from their date and bearing interest at the rate of not to exceed four and one-half per cent per annum, for the purpose of providing funds for improving the municipal light plant of city?"

In the council resolution authorizing the election it is specifically set forth that the proceeds of the bond issue, if authorized, shall be used for the purchase of an additional Diesel unit and necessary incidental equipment.

The polls will be open Tuesday between the hours of 6:30 in the morning and 8 o'clock in the evening, it was announced by City Clerk P. G. Pederson.

WORKMEN'S GROUP ASKS COMMITTEE ON POWER PLANT

Goes on Record Against Bond Issue of Type Submitted to Voters

The Workman's Protective association Monday evening adopted resolutions objecting to the proposed $60,000 bond issue for power plant equipment purposes to be voted on next Tuesday, citing as reasons that the bonds would be issued for too long a term, that no federal grant has been applied for, and that the size of the proposed new unit has not been specified.

The resolution states, further that the association recognizes the need for additional power facilities and will give its wholehearted support to any plan of financing which will dispose of the debt within not to exceed seven years, provided a federal grant is secured to help defray the cost.

The association suggests that a citizens advisory committee be appointed to study the situation and report to the council, and that the committee be made up of two members of the Civic and Commerce association, two from the Workman's Protective association, two from the railway brotherhoods, and one from the postal employes union of this city.

Concordia Student Body Headed by Arthur Myrom

Arthur Myrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sig Myrom of this city, was honored last week by election to the presidency of the student body at Concordia college, Moorhead, where he is a member of the junior class. WOMEN FALL OUT, BREAK BONES, AREN'T MISSED

Isle—Two Isle ladies didn't mind the broken collarbone and the broken right arm, but it did annoy them terribly recently when they fell from their seat on the back end of a Ford pickup and weren't missed until the car had gone on a mile. The two ladies, Mrs. Otting and Mrs. H. A. Scott, were riding home from a ladies' aid, where the beverage served was nothing more potent than coffee. The car hit a bump, and their seat tipped over backwards and dumped them in the road. The driver, Miss Otting, and Mrs. Gust Nelson in the front seat had no idea they had lost their passengers for some little time. Another motorist, Mrs. A. S. Williams found the ladies in the road and took them to Isle to have the fractures set. Both ladies are about 50 years old.

Growing With Your Child

They Can Take It!

By the Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Peggy's family, after having used every device they could think of to get her to practise at the piano, finally decided they were wasting money having her take lessons any longer. But when they told eleven year old Peggy so, she was very much taken aback, and begged to be allowed to continue, so that she wouldn't fall behind her two friends, who had reached about the same degree of proficiency as herself. After some discussion, Peggy was told she could continue, but only on her father's terms, which were that she herself was to be responsible for practising each week, keeping a written record for him each day of the amount of time she put in. Then, if her lesson was poorly prepared, she must pay for it out of her own allowance. Not a single lesson of the seven that have been taken since that time has been carelessly let slide. No one reminds her to practise, and Peggy enjoys the feeling of being her own "taskmaster."

Celia, like Peggy, is an only child of about the same age, who has seldom had to bear the brunt of any responsibility. Of late she has been under the care of the family doctor, who prescribed for her some medicine that she must take twice a day. He suggested that she try to remember to take it, without depending on any one to tell her, and at first she did very well. Her mother, however, in order to be quite sure the child was following directions, would ask every day if Celia had remembered her medicine. Before long, the child had dropped all thought of making it her own responsibility. She felt sure she could rely on her mother to remind her. Then her mother had to be away from home for two weeks, during which time she worried for fear the child would not keep up her regular doses. On her return she was amazed to find Celia hadn't missed a single teaspoonful all the time she was gone. Once the little girl felt she had to be responsible, she attended to it with no more ado.

The longer we put off giving children a chance to shoulder their own responsibilities, the more we are making them dependent on us. Not only are we failing to develop in them a habit of liking to be self-reliant, but we are actually encouraging the very poor habit of leaning on someone else to remember or to do things that children themselves are perfectly capable of carrying out alone.

Rose Is Most Popular

Although it was introduced 70 years ago, the yellow Marechal Niel rose is the most popular in England.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

DRINKING IN CHICAGO

By W. G. Calderwood

Chicago drank about 56 million gallons of beer during 1934, according to trade figures revealed by The Western Brewer. The retail cost of that tank of amber beverage is estimated at approximately $75,000,000. Government figures for the same time indicate that the consumption of milk in 66 leading cities of the nation was 27 per cent below the minimum health requirements. Applying these government findings to the city of Chicago, it is found that had the people of the western metropolis bought the standard requirement of milk it would have reached the retail aggregate of $60,000,000.

In normal times the average income might provide both beer and an adequate amount of milk, but under present economic conditions if the father has his beer, in many cases the milk supply for the family must be dangerously reduced.

The $75,000,000 beer bill was paid very largely by the poor man. Beer is not the rich man's drink. Among the pleas that were made for repeal was the constant claim that the laboring man had the right to his mug of beer.

The cold fact is that surveys made in Chicago and 66 other cities show that the consumption of milk has fallen 27 per cent below the recognized health need. That means an increase in mortality, particularly among the children.

The situation in the United States now seems to be beer versus milk, with beer winning and the children paying.

MEAT ANIMAL SLAUGHTER SMALLEST IN 20 YEARS

Combines slaughter of cattle, calves, hogs, and sheep during April this year was the smallest for that month in over 20 years, says the Weekly Market Bulletin issued by the Central Co-Operative Association, of South St. Paul. Total number of meat animals slaughtered in the United States in April at 4,854,960 head was one million head less than a year ago and nearly one and one-half million less than the April slaughter two years ago. The big decrease was noted in hog slaughter, the total number of hogs going for slaughter during that month being 2,111,430 head or the smallest since 1910 and 36% below a year ago.

MONTGOMERY WARD

SEVEN PRODUCTION CREDIT GROUPS TO CONVENE JUNE 3-4

Officers Are Summoned to Meeting to be Held in Detroit Lakes

Presidents and secretary-treasurers of seven Production Credit Associations in Minnesota will meet for a 2-day conference at Detroit Lakes on June 3 and 4, it was announced today by Robert J. Lund, secretary-treasurer of the Thief River Falls association.

The sessions will be held in the club room of the Graystone Hotel and the associations that will be represented are those in Crookston, Thief River Falls, Moorhead, Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, Fergus Falls and Wadena.

The conference has been called by the Production Credit Corporation of St. Paul and will be attended by E. C. Johnson, vice-pres., representing the corporation, and by H. Olmstead, vice pres., representing the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul, through which the local association obtains the funds it lends to its members.

Discussions will center around loan policies, the analysis of applications, inspections, office procedure and other problems of the association.

There are indications that the League of Nations may have to hold some night sessions.—Indianapolis News.

Bishop Timothy Corbett of Crookston is Honored in Silver Jubilee Sunday

Northwest Minnesota Catholics paid high tribute Sunday night to Most Rev. Timothy Corbet, bishop of Crookston on the occasion of the silver jubilee of his consecration while Bishop Corbett lay ill in the rectory, listening to the ceremonies through special wires that carried their messages to his bedside. He has been ill and confined to his bed for several months.

Nearly 2,000 persons packed the Cathedral high school auditorium next door to the rectory for the special program. More than 60 priests of the diocese joined in the services.

In deference to Bishop Corbett, the program was simple. Rev. A. J. Junghans of Frazee was master of ceremonies.

Father Junghans said that the occasion might well have been the golden or diamond jubilee as Bishop Corbett had accomplished in 25 years what might have taken another man 50 or 75 years to accomplish.

Rev. Joseph Wurm who came to Crookston in 1910, just six weeks before Bishop Corbett arrived in the city and who has served the bishop in the intervening years, reviewed the work and accomplishments of the Crookston diocese.

In the 25 years of service, he said, Bishop Corbett had brought about construction or enlargement of 60 churches, 40 parish houses, and 15 parochial schools—all of them lasting monuments to the bishop's service.

MANY APPLY FOR SCALING DOWN OF R. C. MORTGAGES

Details of Plan Under New Law Will Shortly be Completed

Five hundred applicants for scaling down of mortgages of the state rural credit bureau have been filed, and the first of a long series of mortgage reductions will be submitted to district courts for approval in two weeks, Theodore H. Arens, conservator, announced late last week.

This proceedings is under one of the acts of the recent legislative session, authorizing the conservator of the department to arrange for reducing the amount of mortgages outstanding.

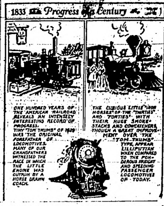
Plans of the legislature to reduce the interest rate charged on rural credit mortgages, however, appear doomed to failure. The legislature authorized the issuance of new bonds to retire the $60,000,000 in rural credit bonds, expecting that under present money conditions the money could be borrowed at 3 per cent or even less. The act of the legislature authorized such a move, and instructed that the benefit of the savings be passed on to the farmers.

The only bonds which could be recalled, however, are those held by the state, in which trust funds are invested. There are some $25,000,000 in these bonds held by the state drawing more than 4 per cent interest. While no formal action has been taken, the understanding is that the state investment board will decline to give up these bonds, because it means a loss of $200,000 to $250,000 a year in income—income that now goes to schools.

Under the "composition act," the conservator is proceeding with handling of applications for reducing the amount due on mortgages. Appraisals are made by federal and state experts, and the farmer submits his evidence as to his assets, his crops, and so on.

He and the conservator are to reach an agreement as to what the mortgage should be, based on productivity of the farm and other factors, and the agreement is taken before a district judge for approval.

Mr. Arens said the machinery for this scaling down process is well under way, with the first of the agreements slated for submission to the courts in about two weeks.



1833 Progress of a Century
ONE HUNDRED YEARS OF THE AMERICAN RAILROAD REVEALS AN INTENSELY INTERESTING RECORD OF PROGRESS. TINY "TOM THUMB" OF 1829 WAS THE ORIGINAL FOREFATHER OF LOCOMOTIVES. MANY OF OUR GRANDFATHERS WITNESSED THE RACE IN WHICH THE LITTLE ENGINE WAS OUTRUN BY A HORSE DRAWN COACH.
THE CURIOUS LITTLE "IRON HORSES" OF THE "THIRTIES" AND "FORTIES" WITH THEIR HUGE SMOKE-STACKS AND COWCATCHERS, THOUGH A GREAT IMPROVEMENT OVER THE "TOM THUMB" TYPE, APPEAR LILLIPUTIAN WHEN COMPARED TO THE PONDEROUS FREIGHT AND SPEEDING PASSENGER LOCOMOTIVES OF TODAY.

State Awaits Rules on U. S. Road Funds, Department Reveals

The $10,000,000 of new federal grant funds allotted to Minnesota last week for highway construction and grade crossing elimination is expected to be available for the fiscal year beginning July 1, according to an announcement by the state highway department. Regulations governing types of work, employment of labor, wages and other details are anticipated soon. When these regulations arrive, the department will immediately submit a program of construction to Washington authorities for their approval. After the program has been approved, the highway department will then ask the State Executive Council to authorize the sale of bonds to finance the state's expense in handling the program. This method of financing was provided by the recent session of the Legislature.

Britain's Radium Supply

There are only seventy grammes of radium—about one-tenth of the world's supply—in Britain, but this small amount—less than three ounces—is sufficient to employ a small army of experts at the various distributing centers in London. It falls to them to fill minute platinum or gold needles, tubes or stainless steel plaques with milligrammes of radium salts—about as nerve-racking tasks as you could possibly imagine. The tubes are for dispatch to hospitals and clinics, to be used in the treatment of cancer and other malignant diseases.

HOME PLANTER'S NOOK

"The What, When and How of flowers, lawns, and shrubbery, by L. Sando and L. E. Longley, Division of Horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul.

Everlasting Flowers

Everyone loves flowers, particularly if cut from plants grown in one's own garden. Possibly we do not fully appreciate freshly cut flowers until in the late fall months when garden flowers and plants are blackened by frost. In many homes flowers are not seen again until spring when the lilacs and bridal wreath burst into bloom. In the winter months, housewives who can afford to purchase flowers, will of course do so. Those who lack means of constantly replacing fresh flowers should plan to grow those which are called everlasting, or we may use the term "straw flowers".

Material for home decoration may be found in many summer blooming plants, wild and cultivated grasses, berry-bearing shrubs, fruits from vines, pine cones, and even cattails, from the swamps. Many are not cultivated at all, but merely gathered when ready and kept in a cool room or basement until required.

In our garden we should not fail to include several varieties of statice (or Limonium). The rose, Russian, dark blue, purple and white varieties are especially good. Celosia spicata is fairly new and wonderfully good, not only for winter use, but to mix with gladiolus arrangements in the summer. There are other varieties of Celosia as suitable, also gomphrenas or Globe amaranth; the orange-colored gomphrena does not appear to be as easy to grow as the purple. The above are annuals, as also are many grasses which we would do well to purchase in separate colors or varieties. The biennial dollar plant or money plant (Lunaria biennis) is one of the most treasured of all because of its silvery appearance when cut and dried. Seeds of the Lunaria should be sown in June, the plants set out in well drained soil in the fall, and at the approach of winter covered very carefully so as to keep snow away from the heart of the plant.

In perennials we have the Japanese lantern, blazing star, baby's breath, and sea lavender. A dwarf sea lavender, Limonium tatarica makes a particularly effective low centerpiece for the Christmas dining table, especially if colored red and blue, and a few pieces sprayed with aluminum paint. Into this centerpiece could be inserted a few pine cones which have been colored or dyed a soft red.

Experience is the only safe guide as to the time of cutting the flowers; in general it should be before the flowers are fully open. Use a rubber band to fasten the stems together; then hang them upside down in a cool room until required. Only a few kinds have been mentioned, as there are too many to list individually. One would like to refer to the cinnamon and sensitive ferns. The stems bearing the spores of these ferns are distinctly worthwhile and interesting. For greater variety, many flowers may be colored or dyed agreeable to one's personal taste, or for some special occasion such as Christmas, Washington's birthday and so on.

The Stem-Winding Watch

The earliest mention of a keyless or self-winding watch is in Schwenter's "Delitiae Mathematicae et Physicae," published at Nurnberg in 1651. Britten quotes an advertisement in the London Gazette of 1690 concerning a watch having a spring wound up without a key. In 1750 Caron (later Beaumarchais) made a watch in a ring for Mme. de Pompadour which was wound by means of a lever projecting from the case under the dial. The keyless work of turning the pendant is generally attributed to A. L. Breguet, but it was probably Louis Clement Francois Breguet, who retired from the House of Breguet et Fils in 1870. Two forms, the rocking-bar mechanism and the shifting sleeves mechanism, came into use about 1848.

Sneezing

In every age in every country, men have attached some kind of mysterious significance to sneezing. Early Christians crossed themselves. Medieval Europe went back to bed for hours if it sneezed while arising. Today, writes Ray Mollenhauer, Danville, Ill., in Collier's Weekly, sneezing is a sign of truthfulness in Turkestan, an indication of wisdom in some parts of Scotland and a bad omen throughout a large part of the world which still exclaims "God bless you" or its equivalent when one sneezes—for fear his soul will leave his body.

The Orb-Weavers

Some of the Orb-Weavers of the spider family live in their webs, hanging head downward, usually near the center of the net; others have a retreat near the edge of the net, where they hang with their backs downwards. While resting in these webs they keep hold of some of the lines leading from the net, so that they can instantly detect the presence of an enemy. The Orb-Weavers are usually plump spiders, with a large abdomen, and often nearly spherical. In some species of this family the male is much smaller than the female.

MINNESOTA LAGS BEHIND OTHER STATES IN PAVING

Neighbor states are still keeping ahead of Minnesota in highway paving, according to figures in American Highways. Minnesota built 58 miles of concrete highways in 1934, while Wisconsin built 91, Iowa 110, Illinois 401, Michigan 155, Indiana 184, and Missouri 107. Minnesota now has completed 2,641 miles of concrete highways, while Wisconsin has 4,132, Iowa 4,318, Illinois 11,931, Michigan 5,598, Indiana 3,624, and Missouri 3,578.

Bass and Crappies May be Taken in Southern Zone Starting May 29

It will become legal to take bass, crappies and sunfish in the southern zone in Minnesota beginning Wednesday, May 29, while the open season on these species of game fishes will start in the northern zone on Friday, June 21. Included in the bass family are striped, grey, yellow, black, silver and rock bass. Sunfish may be taken in Goodhue County commencing May 29.

Included in the southern zone is all lands and waters lying south of the north line of township 124 west of the fifth principal meridian, and south of the north line of township 35 west of the fourth principal meridian. The dividing line runs approximately east and west through Browns Valley, Morris, St. Cloud, Princeton and Cambridge. All territory lying north of this bisecting line is included in the northern zone.

Angling of wall-eyed pike, sand pike or saugers, pickerel, great northern pike, yellow perch and muskellunge is now legal. Some good catches have been reported from practically all of the better known wall-eyed pike fishing regions.

Stream trout fishing is also legal in all counties of the State. Weather conditions this spring were not at all favorable to this form of fishing. Despite this handicap some satisfactory catches have been reported to the Division of Game and Fish.

Thirty Million Miles of Ford Economy

MORE MILES. Faster miles. Greater economy . . . that is the story of the Ford V-8. There are conclusive figures from owners to show that it is the most economical Ford car ever built.

A particularly interesting and complete report of costs comes from a national fleet owner who has owned 854 Ford cars which have run more than thirty million miles in business use.

175 were Model T Fords which were run 5,017,075 miles. 588 were Model A Ford cars which were run 24,041,632 miles. 80 are Ford V-8 cars which have been run 2,982,980 miles.

This owner's cost records show that Ford V-8 cars cost 12% less to operate than the Model A Fords and 31% less than the Model T Fords. And they covered more miles per month! The monthly average for the Model T Fords was 1509 miles . . . For the Model A Fords, 1986 miles . . . And 2571 miles for the Ford V-8.

Each year the Ford car gives you more in value and performance and costs you less to operate.

Actual Figures Show The Ford V-8 is 12% [illegible] and 31% [illegible]

VOTE "YES" NEXT TUESDAY

At the special election to be held Tuesday, citizens of Thief River Falls will be called upon to decide whether or not the facilities of the municipal power plant shall be increased sufficiently to enable the city to meet the demand for light and power during the months of the peak load next winter. The need for this additional equipment is generally recognized. No one questions the soundness of the prediction made by Ole Legvold, superintendent of the light and water department, that if the demand for electricity continues to increase at its present rate, the city will not be able to supply the demand next winter with its present engine equipment. The problem now is not merely one of providing standby service to carry us through an emergency in case of a break-down. It is a question of whether or not the city is going to have sufficient equipment to meet the regular demand of consumers. No one disputes the fact that the situation is serious. Under these circumstances it would seem that there should be no opposition to the proposed bond issue to provide funds for the purchase of additional equipment.

But there is opposition and this opposition can be classified in two general groups. The one group is made up of that small minority who are opposed to the idea of municipal ownership and who will be disappointed if the local venture in public ownership does not prove to be a failure. This group is a factor in the coming election only to the extent that they are giving encouragement to a second group, of greater numerical strength, who are opposed to the bond issue for entirely different reasons. The opposition of this second group is obviously based upon personal and political considerations. Their objection is not to the purchase of additional equipment but rather to the purchase of that equipment by the present administration, and in an attempt to postpone the purchase until after the next city election when they hope to be able to do the buying themselves, they are resorting to the strategy of befogging the issue by raising various objections to the procedure.

Some of these objections are ridiculous. The fear that the council, if authorized to issue bonds, will spend the money for tennis courts instead of power equipment is childish. Such objections do not deserve serious consideration. The terms of the resolution calling the special election are sufficiently specific to satisfy any reasonable person as to the purposes of the officials. The ballot prescribes that the bond issue is for the purpose of improving the light and power plant, and that is what the money will be used for.

Some of the questions raised are deserving of more serious consideration. One of these questions is the possible effect of the election on the chances of securing a government grant. According to the best available information, the election will in no way add to the difficulties of securing such a grant. Before such a grant can be obtained, as we understand it, the project must be approved by the voters and other legal requirements for the authorization of the project by the local government must be met. An election is a necessary preliminary to give the project a proper legal status. The fact that the city was unable to secure a government grant on the auditorium two years ago was due to the fact that the contract for the building of the auditorium was let before the grant had been approved. In the present instance, as we understand it, our qualifications for government aid will remain unchanged until the purchase has actually been made.

On this phase of the question it should be known that the council has already taken steps to secure a government grant on the engine purchase and has pledged itself to do everything within its power to secure such a grant. But it should also be realized that whether or not a government grant is secured we still need additional power. If such a grant cannot be obtained now, there is no reason to believe that it will be possible to obtain it a year from now. So from this standpoint there is no good reason for delaying the authorization of a necessary bond issue.

Criticism of the interest rates that will be paid on a bond issue at this time come with poor grace from those who favored paying a three thousand dollar bonus less than two years ago for the privilege of paying six per cent. The interest rate of the proposed bond issue is limited to four and one-half per cent. Those who speak with authority on such matters assure us that the issue can probably be disposed of at a rate lower than four per cent. The council will borrow the money at the lowest rates possible. The maturity dates of the bonds will be so arranged as to fit into the city's debt-paying program to the best advantage. By refunding other obligations of the city it undoubtedly would be possible to pay for the new equipment in two years and thus save interest charges on this issue. But it certainly would be good business to spread this issue over a sufficiently long period to make it possible for the city to meet its five and one-half and six per cent obligations as they fall due without additional bonding or increased taxes. The administration may be depended upon to handle this phase of the problem in a sensible and business-like manner.

The questions involved in the special election to be held Tuesday are clear cut. If the city of Thief River Falls is to continue to operate a municipal light and power plant, then the city must provide the equipment that is necessary to supply adequate and dependable service. If purely political and personal considerations are going to enter into these arguments every time a light and power department problem is submitted to the voters then we had better step out of the field and dispose of the property to the highest bidder. These, actually, are the questions to be decided Tuesday. The need for more equipment is generally recognized. The seriousness of the situation is not disputed. This being true, if the purchase of needed equipment is not authorized in this special election then it will mean that the light and power department has become nothing more than a political football. The Tuesday election is in reality a test of the ability of this city to own and operate a plant of this kind successfully.

For those who believe that Thief River Falls can and should continue to own and operate a municipal light and power plant there is only one way to vote in the special election—vote "yes" and authorize the purchase of the equipment that is necessary if the city is to continue to provide satisfactory service.

Many service men thruout the country are disappointed with President Roosevelt because of his veto of the bill providing for immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates due in 1945, but every person who heard or reads that veto message will admit the soundness of the President's logic in his explanation of his reasons for taking such action. It required courage to veto the bonus bill. Popular sentiment favored it. Many who realized the injustice of the demands for immediate payment of an obligation that is not yet due felt that the bill should be passed as a means of ending a troublesome argument. The President, however, refused to be influenced by political considerations and in that message, in which he set forth his principles not only on the bonus but on the more important question of "printing press" money, he achieved new heights of statesmanship. The confidence in the ability and integrity of the administration, which his veto message will in a large measure restore, will be a far more potent factor in overcoming the depression than the billions of dollars which have been spent in an effort to prime the pump of industry.

Baseball was the principal topic of conversation on the streets early this week. And properly so. The game Sunday afternoon proved that Thief River Falls has a team that is a credit to the city. While the game was a little too one sided to provide much excitement, the five hundred fans who witnessed the contest came away satisfied that it will take a good ball club to beat our team. The game next Sunday afternoon will give Shorty Dekko an opportunity to demonstrate his team's ability under pressure. The colored Gophers, fast St. Paul negro nine, is one of the outstanding independent teams of the northwest.

While some new construction for the coming year was approved by the county board in arranging its road program, more than thirty miles of surfacing was authorized for roads already built, and for providing for the completion of so many miles of old construction the board is certainly to be commended. During the dry years the demand for surfacing these old roads has been less insistant, but as moisture conditions become normal again the wisdom of a gravel surface will be more apparent. Wet years would mean a rapid deterioration of grades not properly surfaced and maintained and incidentally would mean that much of the money that had been spent on these grades would have been wasted. The policy of the board to provide for this surfacing as rapidly as possible will probably mean that some new construction projects will be delayed, but the net result of such a policy will mean a saving to the taxpayers of the county as a whole.

AND THIS FROM RUSSIA

("Montevideo News")

It comes as a shock to learn that Russia is advertising an issue of Soviet Union seven per cent gold bonds. Payment of interest, an arduous task and therefore not popular, is on the fire of criticism in the United States these days as a wicked device of capitalistic bankers. We had assumed that Russia, under the new dispensation, was a happy land where it was not necessary to issue bonds and pay interest, and certainly not anything like a seven per cent rate. But an advertisement in the New Republic, liberal or radical journal of opinion, brings disappointment. It is signed by the Soviet American Securities corporation, with an office address dangerously close to Wall Street.

Arguments in the Soviet appeal to investors have a strangely capitalistic ring. The Soviet Union brags that it is the only country in the world which has greatly increased its budget during the past four years without incurring a deficit. People in this country who think it would be well to quit incurring deficits are put down as heartless reactionaries.

On the question of money the Soviet Union also makes an argument that fits into the line of talk uttered only by conservatives in this country. The Soviet points with pride to the fact that it has less currency, but gets greater results because its velocity has increased. This point is put into a sentence that may have some application to American discussion of the present day: "Moreover, circulation of currency in the past two years has decreased by one billion roubles in the face of a 16 per cent increase in retail trade and a declining price level." In this country the popular demand for more currency.

When Russia goes conservative, issues bonds, pays high interest, reduces volume of currency, is it an illustration that by turning "left" often enough it is possible to come out "right"?

Microbes Live Long

Microbes undoubtedly present the greatest extremes in nature. They vary greatly in size, some being 5,000 times larger than others. They live in a temperature range of 750 degrees, some being able to live at 470 degrees F. below zero while others thrive at 250 degrees F. above it. And some apparently are deathless, writes Freling Foster, in Collier's Weekly, as they have been found in a revivable condition in coal deposits 100,000,000 years old.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

The Old Age Pension law passed by the last Legislature is invalid, according to an opinion rendered last week by Harry H. Peterson, attorney general. The attorney general held that the bill presented and signed by the Governor was not the bill which was passed by the Legislature.

Unquestionably the nullity of the bill will hasten the calling of a special session of the Legislature. The Governor has plainly indicated that such a session will be called to effect a tax provision program so that the heavy burden of taxes will be taken off the real estate, and it may now be called at an earlier date than contemplated.

Applications filed with Commissioner of Securities S. Paul Skahen for the organization of farmers' co-operative oil associations during the past few months, from all sections of the state, indicate that our people are rapidly becoming educated to the benefits to be derived from such associations. Patrons have the satisfaction of knowing that they not only save considerably on the goods purchased, but the community as a whole is benefited and other businesses prosper. Licenses were recently granted for the sale of stock in co-operatives organized in the following communities: Underwood, Warroad, Bronson, So. St. Paul, Perley, Winger, Climax, Gary, Bagley and Middle River, with inquiries coming in from many more cities and villages throughout the state.

While the Minnesota highway department is doing a considerable amount of advance planning of road construction projects in anticipation of additional federal funds, officials state that they cannot set up a definite program until more specific information is received from Washington. Early estimates of the amount which may be provided Minnesota for roads and grade crossing separations have already been somewhat reduced according to unofficial reports, but no definite statement on the matter has been forthcoming from federal authorities as yet. Whether the state takes full advantage of the federal aid offers will depend on the Executive Council, which was empowered to authorize a highway bond issue to meet necessary state expenses involved. Interest and principal payments on bonds already require nearly one-third of the total annual state revenues of the highway department, but the Legislature felt it was better to authorize more bonds rather than restore motor vehicle license fees to their normal basis.

In a recent talk, Mr. E. V. Willard, Commissioner of Conservation, said: "A major problem confronting the department of conservation relates to the restoration, propagation and protection of game and fish. The immensity of this problem is not perhaps fully appreciated by a large number of citizens. Man's encroachment on the natural domain of our game and fish has all but eliminated some of the valuable of our so-called game species. To preserve upland game and make it available to the sportsmen, requires the acquisition and intensive management of game refuges and game farms. Migratory waterfowl, at present facing a serious crisis, must be provided with breeding, feeding and nesting grounds where they may find sanctuary. Statutory game refuges aggregating upwards of three million acres, eight public hunting grounds and game refuges distributed geographically over the state and purchased or in the process of acquisition from funds contributed by licenses and purchased by sportsmen, are at present being managed for the protection and propagation of upland game and migratory waterfowl."

There is food for thought in the above remarks. Despite the tremendous amount of work that is being done, only a beginning has been made. It is far easier to destroy than to replace; and programs must be put into effect under which the amount created for several years will have to exceed the amount which is being destroyed.

A report issued by Elmer A. Benson, Commissioner of Banks, showing the condition of state banks, saving banks and trust companies as of April 18, 1935, discloses total deposits of $219,398,125, which represent an increase in deposits of $29,429,463 since the report of April 7, 1934. This is the largest increase in deposits for any quarter for a number of years.

The largest increase is in the commercial deposits, which increased $4,806,541; making a total of commercial deposits of $60,339,887. Demand certificates and cashiers checks increased $2,266,088, to a total of $5,089,734. Savings deposits increased $3,311,863, to a total of $100,387,847. Loans and Discounts increased $2,022,760.

Commissioner Benson announces that this is the first time for a number of years that loans and discounts have increased. Other bonds and securities increased $5,187,098. Cash on Hand and Due from Banks increased $4,100,700.

From the standpoint of law enforcement, one of the worthwhile laws passed by the last Legislature is the establishment of a state-wide broadcasting station under the operation of the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension. For this purpose the Legislature appropriated $25,000.

This will mark the first unit of the system of police alarm which ultimately will blanket the state and make Minnesota a difficult territory for operation of criminals. Two other units will be established later as funds become available, according to plans of Melvin C. Passolt, bureau chief.

Dr. Henry E. Hartig, of the University of Minnesota, has been appointed by Mr. Passolt as engineer to prepare plans and specifications and to install the system. The exact location of the first unit has not been determined as yet. An offer on the part of the city council of Redwood Falls of the station in that city has been received by Mr. Passolt.

Pewter Holds Place in Hearts of Antiquarians

Dear to the heart of the antiquarians are pieces of old pewter. Some confine their collections to examples of early American pewter, while others search for such bits regardless of their place of origin, observes a writer in the Los Angeles Times.

For a period of a hundred years, from 1750 to 1850, the pewter makers of America reached their highest point of both artistry and production. Out of touch with the Old world, wooden trenchers were not uncommon in the colonies at the beginning of the Eighteenth century. Pewter came to the front to replace the wooden vessels at about the same time that china was triumphing over pewter in Europe.

Most of the pieces first made in this country were of tableware, plates being of first importance. The earliest encroachment of china was in dinner plates, but for a quarter of a century thereafter, craftsmen continued to do very well with pewter ware for other uses, such as for platters, bowls and salt cellars, with coffee pots, tea pots and pitchers also figuring rather importantly. But it is the old pewter plates that every collector dreams of finding.

It is not only the early American plates which are of the greatest value. Dutch, English and European plates likewise reign supreme.

Moon Has No Bearing on Crops, Science Says

Although the old idea persists that the moon affects the germination and growth of garden plants and other crops, scientists agree that the moon has no appreciable influence on temperature, rainfall, or other factors that could affect the behavior of plants. A. E. Hutchins, vegetable specialist, University Farm, St. Paul, calls attention to a recent statement by the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry, which says that careful scientific observations have failed to show that the moon affects plant behavior in any way. Neither can science adduce any reason why the moon should have the effects attributed to it by old beliefs.

The statement points out that plant growth depends upon many factors including temperature, light, humidity, and plant food (both in the soil and in the air) and its availability. Obviously, the moon neither mellows the ground nor fertilizes it; neither does it alter the composition of the atmosphere. Hence, it affects neither the mechanical condition of the soil, nor the kind and quality of available plant food.

It would seem probable, the statement continues, that if the moon had had any influence on plant growth it would be through the light shed by the moon. Experiments, however, have shown that even full moonlight is far too feeble to stimulate plant activity appreciably, being 600,000 times less intense than full daylight.

These are some of the reasons, concludes the statement, why very few people nowadays pay any attention to the moon, either in forecasting weather or planting crops.

SEED CORN

Good, northern grown, state registered seed corn. If checked, the cost per acre will be only 70 cents; if drilled the cost per acre will be $1.21. This gives more feeding value than fodder corn, which forms no ears. Fodder corn drilled will cost 70 cents per acre.

We recommend the planting of northern grown, acclimated corn.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION OF LAKE SHORE COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

The undersigned, for the purpose of organizing a corporation under and pursuant to Chapter 326 of the Laws of Minnesota for 1923, and acts amendatory thereof, do hereby adopt the following Articles of Incorporation:

ARTICLE I.

The name of the corporation shall be LAKE SHORE COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION.

The general nature of its business shall be the purchasing, selling, handling, and marketing, for itself and others, of gasoline, oils, and lubricants, and equipment and supplies used or useful in the business of farming and dairying or in the marketing, transportation or handling of agricultural or dairy products; to provide transportation service (other than by steam or electric railway) for its members, and to engage in any activity in connection with the transportation of livestock, farm products, and other personal property for its members; to engage in any activity in connection with the manufacturing for or selling or supplying to its members of machinery, equipment or supplies; to engage in any activity in connection with the servicing, repairing, and cleaning of vehicles of all kinds; to engage in any activity in connection with the financing of any of the above activities; generally to acquire, use, and dispose of all real and personal property, and to do any and all things incident to or necessary or convenient for the execution of such business or any portion thereof, and it shall have all the powers specified in said Chapter 326 of the Laws of Minnesota for 1923 and acts amendatory thereof.

The principal place of transacting such business shall be at the city of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

ARTICLE II.

The period of duration of the corporation shall be thirty (30) years.

ARTICLE III.

The names and places of residence of the incorporators (each of whom is acting for himself and as agent of Land O' Lakes Creameries, Inc., a Minnesota cooperative association) are as follows:

Name — Residence
John Brandt, Litchfield, Minnesota
Archie Brovold, Ettrick, Wisconsin
Stuart McLeod, Thief River Falls, Minnesota
Frank W. White, Marshall, Minnesota
Emil G. Johnson, Saint Paul, Minnesota

ARTICLE IV.

The government of said corporation and the management of its affairs shall be vested in a board of five directors, who shall be elected at the annual meeting of the members, which shall be held on the first Tuesday in March of each year. The incorporators above named shall constitute the first board of directors, and shall hold office until the first annual meeting of the members and until their successors are elected and qualify. The term of office of each director shall be one year and until his successor is elected and qualifies.

ARTICLE V.

This shall be a non-profit, nonstock cooperative association. Any cooperative association organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota or licensed to do business in the State of Minnesota and any individual may be admitted to membership upon payment of the membership fee prescribed by the by-laws of the corporation, and by complying with the terms and conditions contained in the by-laws of the corporation, and upon approval of his or its application for membership by the board of directors of the corporation.

ARTICLE VI.

The highest amount of indebtedness or liability to which this corporation shall at any time be subject shall be Two Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($250,000).

ARTICLE VII.

The fiscal year of the corporation shall commence on the first day of January and end on the thirty-first day of December in each year. The net income of such corporation, except such amounts as are required to be set aside as a reserve fund or permanent surplus or may be set aside by vote of the stockholders of the corporation, available for distribution, among the members, or patrons, or both, as the case may be, shall be distributed only on the basis of patronage.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands and seals this 11th day of April, 1935.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., May 20, 1935. (U.S.D.A.): Hogs advanced 15-25c as the week opened, placing most sales of barrows and gilts at $9.00-9.25, with the top $9.35. A few heavy weights sold down to $8.75 or less, good sows $8.25-8.50 or better, good and choice pigs $8.50-8.85.

Slaughter steer trade opened largely steady but closed weaker. Heifers were steady, cows steady to 15c lower, bulls fully steady, stockers and feeders strong to 25c higher, vealers weak to 50c lower. Medium and good fed steers brought $9.50-11.75, common $7.00-9.00, common and medium heifers $6.00-9.00, a few good heifers to $10.00 or more, bulk beef cows $5.50-7.25, a few to $8.00 and above, low cutters and cutters $3.50-5.00, bulk bulls $5.25-6.00, medium to choice vealers $6.00-9.00. Medium and good stock steers sold mainly at $6.75-8.25, desirable feeder types to $9.25. Good to choice stock heifers earned $6.25-7.50.

Lamb trade was not established at a late hour, the undertone being firm with better wooled lambs held around $8.75 and above, best clippers around $8.00-8.25. Slaughter ewes were 25-50c lower at $3.50 down on shorn kinds with heavy ewes under greatest pressure.

Quotations by Northern Packing Co., Grand Forks, Tuesday, May 21

HOGS—The market is very strong with an advance of fully 15c today. Well finished butcher hogs during the afternoon were salable at from $8.50 to $9.15 with a top of $9.15 paid for the best kinds weighing from 210 to 260 lbs. Packer sows ranged in price from $7.50 to $8.60.

CATTLE—The market is steady. Medium to good steers, heifers and yearlings continue to sell mostly at from $6.75 to $8.50. The common and fair steers and heifers ranged from $4.50 to $6.25; butcher cows continue to sell mostly at from $5.00 to $6.50. Extra good young cows may sell at $6.75 and above. Canners and cutters ranged from $4.50 downward. The best heavy bulls sold at from $5.25 to $5.60 while medium and light bulls ranged from $4.50 downward.

CALVES—There is a fair demand for strictly good vealers which are salable here at from $6.00 to $6.50 while choice 200-lb. vealers may sell at $6.75 and above. Common calves and medium vealers are in very limited demand and prices ranged mostly from $4.50 downward.

SHEEP—None offered. Desirable last season's lambs may sell at from $6.00 to $6.50.

Ivan the Terrible

The British museum has a rare portrait of Ivan the Terrible. He lived in the time of Elizabeth and was the first ruler of Russia to take the title of czar, a corruption of Caesar. His deeds were so infamous that for centuries after his death Russians crossed themselves at mention of his name. He proposed by letter to Queen Elizabeth for the hand of an English woman, but at the last moment the woman was afraid to go into exile in Russia. Ivan then married a Russian princess, who exercised some check on his cruelty. But after her death he gave full rein to his unbridled passion. He passed his last days surrounded by magicians, who could not, however, exorcise the ghost of his son, whom Ivan had slain.

Rat Extermination is Called Economy Move by State Physicians

Rats are usually regarded as a necessary evil or simply as a nuisance. In reality they are a great danger to the health of mankind, however, and a source of much money loss.

Startling results as to cost of maintaining the rat population in this country as shown in government surveys are told in this week's bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

There are approximately the same number of rats in this country as there are people, the surveys show, and the annual bill for actual food consumed amounts to nearly $200,000,000. In addition to this, even larger sums of money are lost because of the destruction rats do. They destroy untold quantities of grain, both growing and in storage. They contaminate food. They damage foundations, timber in buildings, floors, sidewalks and walls. They destroy eggs and young poultry. In houses they damage carpets, blankets, laces, silk and clothing. In storehouses they eat food supplies and destroy more than they eat.

In addition they convey the dreadly disease "bubonic plague" and also spread other diseases both to humans and farm animals. One of the most serious of the latter is "trichinosis", carried to hogs and thence to humans in under-cooked pork.

One of the most numerous and dangerous types is the brown rat, which sticks close to the ground and has great burrowing powers. It can burrow down under a two foot stone wall or go through heavy timbers. Another type is the black rat, a great climber, which jumps amazing distances and even climbs flat walls and bare telephone wires.

Two facts must be considered in destroying them. First, they require a large and continuous food supply. Second, they must have protected breeding places. All foods should be placed beyond their reach and breeding places destroyed. On farms this problem is difficult but can be accomplished. Excellent bulletins are available from the U. S. Department of Agriculture on methods of rat destruction.

PLANS TAKE FORM FOR N. W. SCHOOL FOUR-H CLUB WEEK

Annual Event to be Held in Crookston Week of June 17-22

Plans for the annual 4-H Club Week at the Northwest School, June 17 to 22, are rapidly taking form, according to District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft.

A district conference of adult and junior leaders from Northwestern Minnesota counties will be featured during the week. A. J. Kittleson, state club agent, will be in charge of the conference, while other members of the club staff and extension division will appear on the program. A large number of leaders are expected to attend this worthwhile program.

Regular Class work, including field trips, laboratory work, and demonstrations are planned to assist club members to do more effective work in their projects. A wide range of topics are offered including clothing, foods, canning, and room furnishing for the girls, and livestock, crops, and garden for the boys. The Northwest School faculty with the assistance of county agents, will be in charge of the instruction. Other instructors who will assist are C. L. McNelly, H. G. Zavoral, and Parker Anderson of the Extension Division, and Miss Mildred Schenck and Amy Wessel of the 4-H club office. Ruth Lohmann, with the Kerr Glass company, will demonstrate canning.

The conservation of wild life, a new activity in 4-H club work, has created considerable interest in Minnesota. Special discussions and field trips are planned to help the young folks in this field of endeavor. Miss Gladys J. Haney of the Bemidji State Teachers College will direct a special study of Bird Life. Miss Elma E. Schoals, also from the above college, will take up problems in putting on one-act plays.

In addition to a fine educational program, arrangements are under way for an enjoyable recreation and play program. Club members twelve years old or over may come.

Swanson of Bronson district chairman, and Postmaster Andrew Anderson of this city, assistant chairman.

COURT TERM OPENS IN FERGUS FALLS TUESDAY

The May term of United States district court will open at Fergus Falls next Tuesday, on which day the jury has been summoned to appear, it was announced today by Frances V. Leversen, deputy court clerk.

MASS MEETING HELD MONDAY AGREES ON DIESEL UNIT NEED

tended that the council resolution authorising the special election next Tuesday is not ambiguous since it states the purpose is to buy an additional Diesel unit and necessary accompanying equipment.

He added that the council had authorized him to say that it pledges itself not to use the proceeds of the bond issue for any other purpose than the one specified, nor to issue more bonds than are necessary to purchase the size of unit finally decided on.

Paul Harris, former alderman, asked if the new unit could not be purchased on a conditional sales contract instead of a bond issue. Mr. Quale expressed doubt as to the legality of the proposal.

Mr. Harris went on to recount the story of the attempt made by the council two years ago to purchase a unit without first submitting the matter to popular vote, and said that the injunction suit that followed was instigated by Diesel engine salesmen who wanted another chance to bid on the unit. He closed his remarks by predicting that the bond issue would carry, altho he felt the authorized maximum interest rate was too high.

Judge Lars Backe said the important thing was to consider present needs rather than past history, and stated that he favored the bond issue and that it would be a good move to acquire a new unit. E. M. Bennes spoke to the same effect and added that the city was in sufficiently good financial condition to justify the purchase at this time. "I would like to see the bond issue carry," he said.

Referring to Mr. Harris' statement concerning the injunction suit two years ago, Paul Lundgren, who acted as attorney for the group of local citizens seeking the injunction, denied receiving payment for his work from anybody other than the local citizens involved. Mr. Harris then rose to say he had not meant to accuse any councilman or attorney of doing anything improper.

Near the close of the meeting A. M. Aalbu appeared as spokesman for the Workman's Protective association, and said that his group had decided to vote "No" at the special election Tuesday. While agreeing that added power facilities are needed he said that the question to be voted on is not specific enough, that the bonds run for too long a period and that a federal grant could not be obtained if the bond issue should be approved.

Martin Bothun said a new unit is an absolute necessity, owing to the increased use of electrical appliances of all kinds. F. J. Dudley urged an early reduction in the rate on electricity for cooking units.

Nine Boys Injured in Collision Near Warren

Milo Peterson, Stephen youth is near death, Richard Vanek, Warren youth is critically injured, while seven other youths are more or less seriously injured as a result of a head-on collision of two automobiles about five miles north of Warren on U. S. Highway 75 early Sunday morning, says the Warren Sheaf. Investigations indicate that the two automobiles, the Warren car returning from Argyle and the Stephen car returning to Stephen from Warren, were driving in the moonlight without the aid of lights and crashed head-on into each other in the center of the broad highway, Minnesota Highway patrolmen stated.

Coal Dealer Magazine Lauds A. B. McLaughlin for Stoker Sale Record

A. B. McLaughlin, proprietor of the Red Lake Ice & Fuel company of this city, is the subject of a lengthy article in the May issue of The Coal Dealer, a monthly magazine published in Minneapolis. The article recounts details of an energetic campaign conducted by Mr. McLaughlin to promote the sale of coal stokers, resulting in 24 sales in this community in a nine-month period. The article concludes, "This industrious retailer is planning to make a special campaign for stoker business during the summer months, taking full advantage of the many advertising the sales promotion helps offered by his manufacturer. Next spring Thief River Falls will probably know more about the advantages of automatic heat with solid fuel".

PRES. ROOSEVELT TELLS SOLONS OF BONUS OPPOSITION

Cash Payment Plan Unwarranted, He Declares to Congress

President Roosevelt Wednesday condemned the $2,200,000,000 Patman bonus bill as "disastrous" and vetoed the measure in an unprecedented personal appearance before a joint session of congress. His message was a stern admonition against currency inflation.

He warned that "uncontrolled prices and destruction of the value of savings" would follow adoption of the printing press money plan of meeting the demands of special groups.

"I can not be true to the office I hold if I do not weigh the claims of all in the scales of equity," Mr. Roosevelt said in an emphatic peroration.

"I am thinking of those who served their country, of those who increased crops, who worked in the mines, of those who died in the cause of America, of the widows and orphans of all of them, of five millions of Americans who with their families are today in dire need.

"It is of first importance that we yield not to sympathy which would extend to a single group or class. But that we should extend assistance to all.

"I believe the welfare of the nation, as well as of the future of the veterans, wholly justifies my disapproval of the measure."

In vigorous, measured language, Mr. Roosevelt told congress and the nation that the cash-payment plan was unwarranted.

FISHIN'S GOOD; ANGLER LANDS AUTOMATIC RIFLE

Ortonville—Besides getting his share of game fish on the opening day of the season, or rather the first day in which weather permitted fishing, Earnest Johnson, manager of the Mile Park near Ortonville, landed a .22 calibre automatic rifle. His line tightened as his boat drifted and in attempting to extricate his hook from what he believed to be a snag he brought to the surface a rifle with a factory date as of the year 1903. Cleaning fully half an inch of corrosion from the barrel, Johnson tried the gun out and is pleased with his catch. "A slight back-fire on the first shot was all; second shot perfect."

WEATHER TURNS WARMER

Summery temperatures prevailed locally during most of the past week and no rain fall, giving an opportunity to complete belated seeding operations.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TEAM DEFEATS PARK RAPIDS HERE SUNDAY

Haugen. Norby then got a walk and scored on Heiberg's double to center. Heiberg, on trying to steal third, was caught off the bag for the first out. H. Thordahl and Gruningen then went out, retiring the side with four hits and four runs.

Neither side score in the third inning, but the locals got two more in the fourth when Brevick singled and score on H. Thordahl's three-base hit to left field and Thordahl scored on Shaver's muff of Gronlngen's grounder. Coleman grounded out ending the inning.

Two more scores were made in the fifth inning when Mandy Thordahl reached first on Shaver's error and took second on a wild throw. Haugen then singled, scoring Thordahl, taking second on the throw-in and stealing third. Brevick singled, scoring Haugen, but was thrown out at second. Nordby struck out retiring the side and ending the scoring for the locals.

Park Rapids made its lone score in the eighth inning. When Coleman, local third baseman, made a wild throw to first, Shaver walked and McCollar went to second, scoring when Haugen fumbled a ground ball to second.

Lofty Helberg had perfect control and a nice hop on the ball, making him invincible in the pinches. He struck out 13 men, which is quite an accomplishment in itself. Brevick, local centerfielder, showed up well, getting four hits in four times at bat, including three singles and a triple. Gronlngen, the peppery catcher, also gave a splendid account of himself, especially in fielding high fouls behind the plate.

STATE CITIZENS PAY 181 MILLION TAXES LAST YEAR

Approximately 100 Million of Total Was Levied on Property

Minnesotans paid a grand total of 181 million dollars to government in taxes during 1934, or an average of $72.40 for each man, woman and child in the state, a survey by the St. Paul Dispatch disclosed Friday.

Local units of government, cities, counties, villages, school districts and townships, accounted for the largest portion of the total, $87,500,000; the Federal government collected $50,152,191 and the state government, $43,918,000, to make up the grand total of $181,570,191.

Approximately 100 millions in taxes, including all of the local levies and $12,446,000 collected by the state, was collected on property, which leads to an interesting fact. The total taxable net income in Minnesota in 1934, as shown by returns to the state income tax division, was 85 million dollars.

Even if a levy of 100 per cent had been made on all taxable income, it would not have yielded sufficient revenue to offset entirely the tax on property.

Another fact which offers interesting possibilities for conjecture, especially in view of the bitter fight over a 3 per cent retail sales tax at the recent session of the State Legislature, is that the Federal government collected $25,221,215 in processing taxes on basic food commodities in Minnesota in 1934.

Five Bremer Kidnaping Defendants Are Found Guilty in U. S. Court

Another smashing blow was dealt the kidnap racket in St. Paul Friday when a United States district court jury found five alleged members of the Karpis-Barker gang guilty of conspiracy in the abduction of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker. Two of the seven who were on trial for five weeks were found not guilty.

Life terms were imposed immediately on Arthur (Doc) Barker, former co-leader of the notorious Karpis-Barker gang, and Oliver Berg, who the government contended shielded members of the mob. Other defendants found guilty are: John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, Harold Alderton and James Wilson. They were placed in custody of the United States marshal for sentence by Judge M. M. Joyce "in due course of time."

Found not guilty were Philip Delaney and William Vidler, who were alleged to have assisted McLaughlin in disposition of $54,000 of the ransom money.

SUES ICE-CUTTERS FOR LEAVING UNFENCED HOLE

Alexandria —A damage suit brought against six LaGrand township farmers for leaving a hole in the ice unfenced, resulting in the death of a five year old boy, raises an interesting legal point for court at Alexandria. The bereaved parent, Edwin O. Lundstrom, claims that the hole in the ice through which the boy fell was made by the defendants in ice-cutting operations, and that they should have surrounded the hole with a fence so that the child could not have fallen in. Because they neglected to do so, he holds them liable for the drowning and for damages. The defendants assert that they bought the ice cut and hauled out of the water, and the man who cut the ice was not their agent but a salesman.

FOOD COSTS STILL NOT UP TO PARITY, AAA LEADER SAYS

Farm Buying Power Not Yet Fully Restored, Says Andrew Boss

Although food costs have risen rather rapidly lately, they are still about 16 per cent below the level required to give the farmer the same buying power he enjoyed immediately before the World War says Andrew Boss, state director of AAA programs, University Farm, St. Paul.

Food costs are still about 19 per cent lower than they were in 1930, he points out. Furthermore, they are still lower, in relation to the pre-war level, than all other items entering into the cost of living, especially much lower than fuel and light, household goods, medical and dental service and commercial amusements. The farmer, as well as the city dweller, must buy these things, and his only way of paying for them is by obtaining more for his products.

After all, these higher food prices, and the benefit payments farmers have received under their adjustment contracts, have done much to restore farm buying power and stimulate business, Mr. Boss points out. Retail business, especially, has picked up he says, and reports from the country indicate that taxes, private debts and even ministers' salaries are being paid. These better times in the rural areas are having an important influence on the manufacturing industries, and economic conditions throughout the nation are gradually improving.

American agriculture's greatest hope for the future lies in an increase in industrial activity and the re-employment of 22 per cent of the nation's workers now out of work, Mr. Boss points out. In January, the nation's industrial production stood at only 67 per cent of the 1929 level, whereas agriculture was producing or planning to produce under the 1935 adjustment programs, at 92 per cent of its 1929 capacity. The next move in the nation's recovery program is for business to determine, Mr. Boss believes.

Bituminous Road Repair Program Now Under Way

State highway maintenance crews will carry out a special improvement program on the 3,000 miles of bituminous treated gravel trunk roads during the next two weeks, says a department bulletin. First attention will be given to patching holes and repairing short rough stretches on otherwise good roads. Where extensive retreatments are required over a considerable mileage, the work will be done in large measure by contract.

RED LAKE MILLING CO SELLS ELEVATOR CHAIN

The Northern Seed and Grain company of Moorhead, headed by Max Goldberg of that city, recently purchased eleven elevators in this section of the state from the Red Lake Milling company of which Mrs. Mary A. Johnson of Minneapolis is the principal stockholder.

Preliminary Plans Are Outlined for Crops and Soils Day at Crookston

The annual crops and soils day at the Northwest Experiment Station has been scheduled for Monday, July 15, according to R. S. Dunham, station agronimist. The inspection of field plots during the growing season has been an annual event for many years. Since 1924 the Red River Valley Crops and Soils association has made this day the occasion for their annual summer meeting. Farm clubs and other community groups interested in the experimental work in crops have also chosen Crops and Soils day as an ideal time to visit the school and station, thus combining the inspection of the plots with a community picnic and outing.

Preliminary plans include a short speaking program, while most of the afternoon will be devoted to studying the several hundred experimental plots. Of special importance this year will be the work with pasture crops, the trials of farmers' lots of seed flax on wilt infected soil as begun last year, and deep tilling trials for potatoes and sugar beets.

Officers of the Crops and Soils association include: Herman Skyberg, Fisher, president; Melvin Flaskerdu, Fosston, vice president; R. S. Dunham, Crookston, secretary; and S. M. Sivertson, Crookston, treasurer, together with the following county directors; John Bergh, Hallock, Kittson county; Tom Reine, Roseau, Roseau county; Carl Hjelle, Newfolden, Marshall county; Chas Lindquist, Wylie, Pennington; Geo. H. Orr, Red Lake Falls, Red Lake; J. Al. Anderson, Gonvick, Clearwater; Alfred Lindem, Fisher, West Polk; O. J. Ramse, McIntosh, East Polk; Wm. Frederickson, Perley, Norman; Henry T. Johnson, Audubon, Becker; Theo. Mellum, Ulen, Clay, Wm. Froderichs, Foxhome, Wilkin; Julian Halvorson, Fergus Falls, West Ottertail; and W. H. Frey, Perham, East Otter Tail county.

LARGE EGG PRODUCES FOUR-LEGGED CHICK

Sacred Heart —An unusually large hen's egg must contain something besides an ordinary chicken, thought C. O. Sletten, Sacred Heart Co-Operative manager, and when a farmer brought in one of gigantic size, he took the egg to a hatchery and asked to have it hatched. To the surprise of all concerned, a four-legged chick hatched out, with the two extra legs attached to its tail. Altho the chick makes no effort to use them for locomotion, they may be valuable later for scratching her back. Sletten is to be congratulated on developing a chicken with four legs. In a family of four where everyone wants a chopstick, a four-legged hen would make it simple to keep peace at the table. He is thinking of patenting the idea and going into mass production.

A RABBIT'S FOOT?

Foley—Twenty-two members of a county graveling crew thought they were luckyy to find shelter from a recent rain in a farmer's barn, and one of them certainly must have carried a rabbit's foot. As the crew was running toward the barn, and only a few feet away, lightning struck the building and it burned to the ground. The luck was scattered, however, since the crew helped Dan Connolly save the stock from the burning barn, and then hauled smaller buildings to a safe distance with the big county truck.

Seniors and Juniors Win in Baseball

Owing to the fact that two interschool baseball games were played last week on the diamond there was only time for two inter-class kitten-ball games.

One of these was played between the Junior A and Seniors. As was expected the upperclassmen were on the upper half of a 13-10 score. In the pitcher's box we found Prichard for Juniors and Kielty for Seniors.

In the other game we discovered the Junior B. Conquering the Soph B. by a score of 11-2. Adkins pitched for Sophs and Floyd Olson completed the task for Juniors.

SENIORS PRESENT CLASS PLAY HERE FRIDAY EVENING

"Tons of Money" is Presented Under Careful Direction of Miss Edberg

The Senior Class presented the play, "Tons of Money" to a large and attentive audience Friday evening, May 17. In the first act, we find Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Allington, Adele Holmstrom and Kendall Gustafson, trying to find a way for Aubrey to disappear in order to prevent their creditors from knowing about the money which they have inherited. The plot of the entire play centers around the disappearance of Aubrey. As soon as it is discovered that he is missing, impostors begin to arrive, all in search of the money.

Many amusing scenes were seen showing the entire cast. The Senior class has found a real actor in the person of Kendall Gustafson. Everyone acted well, but Kendall had a more difficult part.

Between the first and second acts, Art Bouville thanked Penneys, Montgomery Wards, Wagensteins, Nesses, and all of those who helped in the production of the play. The Senior class also appreciated the help of those people behind the scenes. A group of clarinet players also rendered several numbers. During the intermission between the second and third acts, we were entertained by Robert Bouville at the piano. Adele Holmstrom presented Miss Edberg with a bouquet of roses and a bracelet.

All in all, the play was enjoyed by all present.

Stage Hands Help Make Senior Play a Success

The actors and actresses whom you saw on the stage in the Senior Class Play are not the only people who deserve congratulations on their work of making the play a success. The success of any play depends largely upon the people who work back stage.

Helen Wilson and Phyllis Norbeck were responsible for the properties, and the costumes were taken care of by Eunice Lindholm. Corlan Dokken produced the sound effects. The general stage manager was Walter Kinghorn.

Harriet Jung, the head of the publicity committee, was aided by Marjory Ward and Louise LaBree, who drew the attractive posters advertising the play.

Art Bouville, manager of the ticket sales, was assisted by several ticket salesmen.

The appropriate background for the play was furnished by Mr. Carlson, Mr. Pope, and Dayton Silk. Last but not least are Martha Storholm, call girl, and Dorothy Traver, prompter. Much credit is due these people for the great help in making this play a success.

LINCOLN PUPILS RECEIVE THEIR LETTERS TUESDAY

Captains of Athletic Teams Were Announced at Dinner

At a banquet served in the Civic and Commerce association rooms Tuesday evening letters were awarded to a large number of Lincoln high school students in recognition of their participation during the past year in extra-curricular activities. The dinner was served by the home economics students and Supt. Morris Bye officiated as toastmaster.

Elroy Schroeder, superintendent of the Grand Forks schools, gave the principal address, and E. M. Bennes, president of the local board of education, also spoke briefly. Other numbers on the program included selections by a reed quartet and a girls' sextet.

HERE AND THERE

The students and teachers of the Home Economic department spent the past week in preparing for the activity banquet that was given Tuesday night.

Registration for next year was completed Tuesday night, the freshman being the last ones to register.

Sidelights on the District Track Meet Held Here Saturday

The District Track Meet held last Saturday, May 18, was a great success as far as Thief River Falls was concerned. The Prowlers won the meet with a total of seventy-five points. Five points were given for a first place in an event, four for a second, three for a third, two for a fourth, and one for a fifth. Crookston ran a close second with a total of seventy-three and one-half points. The one-half point is given in case of ties.

The first event in the morning was the high hurdles. Jackson of Crookston took first in that, doing the hurdles in 21 seconds. Then one of the Prowlers, in the person of Fabrick, stepped out and took second place, giving us our first four points that gradually worked up to seventy-five. Third place was taken by another Prowler, Bud Nelson, adding three more points. Albertson of Crookston took fourth and Rockwood of East Grand Forks came in fifth.

The 100 Yard Dash was next with Spence of Crookston taking first place, running it in 11:4 seconds. Kimbilin, from East Grand Forks, was second, James Nesse third, Jack Adkins fourth, and Kendall Gustafson fifth.

Then came the low hurdles in which Thief River Falls again placed three men, one of them was Lee, who took first place, running the hurdles in 30:7 seconds. Spence of Crookston, took second, Gunderson third, Mickelson fourth, and Jackson from Crookston, fifth.

In the 220 Yard Dash the Prowlers placed three men again, for the third time. Kimbilin from East Grand Forks took first with the time 25:8 seconds. Dewar of Crookston ran second, J. Nesse fourth, and Gustafson fifth.

The 440 Yard Dash netted the Prowlers a first and fifth place. Lee was first doing it in 50:4 seconds, Kimbilin second, Venem also of East Grand third, Dewar Fourth, and Berge fifth.

The Half mile was probably the most exciting event of the morning. In the beginning of the race Magnuson, one of the Prowlers, took a very big lead and held it all through till he broke the tape, in 2 minutes 21 seconds. Gunderson followed him running second, then Chandler of East Grand and Green of Crookston tied for third and fourth places. Dicken took fifth.

The afternoon events started with the pole vault and shot put. In the pole vault, undoubtedly the oddest thing happened that has happened here for quite a while. Spence of Crookston won first, vaulting 10 feet 6 inches. Then D. Jackson, also of Crookston took second. It was then left to decide between Fabrick and R. Jackson for third place so they started to vault. But they kept on tying each other until both of them had vaulted higher than D. Jackson, who had just a few minutes before taken second place. They kept on vaulting until finally Fabrick missed three times and so took fourth place while R. Johnson took third.

Kimbilin heaved the shot 39 feet, topping all others. McFarlin of Crookston came next with Jorde third, Andrest of Crookston fourth, and Berge fifth.

In the discus, Jorde came first when he threw it 94.8 feet, 10.2 feet further than the next best that was thrown by Jung. Camey from East Grand took third, Schroeder, also from East Grand, fourth, and Schuett, of Crookston, fifth.

Next came the javelin. Rockwood of East Grand almost threw it away when it sailed 140.01 feet before it finally decided to come to earth. Second was Hovde of Crookston who also put a mean hook on it although not quite as bad as Rockwood. Spence was third, McFarlin of Crookston fourth, and Mickelson, fifth.

In the Hi-Jump there were two ties, the first when Schuett and Albertson, both of Crookston tied for first and second places. And the second the when Bud Nelson and McFarlin tied for fifth. Third place was taken by Rockwood and fourth by Fabrick. Schuett and Albertson both jumped 5 feet 8 inches.

Milt Nesse nearly lost himself when he broad-jumped 18 feet 2½ inches. Kimbilin was next best, Albertson took third, Schuett fourth, and Bud Nelson fifth.

The half mile Relay was the grand climax to the meet. Gustafson won first. He gave the stick to Milt Nesse, who started to build up a big lead. From him it went to his brother, James Nesse, who continued to make a bigger lead. He gave it to Carl Lee who broke the tape with plenty time to spare.

After the Relay the well-earned trophy was awarded to Thief River Falls, and medals were given to winners in the events.

PROWLERS WIN OVER ST. HILAIRE BY 16 TO 5 SCORE

East Grand Forks Defeat Prowler Nine by 7-5 Score in Close Game

In a close, hotly-contested game the Prowlers lost their fourth game to East Grand Froks 7-5. After three scoreless innings, the East Side got 3 runs on a walk, two hits and an error but in their half of the inning the Prowlers came back for 3 runs, then, in the next inning each team got 2 runs more apiece. Then with two men out the Little Green Wave scored two runs on Mickleson's error to win the game. Helquist pitched five hit balls for the locals.

On Friday the Prowlers broke into the win column by virtue of a 15 to 6 victory over St. Hilaire. The local nine played good ball throughout, the game committing four errors which was a vast improvement over other games they have played. The locals got sixteen hits while the Saints garnered seven, three off Prichard, the starting pitcher and four off Nicholson, who pitched the last two and a half innings. Adkins hitting for the Prowlers stood out. He got on base everyone of his five times at bat, twice by walks, twice by hits and once on an error.

The Sub-Assistant Manager—Remember you are regarded as a mere machine in this place.

The Stenographer—All right. But don't mistake me for the telephone transmitter, cause I won't listen to your chatter.

ETIQUETTE CORNER

Everyone who is planning to attend the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises will wish to use his best manners. Therefore, I shall give you a list of a few things you should not do. First of all, a few pet "do nots" such as chewing gum, combing hair, and whispering to your neighbors. When the chorus is singing their numbers, they would appreciate it greatly if you would not keep time to the music by stamping your feet on the floor or humming. During the speeches do not rap your fingers on a book or chair, shuffle your feet about on the floor, or yawn openly in disrespect of the speaker. After the services are over don't be in such a hurry to get out that you bump into everyone but then also do not loiter and get in any one's way. By obeying these few rules, you will be conducting yourself in a manner fitting students of Lincoln High School.

PRES. OF ST. CLOUD TEACHERS COLLEGE TALKS TO STUDENTS

Mr. Selke Speaks on Topic "People I Have Known" Wednesday Afternoon

Mr. Selke, President of the St. Cloud Teachers Institute, who has spoken to the Lincoln High School body many times previously, addresses the students on Wednesday afternoon. His topic was "People I Have Known."

He had chosen a Mr. Wilson for the first person to talk about. Mr. Selke traveled in northern Canada a few years ago and spent some time with Wilson. He also learned much about the nature of the country (it is often sixty-six degrees below, he related), the ways and manners of the people, their methods of making a living; namely, fishing, hunting, farming, and so forth.

Mr. Selke told us about his acquaintance with the famous baseball star, Babe Ruth. The Babe, when he first began playing baseball, was a very good hitter but took no interest in team work. However, because of a talk with his coach, he became a "team man. He also developed into a "human-interest" man. Mr. Selke gave a good example of this "human-interest." One day the Babe and his team were to play a baseball game, but it was called off because of rain. One man had come fifty miles to see the game, because his little boy with a broken hip wanted to have his father see the mighty Babe in order that the father could tell him about the game and Babe. The man's story so interested Babe that the "King of Swat" immediately set out with this man to visit the little boy.

Mr. Selke also talked about a young friend of his, Ann Govednik of Chisholm. Miss Govenik is famous for her many championships in swimming. When she came home from the Olympics, her mother was seriously ill. Ann was invited to speak over the radio. She did and spoke to her mother in a foreign language that very few people understood. She was invited to a banquet in Chisholm but refused to attend unless she could first see her mother. Mr. Selke admired this very much. He also admired her modesty.

In closing, Mr. Selke told us to remember to have modesty and to play the games for the team and spectators as well as for ourselves.

NORMAL TRAINING

Irving Wold, who teaches school near Winger, visited the Training Department on Monday afternoon.

The following Training Department students have obtained schools for the coming year: Luella Battleson in Pennington County and Helen Knutson in Beltrami county.

On Thursday evening the Training Department group enjoyed a picnic on the river bank near the golf grounds. A kittenball game furnished the entertainment after the weiner roast and picnic supper.

FOURTEEN SENIORS HONORED MONDAY AT H. S. ASSEMBLY

Dr. A. E. Jacobson Delivers Brief Address to Students

In an assembly on Monday afternoon, May 20, fourteen members of the Senior class were awarded gold keys for scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Previous to this the Senior class had elected fifteen students eligible for membership. The faculty almost unanimously voted for those chosen by the class.

Mr. Bye presented gold keys to the following: Kenneth Brown, Corlan Dokken, Art Bouville, Arnhild Fjelstad, Kendall Gustafson, Jerome Havel, Harriet Jung, Kathleen Monsebroten, Dorothy Rau, Lucille Reidy, Martha Storholm, Dorothy Traver, Norma Yetewand, and Donald Hermanson.

Letters were also given to those boys who were outstanding in citizenship, scholarship and athletics. These students were admitted to the National Athletic Honor Society. In this group were Kendall Gustafson, Jerome Havel, Donald Hermanson, Victor Jung, Walter Kinghorn, Carl Lee, Gilbert Mickelson, Art Nelson, and Milton Nesse.

Mr. Claffy then introduced Dr. A. E. Jacobson, who spoke to the members of both societies and the student body on "What Doth It Profit?" He said that recognition of their keys means nothing, but it is the "stuff within you" that counts. To have a high character be what the world wants you to be. Dr. Jacobson stressed that the qualities necessary for a good character are integrity, industry, tolerance, and courage. An example of this was Charles P. Steinmetz, who, although greatly handicapped in life, overcame this and became a great scientist. Also, kindliness, faith, and vision might be an answer to "What Doth It Profit?"

The assembly was concluded by allowing the students on the stage to march out first.

FEATURES

Dear Diary:

I fear I've been neglecting you sadly lately, so I'll catch up with the last week as best I can. At this time of year besides knowing Spring is here and Summer in the offing, I also know state board exams are just around the corner (and Prosperity isn't with them) because this week certainly has been hectic! Tests everyday and I'm just beginning to find out, besides not knowing anything, that I can't even guess right any more. Wednesday we had a keen speaker —Mr. Selke of St. Cloud Teachers College—who spoke on people he had known and told us about Babe Ruth and other famous people. After school the boys played baseball with St. Hilaire. The score was 15-5 in our favor. Hot dog! Thursday the cast presented a preview of the Senior Class play "Tons of Money." It made me all enthused over the play and I adopted a resolution to see it. So Friday night I saw the play. There certainly are some swell actors in high school. Was Kendall ever keen with a red wig and high English accent. Arnt as a gardener was simply a scream, dear diary! And the clothes and setting for the play were just gorgeous. Then another weekend and no more getting up early for two days. Am I glad! Sunday was nice and the weather was just like the middle of the summer, only more desirable as it was not so sultry. Well, school again and I guess you'll have to wait another week for more news.

The thought books on America, literature in the junior English classes have been completed and corrected. Miss Tandberg was very much pleased with them. The three outstanding thought books, based on individuality, completeness in thought, and subject matter, were written by Alice Ann Severson, Edla Erickson and Evelyn Peterson, the first booklet being the outstanding one.

EDITORIAL

We, the new Progress Staff, are presenting for your approval our first Lincoln High School Progress. The retiring editor and his able assistants have raised the standard and increased the size of our school news bulletin. They have spent hours after school in order that the Progress would be presentable. Some have congratulated them; others have reprimanded. As for the product of their labors, the Progress has been read and enjoyed, not only by students but by their parents and friends.

"Your flaming torch aloft we bear,
With burning heart an oath we swear
To keep the faith, to fight it through,
To crush the foe, or sleep with you.
In Flanders field."

This poem is most appropriate for expressing our sentiments in taking over the responsibility of turning out a good paper next year. The "torch" part is excellent. If you ever see a "hot" piece of work, it's trying to please 800 students with one page of news and features. If the students are lacking in complaints, someone else is sure to put a bee in your ear. Ask any of the retiring members.

But they have done an exceptional job of continually turning out a readable school paper. We, the new staff, have learned all we know from them and Mr. Carlson.

To be frank, we don't expect to put out a better paper in every respect next year, but we will try to improve our special departments. If we can maintain the quality set up by our predecessors, we will be satisfied.

The former editor, Ken Gustafson, his associates, Arnhild Fjelstad and Corlan Dokken; city editor, Harriet Jung; feature editor, Adele Holmstrom; and headliners, Martha Storholm, Malcolm Magnuson, and Cliff Olson are to be congratulated for their splendid work. May we do as well next year. We can if we have the cooperation of the students and teachers. Watch for our issues next fall. Adieu! Fellow students, adieu!

From Miss Leavitt's files of the Lincoln High School Progress a year ago, May 24, 1934: One hundred and seventeen Junior High pupils will receive diplomas. Sophomores and Juniors tied for first place in interclass baseball honors. New Progress staff assumes responsibility. Miss Edberg scored her second big hit of the season with the successful production of "The Boomer". Lettermen's banquet was held May 22. State Board examination calendar was announced. Notably, the closing of school for a short vacation was praised.

MUSIC NOTES

For the first time in the history of Lincoln High School numerals will be awarded to members of the chorus, special groups, and glee clubs for taking part in the operetta, contest music week, and various other programs. The numerals, will be awarded at the annual Letterman's Banquet Tuesday, May 21. The girl's sextette and instrumental groups will sing and play at the banquet.

The chorus members are practising songs for Baccalaureate Services and Commencement. These songs include Adoramus Te"; "Palestrina", "The Cherubin Song", "Beside the Streams of Babylon", a new arrangement by Campion Dett, and "Now the Day is Over". "Build Thee More Stately Mansions" and "Lovely" are being especially rehearsed for commencement.

A GROCER GIVES A LESSON IN ECONOMY

AND PUT IN A POUND OF NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE
MRS. SMITH, YOU USE NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE REGULARLY... IF YOU'LL BUY THE 3LB. VACUUM GLASS JAR YOU'LL GET YOUR CHOICE OF A KNIFE, FORK OR SPOON OF THIS GUARANTEED SILVERWARE ABSOLUTELY FREE WITH EACH JAR.
WHAT A BEAUTIFUL PATTERN!
EACH 3LB. VACUUM JAR HAS THE SILVERWARE ATTACHED DIRECTLY TO IT.. IT'S A SPECIAL OFFER OF THE NASH COFFEE COMPANY TO INDUCE PEOPLE TO USE THE ECONOMICAL 3LB. JAR.
THE 3LB. JAR FOR ME FROM NOW ON...I'LL HAVE A SET OF THAT BEAUTIFUL SILVERWARE IN NO TIME.
NOTE SMART NEW PATTERN OF THIS LOVELY FREE SILVERWARE

Given only with the three-pound jar of NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE

EFFECTIVE immediately, with the purchase of each three-pound, vacuum-packed, glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee, your grocer will give you, absolutely without added cost, your choice of a knife, fork or spoon of this fully guaranteed silverware.

This offer is made for one reason only. Most people buy coffee a pound at a time. The cost of packing and distributing a one-pound jar is practically the same as that of a three-pound jar, apart from the coffee itself. Where millions of pounds are involved, as is the case with so popular a brand as Nash's Toasted Coffee, the saving is considerable when it is packed in three-pound jars. So, to induce more people to buy the economical three-pound jar, the Nash Coffee Company is passing on to the public the extra value in silverware.

Of course, the high quality of Nash's Toasted Coffee remains the same—a quality of flavor that has earned for it the approval of millions of families who say, "Every Drop Delicious."

Note silverware attached to three pound vacuum glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee. You get your silverware with the coffee—nothing to mail or send away for.

PLUMMER GROUP MOTORS TO BEMIDJI

A group of 29 young people from Plummer under the able guidance of Peter-Rolf Ohnstad drove to Bemidji on Saturday. At Wilton they visited the Ranger Lookout Station which is situated on the peak of a hill approximately 1400 feet above sea level—the highest point in the entire Mississippi Valley. In Bemidji they visited the ice-cream plant, saw the entire pasteurization process of milk, were shown through the box factory the waste products of which are used to generate steam to operate the generators of the Interstate Power and Light Company. While in the Interstate Power plant they looked through peepholes in the walls of the furnaces and saw the high combustion chambers which were in operation. Here even the smoke was burned and the heat of the waste gases was used to attain higher temperatures.—Then they went to the Interstate Power Dam which is located on the Mississippi River about thirteen miles east of Bemidji and saw the Hydro-electric Plant and the State Fish Hatchery. The thrill of the day was supplied by the sight of literally thousands of big game-fish in the river below the dam. Returning to Bemidji by the North Shore Route they stopped at the State Park and saw the stand of virgin Norway Pine and an artesian well. They then inspected the Fireplace of States located in the Tourists Information Building in Bemidji.—After spending an hour downtown they continued to Diamond Point park where boat rides on Lake Bemidji were enjoyed. Following a delicious picnic dinner at the park they visited the Zoo where are found animals native to Minnesota. —The group returned to Plummer at 8:30, physically tired but bringing with them a wealth of experience and knowledge which shall greatly enrich their lives.

50 FARM BUREAU OFFICERS MEET IN CROOKSTON FRIDAY

Officers of Pennington Bureau Share in District Session

Fifty Farm Bureau chiefs from seven county units attended a district conference addressed by state leaders of their organization in Crookston Friday.

Present from Pennington county were L. A. Nelson, J. M. Theige, Anton Johnson of Highlanding, Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Schalz of Wylie and County Agent R. M. Douglass.

The conference was one of a series being held throughout the state to bring to local leaders news of the farm bureau's efforts in national and state legislation, of its increasing membership and of its program for women.

A. G. Meranes, organization director for the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, addressed the group on the membership situation in Minnesota this year. He reported the largest membership in the history of the state federation with an increase in this district of about 60 per cent over the 1934 enrollment.

Mrs. Lewis Minion, director of the home and community development department of the state federation outlined the farm bureau program for women, presenting as women's activities proposals for the organization of women's quartet contests, ladies' farm bureau speaking contests, 4-H farm organization essay contests, student loan funds for farm boys and girls in agricultural schools and a broad program of social and educational work.

J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Federation, discussed the state and national legislative program of the farm bureau.

Farmers Not Bound by Referendum Vote, County Agent Says

Farmers voting "yes" in the wheat referendum, May 25, will not be obliged to sign any new wheat adjustment contract which may be offered as a result of this referendum, says R. M. Douglass county agent.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration is taking this vote merely to find out whether or not the majority of farmers would support a program, if one were offered, and not to force the individual farmer to sign a contract, he asserts.

"This is the farmer's one and only opportunity to show whether or not he wants this program," Mr. Douglass continues. "If he fails to vote, and the program should be abandoned, he will have no one but himself to blame for his indifference. Failure to vote will be considered as an unfavorable vote in this referendum."

HIGH STUDENTS PLAY "HOOKEY" EN MASSE

Sleepy Eye—Playing hookey en masse from classes recently resulted in a weary mess for seniors and juniors in the Sleepy Eye high school, and a lot of headaches among faculty, school board members, and parents. All but three seniors failed to show up at classes one day, having set the day aside as "skip day" and taking a trip to Redwood Falls. The fever spread, and shortly after school got under way, practically all juniors went A. W. O. L. The board of education was somewhat stumped by this defiance to its authority, and not caring to take paddles to an entire high school student body, decided to call off the junior-senior prom. But more headaches are in store, as there was quite a sum of money raised for the prom which students claim is their own and which school officials say the class can spend only with faculty approval.

FARMERS BORROW 124 MILLION FROM FARM CREDIT BODY

Various Agencies Handle a Big Volume of Business in Two Years

In the 2 years since the Farm Credit Administration was established farmers of Minnesota have obtained more than $124,540,000 in credit through its various agencies, according to a summary just furnished to the Times by the Farm Credit Administration of St. Paul.

The Farm Credit Administration will be 2 years old Monday, May 27. The loans shown include those made from May 1, 1933 down to April 30, 1935. As all units of the Farm Credit Administration are making a much larger volume of loans this May than in May 1933, the actual total for the 2-year period would exceed the figures shown by a substantial margin, the statement says.

Leading in the volume of service to farmers of Minnesota is the Federal Land Bank. More than 22,600 of Minnesota's farmers have obtained funds through the Land Bank and the Land Bank Commissioner in 2 years, aggregating over $118,901,000. This large sum has rehabilitated the finances of many distressed farmers by a substantial amount, interest has been reduced to the lowest rate ever offered to farmers of Minnesota and their debts have been reamortized on a long-time basis.

The 6,367 Minnesota farmers who are now members of Production Credit Associations have obtained over $3,952,000 on short term loans for such purposes as putting in crops, providing farm supplies equipment and livestock. These loans have also been obtained at the lowest interest rate ever known for loans for such purposes, 5 per cent, and they are being repaid out of the proceeds from crop and livestock enterprises.

Besides these long term land mortgage loans and short term production loans to individual farmers, there are 70 important farmer cooperatives in Minnesota that have obtained $1,627,000 to carry on their varied operations or to provide facilities.

OWL HANGS BY NECK IN WIRE FENCE FOR WEEK

St. Peter—Jim Myers has the latest tale on contacts with the wild life of the St. Peter area, which covers his experience in a recent trip in that section, when he found a good-sized gray owl caught fast by the nape of the neck on a barbed wire fence, and which, from evidence furnished by the clotted condition of the wound, he judged must probably have been suspended there in that condition for perhaps a week. For the satisfaction of members of the Humane society, it is to be reported that the finder hastened to release the bird, which after giving him a nasty look, flew unsteadily to a nearby tree, perched there and began to readjust its ruffled feathers. Considering the nature of its predicament, Mr. Myers thinks the fowl showed a degree of vitality that was amazing.

HORSE TRAMPLES BOY TO DEATH

Round Lake—The tragic experience of being dragged to death under horse's hoofs by a halter rope was suffered by Floyd Larson, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Larson, Round Lake. Altho no details will ever be known, Floyd was apparently leading the horse with the halter rope around his wrist, probably in a sort of half knot. The horse apparently became frightened and bolted, dragging the boy beneath its hoofs and trampling him to death. When Floyd failed to return home, his father started a search, discovering the body of his son terribly mangled in a small clump of trees. Despite the shock of the discovery, Larson managed to carry his son's body to the home, something like a quarter of a mile distant.

ST. HILAIRE

Amateur Review

A full house was in attendance at the first amateur review given in this section Friday evening, under the auspices of the local Woman's Club. Klemens Gigstad acted as spokesman of the evening announcing each number in the order of its appearance. Fifteen contestants competed, entertaining the audience with songs, instrumental music, readings, and tap dancing. The audience acting as judges awarded the prizes to the following people: Elroy Johnson, first, songs in the negro dialect; Margaret Dahle, second, song, "Boy of Mine"; Marie Erdmann, third, piano solo, "The Chimes", and Melvin Swenson, fourth, song, "A Cowboy's Dream." Following the program lunch was served.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY

DIPLOMAS ARE TO BE AWARDED FRIDAY NIGHT

Exercises Mark Completion of Course by 130 Lincoln Seniors

UNIVERSITY MAN TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Dr. Bryngelson to Discuss "America—The Newer Commonwealth"

Climaxing their four years of high school work, a class of 130 Lincoln high school seniors will receive diplomas at commencement exercises in the Auditorium Friday evening at 8 o'clock. At the same time teachers' certificates will be conferred on a class of 13 by Supt. Morris Bye, who will officiate as chairman in charge of the program.

The commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Bryng Bryngelson of the speech department of the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, who is heralded as a speaker of exceptional merit. He has chosen as the theme of his discourse, "America— The Newer Commonwealth."

The program will open with the processional march, "Hall of Fame", played by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of S. P. Orwoll. The salutatory will be given by Harriet Jung, after which the band will render the "Martha Overture".

Following Dr. Bryngelson's address the Lincoln high school chorus directed by Miss Erma Springen will sing "Build Thee More Stately Mansions" and "The Lorelle". Dorothy P. Rau will then give the valedictory.

The class will be presented by W. G. Claffy, high school principal, and E. M. Bennes, president of the board of education, will confer the diplomas. The teacher training graduates will be presented by Miss Alice Stapleton, and certificates and scholarships will be awarded by Mr. Bye. B. O. Norby will present the American Legion award and Mrs. Ralph Woolhouse will confer the auxiliary award.

The Auditorium was filled Sunday evening when baccalaureate services for the senior class were held, Rev. H. L. Sjogren delivering the sermon. He spoke on the theme "Walking with God", and said it is better to be obedient to God than to come back to him after we have sinned. Two groups of selections were presented by the Lincoln high school chorus under the direction of Miss Erma Springen, who also played the processional and recessional marches. Arnhild Fjelstad sang a solo part with the chorus.

Graduation Speaker

DR. BRYNG BRYNGELSON

Member of the faculty of the speech department of the University of Minnesota, who will deliver the Lincoln high school commencement address Friday evening in the Auditorium.

The total debt of Pennington county and its subdivisions, including school districts, townships, villages and the city of Thief River Falls was $1,200,771.93 at the end of 1934, it is revealed in a compilation completed recently by County Auditor Harry L. Fowler.

The tabulation reveals that all but three of the townships were free from debt, as were all but 16 school districts. The village of St. Hilaire was also free from debt, while the village of Goodridge had outstanding a total of $6,321.74 in bonds and warrants.

At the beginning of the year Thief River Falls owed $250,000 in bonds of which $40,000 are scheduled to be paid off by September 15, according to City Clerk P. G. Pederson. Outstanding city bonds include $40,000 water bonds, $82,000 paving, $10,000 old Auditorium and $115,000 light plant bonds.

The total indebtedness of school districts in the county was shown to be $242,815, of which the Thief River Falls district, No. 18, owed $140,000; District 8, Goodridge, owed $14,200 less a $1700 sinking fund; and the St. Hilaire district, No. 102, owed $66,000.

The Pennington county funded debt the first of the year aggregated a net amount of $570,566.29, in addition to which there were outstanding warrants amounting to $117,114.15, making a total debt of $687,680.44. The warrants were retired by an issue of funding bonds late last winter.

Townships owing on bonds or warrants include Hickory with a total of $1,650; Highlanding, $404.75, and Mayfield, $6,400.

97 EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATES TO GET DIPLOMAS FRIDAY

Exercises to be Held at the Auditorium at 10 in the Morning

A class of 97 eighth grade pupils in the local schools will receive diplomas at graduation exercises in the muncipal Auditorium Friday morning at 10 o'clock. Dr. A. E. Jacobson, who will deliver the address to the graduates, has selected for his topic "The Gospel According to You".

Helen Granum will play the processional march, following which the members of the graduating class will sing two selections. Ralph Gustafson will give the address of welcome, while Dolores Froseth will supply the farewell address, and June Ystesund will give a reading. Musical numbers will be rendered by the boys' glee club and the eighth grade chorus.

Miss Lyda Batton, principal of Central school, will present the class, following which Supt. Morris Bye will confer the diplomas, and awards will be presented by B. O. Norby, Mrs. Ralph Woolhouse and Mrs. Frances R. Larsen.

The list of graduates follows:

Hjalmer Aasveby, Joseph Adams, Margaret Althoff, Alice Anderson, Vincent Arhart, Joyce Bennes, Burton Berson, Keneth Benson, Clayton Berg, John Borgen, Vivian Bottenboldt, Leona Brattland, Lawrence Brooten, Norbia Brooten, Earl Burrell, Wesley Burrell, Lloyd Christianson.

THIS CITY KEY IN NEW PUBLIC WORKS SETUP

To be Headquarters for 15 Counties, Washington Dispatch Says

TERRITORY EXTENDS DOWN TO OTTERTAIL

Government Announces More Liberal Terms on Loans and Grants

Thief River Falls has been designated as one of nine Minnesota cities to serve as district headquarters in the new federal works decentralization program, it was announced in Washington Saturday. The 15 counties to be served by the headquarters of District 7 here include Pennington, Polk, Kittson, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Red Lake, Clearwater, Beltrami, Norman, Mahnomen, Clay, Becker, Wilkin and Ottertail.

Headquarters for other districts in the state are:

District No. 1, Duluth; Dist No. 2, Brainerd; District No. 3, St. Paul; District No. 4, Rochester; District No. 5, Minneapolis; District No. 6, St. Cloud; District No. 8, Morris; and District No. 9, New Ulm.

The administration Saturday held out easier lending terms and huskier outright grants to states and communities in connection with the work relief program, it was stated.

President Roosevelt boosted the outright grant maximum to 45 per cent of the cost of a project and reduced to 3 per cent the interest to be paid on the additional 55 per cent loan.

Under the PWA set-up the maximum grant was 30 per cent and 4 per cent interest was charged on the 70 per cent loan.

Meanwhile 207 new administrative jobs awaited filing by Progress Director Harry L. Hopkins. He announced the carving of the country into that many districts to aid in carrying on what he calls the "direct line" responsibility down to individual projects.

The district directors will report to state progress administrators, who in turn will be responsible to him.

On their investigation of wages probably will depend any decision

Seven 4-H Workers in County Awarded Free Trip to Short Course

Awarded free trips in recognition of outstanding club work during the past three years, seven Pennington county 4-H club members will leave early next week to attend the junior short course at University Farm, St. Paul. Included in the group are Ina Anderson of the Silverton club; Mayme Anderson, Hazel club; Helen Johnson, River Falls; Lowell Hawkinson, Bray; Hazel Huff, St. Hilaire; Irwin Aaseby, Norden; and Evelyn Peterson, Silverton. Four of the trips are awarded by the Soo Line and three by the Great Northern railway.

RED CROSS WILL PUT ON SWIMMING PROJECT IN JUNE

Donald Chalmers to Serve as Instructor Starting About June 25

Plans for swimming and lifesaving instruction this summer at the community swimming pool in Tindolph park were formulated early this week at a conference between officers of the Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross, sponsor of the project, and P. K. Petts, field representative of the organization in Northern Minnesota. Costs of the course will be borne by the local chapter, it was announced.

The committee appointed to handle details of the project includes Fred Protz, chairman, representing the Red Cross; Paul Lundgren, representing the Civic and Commerce association; and Dr. A. F. Jacobson of the park board. The instruction course will begin about June 25 and will continue for five weeks, being open to all persons above the age of six.

Donald Chalmers of the high school faculty has been appointed to serve as instructor. Preliminary to beginning his duties he will attend a Red Cross life-saving school at Brainerd June 10 to 20, it was announced.

REPORT ON ROTARY MEET

At the Rotary club luncheon Tuesday in the Evelyn hotel A. J. Rotwand Tom Mehegan reported briefly on the district meeting of the Rotary organization which they attended in St. Paul last week as delegates from the local club.

Atterbury Circus Is Coming Next Tuesday

Merchants Offer Courtesy Tickets for Afternoon, Evening Showings

Atterbury Brothers three-ring wild animal circus will entertain young and old people in Thief River Falls in two performances next Tuesday, June 4, when the huge tent will be set up on State av. N. near Sixth st. Performances will begin promptly at 2 and 8 o'clock, rain or shine, it was announced today.

Thru an arrangement with the Times local merchants will distribute courtesy tickets which will entitle those holding them to witness the performance at reduced rates. A share of the proceeds of the ticket sale will be set aside for the benefit of the local Boy Scout organization, the plan provides.

Details of the offer are included in an announcement published elsewhere in this issue.

A large variety of wild animals, including one of the largest elephants in captivity, will be on exhibition, in addition to bareback riders, aerialists, clowns and all the traditional features of a large circus.

A half hour concert by the circus band will precede each performance, it was announced.

LOCALS TO MEET TWIN CITY TEAM SUNDAY AT 2:30

House of David Team Coming for Night Game Next Wednesday

According to an announcement made by Manager Shorty Dekko, the local independent baseball team will meet the Minnesota Colored Giants of Minneapolis here Sunday afternoon at 2:30. The team is composed of some of the best Negro baseball talent in the country. Besides being a good ball club they also put on an exhibition of novelties.

Wednesday June 5, will give the fans of this city an opportunity to see their first night baseball game when the world famous House of David team comes here for a game with the local club at 8:30. The visitors will bring their own lighting equipment. The team is composed of a group of stars headed by such players as Jack Quinn, former New York Yankee pitcher, and Earl Smith, catching star of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

While the bearded team is as entertaining as ever and features its pepper game and other stunts, the present ball club is the best team ever to represent the House of David aggregation on the diamond. Those who have seen the Davids play in previous years know that they are one of the most entertaining teams traveling the country today and the fans are assured of a thrilling evening.

NEW BUILDING TO BE ERECTED BY THE GRYGLA CREAMERY

Contract Awarded to Bagley Man on His Bid of $7,365

Approximately 75 stockholders of the Grygla co-operative creamery Wednesday afternoon voted almost unanimously to proceed at once with the construction of a new creamery building, there being only two dissenting votes.

At the same time, following consideration of bids by six contractors, the contract for erection of the building was awarded to O. M. Otterkel of Bagley on his bid of $7,365, and the bid of the King company for installation of a complete ventilating system was accepted in the amount of $408.

The new structure will be 44 by 72 feet in dimensions and will be built of hollow brick. Space will be provided for an office, salesroom, refrigerator, workroom and quarters for handling feed, eggs and poultry. Construction will be started as quickly as possible.

LOCAL BOY, AGE 6, KILLED IN MISHAP IN MIDDLE RIVER

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Thor Sorenson Run Over by Car Wednesday

Kenneth Sorenson, six-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thor Sorenson of Kendall av. N., died Wednesday afternoon of injuries sustained in Middle River when, while crossing the street ahead of his mother, he was run over by a car driven by Clayton Stordahl of Gatzke.

Death of the boy was believed to have taken place almost instantly, altho he was rushed to this city in the hope he might not be beyond medical aid. He was a pupil in the Knox school kindergarten, and was born in Oklee in September, 1929.

Funeral rites will be conducted Saturday at 1 o'clock from Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating, and interment will be at Oklee. He is survived by his parents, three brothers and three sisters, including Pauline, Elaine, Vernon, Robert Edgar and Marjorie.

Bond Representatives Say City Bonds Can be Marketed at Low Rate

Fred Gardiner, foreman in charge of the construction of the new postoffice building in this city, discussed wage scales for labor on the project at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday and told of federal requirements in that respect. W. C. Hammer and S. H. Rines, representatives of Minneapolis bond houses, spoke briefly and expressed the opinion that the bonds proposed to be issued for the purchase of additional Diesel equipment could be marketed on a four per cent basis and with the privilege of paying them in advance of maturity if desired.

KAPLAN EXPOUNDS STAND IN SUPPORT OF COLLECTIVISM

Bemidji Merchant Speaks at Farmer-Labor Meeting Friday Evening

Addressing an audience of several hundred persons at the Auditorium Friday evening, Morris Kaplan, Bemidji merchant and prominent member of the Socialist party, outlined his political theories and told of his defiance of Anna Dickie Oleson, state NRA compliance director, who recently accused him of price cutting. He appeared here under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Farmer-Labor club.

Mr. Kaplan said the original purpose of the NRA was well intentioned so far as reducing hours and raising wages was concerned, but that the fixing of minimum prices was intended to ease the ranks of the independent merchants who were afraid of being pushed into the ranks of the unemployed.

The only way of progress to cure the present ills of the country, Mr. Kaplan said is thru socialism or collectivism in a classless society. He advocated making all the people partners in land, production and distribution and the selection by the workers of leaders from their own ranks. The blame for the present situation, he said, must be placed on the ignorance of society as a whole, and not on any particular class.

Referring to President Roosevelt the speaker expressed the view that he means well but is ignorant of economics, and asserted that no basic industry in the United States shows improvement. He added that the administration is trying to stave off the day of reckoning by piling up a load of debt that eventually will have to be repudiated.

HOSPITAL APPEAL FOR TAX EXEMPT STATUS GRANTED

Tax Commission Rules in Favor of Hospital Association Monday

The Minnesota tax commission Monday handed down an order declaring St. Lukes hospital exempt from taxation, the action following the taking of testimony in this city May 15 by George E. Wallace, chairman of the commission. The order was filed Wednesday with County Auditor Harry Fowler.

Real estate taxes only are affected by the present order, the commission announcing that it will issue an order to exempt personal property of the hospital after inventories covering the property have been filed.

The ruling of the commission, which sustains a decision rendered in district court, affects a total of $13,787.93 in taxes, interest, penalties and costs for the years 1930 to 1934, as well as taxes levied for future years.

County Farmers Favor Wheat Control Plan

The vote in Pennington county on a proposal to continue some form of nationwide wheat production control was completed Saturday, with approximately 95 per cent of those voting expressing themselves in favor of the proposal. Of the present contract signers 111 voted for a continuation and 18 against, while six non-signers voted in favor. A similar outcome is reported from other sections of the country.

BOND ISSUE IS APPROVED BY GOOD MARGIN

Voters Tuesday Approve of Issue by Tally of 574 to 341

CARRIES IN EACH OF FOUR WARDS IN CITY

Only About Half of Normal Number of Voters Turned Out Tuesday

The proposal to issue up to $80,000 in bonds to finance the purchase of additional equipment for the municipal power plant, which was voted on in a special election in this city Tuesday, was approved by the substantial majority of 574 to 341.

The total vote cast was smaller than had been anticipated, as is frequently the case in special elections, only half the normal number of voters turning out. In the general election last fall a total of 2365 ballots were cast compared to a total of 915 Tuesday.

The proposal carried in each of the four wards in the city by a good margin as is revealed in the following tabulation:

	Yes	No
First ward	152	[illegible]
Second ward	166	[illegible]
Third ward	107	[illegible]
Fourt ward	149	137
Total	574	341

The next step in the procedure to acquire a new unit is to undertake to qualify for a federal grant to aid in financing the purchase, Council President P. O. Myhrum indicated following the election. If a grant proves to be available, bonds will be issued by the city only in the amount necessary to make up the purchase price.

President Roosevelt Saturday issued an order allowing federal grants on approved projects up to 45 per cent instead of the present 30 per cent, and cutting the interest rate on loans from four to three per cent.

The decision to increase the grant ratio for nonfederal public works projects from 30 to 45 per cent and to reduce the interest rate on the loans was explained as an effort "to reduce the share of the cost borne by the federal government of re-employing men in the works relief program, by making it possible to loan more money instead of making 100 per cent federal grants to achieve the re-employment objectives."

OPEN JOHNSON ST. CONDEMNATION ACTION FRIDAY

State Acts to Acquire Property Needed for New Highway

Attorney General Harry H. Peterson, acting for the state highway department, filed with Adolf Eklund, clerk of district court, a petition for condemnation proceedings to acquire the additional property needed in connection with the widening of Johnson st. and the construction of the additional section of Highway 59 to join the angle road.

Filing of the action insures that there will be no delay from this source in the progress of construction work, which is now well under way. The property on which are located the houses which must be removed as a result of the widening of the street has already been acquired by the highway department.

A hearing for appointment of appraisers to fix damages will not be scheduled until after the condemnation notice has been published. A total of 94 property owners, many of them non-residents, are affected by the action.

Coast-to-Coast Store to Open for Business in This City Saturday

The Coast-to-Coast store, owned and operated by Henry Boe, formerly of Newfolden, will hold its formal opening Saturday in the Twete building on Main av. N., formerly occupied by Nick Dispenza's shoe repair shop. Mr. Boe, who formerly operated the Newfolden Auto company, announced that merchandise sold in the store would include paints, auto supplies, sporting goods, household supplies and hardware. He added that his store gets the benefit of massed buying power thru its affiliation with the Coast-to-Coast system of individually owned stores.

LAND BIG STRING OF TROUT AT CROW LAKE

Harry Brumund, G. P. Hinde, C. H. Jung and Carl Kretzschmar of Lafayette, Indiana, returned last Thursday evening from a four-day fishing trip to Crow lake across the Canadian border. They brought back with them a fine string of trophies in the form of 89 large lake trout.

4-H PICNIC TO BE HELD JUNE 5TH AT O. N. OLSON FARM

Varied Sports Program is Arranged for Annual Outing

The annual Pennington county 4-H picnic and field day will be held Wednesday, June 5, at the O. N. Olson farm four miles southeast on the Angle road and two miles east, it was announced today by County Agent R. M. Douglass. All club members and their families are invited to attend, he said.

Athletic events to be conducted under the supervision of J. G. Messenger will follow closely the program to be held later at the short course in Crookston, and will include kittenball, volleyball, broad jump and boys' centipede race.

The day's program will start with kickball at 10:30 in the morning, to be followed with dinner served for each club by its members. A dinner calling contest for girls and a hog calling contest for boys also will be held. The St. Hilaire band will supply music during the afternoon.

Poppy Sales Saturday in This City Aggregate New High Total of $149

Proceeds of the annual poppy day sale in this city Saturday were $149.61, Mrs. S. P. Orwoll, chairman of the drive, said today. Records indicate this was the highest total yet achieved in the city, being most closely approached by last year's figure of $142.87. Assisting in conducting the sale was a group of 17 Girl Scouts and auxiliary members. First prize for the largest sales went to Violet Anderson, while Dorothy Snelling was second, Lois Jordal third and Marion Parbet fourth.

Speakers on the afternoon program will include R. A. Nestos, former governor of North Dakota; John Brandt, president of Land O' Lakes Creameries; and Charles Ommodt, assistant commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food. Music will be supplied by the Alvarado high school band.

Beginning at 11 o'clock a series of races will be run off, following which a picnic lunch will be enjoyed. Following lunch a pop drinking contest will be held for the men, a pie eating contest for boys, and a nail driving contest for women.

E. M. Evans of Middle River is president of the picnic association, and Otto E. Hjelle of Newfolden is vice president and chairman of the grounds committee in charge of concessions.

GRADUATION AT ST. BERNARDS SCHOOL SET FOR TONIGHT

Twelve Members of Eighth Grade Will Receive Diplomas

Twelve members of the eighth grade of St. Bernard's school will receive diplomas at graduation exercises this evening at 7:30 in St. Bernard's church. Rev. Father Shanahan, formerly of this city, will be the principal speaker.

Included in the class are Martha Havel, Mary Alice Biedermann, Leona Kraemer, Mary Margaret McLaughlin, Lois Cote, Agnes Baker, Josephine Provencher, Mae Langevin, Bernadette Mulry, Alyce Brossoit, Austin Shanahan and Harry Wynne.

Following a tie for the highest average of scholarship between Mary Alice Biedermann and Martha Havel a drawing was held with the result that the former will receive the medal awarded by the American Legion auxiliary, while Austin Shanahan will receive the Legion medal.

Immediately after the exercises the girls of the school will conduct a meeting to which the public is invited.

FORMAL OPENING OF WANGENSTEIN STORE ON FRIDAY

Quarters Entirely Remodeled and Restocked After Recent Fire

Wangenstein's jewelry store, which has been located in the First National bank building since the fire that destroyed its quarters in the Caldis block, will hold its formal opening Friday in its old location, Bert Wangenstein, manager, announced today.

The remodeled exterior of the store presents an attractive appearance with a high base of black vitrolite surmounted by plate glass windows with silver trim, and with a center door replacing the one formerly in the corner.

New walnut fixtures of the latest type have been installed, together with a complete new stock of the latest designs in jewelry, silverware, clocks and watches, as well as a gift department in the rear. A balcony in the rear of the store provides space for an office and supply room.

Land O'Lakes Directors to Meet in City June 12

Mrs. Mary Shaw Named Delegate to Red Cross Meet in Detroit Lakes

The Pennington county chapter of the American Red Cross today accepted an invitation from this agency's midwestern area headquarters at St. Louis, to participate in a disaster institute to be held Friday, June 7, at Detroit Lakes. According to Mrs. Theodore Quale, chairman of the local chapter, the approaching meeting is to be one of a series of such conferences being held this spring in six middle west states, including Minnesota. The delegate from this community will be Mrs. Mary Shaw.

Mrs. Quale described the coming institute as one of the most important meetings of its kind ever held in Minnesota.

"When we consider", she said, "that for the last decade the midwestern area has been visited an average of 26 times a year by disaster, we realize the importance of preparing against their serious effects. Nationally, the Red Cross handles calamities at the rate of nearly one hundred a year, and it is only reasonable to expect them to continue in undiminished numbers".

BUTTONS ON SUITS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

On account of the importance of buttons this season many stores are devoting extra space to their display. The types of buttons in favor are legion. Novelty enters largely into the scheme of things. Very new and chic for the dressy blouse or frock are stars cut out of mother of pearl or set with tiny rhinestones. Clever, too, and exceedingly attractive are the new flower buttons made of an ivory-like composition and tinted realistically. The buttons which enhance the good-looking suit pictured are woven of green straw.

Growing With Your Child

Building Self-Reliance

One of the objections most frequently heard from parents against sending their children to junior high school, at the age of twelve or thirteen, is the fact that they must be placed on their own responsibility about lunch. Some few children live near enough to go home at noon; others carry sandwiches which they supplement from the school menu, but the majority of children must choose their own lunches.

Six studies of what children actually choose in school lunch rooms give us some idea as to the ability children have to select food wisely. One study comes from a private school, attended for the most part by children from well-to-do homes. In such a group, choice was not narrowed by lack of money, and the lunches served were good. But only 3 per cent of the children chose really desirable foods, and 50 per cent of them had lunches classed as poor or very poor.

In city high schools, the larger number of children served makes the percentages even more interesting. In the junior high school studied, only 5 per cent of the children selected lunches which were considered adequate. A senior high school made a showing not much better, only 6 per cent of the children choosing suitable foods.

Not only do children show poor judgment in selecting their lunches, but in the senior high school just mentioned, less than half the children chose foods that gave them a sufficient number of calories. "Since adolescent boys usually require some 3,600-4,000 calories daily and girls 2,600-3,000 or more, it seems probable that the daily intake will be too low unless close to one-third of these amounts is eaten in the noon lunch."

Many parents do not know enough about food values to give their children good training in food selection. This was brought out in one town by intensive effort, directed not only toward the children, in the school room, but toward the parents as well. At a parents' meeting the requirements for an adequate lunch, whether packed at home or bought at school, were explained, also the reasons for these requirements. Costs of securing lunches were discussed, and how cost could be reduced by bringing some food from home. Lists of possible adequate lunches were given.

The response of the parents was very gratifying. Changes in the type of lunch brought from home were noted, particularly the inclusion of milk and fruit. In one school the mothers asked to be provided with menus for suitable breakfasts. The cooperation of the parents with the program carried on at school in behalf of better lunches resulted in good progress in food selection during the year.

FITTED VANITIES... VERY CONVENIENT

The vanity bag has been revived and is one of the most important affairs that has been seen in a good many moons.

The new ones know a new practicability. In the first place they have been made to a great extent by people who understand vanity—the cosmeticians. They have known what to include. Not only have they done a good job at making them practical, but they have seen that they have that other important requisite, which is beauty.

They are fashioned of velvet, of lame, of fine kidskin, of lovely silks, and even of metals. Their colors are almost unlimited, but women are usually careful or should be, that they choose a color that will go with all party frocks. They may have a one or two sided opening, and usually hold purse, change purse, cigarette case, comb, lipstick, rouge and powder.

In Memoriam

In memory of Elias J. Overland, who passed away three years ago on May 27, 1932.

In memory of a loving husband.
A father kind and dear
Who passed from out this world of pain
And left our lives so drear.

The three long years have come and gone,
Three years of busy living,
His memory clings still close and sweet
Great comfort to us giving.

Since most of life is made of change
Strong ties are made to sever,
But locked in our hearts and guarded well,
Is God's own promise, that we'll meet again.

400 MOTORISTS LOSE LICENSES TO DRIVE IN '35

State Bureau Actively Enforcing Law, Elsberg Warns Public

Thus far in 1935 the drivers license bureau has marked up more than 4,000 traffic convictions and approximately 3,000 accident reports against the records of Minnesota automobile drivers, says a bulletin from the state highway department.

The convictions resulted in more than 400 persons in all parts of the state being deprived of their license to drive. Where law violations were not serious enough to warrant revocation or suspension of the license, the cases were recorded on the individual cards kept by the license bureau for all drivers. Should the same drivers be involved in further law violations or accidents, their previous records will be available.

"The legislature kept the provisions of the drivers license law in force", commented N. W. Elsberg, highway commissioner. "The drivers license division, with the co-operation of police and sheriffs' forces and the highway patrol, will continue to administer and enforce this law to the best of its ability. Such safety measures as this must be kept in force if we are to halt the maiming and slaughter of citizens on the public highways.

"Everyone must have his drivers license when at the wheel of a car, and the license should be in good condition and should bear the owner's correct address."

Hauge Rejects Bid From Creamery at Litchfield

Sam Hauge, former Land O' Lakes field man in District 17 and now manager of the Bagley creamery, last week announced that he had rejected an offer of the managership of the large co-operative creamery at Litchfield, of which President John Brandt of Land O' Lakes Creameries is also president.

1935 Prowler Makes Bow to Lincoln High Students This Week

The 1935 Prowler, Lincoln high school senior class annual, was distributed to subscribers this week. The publication, embracing 40 pages bound in an attractive red cover, is profusely illustrated and supplies a complete record of the activities of members of the class for their four years in high school. Kendall Gustafson served as editor-in-chief of the book, which is dedicated to the teaching staff, and W. G. Claffy, high school principal, was faculty advisor. The annual is a product of the Times printing plant.

Memorial Day Rites Are Observed in City Today

Memorial day was to be observed in this city today with exercises in the municipal Auditorium followed by a procession to Greenwood cemetery in which war veterans, auxiliary members, Gold Star mothers, Boy Scouts, the auxiliary drum corps and the municipal band will appear. The address of the day was to be delivered by Dr. Frederick Weltzen of the department of education at the University of North Dakota.

RAISE MUSTACHE TO LOOK LIKE CUT

Columbia Heights—The trials and tribulations of the politician are many, especially at election time. Take, for instance, the case of L. A. Tjosvold, councilman, who is running for re-election in the Columbia Heights primaries. Discovering that he was out of campaign cards, Tjosvold decided to have Al Ovahak print him a couple of thousand. There was only one hitch in the plan. The picture which he had printed on his cards four years ago showed him with a mustache, which he had since shaved off. Not to be outdone, Tjosvold started out resolutely to raise a new mustache. Then after he had made fairly good headway with the hairs on his upper lip, he discovered to his consternation that he couldn't find his cut. What to do about it?

COUNTY ADVISORY CREDIT GROUP HAS MEETING MAY 22D

Aims to Aid in Settlement of Debtor-Creditor Problems

The Pennington County Agricultural Advisory Credit committee held their first regular monthly meeting in the County Agents office at Thief River Falls on May 22. Similar committees were recently appointed by Governor Olson, at the request of the Farm Credit Administration in all counties of the state. The Pennington county committee is composed of: Hans Anton, H. C. Woolson, Leon J. Kulher, Alfred Longren and Reynold Johnson.

The committees are composed of citizens who voluntarily assist in analysing and in making recommendations for an equitable settlement of difficult debtor-creditor problems among the farmers of their respective communities. No charge is made for the service. Debtors or creditors who submit their problems to such committees are assured of receiving the assistance of the committee and of having their affairs handled in a confidential manner.

These committees are expected to assist and not to replace other ways and means which may now be in use, for bringing about a better understanding and thereby, in many instances, a peaceful settlement of debt problems to the mutual advantage of all concerned.

The next regular meeting of the committee will be held in the county agent's office June 11th at 8:00 o'clock. Any farmer having a debtor-creditor problem which he would like to have the committee consider, may present it at this or any regular meeting, or he may present it to any member of the committee in person or by letter.

Mr. P. M. Nellermoe District Supervisor of the State Agricultural Advisory Credit Committee attended the committee meeting May 22, and gave suggestions for carrying on the work in the future.

Funeral Services for Tim Enerud Wednesday

Last rites for Tim Enerud who died Saturday in a local hospital were held Wednesday from the Lutheran church in St. Hilaire with Rev. Dahle and Rev. Larson of that town officiating. The American Legion took part in the services at the cemetery. Mr. Enerud was a member of the Elmer J. Eklund Post No. 117 of the American Legion in this city having enlisted for services in the World War in 1917 and taken active part in the engagement at Chateau Thierry. He was born February 15, 1888 at St. Thomas N. Dak. From there he came to St. Hilaire in 1901 where he since made his home. Surviving him are his mother, Mrs. Anna Thompson of St. Hilaire and two sisters, Mrs. Carl Christopherson of Cadilac, Sask., Canada, Mrs. Ben Lardy and a brother, Emil Enerud both of St. Hilaire. His father, two sisters and three brothers preceded him in death.

GRYGLA

The following "History of Grygla" as compiled by a student, Hattie Sordahl of the village school might be of some interest to the coming generation and might bring back memories to the "Old Timers".

In June 1896 A. O. Fladeland arrived. In the fall of that year he and Ole Newton built and opened the first store which was located one half mile northwest of the present site of the village on the Mud river. At that time there were no ditches, nothing but swamps and bogs. He also started the post office in the same building.

This little village derived its name from a Russian count, a surveyor and engineer through these parts whose name was Frank Gryglaski.

In 1900 George Johnson filed on a homestead near by and on Dec. 18, 1903 he started the "Grygla Eagle" a weekly newspaper, which has just recently suspended publication, in Fladeland's store.

Knut Sordal was the first mail carrier, carrying the mail for six years through water that reached above his waist. The water in some places was so deep that he had only to bend his head slightly to drink while on his route. The trip covered 43 miles before his return. This was during the years 1901 to 1907. About 1903 or 1904 A. H. Applestad built a blacksmith shop and about at this time Alfred Knutson also built what is now known as a part of the former Maney hotel.

The first school house was built in 1901, with Mrs. Knut Nelson as teacher. In 1902 another school house was built thru donations and work by the community. In 1904 George Johnson and N. K. Nelson bought the former Maney Hotel from Mr. Knutson. Later this same year George Johnson with his brother Otto, who just recently came, started a hardware store. They also moved the "Eagle" office to the same building. Otto J. Johnson had just appointed Postmaster and this was also housed under the same roof.

In the year 1904 the settlement moved to the present site, where the village of Grygla stands today. In 1906 the Cooperative creamery was started with Albert Lloyd as manager and operator. Henry Nygaard, Ole Newton, B. N. Anderson, Ringheim and Hans Peterson constituted the first board. The next year not much activity was noticed but in 1906 Marin Ause built a shoe makers shop and during the year 1910 Fladeland and Newton sold out their holding to what is now the Grygla Coop Co.

In the fall of 1912 J. F. Brown coming from Thief River Falls built and operated a general merchandise store. During 1912 and 1913 Dr. King, a physician and surgeon arrived at the village and a small start was made for a hospital.

The village started to grow by leaps and bounds and feeling the purge of independence the villagers threw off the yoke of government by the town board and proceeded to incorporate. This was during the fall of 1914 and on March 13 the following year the first village election was held. The following officers were elected: James C. Wilson, President of the council; Gust Sandberg, John Bjornstad and A. W. Clay, council men; Otto J. Johnson, clerk; Ole Landro, treasurer; G. G. Ashmore and R. E. Waller, justices with Geo. Smith and O. C. Sandberg as constables.

The first minister to attend to these parts was a Rev. Halvor Bjornson. He preached in the school house, no church as yet having been constructed.

During the years 1916 Fladeland's garage was constructed as was the present creamery building, altho the later has used up its usefulness and before the year of 1935 is over, this little village will boast of a new modern, up to the minute structure.

By 1917 the village had grown to such proportions that it could lay claim to 34 dwellings, besides many families living in rooms connected with their business places, three general merchandise stores three hotels, one hardware store, three banks, one drug store, a confectionery, two blacksmiths, a harness shop, a shoe repair, a photograph gallery, pool hall, garage, creamery, hospital, telephone exchange, two halls, a two room school house, a weekly newspaper, feed mills, meat market, a well organized band, a rural mail route and two star routes and a real estate office.

During the year 1919 a big flood came over this community but did no damage to the village. During the year 1922 the Grygla Lutheran church was built and in 1930 the present Evangelic (German) Lutheran church was constructed.

The year 1933 saw the construction of the new brick building for the Cooperative store a place at the present time employing six or seven people doing a wonderful business.

The last census gave the population as 142 altho at the present writing there are considerable more, many whom have resided here since early days enjoying the fruits of their labors and watching their children carry on where they left off, to make Grygla the "Biggest little town of its Size."

Douglas Maney who is recuperating at the Physicians Hospital is very much improved after his operation. A number of his school friends favored him with a letter shower recently and needless to say Douglas enjoyed everyone of them. He has had a great number of visitors and has appreciated to see any one from the old home town. —Cliff. Bjorkman and wife and son Dick and Margaret Miller spent Sunday visiting with Grandma. —Rube Sandberg and wife together with Anna Brown recently made a trip to the cities. Rube and Irene continued on to Wisconsin to visit relatives, Mrs. Brown visiting a brother of Mr. Brown's who had driven in from New York. On their return they drove up to Cambridge where they got Avis and Ardith Brown who will spend their summer's vacation here.

A number of the local sports spent last Sunday at Thief River Falls watching the Base Ball team defeat the colored boys. The game was much enjoyed and when the House of David's play a night game down there this community will be greatly in attendance.

Last Saturday evening the Borgen Players gave another of their entertaining shows following with a dance, to a large appreciative audience. This company has been coming to this town for nearly ten years and you have yet to see the show when they did not have a capacity house. Pete says we must have a larger hall and will bring up his gang to drive nails for a couple of days.

Oscar Schott and Arnold Lund of Franklin and Palmer Lund of Ponsford, were recently in town, visiting relatives, attending to business matters with respect to their farms and having a good time renewing old acquaintances. Their visit was much appreciated. The Grygla community would like to see all these good folks return to our midst.

John Stewart, after having a terrific battle with a case of blood poison in his left hand, is much on the amend. He is still a little wobbly in the knees, but says this nice weather we are enjoying is very invigorating and very shortly will be able to attend to all his duties as formerly. —Jennie M. Carter with her sons Maitland and Darrel from St. Hilaire spent Sunday visiting at the F. A. Brown home. Mrs. Carter is a sister of Mrs. Brown. Tom Larson an enterprising merchant of St. Hilaire acted as chauffeur.

John Bjornstad has just completed the erection of a fine residence on his farm west of town.

Olaf Anderson has returned for his summer's vacation to visit with his folks. He is a student at Oak Grove Seminary.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

In spite of a light vote at the special election Tuesday, the council was authorized, by a decisive majority, to proceed with the purchase of necessary power equipment. Considering the undisputed fact that bond issues are, in the nature of things, about as popular as the seven year itch, and that this particular proposal was being harpooned vigorously on both flanks by two separate groups of opposers, the result of the election is really quite gratifying. It was a vote of confidence in the city of Thief River Falls.

Supreme Court decisions dealt the New Deal a hard blow this week. Fortunately the court was able to agree unanimously on the issues involved in the NRA and mortgage moratorium cases. Because the decisions were unanimous the verdicts will be accepted with good grace by the public. As far as the NRA is concerned the result of the decision should not be serious. The plan has proven itself to be unworkable and has, in fact, been ineffective for many months. This being true, it is just as well that it be made as legally dead as it has been dead in practice. There is no danger that the principles of NRA will be made legally possible by constitutional amendment for the good reason that only under the pressure of hysterical enthusiasm would the people delegate such broad powers of control to any one individual. It takes time to amend the constitution and time provides opportunity to consider disagreeable consequences as well as the desirable results. That is the advantage of constitutional government. It slows us down at times in our progress but it does keep us moving along in a fairly straight line.

A TIMELY EMPHASIS ON FREEDOM

(Northfield News)

Secretary Ickes' emphasis, in his address before the Associated Press, upon freedom of the press, of speech, and of assemblage, is significant, coming from one of the brilliant figures in the national administration at a time when there is a tendency on the part of many leaders, in the face of a growing volume of criticism, to appear harassed and annoyed. Mr. Ickes does not fail to make good an effective point when he asks for intelligent criticism and a constructive attitude, but his main contention is embodied in this statement: "Any attempted legal restraint, however wisely applied, would be far worse than excesses of free expression, even tho the freedom exercised bordered on license. Too much freedom is better than even a little restraint imposed from the outside, because excesses, if indulged in, will in the end either cure themselves or kill themselves."

It is clear from this statement that here is a man, schooled in the American tradition who has confidence that the good sense of the American people will prevail however subjected they may be to advocates of unwise doctrines or prejudiced points of view. In other words, he believes the best policy, socially and economically, is to cultivate a free exchange of ideas, with the expectation that in the bright light of open discussion proposals and ideas will stand or fall on their merits. That is putting a lot of confidence in the ultimate good judgment of the people, but it is in keeping with democratic tradition.

Free speech, free assemblage, and freedom of the press are cornerstones of democratic government. Secretary Ickes does the nation a timely service by reiterating his belief in their maintenance as a sound American principle.

DWINDLING ORE STOCKS

(Duluth Herald)

There is something for all of Minnesota to think about in the estimate of E. W. Davis, superintendent of the University of Minnesota school of mines experiment station, that the stock of high grade iron ore in Northern Minnesota ranges will be exhausted within 30 years. Perhaps Mr. Davis' picture may seem a little darker than the facts warrant, but warnings like his have been given before.

There is a reason for hope, however. Experiments are being conducted to find a way to make the reserves of lower grade ore, which are practically inexhaustible available for marketing on a profitable basis. These experiments, if successful, may mean a great deal to the future of the state. Because of the commercial and military importance of iron mines, it would seem that the expenditure of federal as well as state funds in research of this kind would be amply justified. The importance of the iron mines in financing the state makes this a question in which every part of Minnesota should be interested.

Such a warning should not be a signal for despair, but a notice that we should prepare for a changed situation. Agriculture, forestry and the resort business all offer great possibilities. Better times should bring small factories of different kinds, for this section sends away for many things that could be produced here. With these things, and with care taken to prolong the life of the mining industry the people of the region have it in their power to keep Minnesota's Northland what it has been for so long—a fine place to live.

CLEANING UP RELIEF ROLLS

(Long Prairie Leader)

The following from the Clarissa Independent refers to a condition that many citizens believe is prevalent—clients on the relief rolls who ought not to be there—and it cites how one town official is proceeding to handle the problem. We recommend it to other officials not only in Todd but throughout the state:

> "A report comes to this office that at the recent spring election in a neighboring township a new supervisor was elected who is said to be hard boiled. This man was elected chairman and he is now devoting his time to cleaning off the chiselers on the relief list. The township happens to be one that is numbered among the heaviest relief roll and shortly after the new supervisor got elected he made an investigation of who is drawing relief with the result that he brought suit against four parties to recover the relief given to them and their relatives because he feels that they are imposing on the taxpayers. We understand that a settlement has already been made in two of these cases, and the town officer will proceed to either get settlement or it will go into court. This supervisor says he has no objection to relief to those who need help, however, he will not stand for chiseling, and he promises some more developments in the near future."

One of the reasons why those not entitled to relief should be taken off the rolls is so those entitled to relief can have a better opportunity to get it and also to have the amounts they receive increased. We all know of families who are not getting what they ought to have. They will have a better chance if the funds are protected through elimination of those who have no right or honest claim to relief.

FITS THE CRIME

(Fergus Falls Journal)

The city of Zagreb, second largest in Yugo-Slavia, has a unique method of enforcing auto traffic rules. Instead of dragging a motorist into court and fining him or sending him to jail if he happens to pass a stop sign, or breaks some other traffic rule, the police stop his car and let the air out of all four tires. The embarrassment of standing in the streets and pumping up tires proves a better deterrent than the more drastic punishments used in other cities.

The growing danger to the government is not so much from reds and Communists as it is to the increasing number of bureaus and departments in the federal and state governments. We have altogether too much bureaucracy, too many drawers of salaries at the expense of the taxpayers, duplication of service and altogether too much politics.—St. Cloud Times.

The Secretary of the Interior says, in speaking of Indian affairs, "In the past when the government placed in Indian hands cash proceeds from the sale of Indian lands, it failed to provide the Indian with any adequate training in the use of money." This is the administration that will train, not only Indians, but all citizens, the proper use of money. That is, as Andrew H. Brown would say, "the fondest thing that this administration is of."

25 State Forest Camps Approved for Summer

Continued improvement of condition within Minnesota's state forests under the Emergency Conservation Work program of the federal government through the Civilian Conservation Corps is assured for this summer, according to advices received by E. V. Willard, Commissioner of Conservation.

Present indications point to the allotment of 25 CCC camps on state forests in July augmenting the present number of 19 by six additional camps, three new locations and three camps to be reestablished on former sites. All 19 camps now in operation are located on state forests with the exception of one which is situated on state-owned land east of Sandstone on the St. Croix River.

New camps are a relocation camp on Beltrami Island State forest in Lake of the Woods County; Buena Vista State forest, northwest of Bemidji; Pillsbury State Forest, near Nisswa, and Land O' Lakes State Forest, south of Remer near Roosevelt Lake.

The Perfect Fool

Dear Mr. Wynn:

A friend of mine, who just came from Los Angeles, in an automobile, said he saw part of a railroad track under water when he was coming through Idaho. He said he heard a train whistle and he realized it was up to him to save the train so he waved a "clothespin" and when the engineer saw it he stopped the train. Sounds like applesauce to me, don't it to you?

Yours truly,
B. HAYVE.

Answer: I understand your friend thoroughly. The railroad track was under water, he waved a "clothes-pin" and the engineer stopped the train. Very simple—"clothes-pin" means a wash out on the line.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

I am the mother of a very bad boy ten years of age. Yesterday his daddy gave him 10c to spend. He went out and bought 10c worth of nails. Can you tell me what he bought the nails for?

Yours truly,
VINNIE GAIL.

Answer: Yes, for 10c.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

We had an argument at our house last night about young men getting married. Some of the folks said that most of the boys who marry when they are very, very young, are usually dark haired. Is that true?

Yours truly,
JENNY RAYTOR.

Answer: It is not true. You will find that boys who marry when they are extremely young are generally all light headed.

Dear Mr. Wynn:

One of my neighbors has a son who is now about twenty-two years of age. For the past ten years he has been a lazy, shiftless boy. He ran away from home three weeks ago and yesterday his father got a letter from him saying he was in the movies and getting a salary of $2,000 a week. Can you imagine it?

Sincerely,
HEEZA BUM.

Answer: I can imagine it but I don't believe it.

Athens Once Capital of Entire Civilized World

Athens was once the capital of the civilized world. Back of it is the most famous of all hills, the ruin-strewn Acropolis. The Acropolis, observes a writer in the Chicago Tribune, was the site of the early city which grew into Athens. It was fortified more than a thousand years before Christ. Part of the original walls still stand. Here the semi-mythical kings ruled and sat in judgment. Here under Theseus the city on the hill united with the villages that had sprung up on the plain below. Here was laid the foundation of the democracy that is still making its way westward around the world.

In 480 B. C. the Acropolis fell before the armies of Xerxes, who was later defeated in the naval battle of Salamis and he went back to Persia. In the same century the hill saw Sophocles, Euripides, Socrates, Aristophanes, and Pericles rise to immortality. The following century brought on the blight of Philip of Macedon after he had paved the way for his son, Alexander the Great.

As the town of the greatest sculptors, poets, and dramatists of antiquity, and the seat of the schools of philosophy founded by Plato and Aristotle, Athens subsisted for centuries on the intellectual capital it had stored up during the golden age.

For 2,000 years Athens has owed its prosperity to the fame achieved in its early days. It is still reaping the harvest of the intangible factors on which the empire of the mind is built: learning and literature, art and eloquence, philosophy and democracy. Students go there from all over the world, and the visitor stands in awe before the might and majesty of things immortal.

Production of Eggs Next Winter Depends on Care Given Pullets in Summer

Egg production during the coming winter will depend largely upon the feed and care given the pullets during the summer months states A. M. Pilkey, Northwest School and Station poultryman. To insure rapid growth and development emphasis should be placed upon free range, sanitation, well balanced rations and comfortable housing.

The ideal range includes an abundance of shade and a continuous supply of fresh green feed, such as alfalfa, clover or newly seeded oats. Artificial shade may be provided by planting sunflowers or other quick growing leafy plants. The Corn field will provide an ideal location for developing pullets. The colony house may be raised by placing 12-in. blocks under the runners, thus providing protection from the summer sun, as well as from crows, hawks and other enemies of the poultry yard.

Clean ground is the best possible insurance against poultry parasites and common diseases. If worms are present, the entire flock should be treated individually with a reliable worm repellent. Kamala has been found satisfactory for tape worms while nicotine sulphate is recommended for round worms. Mr. Pilkey recommends keeping dry mash before the pullets in self-feeder hoppers at all times. This mash may consist of equal parts of corn meal, bran and flour middlings, and 15 per cent meat meal, 2 per cent fine grit, 2 per cent fine charcoal, 5 per cent bone meal, ½ per cent salt, and 1 per cent codliver oil.

Growth may be stimulated by feeding a moist mash daily in addition to the dry mash. After the birds are two months old, a continuous supply of a mixture of whole grains or low grade wheat should be provided. It should be remembered that pullets suffer more often from underfeeding than from overfeeding. Clean drinking fountains should be kept filled with cool water or milk at all times. A fountain attached to a barrel or water line will insure a constant supply and also save considerable labor.

Professor Pilkey warns poultrymen not to allow the pullets to run with the old hens. The colony house should be moved to separate quarters in the corn field or later on to the wheat field. A 10x12 colony house is easy to move, inexpensive to build and will provide ample roosting quarters for 200 pullets.

Rubber Belting

Rubber belting is made of layers of canvas folded lengthwise and thoroughly vulcanized together with rubber, which acts as a binder and also equalizes the strain through the thickness of the belt as it passes around the pulley.

War Notes in Pipe

The most ingenious device for concealing notes was used by a spy during the World war. It was a pipe which, although constantly smoked, carried numerous tissue paper communications in a secret space between the interior and exterior walls of the bowl. In an emergency, an innocent twist of the overlapping rim would have caused the burning tobacco to consume the papers.—Collier's Weekly.

The Wandering Jew

The Wandering Jew was a legendary character who was supposed to have been doomed to wander until the second coming of Christ because he taunted Jesus as he bore the cross. This legend first appeared in a pamphlet supposed to have been printed in Leyden about 1602, and it relates how one Paulus von Eitzen had met a Jew, Ahasuerus, who had declared himself "eternal" and the original Jew punished by Christ. The pamphlet gained wide circulation and led to reports of the Wandering Jew being seen in many places.—Pathfinder Magazine.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., May 27, 1935 (U.S.D.A.): Cattle trade was slow and weak to 25c lower on fat steers at the week's opening with she stock mostly steady, spots lower, bulls steady, stockers and feeders and vealers weak to 25c lower. Good mixed yearlings and desirable fed steers made $5.75-10.75, good mediumweight beeves up to $11.50, plainer yearlings down toward $8.00. Medium and good fat heifers earned $7.75-10.00, choice yearlings $10.75, plainer heifers down to $6.00 or under. Most beef cows brought $5.50-7.50, a few $8.50, better grades $3.50-5.25, desirable sausage bulls $5.75-6.25, a few $6.50, beef bulls to $7.00, bulk better vealers $7.00-9.00, choice $9.50, others $4.50-6.00. Thin stock steers and calves earned $5.50-7.00, better grades being salable up to $8.50 and above.

Hogs sold unevenly and mostly steady, better lights and butchers $9.50-9.65, top $9.70, good packing sows mostly $8.75-8.90, stags $8.50-9.00, good and choice pigs $9.25-9.50 or better.

Sheep and lambs sold largely steady, choice spring lambs reaching $8.75, medium to good old crop wooled lambs up to $8.00, medium to good clipped lambs $7.00-7.25. Good to choice shorn ewes up to 110 lbs. earned $3.00-3.50, heavier weights $2.00-2.50.

QUOTATIONS BY NORTHERN PACKING CO., GRAND FORKS, TUESDAY, MAY 28, 1935

HOGS—The market weakened slightly. Well finished butcher hogs weighing from 190 to 300 lbs. sold mostly at from $8.75 to $9.35 with a top of $9.25 paid for the best kinds weighing 210 to 260 lbs. Packer sows sold mostly from $8.00 to $8.40.

CATTLE—The market is slightly weaker on most kinds. Medium to good steers, heifers and yearlings sold mostly at from $7.00 to $8.50. Strictly good fed steers are in poor demand at prices ranging from $8.50 to $9.00. The common and fair conditioned steers and heifers sold mostly at from $4.00 to $6.50; butcher cows ranged from $5.00 to $6.50; canners and cutters brought from $4.50 downward with lean thin kinds subject to inspection. Good heavy bulls ranged in price from $5.25 to $5.75. The medium and light bulls ranged from $4.50 downward.

CALVES—Market is steady. Strictly good vealers are salable here at from $6.50 and upward to $7.00 with strictly choice 200 lbs. vealers upward to $7.50. Common calves and medium vealers are in fair demand at prices ranging from $3.00 to $5.00.

SHEEP—Genuine spring lambs or desirable lambs have not been offered here. If such are available in weights ranging from 65 lbs. up prices will range from $7.00 to $8.00. Last years lambs of desirable weight and condition may sell at from $5.00 to $6.00.

Etching Glass

Many things are discovered by accident. In 1670 some aquafortis fell by accident on the spectacles owned by an artist named Schwanhard. The glass was corroded, and this taught him how to make a liquid to etch figures upon glass.

Church From One Tree

The town of Santa Rosa, California, has a church built entirely from one tree. The congregation was presented with a giant redwood 18 feet in diameter which yielded 78,000 feet of timber.

Mother's Cook Book

FOR THE CHEESE LOVER

WITH the numerous varieties of cheese on the market—to name them would take a column space, with a word about their composition—one may have something different for every day in the year.

A most tasty dish to serve when something a bit more nourishing than the plain scalloped eggs is required is a few tablespoonfuls of creamy cheese added to the hot eggs; stir until well mixed.

Serve the sweet, juicy early cabbage cooked whole, with the hard center removed, then cut into pie-shaped pieces on a chop plate; serve with a white sauce to which a cupful of finely minced cheese has been added. Be sure the cheese is well melted before serving. This makes a most tasty and attractive as well as a nourishing dish.

The cheese supper dish has been given so often that it seems as if every one should have the recipe, yet here it is again for those who have never seen it:

Cheese Supper Dish.

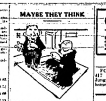
Spread stale bread with butter and place in a shallow baking dish as many slices as will be needed. Cover each slice thickly with finely minced rich cheese and when enough is prepared pour over a custard mixture, using two eggs and a pint of milk with salt to season. Bake in the oven at a low heat. The dish will be like a fluffy omelet, more attractive and appetizing. Serve hot.

Cheese Roll.

To one cake of cream cheese softened with cream add one cupful of good American cheese grated, a dash of red pepper, one-half cupful of chopped stuffed olives. Make into a roll and decorate with thin sliced of stuffed olives. Serve on a dainty plate with a cheese knife.

In choosing cheese for cookery be sure that you buy a rich one that will melt without becoming stringy. Overcooking will make most cheese stringy, so great care should be used when heat is applied. To test cheese for richness take a bit in the mouth and press it with the tongue to the roof of the mouth. If it melts easily you may be sure it is well ripened and rich cheese.

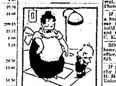
MAYBE THEY THINK



"What's come over the girls nowadays; they don't seem to want to marry."

"Perhaps they think when singleness is bliss, 'tis folly to be wives."

ASK ANOTHER

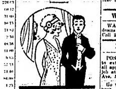


"Say, ma."

"What?"

"If ears were supposed to be kept clean, why weren't they made flat like your face is, so you could do it easily?"

REAL CONTORTIONIST

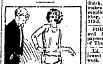


"Reggie gets along all right at these receptions."

"Does, eh?"

"Yes, he can hold a plate of salad in one hand, a cup of coffee in the other and balance a dish of ice cream on his left shoulder."

BUT NOT NOW

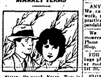


Old Gent—I often kissed you when you were a baby.

Miss Deb—I couldn't help myself then.

Old Gent—I could, and did.

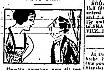
MARKET TERMS



Sister—Propose? Never. Tom is too shy.

Brother—Coin or courage?

NEXT CASE



He—My ancestors were all people with brains.

She—Too bad you were disinherited.

HIS PRESCRIPTION

"Well, the doc says I must eat starch; guess I'll start on that collar."

Perhaps the President will tell congress some fishing stories to make 'em buck up and earn a vacation of their own.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Chowchow, "One Man" Dog, May Be Native of China

Notably loyal and devoted to his master, the chowchow is often spoken of as a "one man" dog, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times. To strangers, the handsome face of this lion-headed, dignified and powerful creature, wears a scowl. It means "no nonsense" and is intended to deter one from undue familiarity. He will make up his own mind irrespective of any advances. To friends, however, his expression is kindness itself.

His plumed tail is held very tightly over the beautiful thick-coated back when the dog is happy, but lowered when he is frightened. His movement, a stiff and rolling gait, due to unusual straightness of his hinds legs, which do not bend at the hock, is peculiar to the breed, as are also the characteristic blue tongues, almond-shaped eyes, cat-like feet, strong cobby bodies and an inscrutable oriental appearance.

Almond eyes may or may not be responsible for the claims of many authorities that China is his nativity. The breed, however, was foreign to China, being the outcome of Siberian sledge dogs and the Tibetan mastiff.

Gradually drifting southward from the colder regions, he became known in northern China as early as 800 B. C., when all dogs were divided into three classes, hunting dogs, watch dogs and edible dogs. It was into this last category that the fate of the chow was placed.

Million Died in France During Reign of Terror

More than a million persons were put to death in France during the Reign of Terror, according to an itemization in Sir Archibald Alison's "History of Europe From the Commencement of the French Revolution to the Restoration of the Bourbons, 1815."

This list follows:

Guillotined by sentence of the revolutionary tribunals, 18,603.

Women who died from illness produced by excitement and grief, 3,748.

Women killed in La Vendee (a western province which revolted in favor of the Bourbons in 1793), 15,000.

Children killed in La Vendee, 22,000.

Men slain in La Vendee, 900,000.

Victims at Nantes, 32,000.

Victims at Lyons, 31,000.

This makes a total of 1,022,351, but the number killed in La Vendee is exaggerated.

The historian adds:

"In this enumeration are not comprehended the massacres at Versailles, at the Abbey, the Carmes, or other prisons on the 2nd of September, the victims of the Glaciere of Avignon, those shot at Toulon and Marseilles, or the persons slain in the little town of Bedouin, of which the whole population perished."

Michigan Protects Badger

Unlike most other states, Michigan includes the badger among protected animals. Other communities look upon it as highly predatory and constantly seek its elimination from game cover.

Rhododendron Roots for Fuel

"Moonshiners" in the southern mountains are said to find rhododendron roots excellent fuel for their liquor distillation, because they make no telltale smoke for revenue officers to see.

SUPREME COURT DECISION VOIDS CODES UNDER NRA

Declares Monday Vital Section of Act is Unconstitutional

NRA codes were wiped out Monday by the Supreme Court in a unanimous decision. The court ruled unconstitutional, Section III of the industry recovery act, under which congress delegated to the President authority to make codes. It held this authority had not been sufficiently limited or defined. The Tribunal also ruled that "where transactions have merely an indirect effect on interstate commerce, the control rests with the states."

The Supreme Court, in a unanimous decision, also held the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage moratorium act invalid as a violation of the federal constitution.

Chief Justice Charles Hughes read the NRA decision to a closely attentive court room. In detail, he discussed conditions which controlled the making of codes—leaving the President free, he said, to adopt such measures as he thought for the public welfare.

It came at a time when the house committee concerned had agreed to recommend extension of the NRA for two years, inviting conflict with the senate over its bill for less than ten months extension.

Having invalidated the President's code making authority, the court also held invalid provisions of the code fixing minimum wages and maximum hours of labor, an action it said had been based on the theory that wages and hours of labor "affect" interstate commerce. The court declared such power would give federal government substantial control over all activities.

The court declared such power would give federal government substantial control over all activities.

"The attempt to fix hours and wages of the defendants was not a valid exercise of federal power," Hughes said.

THIS CITY LEADS IN DISTRICT NO. 1 WORKS ACTIVITY

Reemployment Office Head Says 45 Employed Locally

At the present time Pennington county ranks the highest in public works activity of the eight counties in National Re-employment District No. 1, with approximately forty-five men employed on two projects, according to Donald L. Snyder, district manager. Within the next few days, employment will increase materially when the actual construction gets under way on the post office.

Three of the counties, Polk, Red Lake and Norman, in the Re-employment district have followed the example of the federal public works administration in guaranteeing to their citizens preference on all county road projects. The county commissioners in these counties have specified in their road contracts that, common labor, where qualified is to be hired from within the county.

This plan was praised by Mr. Snyder who reports that this is being done by a large number of counties throughout the state and that it is only fair to other county labor that they be given the same protection. In addition, he states, it discourages an influx of labor and the resultant dependency on the county of stranded labor.

William Erickson Died in Montana May 22nd

William Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Erickson, former residents of this city, died at his home in Glasgow, Montana, Wednesday. He was a graduate of the local high school with the class of 1929 and is well known to the young people of this community. Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2:30 at Zahl with Rev. Nysturn officiating. Mr. Erickson who was twenty-four years old at the time of his death, was born April 12, 1911 in Cooperstown, N. Dak. In 1933 he moved to Zahl following his marriage to Miss Sophia Frandsen at Bottineau that year. Surviving him are his wife and one son, Richard; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Erickson of Zahl; five brothers, Harold of Glasgow, Montana, Trygve of Cooperstown, N. Dak., Leif of Crookston, Arthur and Leroy of Zahl and two sisters, Mrs. Nels Voldal of Sandborn, N. Dak., and Mrs. G. A. Leito of New Effington, S. Dak.

Junior C. & C. Group Adopts Constitution

A constitution and set of bylaws for the recently organized Junior Civic and Commerce association were adopted at a meeting Tuesday evening attended by 22 members. At the same time a nominating committee submitted the names of candidates for four elective offices to be voted on at the next meeting of the organization Thursday, June 6 in the Evelyn hotel.

COLORED GOPHERS DOWNED BY LOCAL TEAM SUNDAY 6-1

1000 Fans Witness Second Baseball Game of the Local Season

Setting the highly touted Minnesota Gophers down with but three hits, Lefty Heiberg and his teammates bunched their hits Sunday to defeat the Gophers by a score of 6 to 1 before a crowd of about one thousand fans.

The Gophers opened the game with Harris, Chink, and Breedlord going out on easy grounders to the infield. Harold Thordal, first man up for the locals, flied out to Wick in left, Groningen then singled thru second. Man Brevick grounded out to Sticks, and Groningen took second. Tuss Langlie, cleanup man for the locals, got a long two base hit to left, scoring Groningen. Mandy Thordal then grounded out to Foot ending the inning.

There was no more scoring until the sixth inning, when Thompson, the Gophers pitcher, singled over first and stole second on the first pitch. Harris flied out and Thompson took third on the throw in. Chink grounded out and Thompson scored, tying the count. Breedlord grounded out to Eeg ending the inning.

The weather at this point of the game proceeded to get bad, but the game went on. In the last of the seventh Coleman, first man up for the locals, singled to left and took second on Eeg's ground ball to Thompson, who made a wild throw with Coleman scoring and Eeg going to second. Lefty Heiberg was hit in the ankle by a pitched ball, and Laurance was sent in to run for him. Harold Thordal laid down a nice sacrifice bunt advancing Eeg and Laurance, who scored on Groningen's single thru second. Brevick grounded out. Tuss Langlie rose to heights when he hit a long home run to right scoring Groningen and ending the days scoring. The game being called at the end of the eighth inning when it started to rain.

Tus Langlie proved to be the day's hero getting a double, a home run, and accounting for three of the local runs. Harold Groningen, local catcher, showed his right to be known as a ball man to have at bat in getting two clean singles and credit for one stolen base in his four trips to the plate. Coleman, local negro third base man, also deserves credit for his thrilling catch of Dixon's pop fly between second and first, coming over from third base for it when Heiberg couldn't follow the ball.

New Third District Engineer Takes Charge

S. P. Sharpless of St. Paul last week took charge as Third District engineer in the local ERA office, succeeding M. A. Fitzgerald, who was transferred to the Hennepin county office in Minneapolis. Mr. Sharpless, who was transferred to this city from the fifth district office in Alexandria, expressed surprise at the amount of construction work now under way in this community.

STATE REAL ESTATE MEN TO MEET IN ALEXANDRIA

A convention of real estate men and those interested in real estate will be held in Alexandria Friday and Saturday, June 7th and 8th, according to announcement of O. C. Neuman of Wheaton, president and J. F. Nichols, Minneapolis, secretary of the Minnesota Realty Association, who are calling the meeting in Alexandria.

THIS CITY WILL BE HEADQUARTERS FOR THE DISTRICT PWA

of Hopkins permitting him to increase pay 10 per cent above the schedule made public earlier in the week, a schedule which brought heated protests from labor leaders.

"Liberilization of the grant from approximately 30 to 45 per cent of the project cost and reduction of the annual interest from 4 per cent to 3 per cent is designed to open the way for nonfederal bodies to co-operate in the works relief program with the federal government on a more generous basis," the announcement explained.

"Such action is designed to make it easier for communities to borrow funds on collateral security from PWA instead of requesting outright all-federal grants, thus helping to carry out the President's objective of seeing as large a portion as possible for the funds returned to the treasury.

"The change in terms recommended opens the way for communities to obtain projects of the type that are permanent assets for their localities which otherwise they would have difficulty in obtaining unless they would undertake to share with the federal government the financial burden."

SETESDALSLAGET MEETS IN BEMIDJI JUNE 28, 29 AND 30

Visitors to Witness Historical Pageant at Itasca State Park

Final arrangements for the bringing of the 1935 convention of Setesdalslaget to Bemidji on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, June 28, 29 and 30 were made last week by a committee from the organization which conferred with Civic and Commerce Association officials regarding the gathering, says the Bemidji Sentinel.

The convention will attract to Bemidji for the three days a crowd of 2,000 persons, it is expected by the officials of the organization.

As a special entertainment feature of the convention arrangements will be made to visit Itasca State Park for the presentation of the 1935 historical pageant which will be witnessed on the same day by a group from Norway making a tour of this country and including in its itinerary a trip to the pageant scene. The convention sessions Friday and Saturday will be held in the armory.

The committee that made final arrangements for the convention here included BJ. Bjornarua of Trail, president of the organization, T. O. Lien of Oklee, secretary and Bjorn Tvietebakk of Gully.

The fleet will practice within 400 miles of Japan. Don't you just love a friend who shakes his fist under your nose?—Asheville Citizen.

Detroit Lakes Supplies Plausible Fish Sory

A fish story which will rank with the best of the season was unfolded Monday evening at Big Floyd lake, near Detroit Lakes, says the Record of that city.

Mrs. A. T. Thompson had been fishing with a June Bug spinner, but having no luck with that lure, she decided to change to an ordinary hook. So she took the spinner off the line and laid it besides her. Then—with her mind evidently focused on the "big ones" to be caught that evening—she mechanically and absently baited the spinner and tossed it overboard without benefit of line.

Awakening to what she had done, Mrs. Thompson figuratively kissed the lure goodby, and continued her angling with hook and minnow. An hour later, however, she landed a good-sized pike, which—lo and be-hold—had the June Bug spinner in its mouth.

SQUIRREL GUILTY OF MILK BOTTLE THEFTS

Tracy—Charges of petty larceny await a squirrel upon his capture as eye witnesses are ready to testify against the defendant. A well matured squirrel recently turned robber and came nearly getting the children of the community into trouble. For a few weeks caps were torn from milk bottles at the Elmer Peterson home and a half inch or so of the contents taken. Aggravated by what they thought was a child's trick they spied only to catch a squirrel sink his teeth into the cap, tearing it off, and help himself to a good meal.

SENATE SUSTAINS BONUS BILL VETO BY THE PRESIDENT

Veterans Study Other Means of Enacting Proposed Legislation

The senate Thursday sustained President Roosevelt's veto and killed the Patman bonus bill.—The bonus vote was 40 to sustain and 54 to override. Sens. Schall and Shipstead of Minnesota both voted to override the veto.

Champions of the $2,200,000,000 measure battled to the last during a dramatic session. But they could not win the two-thirds majority necessary to have the senate join the house in overriding the veto.

The votes against the Patman plan definitely killed it for this session, but did not down the bonus issue.

President Roosevelt had warned that the Patman bill would set the nation on a dangerous course. The tone of his veto indicated he also would reject any other plan for immediate and full cash payment.

The proposed strategy of the bonus forces to offer their alternative plan as a rider on an administration bill may gravely complicate the new deal's legislative program for the remainder of the session.

Congressional bonus leaders announced immediately they would seek to attach a modified bonus bill to some other bill yet to go through the senate. The modified bill would give the President a choice between issuing currency, floating bonds to raise the money, or using relief funds for paying the certificates.

Sharp Rise in Hogs Reflects Advance in Wholesale Pork

One of the sharpest rises of the year was in progress in the hog market at South St. Paul last week, states the weekly market bulletin issued by the Central Cooperative Association of South St. Paul. Prices swept upwards fully 50c during the first half of the week and as compared with the recent low spot, gains of $1.00 or more per cwt. were apparent.

The sudden upturn in the market apparently has stimulated buying demand for pork, since reports from the wholesale pork trade at the large consuming centers have been unusually bullish. By the middle of last week pork lines on the Chicago wholesale market had advanced to new high levels for May since May 1920.

Lard stocks also are low compared with other years. On May 1, lard stocks totaled 100,620,000 lbs. compared with 179,098,000 lbs. a year ago and 112,620,000 lbs. for the five-year average.

Red Lake Falls Man is Injured in Collision

Joseph Harren of Red Lake Falls suffered five broken ribs, a punctured lung, fractured collar bone and cuts about the head when his car was forced into the ditch near Dilworth May 17 by a hit and run driver, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. He is at the present time receiving treatment at St. John's hospital, Fargo. Miss Helen Lenzen and Mary Zeller of Moorhead, who were riding with Mr. Harren at the time of the accident also suffered serious injuries and were treated at St. Ansgar's hospital at Moorhead.

MATT KUOPPALA SR. DIED AT GRAND FORKS FRIDAY

Matt Kuoppala Sr., sixty-five years old, died Friday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. K. Saiki, at Grand Forks, after an illness of six weeks.

Born in Finland, Mr. Kuoppala came to this country forty eight years ago and farmed at Brocket, N. D., until seven years ago when he retired and moved to Plummer.

Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at Brocket.

He is survived by his wife, five daughters, Mrs. A. K. Saiki of Grand Forks, Mrs. Swanee Kela of Plummer, Miss Esther Kuoppala of Detroit, Mich., Mrs. Michael Broncanski of Minneapolis and Miss Ella Kuoppala of Grand Forks; and four sons, John Kuoppala of Bellingham, Washington, Matt Kuoppala Jr., of Plummer, Oscar Kuoppala of Brocket, N. D., and Archie Kuoppala of Ely.

The entire community extends sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Nearly all arrangements have been completed for the Junior-Senior banquet and prom which are to take place on Thursday, May 30. The banquet will be served in the dining room at the schoolhouse and the prom will be held in the hall immediately after the banquet. The high school alumni have been extended special invitations to attend. All committees have been working hard to make this annual event the finest ever held.

Seniors Present Class Play

The Senior Class of P. H. S. presented "The Path Across the Hill" on Thursday evening before a moderately large audience. It was the most successful dramatic production of the year and was received with acclamation. The entire performance was unusual for high school students.

Dorothy Schroeder and Joe Mack played the leading roles adequately. Both took character parts of a difficult nature. Irene Saum and Leland LaVoy, in strong supporting roles, climaxing their dramatic careers in high school with superb performances. Lucille Hemley and Arnold Karlstad gave a perfect interpretation of the tragic end of a hasty marriage. Ethel Hoole and Joe Fallon looked and acted the ingenue roles in a distinctive manner. Juanita Ripple and Ray Houtari added color and humor as the negro servants. They also contributed a delightful love element. It is difficult to pick an outstanding performer, but Juanita Ripple deserves special notice for a life-like interpretation.

The cast and Mr. McCrady, the director, reserve much credit for the entertaining performance. The play itself was of the comedy-drama type that provides a splendid opportunity for acting.

PROTECT YOUR LIFE AND THE LIVES OF OTHERS!

THERE are three questions you should ask yourself about the tires you buy:

1—"Will the non-skid tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"
2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"
3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—Harvey S. Firestone early realized the value of tire traction and safety and was the first to design an All Rubber Non-Skid Tire. Through the years Firestone has led the way in the design and development of tires with most effective non-skid treads.

Firestone does not depend solely on traction and non-skid tests made by its own engineers—it employs a leading University to make impartial tests for non-skid efficiency of its tires, and their most recent report shows that Firestone High Speed Tires stop the car 15% quicker than the best of all popular makes of tires.

Answer No. 2—Blowout protection must be built into a tire. Friction and heat within the tire is the greatest cause of blowouts. Firestone protects its tires from friction and heat by a patented process which soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. This is an additional process known as Gum-Dipping, by which every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight pounds of rubber. This extra process costs more and is not used in any other make of tire.

Leading race drivers investigate the inbuilt qualities of the tires they use, because their very lives depend upon their tires, and they always select Firestone Tires for their daring speed runs. In fact, Firestone Tires have been on the winning cars in the gruelling Indianapolis 500-mile race for fifteen consecutive years, and they were on the 5,000-pound car that Ab Jenkins drove 3,000 miles in 23½ hours on the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, without tire trouble of any kind. These amazing performance records are proof of the greatest blowout protection ever known.

Answer No. 3—Thousands of car owners reporting mileage records of 40,000 to 75,000 miles, is proof of the long mileage and greater economy by equipping with Firestone High Speed Tires. Let these unequaled performance records be your buying guide.

Go to the Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store or Firestone Tire Dealer and let him equip your car with Firestone Tires, the safest and most economical tires built.

Volume—Direct Purchasing—Straight Line Manufacturing and Efficient and Economical System of Distributing to our 500 Stores and to 30,000 Dealers, enables Firestone to give you greater values at lowest prices

Changing Constantinople to the Name of Istanbul

In 1930 the new republic of Turkey began to insist that the official Turkish name be used for the city founded in 325 A. D. by Constantine the Great, and to require that mail sent to residents of the city be addressed Instanbul instead of Constantinople.

Two years after Constantine founded the city he made it the seat of the Roman empire in the East and officially named it New Rome to indicate its political position. But it was popularly called Constantinople to perpetuate the fame of its founder. After the capture of the city in 1453 by the Turks it became the capital of the Ottoman empire.

Constantinople is really a collection of towns and villages lying on both sides of the Golden Horn and along the Bosporus. There are four general sections, however, consisting of Eyup, Istambol (the Greek section south of the Horn on the site of old Byzantium), Galata (the chief business center and seaport on the Horn) and Scutari.

Foreigners have always called the entire city Constantinople, while the Turks called it Istambol, a name which outsiders applied to the typically Turkish section, which is bounded on the west by the Sea of Marmora, on the east by the Golden Horn, and on the south by the ancient city walls. The name Istanbul is the Turkish form of Istambol. It is derived from the Greek and literally means "into the city." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Coot Not Member of Duck Family; Called "Mud Hen"

The term "mud hen" is a nickname for the coot or similar water fowl. The coot, Fulica americana, is a bird of the small creeks and the shores of shallow lakes and ponds where marsh plants grow abundantly, notes a writer in the Washington Star. The foot is half webbed, an excellent arrangement for running on water when the wings lend their assistance. The coot never rises on the wing without a preliminary run on the water of from 50 to 150 feet.

The coot swims and dives quite well, but as a rule it prefers to live, as do the rails and ballianties (to which the term "mud hen" is also applied), in the edges of heavy marsh vegetation. Here it can pick up its living of buds, blossoms, seeds, aquatic insects and snails, and also hide from its enemies.

The coot is not a member of the duck family, but belongs to the rail family, Rallidae and the order Gruiformes, or crane-like birds.

Effect of Education

Jud Tunkins says education is mighty important. A man may get in bad not so much because of his ideas as because of his vocabulary.

Barcelona Is Aged

The foundation of Barcelona, Spain, is attributed to Hercules, 400 years "to a day before Rome was born." Its known history dates back several centuries before Christ. It was here that the first steamship was launched in 1543. It was propelled by two steam-driven wheels and attained a speed of three miles an hour.

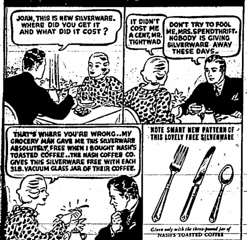
A THRIFTY HOUSEWIFE EXPLAINS TO HER HUSBAND



JOAN, THIS IS NEW SILVERWARE. WHERE DID YOU GET IT AND WHAT DID IT COST?
IT DIDN'T COST ME A CENT, MR. TIGHTWAD
DON'T TRY TO FOOL ME, MRS. SPENDTHRIFT. NOBODY IS GIVING SILVERWARE AWAY THESE DAYS.
THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE WRONG..MY GROCERY MAN GAVE ME THIS SILVERWARE ABSOLUTELY FREE WHEN I BOUGHT NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE..THE NASH COFFEE CO. GIVES THIS SILVERWARE FREE WITH EACH 3LB. VACUUM GLASS JAR OF THEIR COFFEE.
NOTE SMART NEW PATTERN OF THIS LOVELY FREE SILVERWARE
Given only with the three-pound jar of NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE

EFFECTIVE immediately, with the purchase of each three-pound, vacuum-packed, glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee, your grocer will give you, absolutely without added cost, your choice of a knife, fork or spoon of this fully guaranteed silverware.

This offer is made for one reason only. Most people buy coffee a pound at a time. The cost of packing and distributing a one-pound jar is practically the same as that of a three-pound jar, apart from the coffee itself. Where millions of pounds are involved, as is the case with so popular a brand as Nash's Toasted Coffee, the saving is considerable when it is packed in three-pound jars. So, to induce more people to buy the economical three-pound jar, the Nash Coffee Company is passing on to the public the extra value in silverware.

Of course, the high quality of Nash's Toasted Coffee remains the same—a quality of flavor that has earned for it the approval of millions of families who say, "Every Drop Delicious."

Note silverware attached to three pound vacuum glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee. You get your silverware with the coffee—nothing to mail or send away for

Growing With Your Child

Window Boxes

With window boxes should be included porch boxes and hanging baskets for we may fairly assume that many persons can develop their taste for flowers only by growing plants in some elevated position as indicated above.

Several factors necessary to achieve the greatest success are good soil, plants suitable for the position in which they are to be grown, and almost unlimited amounts of water.

First let us refer to the construction of window boxes. Probably the material most often used is wood. Redwood is undoubtedly the most lasting, but we can use any kind that is easily worked and will not warp under stress and strain. Concrete and metal are sometimes used, but may be more expensive.

A window box should be regarded as a part of the building and should "tie in" with the house in every way, particularly in color. Many prefer dark green for the window box as it then matches the plants used. If wood is used, screws are much better than nails as screws do not "draw" with the heat.

Window box soil should be suitable to the plant's needs. Many are gross feeders; consequently, a liberal amount of well-rotted manure should be mixed with the soil in the lower half of the box.

Some plants will grow equally as well in the shade as in full sun, but they are usually the foliage plants, such as Coleus, rather than blooming plants such as petunias and geraniums. For a window box in a shady position, use Coleus. For the front use Ivy-line, which is sold by florists under the name of Achyranthes; Boston ferns, Cordyline or Dracaena of the florist, Ageratum and English ivy, Vinca, Asparagus sprengeri and Kenilworth or German ivy. Petunias and geraniums will grow in shade, but do not bloom as freely as when in a sunny position. For the sunny locations, all the plants mentioned, except Boston ferns, will be found very satisfactory; also lobelias, snapdragons, Marguerites, and nasturtiums. The latter are very good in a sunny window box, but are too straggly and undependable in the shade. Many plants besides those named might be used.

When filling a window box, plant firmly. Use the fingers to firm the soil around the roots of the plants, fill with soil to within an inch of the top, then water two or three times so as to have the soil well wetted down. Keep the plants clean, either with a moderate pressure from the garden hose, or by a sprayer.

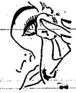
Baskets never look as well as when foliage plants are used, such as Boston ferns, the parlor palm, Anthericum and Trailing Coleus. Lobelias and some of the begonias might be used, unless they are placed in a quite sunny position.

9 Elements in Christ's Time

Only nine of the ninety-two chemical elements were known before Christ—copper, gold, iron, lead, mercury, silver, tin, carbon and sulphur. No new ones were added until 1200, when arsenic, and in 1450 antimony were discovered.

MINUTE MAKE-UPS

By V. V.



When you remove mascara—and you should remove it before retiring—take a damp piece of cotton and with eyes open rub it gently upward on the upper lashes. Then rub the lower lashes downward. This keeps it from smearing over your eyes. Finish by oiling the lashes so that the drying effect of the mascara is counteracted.

Nelson of Silverton.

20 DOLLAR GOLD PIECE LOST 52 YEARS, FOUND

Green Isle—A twenty-dollar gold piece which has been lost for 52 years on the Voight farm in Green Isle township was found by Alvin Voight, who lives on the farm, last week when he was discing the ground. In 1883 Henry Rabe, then owner of the farm was paid this piece of money by Charles Voight, (both old pioneers) for a debt, and Mr. Rabe put the coin in his pocket while cultivating corn and lost it during the day. Search for the money was made several times, but last week it was found lying on top of the ground as bright and new looking as the day when it was lost. The coin bears the date of the year it was lost.

CREPE-PAPER STRAW

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Here are two cunning spring chapeaux, the one a new pill-box model, the other a bonnet, the soft which is so popular with the younger set this season. Believe it or not these smart millinery types are crocheted of strips of crepe paper. There is hardly a hat fashion that cannot be copied successfully in crocheted crepe paper. You will feel a thrill of satisfaction and pride to be hatted with a brand new chapeau you have made yourself. Then, too, there is the advantage in crocheting your own hat, of matching it to your costume and accessories.

KNITTED COSTUMES CONTINUE IN VOGUE

Plans of Designers Include Formal Creations.

The vogue has been partial to styles of smart knitmanship for a rather long time. And indications point to their being even more fashionable during the spring months.

The many reasons why knitted suits, dresses, sweaters, bathing suits and accessories are being favored so unmistakably by smartly groomed women are quite obvious: Knitwear appears to suit the modern trend, theme, tempo and temperament admirably. It does away with the need of frequent costume changing. A knitted suit or dress has the distinction of being multi-occasional. It makes the wearer appear to good advantage at almost any function but the most formal.

And, it is no longer a secret that, behind the scenes, clever designers are busy creating knitted styles of even demiformal and completely formal persuasion. Furthermore, it must be admitted that a knitted suit or dress and, still more particularly, a knitted bathing suit, does set off the figure.

Frills (thrill) boucle, zephyr and chenille are the major fabrics exploited in knitwear for the new season. And the most favored colors are grape green, dusty brown, grenade melon, French amethyst, talisman blue, copper tint, fandango rose and Princeton orange.

VOGUE FINDS NEW USES FOR PIGSKIN

The uses for pigskin leather have steadily been increased. So many new things have been fashioned of it, that the range in accessories mounts into numbers.

First of all, are pigskin shoes, and there is nothing that wears better than this leather, or looks any finer with sports clothes. It has been dyed to black, brown, navy . . . any color desired and is excellent in white shoes for summer.

The pigskin handbag is certainly a smart accessory, holds its shape exceptionally well, and has a grain that doesn't show markings which often mar the appearance of smooth leathers.

Pigskin gloves are the perfection of the sports world. In natural, white, brown, navy and black, they can be found to accompany any tweed, and do it in the grand manner.

Frothy Fabrics Are Used for New Dancing Frocks

Dancing frocks continue to add charm and color to the evening scene. Almost everything goes, but lately there seems to be a fresh interest in frothy fabrics rather than in the stiff moires, satins and lames that have obtained for so long. Many of the frocks planned for resort wear are masses of tulle, and there is more lace than has been the case for some seasons. Pleatings are generally seen when it comes to frocks done in a sheer medium. One frock of soft blue tulle embroidered in silver stars has the skirt entirely knife-pleated as is the peplum. Soft brown lace with touches of rose pink velvet makes another delightful frock for southern or cruise wear.

New Interpretations of Redingote Blossom Forth

The redingote has suddenly burst forth in a dozen new interpretations. Besides the classic slip of a coat open at the front to reveal the accompanying dress, there is the redingote which buttons from neck to hem, the dolman-sleeved, bloused back version and the collarless, raglan-sleeved type.

The dresses worn with them vary from the shirtwaist frock to frilly feminine models in prints, pastels or dark colors. One of the smartest of these new ensembles has a navy blue wool redingote edged with cartridge pleating, and a tailored dress in an interesting interlocked circle print. Worn with it is a navy straw Breton sailor, navy blue kid ties and gloves.

FLASHES FROM PARIS

White soutache trims many navy costumes.

Basque treatments are frequent.

Chiffon evening dresses are fashioned of layers in contrasting colors.

Berets of black net are shown in the new millinery collections.

Sheer redingotes for evening are fashioned with a picturesque flare.

Chic Parisiennes wear chamois or pigskin accessories with their spring costumes.

The emphasis is on amber as a new color.

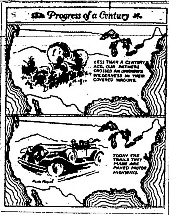
The Progress of a Century



LESS THAN A CENTURY AGO, OUR FATHERS CROSSED AN UNKNOWN WILDERNESS IN THEIR COVERED WAGONS.
TODAY THE TRAILS THEY MADE ARE PAVED MOTOR HIGHWAYS.

MOTORIST DOES MAN ON FLYING TRAPESE STUNT

LeSueur—A dog in the road gave one motorist a hair-raising experience at LeSueur recently, with the result that car and man did a regular "man on the flying trapeze stunt", taking a curve in the road via a few fence posts and a railroad track. The car was speeding south into LeSueur, when a pup ran across the pavement. The car struck the dog, and the driver applied his brakes, but the impact was so strong that the car was sidetracked enough to the west so it fairly flew down the steep grassy eight foot embankment toward the track, plowed through the fence, uprooted two or three posts, landed partly on the track still in upright position and continued on, taking a curve to the left which landed it again up onto the pavement where it parked on the shoulder. The driver somewhat unnerved by the hair-raising incident, and scarcely believing that he was unhurt and that his car was not damaged, got out on the pavement to do a bit of stretching. Anyone interested can go down to view the tracks which he made, for the story is too wild to be easily believed.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

In August 1932 the editor of Church Management published an advertising man's story of the great advertising campaign to be launched to promote the sale of liquor. The usual wet prophecy of the great resurge of prosperity which was sure to follow repeal was a conspicuous part of the story.

"You know what advertising has done for the cigarette business", said the ad-man, "It has popularized smoking so that it is now the ordinary procedure in the most refined homes. The advertising which made that possible is not a circumstance to what we are going to do for beer as soon as repeal is a fact.

"Already tentative arrangements have been made to spend millions of dollars in beer and whiskey advertising. My house is in on the deal, so I have my information direct. We are going to use every art known to advertising science to make beer a popular drink for men, women and youth."

The advertising salesman now was aglow with enthusiasm as he pictured the growing sales of liquor, re-employment of millions of idle men, factories a-buzz with activity, diminishing relief lines, hum of industry and the return of prosperity: respect for law; decrease in drunkenness; reduced taxes, balanced budget and "happy days here again."

He was right about the millions of money to be spent for advertising, and about the new and clever ways of enticing men, women, youth and even school children to drink.

But unemployment has increased; 1935 will record the greatest peace-time deficit in the nation's history; taxes have mounted to an all-time high; drunken men reel in the streets and boys and girls "pass out" in our night clubs; traffic accidents and fatalities in which drink is involved have shot upward like a rocket; the $4,880,000,000 voted to the president for relief and to artificially "make jobs" is but a fraction of the burden of debt that is fastened upon our children's children.

Every prophecy made by the wets has failed, except that millions spent in advertising does allure men, women and children to drink and be drunken.

Ice Used for Windows

The Eskimos use ice for glass windows.

The "Keystone State"

On the Fourth of July, 1776, the Continental congress convened in Philadelphia to vote upon adoption of the Declaration of Independence and thus decide whether the thirteen colonies should secede from the British empire. Before the Pennsylvania delegation arrived, notes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times, twelve states had voted, with the result that six were in favor of independence and six were opposed to separation from the mother country. When the Pennsylvanians came in, John Morton cast the deciding vote for independence. Thus Pennsylvania, by its vote, decided the great issue and rightly earned the popular name of "the Keystone State."

Consistency of Moss

Moss is any bryophytic plant of a certain class characterized by the small, leafy, often tufted, stems bearing the sex organs. Mosses are found in all parts of the world growing on earth or rocks, the bark of trees, or, rarely, in streams. Unlike the mold organisms, they do not generally require an organic host.

ALUMNI SUMMER REUNION AT N. W. SCHOOL–JUNE 29

Paul Engelstad Vice President of Group Sponsoring Program

The last Saturday in June, the 29th has become an event at the Northwest School of Agriculture not only in the minds of recent graduates but also among alumni of earlier years. It is the date of the alumni summer reunion. An increasing circle of alumni, former students and friends have been returning each year, thus taking advantage of the opportunity to renew school friendships and to review school and campus experiences.

Preparations for the annual summer gathering have been under way for some time, with Registrar J. W. Milnar in charge of preliminary arrangements. The annual baseball game between alumni and students will be one of the features of the afternoon program. This will be followed by the faculty-alumni kittenball game, which has also become an annual event. The alumni dance, which serves as a fitting climax to the day's activities will attract alumni over a wide area.

The annual business meeting of the alumni association and the meeting of the "A" Club will also be held during the day.

The 1935 reunion will be the occasion for special reunions of the classes of 1910, 1915, 1920, 1925, and 1930. Many members of these classes are planning to attend. For the Class of 1935 this will be their first meeting here, a perfect attendance is desired.

Officers of the alumni association, who will be in charge of the day's program, include: John Gronner, Underwood, president; Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls, vice president; Dr. Harry Hedin, East Grand Forks, secretary; and Archie Lee, Roseau, treasurer.

HUNGRY BURGLARS TAKE PIE, LEAVE CASH

Canby—J. E. Nelson, proprietor of a Canby restaurant, stood treat on a recent morning to a band of unknown, uninvited guests, as he found after they had made their stealthy departure. Some one pried open the front door of the cafe between midnight and one o'clock and took a lemon pie, a pumpkin pie, a quantity of rolls, candy, gum, peanuts and several cartons of cigarets, all amounting to about $25 worth. They did not molest the cash register, however. It was concluded that the bright light over the register kept them away. The cafe was closed at midnight and at one o'clock Night Policeman Oscar C. Snortum found the door open. Anyone whose favorite pie is lemon or pumpkin is subject to close scrutiny by local sleuths.

LIGHTNING RACES THROUGH FARM HOME

Ely—Nature was evidently in a playful mood last Thursday evening when lightning struck the farm home of John Houska, 8 miles south of Ely. Entering the house via incoming electric wires the bolt, in the form of a red ball of fire, raced crazily through the entire house and crashed out of the roof. Following the electric wiring the bolt blew out all the light sockets, fuses and radio tubes. Insulators were cracked to bits as occupants of the house watched the ball of fire race from room to room. Reaching the attic, the bolt jumped to a huge rafter, reducing it to splinters before bursting a hole in the roof to escape.

University Graduates Plan Get-Together on Campus Monday, June 17

Graduates of the University of Minnesota for at least fifty years past will gather on the campus Monday, June 17, to take part in the Alumni Day activities that will exercises that evening in Memorial Stadium.

E. B. Pierce, general secretary of The Alumni Association, has announced that the usual procedure of having special celebrations for the "five-year" classes will be followed, which means that all groups that graduated in years ending in "0" or "5" will celebrate. This however, does not exclude others.

The fifty year class will be that of 1885, which is expected to be represented by at least two members, Howard H. Abbott of Minneapolis and Albert Reed of Milwaukee.

Classes will hold luncheons to give classmates an opportunity to revive the old days, and the general Alumni Banquet will be served at 5 p. m. in The Minnesota Union. The hour is set early so that all activities may be completed in time for the alumni to attend the commencement exercises at 8 p. m. in the Stadium.

Time center of the stage will be held at the dinner by the twenty-five year class, that of 1910, and a member of that Class, Howard Y. Williams of St. Paul, has been named by his classmates to be toastmaster at the banquet.

"GOOD SAMARITAN" LEFT BESIDE ROAD

Echo—It doesn't pay to be a "Good Samaritan" to certain people, Gust Penske, farmer south of Echo, has found. Seeing a car take to the ditch near his home, he jumped in his own car and started for the scene of the accident. A neighbor beat Penske to the wreck, but seeing too many guns protruding from the ditched car, beat a hasty retreat and attempted to signal Penske to keep away. Two men were found pinned beneath the car and pulled from the wreckage only slightly injured, but as Penske prepared to move on, the men pulled pistols and ordered them out of their car. It took only a little persuasion to have them vacate, and the gunmen took the car and started off in the direction of Minneapolis. Penske's car was located later at Hanley Falls. It is thought that the men were those who robbed a bank at Pukwana, South Dakota, and at LeMars, Iowa, the week before.

HORSES LIP PIERCED BY A STRAY BULLET

Bertha—A stray bullet from some sportsman's gun pierced the lip of a plow horse on the Eleanore Sahli farm two and a half miles southwest of Bertha. Ben Volkman was driving the team behind the plow, when one of the horses suddenly halted and became very nervous. Examination disclosed that the horse's lower lip near the jaw bone had a bullet wound in it big enough to thrust a finger through. Volkman stated that he heard no gunshot at the time and apparently the bullet had traveled a considerable distance. Evidently the hunter was in a patch of woods and had shot into the air at a crow. It is thought that the shot glanced into the field where Volkman was working.

"Kremlin" Means Citadel

The word "kremlin" means a citadel. It does not always refer to the famous Moscow kremlin. There are other noted battlements in Russia, for instance, the kremlin at Gorki, formerly Nizhni Novgorod.

STATE COLLECTS FROM 120 TAX AND LICENSE SOURCES

Minnesota Ranks Eleventh in Taxes, Eighteenth in Population

Minnesota has 28 tax sources upon which levies are made. In addition to this, there are 93 different kinds of fee and license taxes, making a total of 120 different places to get money for public purposes. Few states in the Union can equal this record for numerous places to tax; J. P. McDonnell, president of Minnesota Taxpayers Assn., declared in a talk today.

As a producer of revenue, however, general property leads in the long parade. The local units in Minnesota for the fiscal year ending in 1934 reached a total of $139,113,490. The amount of this total produced by taxes on general property was $109,293,338, while other sources contributed about $30,000,000. The Federal Government collected $50,121,101 in Minnesota last year, making total tax collections of $182,000,000, or $73 for every man, woman and child in the state.

In a comparison of the tax systems in the various states, one of the first things that impresses the tax student is that Minnesota has one of the most complicated systems in the country, with more tax sources and more fee and license taxes than most of the states. While we rank 18th in population, only eleven states collect more in state and local taxes than does Minnesota, McDonnell pointed out.

Size of Yellowstone Park

Yellowstone national park is chiefly in the northwest part of Wyoming with narrow adjacent strips in Montana and Idaho. It covers a surface as the park proper about 62 miles in length, from north to south and about 54 miles in width, with an actual area of 3,350 square miles. To this region, as originally circumscribed, a forest preserve of some 2,000 square miles has been added on the east and south, giving a full area to the park of somewhat over 5,500 square miles.

Findings of Dr. Jenks

In concluding his discussion of the ivory finds near Arvilla, N. D., Dr. Jenks reveals that his deductions are inconclusive. Apparently, much more information must be obtained before the culture that is indicated by these ivory artifacts can be cataloged definitely. The university savants' crews found interesting artifacts in other parts of the state as the report shows:

"Thus we had substantial evidence to support Mr. Kennedy's claim of ivory artifacts in deep pit burials in what geological surveys show to be Campbell beach sand and gravel of glacial Lake Agassiz. Evidently we were dealing with man who predated any living tribes of the area. The culture might be, and suggestively was, relatively old. Both the known sets of burial ivory were found on the west Campbell beach. Could it be that those people who made utilitarian and aesthetic artifacts of ivory were as old as extinct glacial Lake Agassiz when it extended from its western Campbell beach in North Dakota to its eastern Campbell beach in Minnesota? That question raised the problem of whether ivory in deep burial pits was to be found in Minnesota.

"In the summer of 1934, with a party of six students, we started to work on that problem in Traverse county. To make clear our work, I must note that the southern tip of glacial Lake Agassiz, from which it was drained by the forerunner of the Minnesota river, was always confined, both to the east and to the west, by high bluffs, which still impound the fast vanishing waters of Lake Traverse. Even when Lake Agassiz was at its greatest expanse—when it laid down its Herman beaches, both to the east and to the west—it was confined near its outlet within the present high bluffs just mentioned. Thus, if the shores of Agassiz were inhabited, those high bluffs were available throughout the life of the lake.

"We obtained permission to dig certain mounds on the eastern high bluff. In one of them, where it had been much disturbed by 'pot-hunters,' we found fragmentary ivory arm bands. We also found the undisturbed buried skeleton of a youth of about 14 years. Around each lower arm were two arm bands; they were made of bone or antler in excellent imitation of ivory. We then had ivory burial artifacts on the Minnesota or eastern shore of glacial Lake Agassiz, but they were not in deep burial pits.

"We moved northward into Polk county, and there dug three mounds on the Campbell beach. All three were typical of the culture we sought—all were sterile, and beneath all we found deep pits with multiple burials. In one we found the burial of a small child with imitation ivory beads which had evidently been around its neck. We thus have deep pit burials beneath sterile mounds on the eastern Campbell beach of glacial Lake Agassiz as well as on the western beach; and we also have burial ivory on the eastern shore as well as the western shore of the lake. In consequence, we are of the opinion that the ivory users lived on both the western and the eastern shores of glacial Lake Agassiz while that lake was in its Campbell beach stage, some eight to nine thousand years ago. Still, I wish specifically to state that we have not as yet completely solved the ivory problem. We have in mind future field researches which it is believed will point toward an answer more conclusive than the present opinion.

"Where did those early people get the ivory? We do not know, but the ivory we found is elephant ivory and not walrus ivory. The intimate problem about the ivory is whether there is now available an expert who can determine whether artifacts of mammoth ivory were worked as fossil or as living ivory. I believe, however, that some of the many skeletons we obtained in excavating the graves of ivory users are those of men who not only saw the mammoth but who successfully hunted it, probably for flesh food as well as for ivory, during the Campbell stage of glacial Lake Agassiz. The human skeletons have not yet been studied.

"Thus, we have visualized an early and quite unfamiliar pageantry of culture during a time when the surface of the upper lakes region was very different from what it is now.

"In August, 1932, with a student party of six, we dug a village site on the farm of William Schwacker on the southern shore of Black Duck lake in Beltrami county. We anticipated standard Siouan culture. We found, however, among other things, pottery of the type which in Wisconsin and New York state is being assigned to Algonkin speaking peoples, and which Holmes, it now appears with more propriety, had earlier called 'araic northern.' So far we have named the three bowls found 'in situ' each on its fireplace and the thousands of potsherds dug from this site simply 'Black Duck pottery', a working name for our local use. Even with data of archaic pottery from the other Minnesota sites, we are not yet ready to adopt any name for this culture more definitive than 'Mississippi' with its basic pottery culture.

"From many Minnesota sites we have similar potsherds, but those from Black Duck show the best workmanship; among them are many with very beautiful impression designs. It is our opinion that the people at Black Duck were Siouan and not Algonkin, though the skeletal material has not yet been studied. The human bones are badly broken, for the site was plowed over and dug into the owner of the land. Reconstruction now going on will restore two or three crania for measurement. The Black Duck data present not only a local problem, but a problem with ramifications extending eastward into Wisconsin and New York. An aspect of it is whether the archaeologist may not sometimes err in thinking of types of material culture as being too closely linked with types of language. For instance, may not distinctly Algonkin types of pottery sometimes have been made by Siouan-speaking peoples?

"In further pursuit of Minnesota pottery culture, in the summer of 1933 with a party of five students we dug our most interesting mound up to that date. We have listed it as 'Laurel mound number four.' It was on the farm of Mr. Fred Smith at Laurel in Koochiching county. The mound was only two rods from the southern bank of the Rainy river, which forms part of the international boundary with its northern bank in Canada. It is a peripheral mound for the United States. It was about fifty feet in diameter and four and one-half feet high and was extremely rich in human burials. On five succeeding levels within the mound large numbers of typical Siouan bundle burials had been made. On three of the five levels there were also primary burials—skeletons with their artifacts—including complete, though broken, pots. Among those pots were some most distinctly of the so-called Algonkin type with tapering or conoidal bottoms."

We shall return to this archaeological theme later in this series.

"More Money"

The net money that you will receive from the livestock marketed at the Northern Packing Company will be greater than it is possible for you to get marketing at distant livestock markets, and you don't have to have a car load, or even a truck load to market here. You get full value for a single animal, or for any number you care to market; and you will realize more than you could elsewhere. There is a shortage or livestock now. We need your hogs and cattle. Have you tried this market lately?

Our market is especially attractive to those having choice hogs for sale —animals that will go into SWEET CLOVER PRODUCTS.

Hard surfaced highways make this your natural market if you live within 50 to 100 miles from Grand Forks, and west of us, even up to 200 to 300 miles, you will realize more here than elsewhere.

COUNCIL TAKES STEPS TO SEEK FEDERAL GRANT

Instructs Officials Saturday to Make Necessary Application

MAYOR FRANK RINKEL CONFERS WITH CAREY

Council Engages Engineer to Prepare Plans and Specifications

Acting on the authority given it by the affirmative vote in the special city election Tuesday, May 28, the city council in a special session Saturday afternoon instructed the proper officials to proceed at once with the completion of all papers in connection with an application for a federal loan and grant to finance the purchase of a new Diesel unit for the municipal power plant.

At the same time the council engaged the services of W. E. Skinner, Minneapolis consulting engineer, to make recommendations as to the proper size of unit to buy, to supply cost estimates and to prepare plans and specifications preliminary to advertising for bids. Mr. Skinner served the city in a similar capacity at the time the present McIntosh & Seymour unit was purchased in 1930.

Mayor Frank Rinkel and Ole Legvold, superintendent of the power plant, returned Friday evening from St. Paul where they conferred with W. N. Carey, acting state director for the public works administration. From him they obtained the first set of application blanks to be issued in the state under the federal works program now being developed.

Mr. Carey informed the local men that the engagement of the services of a consulting engineer was one of the preliminary steps necessary to take in qualifying for a grant. He also outlined the plans of the federal government under which outright grants are made up to 45 per cent of a project and loans are made on a three per cent interest basis.

Mr. Skinner spent Saturday in the city and returned Wednesday to begin the work of preparing plans and specifications of the unit to be purchased, working in cooperation with Superintendent Legvold.

250 PRESENT AT 4-H FIELD MEET HELD WEDNESDAY

Northfield Club of North Wins the Kittenball Championship

In spite of unseasonably cool weather, 250 county 4-H club members and their families participated in their annual picnic and field meet at the O. N. Olson farm east of this city.

The Northfield club of North township won the kittenball championship by defeating St. Hilaire in the final game 10 to 3. In earlier games Silverton won from Hazel 5 to 3, St. Hilaire defeated Highlanding 15 to 0, and Northfield defeated Silverton 5 to 3. The St. Hilaire group won the girls' kittenball title.

June Marcus won the girls' kittenball throw, while Walter Odegaard won for the boys, with Woodrow Almquist second and Arnold Gunderson third. Clara Danielson won the 75 yard dash for girls, with Dorothy Johnson second and Violet Anderson third.

J. G. Messenger, district ERA athletic director, was in charge of the sports events.

Local Wool Pool Takes in 50,000 lbs. to Date

With sheep shearing delayed by unseasonably cold weather, deliveries of wool to the local concentration point have come in slowly to date, a total of 50,000 pounds having been received up to Wednesday. The first carload was loaded yesterday for shipment to Boston. Hans Anton, warehouse foreman, said that most of the wool is grading higher this year than a year ago.

Arthur Douville Named to Take Examinations for West Point Academy

Seven candidates for admission to the naval academy and for the military academy were designated last week by Representative R. T. Buckler today to take the June entrance examinations, it was announced in Washington.

Buckler has two appointments open at each institution. Only one candidate, Arthur Douville of Thief River Falls, signified a desire to enter West Point from his district, hence he was designated as a principal for one of the two appointments to that institution. Designation of another candidate from the district awaits further applications.

Those designated for the two naval academy appointments were: James E. Kelleher, East Grand Forks, and Loren Kiser, Crookston, principals. Alternates for Kelleher were Charles A. Leathart, Breckenridge, first; Jerome M. Havel, Thief River Falls, second and Donald Horn, Breckenridge, third.

Alternates for Kiser were John J. Hardy, Mahnomen, first and John Coryell, Dilworth, second.

The naval examinations will be the second for candidates from Buckler's district due to failure to pass requirements.

EIGHTH GRADERS GET DIPLOMAS IN EXERCISES MAY 31

Dr. A. E. Jacobson Addresses 97 Graduates at Auditorium

In the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends 97 members of the eighth grade at Central school received diplomas at graduation exercises in the Auditorium Friday morning. Miss Lyda Batten, principal of the school was in charge of the program.

Dr. A. E. Jacobson, the speaker of the occasion, discussed "The Gospel According to You", urging the graduates to seek the truth and to be thoughtful of others, and not to indulge in self-pity. He said they should build something within themselves to aid in meeting the situations of life.

Helen Granum played the processional march, while Ralph Gustafson gave the address of welcome and Delores Fremeth gave the farewell address. June Yatesund supplied a reading, and songs were presented by the boys' glee club and the eighth grade chorus.

S. P. Orwoll, commander of the American Legion post, conferred the Legion citizenship award on Irvin Wilson, and Mrs. B. O. Norby presented the auxiliary award to Marian Paulet. Dorothy Roberge received the Frances Larson spelling award. Supt. Morris Bye conferred the diplomas.

BRYNGELSON GIVES STIMULATING TALK

Speaker Cites Methods of Overcoming Feeling of Inferiority

In the presence of a crowded Auditorium Friday evening, 130 members of the senior class of Lincoln high school, garbed in cap and gown, received diplomas signifying the successful completion of their high school career. At the same time 13 members of the teacher training department were awarded certificates entitling them to teach in the rural schools.

The graduates marched to the stage to the music of the processional march played by the Lincoln high school band under the direction of S. P. Orwoll. Harriet Jung and Dorothy F. Rau, highest ranking students, gave respectively the salutatory and valedictory, and two numbers were presented by the Lincoln high school chorus under the direction of Miss Erma Springen.

Dr. Bryng Bryngelson of the University of Minnesota delivered a thought-provoking address on "America—The Newer Commonwealth". He devoted much of his discussion to the feeling of inferiority from which human beings suffer, ascribing it in part to the long period of dependence by young people on their parents, carrying with it a feeling of repression that continues thru adult life. This feeling, he said, is the cause of gossip, pointing out that if people felt secure they would not talk about others. It is also the cause of a conceited attitude, he said, from which comes the expression of a feeling of inferiority.

As means of remedying the condition, the speaker advised his hearers to use their mental machinery to check their weaknesses; to admit their weaknesses, thus winning respect as being a good sport; and to learn to laugh at themselves rather than to have others laugh first.

W. G. Claffy, high school principal, presented the class, and E. M. Bennes, president of the board of education, conferred the diplomas. Miss Alice Stapleton, head of the teacher training department presented her graduates and Supt. Morris Bye conferred the teachers' certificates.

B. O. Norby of the local American Legion post presented the Legion citizenship award to Kendall Gustafson, and Mrs. Ralph Woolhouse conferred the auxiliary award on Kathleen Monsebroten. Mr. Bye presented scholarships in various colleges to Dorothy Rau and Donald Hermanson.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION TUESDAY NIGHT

Holds Hearing on Petition for Abatement of Property on 4th St.

Meeting in a brief session Tuesday evening, the city council conducted a hearing involving the property of Ben Bredeson and Godfrey Carlson on West Fourth st. A group of residents of the neighborhood had petitioned to have the buildings condemned on the ground that they were unsightly and that livestock had been kept there.

Gunder Legvold, one of the petitioners, informed the council that he intended to erect a residence on adjoining property if the premises were put in proper condition. Mr. Bredeson and Mr. Carlson, who were present at the hearing stated that they kept no cattle or chickens.

After considering the matter it was agreed that members of the council should make a personal inspection of the premises before taking action at the regular meeting next Tuesday evening.

CITY REPRESENTED AT CONSERVATION MEETING IN FARGO

Local Men Participate in Conference to Discuss Water Projects

Demands that all agencies polluting the Red river of the North discontinue the practice at once or provide adequate treatment plants and proposals for immediate action on the Lake Traverse dam project and a general conservation project for the entire Red river drainage area, both as all-federal projects, were outstanding results of the water conference in Fargo Monday.

Present in the group of more than 200 delegates from Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Manitoba were Joseph Baugh of the district ERA engineer's office here, Senator E. L. Tungseth, Morris Bye and Walter H. Quist.

H. H. Barrows, member of the water planning committee of the national resources board warned it is an almost hopeless procedure to go to Washington and expect to get federal aid on the ground this is some "special" or "exceptional" need and that demands should receive special consideration.

He urged that the Red river area be treated and considered in one comprehensive plan. He suggested that application be made for a topographical survey of all parts of the area not yet so mapped.

On motion of M. O. Ryan, secretary of the North Dakota planning board, the conference went on record as requesting Acting Gov. Walter Welford of North Dakota to perpetuate the advisory committee of the conference.

House of David Team Downs Locals 9 to 5

1400 Fans Wednesday Night See Game Played Under Flood Lights

Elmer Dean, older brother of the famous Daffy and Dizzy Dean, last night made his first appearance in this city when the House of David baseball team defeated the local club by a 9 to 5 score. The game was played under flood-lights.

The Davids displayed a well balanced team in the field but excelled in hitting, every man being a powerful hitter. The game opened with neither team scoring in the first inning, while each team scored one run in the second. The Davids scored the first run on a triple by Scott and a single by Dorn while the locals run was the result of a single and two errors. The visitors scored three more runs in the third on singles by Mauider, Uhas and Schneider and errors by Houden and Heiberg. The Dekkomen scored one run on singles by Groningen and Mandy Thordal.

Neither team scored again until the fifth when the whiskered men scored two more runs on a double by Mollen and a triple by Uhas. Baumgartner then took the mound for the home team and walked two men while Scott got a single and Wright a double to account for two more runs. In the eighth inning the Davids scored their final run when Mauider walked and [illegible] home by Scott's single. The locals scored another run in the seventh when H. Thordal reached first on Mauider's error and tallied on Hrevick's single. In the ninth inning Elmer Dean went on the mound for the whiskered men and allowed two runs on three errors and a walk to end the game.

This was the first game ever to be played under lights in this city and caused the local club to misjudge the ball, being unaccustomed to night play.

There was no particular star for the Dekko team while Scott was the big gun for the Davids, getting three hits in five times at bat, including a long three bagger to left field. Miller, the travelers pitcher, displayed a nice brand of pitching to keep the home team under control at all times.

A crowd of about fourteen hundred fans braved the cool weather to see the whiskered boys and were well repaid for their chills. There will be no home game here Sunday as the team plays at Park Rapids but they will play at home on June 16th with a team to be announced next week.

FINE WEATHER FOR MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

Large Gathering at Rites Thursday in Municipal Auditorium

PROCESSION GOES TO GREENWOOD CEMETERY

Dr. Weltzen Urges Citizens to Remember Sacrifices of Fallen Heroes

Altho the ideal weather prevailing on Memorial day last Thursday lured a large number of local residents to various lake resorts, more than the usual number participated in the Memorial day observance in the Auditorium, followed by a procession to Greenwood cemetery.

Dr. Frederick Weltzen of the University of North Dakota, the speaker of the day, was introduced by Dr. A. E. Jacobson, chairman, and spoke on the topic "Old Battles and New". Citing our obligation to those who gave their lives for their country, he said citizens should commemorate their sacrifices to remove the year by waging war on the enemies of the country, among which he mentioned demagogues, the criminal class, the spirit of greed and opponents of equality of opportunity as supplied by the public school system.

The program opened with the playing of "America" by the municipal band, followed by the invocation by Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, a reading by Kathleen Monsebroten and a selection by the Woman's club chorus directed by Mrs. H. L. Sjogren and accompanied by Mrs. Doris Halvorson Pope. The program closed with the sounding of taps and benediction.

Immediately following the Auditorium exercises a procession was formed which proceeded to the cemetery, stopping at the bridge en route to drop a wreath in the river in commemoration of the sailor dead. Included in the line of march were former service men, gold star mothers, municipal band, auxiliary drum corps and other auxiliary members, Boy Scouts and Brownies.

Graves of all deceased veterans in the county numbering approximately 70, were decorated for the occasion.

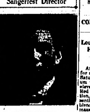
VALLEY SINGERS GROUP IN GRAND CONCERT IN CITY SATURDAY NIGHT

Sangerfest Director



LOUIS WAAG

Of East Grand Forks, director-in-chief of the grand chorus which will present a program at the Auditorium Saturday evening as a feature of the convention of the Red River Valley Singers association.

Chorus of 125, Representing 8 Cities, Join in Massed Performance Here

CONCERT TO BE HELD AT THE AUDITORIUM

Louis Waag, East Grand Forks, Director; Henry Houglum Soloist

An outstanding treat is in store for music lovers of this community Saturday evening in the Auditorium when, as the climax of the eleventh biennial convention of the Red River Valley Singers association, eight choruses, each representing a different community, will blend their voices, 125 in all, in a massed chorus featuring a grand concert beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

The Brage chorus of Thief River Falls is acting as host to the convention, and Dr. J. N. Nesse is president of the valley association. Other groups participating in the program will include the Norden chorus of Devils Lake, the Orpheus of Fargo, Bjarne of Grand Forks, Norona of Petersburg, N. D. Grieg of Dahlen, Kjerulf of Hatton and the Norwegian glee club of Winnipeg.

Musical accompaniment for the concert will be supplied by a 17-piece orchestra made up of Grand Forks musicians, and Louis Waag of East Grand Forks will serve as director-in-chief, with Henry Houglum of Moorhead as soloist and Mrs. Mildred Engen Hamilton as accompanist.

Each of the choruses has been practicing in recent months on the same group of selections which will be rendered in the concert Saturday, so that all of the singers are thoroly familiar with the program. To insure their being letter-perfect a general rehearsal will be conducted Saturday afternoon preceding the concert.

The convention will open Saturday morning with the registration of visiting members of the association, which will be in charge of Bernhard Knudsen, Lars Bakke and Mrs. Paul Landgren. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Auditorium Mayor Frank Rinkel will welcome the gathering to the city, and Dr. Nesse, president of the group, will respond, after which the Brage chorus, directed by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, will render a welcoming song.

Following the evening concert a buffet lunch will be served to members and invited guests at the Sons of Norway hall. Election of officers for the coming two years and transaction of other business will come up for consideration at a meeting Sunday morning in the hall.

Numbers to be presented on the program Saturday evening follow:

MERCURY SLUMPS WEDNESDAY TO 33 ABOVE ZERO MARK

Snow Reported North of Here; Substantial Rains Fall Locally

Local residents experienced a wide variety of weather during the past week, culminating Wednesday morning in a drop of the mercury to 33 above zero, establishing a new low mark for June in recent years. Cloudy weather prevailed when the low point was reached, and no frost damage has been reported locally. A low of 34 above was noted Tuesday morning by B. F. Umland, local observer.

The cold weather followed after light rains that started Saturday night and continued until Tuesday, bringing much needed moisture for late seeded crops in this section.

From Warroad and other points near the Canadian border Tuesday came reports of a substantial snowfall that was sufficiently heavy to supply ammunition for snowball fights by the children.

SOCIAL ITEMS

W. C. T. U. Meeting

The June meeting of the local unit of the W. C. T. U. will be held in the Civic and Commerce rooms Friday afternoon at three o'clock. The hostesses will be the Mesdames C. Hillard, S. Benson, and E. Silver Creek Ladies Aid

The Silver Creek ladies aid will meet next Sunday afternoon, June 9, at the M. Leiran home. Lunch will be served. Everybody welcome.

Legion Auxiliary Backs Crippled Children Drive

Justice for the cripple will be the rallying cry of the Minnesota Department of the American Auxiliary in an educational campaign contemplated to acquaint the state with the work of the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children.

This announcement was made by Mrs. M. E. Withrow, of International Falls, state president of the Legion Auxiliary, who pointed out that the service of the association fits in with the program of the auxiliary.

The campaign will be held the week of June 16th to 22nd. Other organizations throughout the state will be invited to participate in making that period Crippled Children's Week.

In discussing plans for the effort, Mrs. Withrow said: "The Minnesota Association for Crippled Children is the only statewide organization of its kind. It deserves the support of all citizens for the work that it is doing in reaching a class of handicapped people who are not taken care of by any other organization."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

LEAVE WORLD BETTER—

"The only glory in life is to leave the world better for having been in it—intoxicating drinks will not help us to do that."—Sir Wilfred Grenfell.

DOES NOT PAY—

"For every dollar of whiskey revenue received we have lost $20 in the loss of legitimate trade and the cost of damage done to society."—Roger Babson.

A DEGRADING INFLUENCE

"Drinking is associated with low ideals of social duty and responsibility. It numbs the intellectual faculties. It makes its victims content with miserable conditions and surroundings, and destroys the desire for culture and refinement."—Lord Snowdon.

For Your Cook Book

Almost everyone likes gingerbread—just plain gingerbread, spicy and hot or cold. So if you serve gingerbread plus the following delicious variations you are bound to meet with success.

First of all you must have a good recipe—the one following is very good indeed, and with it as a basis you may go on to create any number of delightful surprise desserts.

Gingerbread

- ½ cup shortening
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 cup molasses
- 1 egg
- 2 cups plus 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon soda
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon each of ginger and cinnamon
- 1 cup boiling water

Cream shortening, add sugar and cream together thoroughly. Add the egg well beaten and then the molasses. Sift flour, soda, salt and spices together and add to the first mixture alternately with the boiling water. Mix well. Pour into a deep pan lined with greased paper—or at least the bottom of the pan lined. Bake about 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

Variations

Two layers of warm gingerbread with whipped cream and sliced bananas between and on top make gingerbread shortcake. You may split the gingerbread and fill with banana cream filling if you wish. This is made by beating 1 banana mashed, 1 unbeaten egg white and ½ cup sugar until very light and fluffy.

Stewed apricots with the juice slightly thickened may also be used for a filling.

One cup crushed pineapple, drained, is also a perfect filling for spicy gingerbread.

Serve gingerbread topped with ½ cup whipped cream to which has been added ½ to ¾ package soft cream cheese.

LEAVES CAR OUTSIDE BEAR CHEWS IT UP!

Isle—Earl Beeler left his Model T Ford sitting out in the farmyard recently, alone and unprotected. When he got up in the morning he found that the poor refenceless thing had been attacked by a bear, during the night, and had its seat all chewed to pieces. Earl figures that he must have dropped some peanuts down behind the cushions sometime, and that the bear was after them, as he couldn't think of anything his Ford had done to offend the bear.

W. C. T. U. AWARDS ANNOUNCED AT END OF SCHOOL TERM

Winners of Awards Are Listed by Miss Minnie S. Leavitt

A series of W. C. T. U. awards for temperance work accomplished in the local schools during the past year were announced at the close of the term last week by Miss Minnie S. Leavitt, director of temperance instruction.

Variety of Courses is Offered in CMTC Camps During Summer

In addition to infantry training, cavalry and field artillery training have been made available to applicants for the Citizens' Military Training Camps in the seventh corps area this year. The seventh corps area consists of the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota, Missouri, and Arkansas.

All applicants in the seventh corps area who desire cavalry training will be sent to Fort Des Moines, Iowa; they will have to agree to pay their own way to that camp and accept as transportation allowance five cents per mile only for the distance from their homes to the camps to which their states and counties are assigned. This will also apply to the return journey. Applicants who wish field artillery training will be sent to the camp at Fort Snelling under the same conditions. The camp at Fort Snelling opens July 3d and the camp at Fort Des Moines July 10.

All camps will be held for thirty days and young men between the ages of 17 and 24 are eligible for the basic, or first-year, course. Food, uniforms, lodging, laundry service, and medical care are furnished in addition to the travel allowance. Dr. Edward Bratrud, Pennington county chairman is receiving applications.

First Railroad in Ohio

The first railroad within Ohio, the old Mad River & Lake Erie, required 12 years to complete, from 1836 to 1848. Every pound of its iron came from England and cost $100 per ton.

Crash Jacket

Natural colored crash makes an interesting open-front jacket with flaring box pleats in the back. It also trims the V-back neckline of the short sleeved dress of navy wool crepe. The navy felt hat is banded with pigskin.

Growing With Your Child

What About "Series" of Books?

By the Institute of Child Welfare, University of Minnesota

Parents frequently inquire about the advisability of letting their children read series of books. Of course there are series and series, of all degrees and quality. The principal reason for a feeling of doubt about stories employing same characters over and over is that the author often relies on the impression created by their first appearance. Many children will read almost anything they can get their hands on, and unless they have been made discriminating they will wade through story after story, each of which is practically a replica of the foregoing one. Even though there may be many series of books which are innocuous, as far as leaving any poor imprint upon the child's moral nature, there are too many good books available for a child to waste his or her time on material that is flimsy, or vapid, or unprofitable.

A high school English teacher said, after years of observation, that she could tell after a week's contact with pupils whether they were accustomed to good reading at home, and had minds well stored for their age. It is a sad loss to be reading book after book about "Rover Boys" when one might be roving to some purpose with Stevenson or Hudson, Dumas, Jules Verne, or du Chaillu. The girl who immerses herself in a series which takes the heroine to school, to the farm, and so on through an interminable list of titles, is missing an opportunity to make the acquaintance of a whole circle of delightful friends. "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "Anne of Green Gables" are the two most popular books especially written for young girls, but "The Children of the New Forest" (F. Marryat) and "The Bastable Children" (E. Nesbit) are almost equally nice to get acquainted with, while "Downright Dencie" (C. Snedeker), "Emmeline" (E. Singmaster), the girls of "Six to Sixteen" (J. H. Ewing), and "The Borrowed Sister (F. O. White) are all friends who will be remembered.

Lucy Fitch Perkins "Twin" books are an outstanding example of the series at its best. Because the Twins come from many lands, there are accounts of quaint customs and manners that American children greatly enjoy.

Following are a few books greatly enjoyed by both boys and girls who are about the age to read stories in series:

- The Story of a Bad Boy, T. B. Aldrich
- The Real Diary of a Real Boy, H. A. Shute
- Gulliver's Travels, J. Swift
- Paul Bunyan and His Great Blue Ox, W. Wadsworth
- Jan of the Windmill, J. H. Ewing
- Otto of the Silver Hand, H. Pyle
- Rudi of the Toll Gate, Hill & Maxwell
- Smoky, the Cow Horse, W. James
- Gay Neck the Pigeon, D. J. Mukerji
- Floating Island, A. Parrish
- Bambi, F. Salten
- The Magic Forest, S. E. White
- Tarka the Otter, H. Williamson
- Red Heifer, F. D. Davidson
- Anything Can Happen on the River, Carol Brink

WOMEN'S CAMP AT N. W. SCHOOL SET FOR JUNE 10 TO 13

Lectures and Demonstrations Feature Annual Event at Crookston

Ten years ago the first Women's Camp or short course was held on the Northwest School campus. The undertaking was so successful that the camp idea has been continued down through the years. During the week of June 10 to 13, the women of Northwestern Minnesota are being invited to attend the tenth annual short course and reunion of campers. Several ladies have attended every session during the past decade, while a considerable number have attended the majority of the meetings.

The first meeting will be in the nature of a reunion which will be held in the school library Monday evening, June 10. The presiding officer will be Mrs. A. Lindstrom, Waubun, president of the organization. Other officers include: Mrs. Jay Payne, Goodridge, vice president; Mrs. Paul Hansen, Crookston, secretary; Mrs. Emma Wright, Middle River, treasurer, and Mrs. Gus Gustafson, Crookston, sargeant-at-arms.

The program each morning will open with the "Thought for the Day" with Mrs. E. E. Green, Crookston, scheduled Tuesday morning; Mrs. Owen Weckwerth, Hazel, Wednesday; and Mrs. Emil Peterson, Middle River, Thursday.

Feature lectures and demonstrations on Tuesday include "The Science of Seeing" and "Stimulating the Growth of Plants by the Use of Artificial Light and Garden Lighting" by C. T. Bremicker, Minneapolis; "Bread and Various Types of Rolls" by Miss Niel Hansen, Home demonstrator, Minneapolis, and "Color Selections in Redecorating the Home" by A. M. Foker.

The following day Miss Niel Hansen will present "Cake Making" and "Desserts and Other Foods." Other features of Wednesday's program will include "Washington Experiences" by Mrs. A. A. Dowell; "Garden Flowers and Shrubs" T. M. McCall, station horticulturist, and "Poultry Problems" by A. M. Pilkey, station poultryman.

Miss Julia O. Newton, state home demonstration agent, will be the principal speaker Thursday. She will be followed by Miss Retta Bede who will give a salad demonstration. A special feature of this program will be a piano duo by Mrs. E. W. Eagle, Crookston, and R. S. Dunham, of the station staff.

WHO KILLED BIG BAD WOLF?

Isle—An argument over whether a dog or a man killed a wolf, and consequently which is entitled to the bounty of $15, has developed near Isle. Alvin Flasch, employed by Jack Habisch, Redtop farmer, went out with a club and Habish's dog and killed a wolf. Alvin claims he killed the wolf and should get the bounty. Habisch says the dog killed it, with the assistance of Habisch's employee, Flasch. Under the later case, Habisch would be entitled to the bounty. The argument will be settled in district court, but it looks as though they'll have to get an interpreter and put the dog on the stand. Or maybe an autopsy on the dead wolf would help.

Don't Use Cathartics for Stomach Pain, Says State Medical Group

To obtain best result, cathartics, like the artist's colors, need to be "mixed with brains". This is the opinion expressed by the Educational Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association, which urges upon everybody extreme caution in their use.

There are a number of types of cathartics, each of which has a different effect. Each has its own use and even though they are among the simplest of medicaments, proper use of cathartics requires training and skill, the committee points out.

Cathartics have been used from time immemorial. In the past they held a much greater sway over the practice of medicine than they do today however, but their use by the general public is still excessive. The committee states emphatically that cathartics may be harmful and under certain conditions they become dangerous.

Foremost among these should be listed abdominal pain. In the presence of abdominal pain, cathartics should be forbidden. Such pain may mean inflamation and the prime necessity is rest. Cathartics interfere with rest, aggravate the pain and may cause dissemination of the infection throughout the abdominal cavity as occurs only too often when physics are used in acute appendicitis. In the case of obstructions there are other measures much safer than cathartics.

The wide variety of laxatives and purgatives on the market including the indigestible oils, agar, castor oil, the saline purgatives or salts, calomel, and the natural group, cascara, senna, rhubarb and aloe, all have their place in medicine and all have a distinct use but they must be used properly. Promiscuous use of any one of them may be exceedingly dangerous.

TWO EGGS IN ONE FOUND AT BAGLEY

Bagley.—Following the usual spring "mammoth egg" stories, comes one from Bagley that may not be about the largest egg, but having claims to being the strangest one. A member of the family started to fry eggs for breakfast recently. The egg in question was just one of a bunch, and not a bit different from outside appearances. It was taken up, cracked, and dropped in the pan. But it made an odd sound when it dropped, and upon investigation it was found that inside this egg had been another, smaller egg, about the size of a walnut, with a perfectly good shell.

Your Watch Can Now be Repaired By Us in ONE-HALF to ONE-THIRD The Usual Time

With This New Time Micrometer

This new scientific instrument enables us to restore your watch to first-class condition in one-half to one-third the usual time. Regulating a watch, which heretofore has been a slow process requiring several days, and even weeks, can now be done quickly and more accurately.

If your watch is in good mechanical order, but needs regulating only, we will be glad to do this free of charge while you wait. You will hear the tick of your watch clearly magnified and compared with that of the master watch.

Every watch repaired by us is given a real factory job. Every part of the movement is completely disassembled and all worn parts replaced... the entire watch rebuilt, refinished and restored to factory condition. We promise you the price will be reasonable and the work fully guaranteed.

HOME PLANTER'S NOOK

The What, When and How of flowers, lawns, and shrubbery, by L. Sando and L. E. Longley, Division of Horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul

Peonies in the Home Garden

The peony, like the iris, is easy to grow, being extremely hardy in our state and usually needing little care after it is planted.

Now is a good time to think about the kinds to plant next fall. They will be in full bloom soon and you can look over all the varieties grown in your vicinity. There are peonies for every pocketbook. Prices range from 25 cents to several dollars. But some very good sorts can be had for a small price. The following varieties, mostly rather old, well known ones, would start the beginner at a very low cost: Festiva Maxima and Couronne d' Or for white, Therese for light pink, Mme. Jules Elie in medium pink, Felix Crousse in light red, and Philip Rivoire for dark red. These are all high class peonies, almost or fully as good as any new introductions. If each year a new sort or two can be added, one will soon have a sizable collection of good peonies.

Every one should have at least one plant of the fern-leaved peony, Paeonia tenuifolia. This has very fine, fern-like leaves and bloom at least 2 weeks before other peonies. There is a single sort of this type and also a semi-double form. Its place is really in the perennial border. As a group, peonies are too coarse and massive for the perennial border, though an occasional plant may be set there. The most of them had better be put in a special peony garden.

Peonies may be planted in the spring, but most growers recommend fall planting. Plant in a good rich garden soil. Any manure used should be well decayed and should not come in contact with the roots. Be sure the ground is well spaded to a depth of at least a foot. If you do not use barnyard manure, work well into the soil about 30 or 40 pounds per 1000 square feet of a fertilizer with a formula of approximately 5-10-5. In planting, set the root so that the buds will be covered not more than two inches. Too deep planting often prevents blooming.

Peonies do not have many severe insect pests, but there are several disease that often injure or prevent blooming. The Botrytis disease, especially, causes the blackening and rotting of leaves and also buds from the time they are the size of peas up to blooming. Probably this type of disease can be best controlled by sanitary measures as follows: In the fall, after the leaves have ripened, cut the stems of the peonies below the ground surface just above the buds of the crown. It is a good plan to draw the soil away from the crown so that care will be taken not to injure the buds. After cutting away the stems, burn them up. Also fill in some sand around the crowns.

Housefly Is a Carrier of Dangerous Diseases, 'U' Entomologist Says

"Whether the housefly which so blithely sups with the family has come from simple filth or from that charged with typhoid or dysentery germs is impossible to tell, but in any case the fly is not a decent messmate," says Dr. W. A. Riley, chief entomologist, University Farm, St. Paul. "Do not tolerate flies in the house! Make it uncomfortable for them on your premises and in your community."

Dr. Riley's advice is to "Clean up and starve the fly." Keep the yards and stables clean, he urges. Do not allow garbage and manure to accumulate. Horse manure should be hauled out twice a week, since it is a favorite breeding ground and in the heat of summer will produce a generation a week. Privy vaults should be screened fly-proof.

To keep flies out of the house, screen the windows and doors thoroughly, using mosquito netting if wire screen is not available. Trap flies, swat them, and catch them on sticky fly paper. Every female fly killed in spring and early summer will mean hundreds of thousands fewer flies later.

"Keep everlastingly at it," Dr. Riley emphasizes. "Set your own house (and yard) in order and then agitate the subject of fly control until you can get community action. Refuse to trade with the milkman, the baker, the grocer, the confectioner, who is so indifferent about the health of his customers that he does not protect his goods from flies. Inform yourself as to the life history, the disease-carrying possibilities, and methods of control of the housefly. Keep the subject before your community and you will be doing real constructive public health work."

Persons wishing detailed directions on fly control, or suggestions on anti-fly campaigns, may write to the Division of Entomology, University Farm, St. Paul.

Matzoon

Matzoon is milk, curdled by adding a special ferment. It is used as a food and beverage by the natives of Turkey, Persia and the Caucasus and as a medicinal agent in the United States.

Bids Asked for on 1,200 Miles Bituminous Roads

Bids for the bituminous treatment of more than 1,2000 miles of trunk roads will be opened by the state highway department June 11, according to a bulletin from the department. Work of improving the roads is expected to begin immediately after the letting of the contracts. The projects include new treatments on approximately 70 miles of gravel roads, and retreatments on 1,107 miles of bituminous highways. It is estimated that more than 6,000,000 gallons of bituminous material will be used. This program is in addition to bituminous work to be done directly by maintenance forces of the highway department.

At the price our treasury offers, it's a wonder England didn't sell its silver jubilee to Morgenthau.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

BIRDS DON'T LIKE PINK, MOVE INTO WHITE HOUSE

Hastings—You can't tell John Deane that birds don't have an eye for color and aren't particular about the place they live in. After spending several weeks constructing a handsome bird house for a family of martins that had taken up their abode near his father's residence, he gave the miniature dwelling a coat of bright pink paint and waited for his feathered friends to move in. Peculiarly enough, they didn't. About to give up in despair a friend suggested to John that perhaps the color of their domicile didn't please the martins. The builder promptly seized the paint can, applied a coat of ivory paint with an egg blue shade for the roof, and waited developments again. In less than a day all of the eighteen apartments in the birdhouse were occupied.

WHEAT FARMERS VOTE SIX TO ONE FOR CONTROL PLAN

Results of Referendum Conducted May 25 Announced in Washington

A vote of more than six to one for continued wheat control was announced officially Friday in "practically complete" returns from the referendum the AAA conducted May 25.

The count announced by the AAA in Washington gave 397,840 votes for continuation of an adjustment program and 61,132 against. Unofficial figures had been made public earlier.

Meanwhile, their pleasure with the wheat vote overshadowed by the Supreme Court's NRA decision, officials of the farm administration expressed growing concern over fate of the AAA.

The officials said they feared attacks would center upon the AAA now that NRA has been declared unconstitutional. They felt some concern over the impending republican "grass roots" convention at Springfield, Ill., in June, when it is believed the farm program will be a topic.

The AAA reported that of the 458793 votes cast, 392,283 were by contract signers and 66,590 by non-contract signers. Approximately 575,000 contract signers are on the records.

On the contract signers voting, 89 per cent, or 349,495, favored the program while 42,888 opposed continuation. The tabulations said that 48,345, or 72.5 per cent of the non-signers voting, favored the program. A total of 18,245 non-signers opposed continuation.

BLAST SENDS POTS FLYING IN KITCHEN

Minnesota Lake— Hollywood studios are said to be negotiating for the services of O. W. Hamann to re-enact a scene which occurred in his home in Minnesota Lake recently, for a comic reel. Hamann was sitting quietly by the stove, reading, after having built the fire for the morning, when his calm was suddenly interrupted by a terrific blast. Pots and pans flew in every direction, hot coals from the stove zoomed across the room, and the tea kettle sailed straight up and hit the ceiling. Needless to say, Hamann left the room in nothing flat, and peering back found the wicker chair in which he was sitting contained five holes made by live coals. He discovered that the waterfront on the stove had blown out after pipes had become so corroded that the water could not pass, the pressure making an explosion.

May Pave North from Moorhead on T. H. 75

Moorhead may be the center of a large highway paving project this year, contingent upon federal regulations governing expenditure of anticipated grants from Washington.

Paving of U. S. highway No. 75, the Winnipeg-Moorhead- Galveston route, between Perley-Moorhead-Rustad, a strip about 30 miles long, is under consideration by the Minnesota highway department, is the report.

The same route, under the tentative plan, is to be paved between Breckenridge and Doran, six miles, and U. S. highway No. 59 would be paved from Ogema to Detroit Lakes, a 20-mile strip. The latter improvement would put Grand Forks on a solid paved route to Detroit Lakes.

The department pointed out the projects are not certain of consummation, since it is reported the federal government may not permit paving because it does not permit enough hand labor.

ZIMMERMAN URGES QUICK ACTION ON PROJECT DETAILS

Says Communities Should Apply Immediately for U. S. Aid

Local communities contemplating public building construction under the new works progress program have been urged by L. P. Zimmerman, acting Minnesota SERA administrator, to go ahead immediately with plans and specifications.

"While applications and approval of projects cannot be considered until field instructions are received from Washington", he said, "it is important that our house be put in order so that work can start as soon as these regulations are available. It is hoped that they will be in our hands by about July 1."

Mr. Zimmerman pointed out that New York Mills, Atwater and Grove City already have passed bond issues for school building construction and that architects now are working on specifications for these buildings.

In his statement he said that the works division now is devoting much of its efforts in making surveys and reports on a large number of flood control and water conservation projects. Work on 12 approved flood control projects now is held in abeyance pending the clearing of titles, flowage rights, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Chapman of Goodridge, former residents of this community, visited at the P. P. Maney home Friday. —Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linn autoed to Warren last Wednesday. Darrell and Kyle have been in attendance there at high school and will spent their vacation here. Mrs. R. F. Sandberg and Mrs. F. A. Brown accompanied the Linns.

Miss Edith Swenson who has been employed at the Walle Cafe was called home to Clearbrook on account of the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fritz Swenson. Pearl Levang will help out at Walle's during Edith's absence. —Miss Mary Clausen returned to her parental home from Warren Thursday, having recently completed a term of school there. —Clarice Rud returned to her home Saturday from Hans E. Hanson's where she has been employed for four weeks. —Miss Mae Fonnest recently returned from St. Paul where she has been the past year.

Floyd Allen of Radium and Morris Haney of Thief River Falls called at the Christ Clausen home Wednesday. Miss Fern Allen accompanied them back to Radium. Miss Allen has just completed a term of school in this vicinity.

Miss Rachel Anderson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. S. T. Anderson, returned to her home Saturday from Moorhead where she has been attending school. —Mr. and Mrs. Orvis Fladeland and Mrs. A. O. Sheldrew were callers in Thief River Falls Friday. —Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Lunde, Mrs. Albert M. Loyd and daughter Charlotte were called to Thief River Falls Sunday on account of the illness of Hannah Watson, who is at the hospital. —Mrs. J. E. Maney, Leroy and Geraldine together with Mrs. P. P. Maney visited Douglas Maney who is in a hospital at Thief River Falls. —H. T. Peterson's enjoyed a visit from Mrs. Emma Lee of Thief River Falls Monday. —Gunder Gravum and wife were in attendance at the ball game at Thief River between the local team and an outfit of colored boys. Thief River won the game but Gunder says the opposition was not so hot.

Isaac P. Holte was called to Bemidji Saturday to attend the funeral of his brother-in-law Henry Berg. Isac returned to the village Sunday. —Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Johnson, Iola and Roy were Saturday shoppers at Thief River Falls.

Miss Lila Gustafson who is employed at Minneapolis has returned to her parental home to spend a well earned two weeks vacation.

David Day our popular mechanic over on the corner, just decided that his days of lonesomeness were over, and so last Saturday at Bemidji he was married to Lois Olson of Wilton. They have already started housekeeping, renting an apartment in the hospital building and continue to make Grygla their home. Congratulations are to be extended and wishes for a long, prosperous and happy life. —Mr. and Mrs. Herman Day spent the last few days visiting the former's parents at Bemidji and also to be in attendance at the Day-Olson Wedding. —The auction sale held at Jet Ziegler's was well attended and good cash prices received for every article sold. Mr. Ziegler and family have already departed for Tieton, Washington where they will make their future home. The well wishes of this community go with them. —They will be close neighbors to Christ Larson's, former residents of Shilling and Four Town community. —Leonard Johnson and family have moved onto the old Philip Hawkins place recently vacated by the Zieglers.

John Williamson some time ago got an infection in his eye and is being treated at the hospital at Thief River Falls. Last reports advise that John will soon be returning home.

A number of people from the village attended the school picnic on Sunday, north of Four Towns. Altho the day was rather windy and had much enjoyment watching the youngsters partake in the numerous contests. Miss Harriet Knutson completed a very successful term.

Nels Knutson is a proud owner of a new Master DeLuxe Chevrolet just purchased from Bjertness & Sandberg. Frank Hendrickson, postmaster at Malcolm has also purchased a car. The old Ford will now be given a deserved rest.

This community has the past week enjoyed one of the nicest rains one could wish for. Altho the atmosphere has been pretty invigorating and somewhat stimulating nevertheless the moisture was needed and to look at the grain and the hay crops one might think that we are in store for the same good luck this community enjoyed last year. Prospects never were better and with a few warm days after this rain will put us all on top of the world.

Last Friday being the last day of school of the present term, Mr. Dorn, Miss Peterson and their pupils enjoyed a picnic at the Holbrook grove. Much ice cream, cake, lemonade, etc., was consumed and to say that it was very much enjoyed is putting it mildly. Miss Peterson and Mr. Dorn will return to their same duties when the fall term begins. —Gordon Engelbert, a student at high school at Thief River Falls, will spend the summer here. He will help out at the Land O'Lakes service station.

Edith Engelbert is spending the week visiting her mother. —Postmaster Brown spent last Wednesday in attendance at a Postmaster's Convention at Stephen. A very enjoyable session was held, topped off by a wonderful banquet given by the hostess from Stephen.

It is reported that work on the new creamery will start the first of next week. This will add another fine structure to the village and give further impression to the good country and community wherein we reside.

A miscellaneous parcel shower was held at the Fladeland home last Thursday evening in honor of Miss Stella Fladeland, a bride of the month. The evening was spent in various forms of amusement after which a delicious lunch was served. The honored guest received many beautiful and useful gifts, showing in a small way the high esteem with which she is held in this community.

1000 4-H Club Workers to be Present at N. W. School Campus June 17

District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft reports widespread interest in the 4-H club week which will be held at the Northwest School June 17 to 22. Over one thousand club members and 4-H leaders from fifteen northwestern Minnesota counties will be in attendance.

The program during the week will emphasize leadership training, project instruction, and recreation. Special judging contests will be conducted in dairy, general livestock and crops. A better-groomed girl contest will again be a special feature, with two girls eligible to enter from each county. Fifteen counties are expected to take part in the district one-act play and music contests. Three plays, two vocal and two instrumental numbers will be selected to take part in the state contest to be held at St. Paul during State Fair week.

The recreational program will be under the supervision of R. J. Christgau, director of athletics at Northwest School. He will be ably assisted by recreational directors from the various counties. Many communities have staged county play days to select teams and individuals for the numerous events in the district tournament. Mr. Pflughoeft is urging every boy and girl to come prepared to take part in the play day program.

Suitable awards will be made to winners in all events. County teams scoring highest in dairy, general livestock, and crops judging will receive silver trophies, while the county with the highest score in the recreational activities will be presented with an attractive banner. Individuals winning first in the various events will receive certificates.

It will soon be time to point with pride and view with alarm again. The next presidential election is but a little over a year away.

Don't let the comfort, roominess, safety and economy of the new Ford car make you forget this outstanding advantage...

..It's an Eight and the only V-Type 8 under $2300

Everybody knows that the big advantage of eight cylinders is s-m-o-o-t-h performance. Ford owners get this advantage, and they also get the economy, ruggedness and compactness of a V-type engine.

A V-type engine costs more to build—but less to run. A dual down-draft carburetor takes the gasoline used by a four and splits it into eight small charges. That's one economy.

Then, Ford uses aluminum cylinder heads for premium performance on regular gasoline. That means farther economy.

Also, this year, Ford moved the engine 8½ inches forward, so that all passengers now ride in the "Comfort Zone"—on a 123-inch springbase. Back seat passengers get a "front seat ride." Go to your Ford dealer's and see this car. Note that Safety Glass all 'round and 6.00 x 16-inch air-balloon tires are standard equipment. Then, drive a Ford V-8. Once you have felt what a V-type, 85-horsepower engine will do, you will never be content with anything less.

Grygla is to be congratulated upon the decision of the stockholders of its creamery to erect a new building this year. By this action the people of the Grygla community have again announced to the world that they are getting along very nicely. A couple of years ago it was a fine new home for their co-operative store. And now a solid and substantial building for their creamery. Such progress indicates that the people of Grygla have faith in their own community. The fact that they have the means to build proves that their faith is well founded. There was a time when Grygla was a rather remote inland settlement. Its development was retarded to some extent by lack of transportation facilities. Now, however, with good roads, automobiles and trucks, these disadvantages have been overcome and the community is beginning to come into its own.

Acting upon the recommendations of Federal Works Administration officials, the city council has postponed the advertising for bids for the purchase of a new diesel engine until the application for a federal grant has been acted upon. Representatives of the city who conferred with government officials on this project last week were assured that the application would be given prompt consideration and that every effort would be made to get a quick decision because of the importance of the time factor. They were also assured that the fact that the city had called a special election to secure authority to proceed would in no way effect the status of the application for federal aid and that it was a necessary preliminary that the government would have insisted on if it had not already been done. The city was further advised that a registered, disinterested engineer would have to be secured to prepare the plans and specifications before the government would take definite action. This requirement has also been met. Local officials are encouraged over the possibilities of securing recognition of this project under the new aid program and believe action can be secured in ample time to allow for the installation of the new equipment to meet the heavier demand of the fall and winter months.

Now that the council has received authority to add necessary equipment to the power plant, immediate action should be taken to prepare a new rate structure to be effective as soon as the new equipment has been installed. The engineer who has been hired to prepare the plans and specifications for the new engine is also a rate specialist and can give the city valuable advice in this difficult problem of preparing a light and power rate schedule. There is much merit to the argument of those who point out that a drastic rate reduction would seriously curtail the revenue of the city and might cause a temporary increase in taxes, and who, therefore urge that the reduction should be moderate to start with and further decreased from time to time as experience might justify. The important thing, at the present time, is to get an intelligent basic rate established, correcting the obvious injustices of the present schedule, and making at least a start toward a rate that will compare favorably with the rates now in effect in other cities of this size. Toward this end the council can and should take immediate action.

To the novelty of seeing a baseball game played under floodlights must be attributed one of the reasons for the large crowd that turned out at the fair grounds in spite of the cold weather last night. But the attendance did demonstrate too that there are many baseball fans in this territory who would gladly lay their money on the line for an opportunity to see two good teams in action. From this standpoint the results of last night's contest were encouraging. The fact that the exhibition itself was rather ragged is not surprising. Baseball is not a cold weather game and when the temperature drops down around the freezing point a few fumbles and wild throws are to be expected. But in spite of the adverse weather conditions and the added difficulty of playing under floodlights, to which they were not accustomed, the Thief River Falls team made a creditable appearance. The boys play heads-up ball and are not a set-up for any organization.

BOX ELDER BUGS

Unless Mother Nature does something about it—and she sometimes does—there'll be more friendly box elder bugs than ever next fall. Millions hereabout wintered successfully and have been glimming around for several weeks. These are the parent stock of the next crop. They have now completed their life cycle and disappeared. But do not be misled into thinking the bugs are through and done with. No indeed. The late departed have left their eggs, and a whoppin' lot of them, smeared all over the bark of the box elder trees, and on other wood. If conditions are right, the new crop will be grown and on the wing by early fall. Eggs enough have been deposited to multiply by thousands the bumper crop of 1934. But, happily, not every egg will be a bug. Nature recognizes the perils of bug infancy and allows maybe a hundred eggs for ten bugs, of which perhaps one or two will grow up. Happily these bugs do no special harm, don't bite or greatly misbehave. None the less, on account of their sociable, even affectionate disposition, they intrude upon one's privacy and are quite unanimously adjudged a nuisance. These bugs are a proper punishment visited upon this region for planting box elders instead of real trees.

PARENTS AT COMMENCEMENT
(Montevideo News)

At this season young people are leaving the schools, with their heads jammed chock-full with information and ideas. It hardly seems the polite time for printing pieces that remind these young people there are still a few things to be learned. The Ortonville Independent does that very thing, through the medium of some answers by James Nankivell to his own question "Parents Not So Smart?" We venture to print part of the article. Perhaps a few graduates, after the flowers have wilted and the excitement subsided, will read and find it good:

An old philosopher describes the attitude of youth toward their parents in the following terms. I think he is about right.

Age 8—"My parents are smart. They know everything."

Age 14—"I don't think my parents are quite so smart at that. I don't think they know everything."

Age 18—"My parents really know very little compared with what I know."

Age 22—"My parents do not understand the new age. They cannot understand because they do not live up to the notch."

Age 30—"I often ask myself now if perhaps my parents were not right after all."

Age 50—"My parents were of vision and conviction. They knew how to do things in just the right way and at the right time."

The prisons are filled with young men who disregarded their parent's advice. The Department of Justice reveals that the great bulk of crime is committed by young men between the ages of 15 to 25. The majority is between 19 and 25. After 25 there is a gradual decrease. They are beginning now to realize that perhaps their parents were right after all.

It's a wise son that follows his parent's advice. Remember your parents love you and would not knowingly give you wrong advice. It's up to you to heed it and keep out of trouble. A well lived life always brings its rewards.

THE NRA DECISION
(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The United States Supreme court's decision Monday overthrowing practically all that is vital in the NRA does far more than merely to invalidate the codes as they stand. It is really notice that the historic and fundamental division of powers between the state and the Federal government cannot be revised by judicial rewriting of the Constitution, but solely through constitutional amendment, if at all.

The fact that the decision was unanimous brings out that new issue in perfect clarity—liberals and conservatives alike agree that the Constitution does stand as a bulwark against usurpation by the Federal government of the powers over business and industry which in the past were regarded as the province of the states. The court says that the national government under guise of regulating interstate commerce, cannot interpose its authority in matters which merely affect interstate commerce. Thus manufacturing is not interstate commerce, but is a process in itself, coming within the range of state authority, even though raw materials and finished products may cross state lines.

The fate of NRA is insignificant in comparison with the larger implications of the decision. The opinion of the court would seem to apply, equally against the Wagner labor dispute bill, the AAA licensing amendments, the 30-hour week bill, perhaps even the unemployment insurance and old age pension bills, and many others.

These extensions of Federal authority have been urged on the grounds that national efficiency demands centralized and uniform control over business. The consequence of that revolutionary change would be the practical disappearance of local and sectional independence, which states rights preserve. It is a question whether this country, with its vast distances and sectional differences, could be directed from Washington successfully by any authority short of that of dictatorship.

Congress has the power to override a veto, but only the people of the various states acting in accordance with the rules for amendment of the Constitution have the power to override the Supreme court. It is hard to see how such an amendment could be framed without practically obliterating the state governments and reducing them to the status of mere policing and administrative units.

The dangers in such a revolutionary change in the governmental structure of America are self-evident, even though in individual cases the powerlessness of the Federal government may be regretted. The decision appears to leave nothing for the codes except regulation of trade practices in interstate commerce, just a feather or two off the Blue Eagle. It was a hopeful experiment, which at this moment, however, was dying on its feet.

It behooves the administration now that the reform side of the New Deal is given this blow, to turn with redoubled energy to the promotion of recovery. The decision itself will be a stimulant to enterprise and a release from threats of greater restrictions.

That is all the more true because of the downright manner in which the court, also unanimously, invalidated the Frazier-Lemke act. This law professed to be a bankruptcy act for farm debtors, but without bankruptcy. It was really a device for scaling down farm mortgages without consent of the creditor, and the depression was given as an excuse. It will be a reassurance to most persons and a shock to politicians to learn that the latter after all do not have the power to take property from one person and give it to another, even for the sake of winning some votes, and even when the transfer is sweetly called the elevation of human rights over property rights.

WHAT, NO ENEMIES?
(Montgomery Messenger)

You have often heard it said that such and such a person has not an enemy in the world. If you place yourself in that class then you must be honest with yourself and admit that you have never stood up for right against wrong; you never expressed yourself on political issues; you have neglected to take an active part in community activities; you have never protected the weak or down-trodden; you have failed to express your honest opinions; you have forsaken your old friends for new and chance acquaintances.

Even if you had not done these things, but achieved a little more success in your business, provided a little better for your family, you should have enemies, for failure hates success. The man who has no enemies should be ashamed of himself.

There is a strong demand on the part of real sportsmen for a closed season on ducks. Closed season affirmations are now being sought from all conservation organizations in eight midwest states and three Canadian provinces. The petitions will be presented to President Roosevelt and biological survey officials next July when regulations for the current season are considered.—Eveleth Clarion.

The essential idea in democracy is that of respect for personality—the consideration of people as persons and not as things. If we are to develop in America a democratic society, the school cannot escape partial responsibility. All the relations of the school must conform to this principle in practice as well as in theory. The idea of growth thru critical thinking fits in with democracy since it conditions human action upon wise self-expression.—Glenn Frank.

Purple in Snail Shells

In the days of the Roman empire the purple in the shell of certain snails was used in the making of Tyrian purple, a dye reserved for the nobility. The snail used this ink to create a smoke screen about itself in time of danger. Other species of snails are known to bear poison glands which enable the snail to eject a stream of poison several inches. The highly ornamental shells of several species are used as umbrella handles.

Red River Valley History

Sketch of Pierre Bottineau

Because he was identified with the early settlement period of this section, the career of Pierre Bottineau, noted native guide, is of interest. We quote from an early sketch of his life included in a work titled "Northern Minnesota" published in 1902.

"July 26, 1895, there passed away from this life, near the town of Red Lake Falls, Minnesota, a man who in a peculiarly personal way linked the earlier part of the past century with the present, Pierre Bottineau, the last of the famous scouts, trappers and voyageurs, whose lives were so intimately related to the progress, as well as the conquest of the west.

"Mr. Bottineau died at the age of 78 years, having been born Jan. 1, 1817, near Pembina, in the Red river region, now a part of North Dakota. His ancestors were of the Huguenots, and his grandfather came to America to enjoy his religious belief and made his home in Boston. Joseph Bottineau, father of Pierre, went into the wilderness of the great northwest in the early part of the century, and he there married a woman of the Chippewa race, known by the Indian name of 'The Clear Sky woman'. From his hardy and nomadic father and from his Indian mother our subject inherited the characteristics which made him one of the most noted scouts and voyagers of the past century. He was a man of noble proportions and physique, being over six feet in height and weighing 210 pounds. He was straight as the pathways he marked through the wilderness and had expressive black eyes, which were keen, but commonly held a kindly sense of humor and good fellowship, but in anger were cold, stern and penetrating. He commanded love, admiration and respect. His word was a bond never broken, and no task undertaken was ever left unfinished. The earlier years of his life he spent amid the influences of the forest and trail. In 1830 he was carrying messages for the Hudson Bay Fur company on the overland route to the north of Lake Superior. He was interested in scouting and pathfinding work for the ill-fated Selkirk settlement of Manitoba. For years he was in the employ of General H. H. Sibley, as scout and messenger, when the latter was agent for the American Fur company. In later years he was chief guide for the expedition into the Yellowstone Park region in the interest of the Northern Pacific railroad company. He became, about the middle of the century, somewhat more interested in civil life and was one of the founders of St. Anthony, in 1853. When the Indian outbreak of 1863 occurred in Minnesota he proved of great value to the government and state in aiding in the suppression of the Sioux. He was as familiar with the leading Indian languages of the region as he was with the paths of the forest. The vast northwest lay like a map in his brain, and every trail he knew. The homestead which Mr. Bottineau took in St. Paul in 1840 is in the heart of the city, as it now stands. He located on Red Lake river in 1876 and there engaged in farming until his death.

"It is doubtful if there is a human being who has passed through as many thrilling scenes and events of pioneer life in the past century as did Pierre Bottineau, the last of the voyagers."

This sketch, however, lacks the drama and color of the famous mixed-blood's life on the frontier. An outstanding achievement of Bottineau's service as a guide was the trip he made with Martin McLeod and two British army officers in the winter of 1837 from Winnipeg up the Red river valley to Browns Valley and on to Fort Snelling, in which the two officers were lost.

Although the skilled guide hobnobbed with outstanding pioneer leaders he was unschooled and uncultured. The historian Holcombe wrote of him:

"Pierre Bottineau, the French half-blood, who had always been on the northwestern frontier and had never seen a city, and who owned so much of St. Anthony realty, outside of the Steel and Arnold survey, was impressed with what Marshall had done for Frank Steele's property. He could not read, and therefore he had never read of a city and did not know how one was constructed; but he heard Steele and Marshall and others and others comment on Marshall's work, and some months afterward he said to the surveyor: 'You jist take my land and fix him same lak M'sieu Steele land'. Asked for particulars, he threw up his hands carelessly and replied: 'O, fix him lak you please, same lak M'sieu Steele, but do as you please.' Thereupon Marshall 'fixed' is accordingly."

Undoubtedly Pierre Pottineau, from whom, by the way, Bottineau county and the city of Bottineau in North Dakota were named, was an important figure on the frontier. The value of his services becomes increasingly evident with the passing of the years.—Northwestern Feature Service.

Co-operation has proved an overwhelming success in the retail gasoline field, according to a recent report by George Griffith, chief oil inspector. The consumers' gas co-ops increased their sales by 5,500,000 gallons in 1934 to a total of 29,828,333 gallons and are in second place in state gas and oil distribution. Rural co-ops supplied 14 per cent of the kerosene, 12 per cent of the distillate and 10 per cent of the gasoline sold in rural communities.

Just how the new state livestock weighing and grading law is to be financed has the railroad and warehouse commission puzzled. No funds were appropriated by the Legislature to set up the necessary facilities. The Minneapolis telephone rate investigation is in the same predicament. A bill creating the survey was passed but no funds provided.

It is a conviction of the Farmer-Labor party that when an individual has approached the age of 65 that he should be able to retire with economic security assured and devote the closing years of his life to pursuits denied him when his days were taken up with the business of making a living. Such a conviction is behind the party's stand on old age pensions. In line with this, Governor Olson has asked that state employees eligible for retirement—that is 65 years of age and with 20 years of state service behind them—give up their jobs to enjoy life. Those so doing will receive half pay for the rest of their lives. In stepping down, they will leave vacancies to be filled by younger persons, and thus do their bit to ease the unemployment situation. A considerable number of employees are affected by the Governor's request, particularly in the Board of Control.

Second step in Governor Olson's announced move to enforce the corporate excess tax was taken last week when the state tax commission filed in Hennepin county district court an action to collect $1,838,905 from the Cream of Wheat Co., Minneapolis, for delinquent taxes of this type for 1933 and 1934. The commission's first action was taken recently when a similar action was filed against the Northern States Power Co. for $4,401,327. Hearing on a suit to test validity of the act is scheduled to be held in Hennepin county district court June 4.

We happened last week to motor through the state of Iowa. It will be recalled that during the last session of the Legislature, propaganda was unloosed telling of the "beneficial" effects of the sales tax of that state, how well satisfied the people were with the tax, and the tremendous benefits which accrued to owners of real estate as a result. Curiosity prompted us to make a few casual inquiries. We dropped in and chatted to a restaurant proprietor; we talked to the owner of a grocery store, and we brought the subject up in conversations to persons we met on the street—

If our observations were correct, the people of Iowa are heartily disgusted with the sales tax. It is a nuisance that Iowa wants to get rid of in a hurry. Answers to inquiries about property owners benefiting by the tax were met with a scornful, sarcastic expression, as much as to say: "You simpleton!"—

Perhaps it is unfortunate for sales tax adherents that the largest real estate levy in the history of Iowa should come right after the sales tax has had its chance. We would like to take a betting chance on any politician in Iowa running for office under the slogan: "Repeal the sales tax." But the sales tax propagandists in Minnesota and throughout the nation are still at it.

Addressing the students at the University, Dr. John C. Rockwell, commissioner of education, scored the reactionary Legislature for refusal to confirm the appointments to the board of Mrs. Le Sueur and Miss Rood. Dr. Rockwell stated that Mrs. Le Sueur and Miss Rood were "instrumental in preparing one of the finest educational programs in the state's history." An impartial observer of the Legislature would have no difficulty in arriving at the conclusion that it was purely political considerations which were responsible for the refusal of the senate to confirm these two outstanding educators.

Paul A. Lundgren,
Attorney for Petitioner.

Brides Make Up in Java

A Javanese bride rubs her face with saffron to intensify the golden color of her skin. Her hair is shaved in elaborate points and instead of a misty coronet of tulle and orange blossoms she wears a sort of crown made of gold leaf.

Yellowstone Lake

Yellowstone lake, 7,700 feet above sea level, is the largest fresh-water lake at this elevation on the North American continent. Its shore line is 100 miles long. Speed [illegible] and fishing are two of the main diversions at this spot.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., June 3, 1935: Monday's hog trade was very uneven, better lights and butchers and sows being steady to strong, spots higher, with medium grade hogs weak to 25c lower. Most better grades brought $9.25-9.50, a few $9.60, some down to $9.00, unfinished hogs mainly $8.50-9.00. Good sows sold at $8.60-8.80, mostly $8.70 and up. Better pigs brought $8.75-9.25 and above.

Grain-fed steers opened fully steady but closed weaker. Bulk medium to good steers and yearlings brought $8.75-10.75, a few $11.00-11.65, common and medium grassers $6.50-8.00. Better heifers brought $8.00-10.00, common grades $5.75-7.50, beef cows $5.50-7.00 or above, low cutters and cutters $3.50-5.00, bulk bulls $5.25-6.00. Vealers were 25-50c lower, bulk better grades $7.50-8.50, choice $9.00, cull and common $4.00-6.00. Stockers were steady to strong, medium to good stock steers earning $6.50-8.25, common down to $5.50.

Trade in dairy cows was slightly more active, good springers suitable for eastern orders going at $65.00-75.00, common and medium $35.00-55.00.

Sheep and lambs brought steady to strong prices, good to choice ewe and wether spring lambs $8.25-8.75, good and choice old crop offerings $7.50-7.75, in between and lower grades $4.50-6.50. Good to choice shorn ewes sold from $3.00-3.50, heavy weights down to $2.00.

FATHER FINDS AUTOMOBILE MECHANIC IN 3-YEAR OLD

Robbinsdale—Elias Iverson has a three-year old son that is going to grow up to be an auto mechanic, but his father hopes he will soon get a little better training. The small boy, watching a filling station attendant fill his father's car up with gasoline, started scratching his head and wondered why he couldn't do the old man a favor and save him a little money on the side. The next morning the small boy got out the garden hose and proceeded to re-enact the role of the filling station man, except that he used water, which "looked just the same". Although Iverson appreciated the good intentions, he had to have his car pushed to town and drained before it would again run.

$8,300,000 PLAN TO PROVIDE WORK FOR 25,000 MEN

Lac Qui Parle Flood Control Project is Largest to be Approved

The largest flood control and water conservation program ever attempted in Minnesota has been outlined by Walter F. MacGregor, director of the works division, SERA, it was announced by L. P. Zimmerman, acting administrator. Such a program will mean an outlay of more than $8,300,000 and will provide work for about 25,000 persons under the present work scale basis.

"It will restore former lake and surface water table levels", Mr. Zimmerman pointed out, "as well as insure Minnesota's permanence on the nation's game refuge and outdoor playground map. Work already has started on some of the projects but a majority of them still are in the planning stage. Mr. MacGregor's department has completed a careful survey of these so that work can be initiated as soon as approval is obtained.

"If approved this program will mean the establishment of flood control measures invaluable to Minnesota and it will do much to relieve the states on the lower Mississippi from the dangers of spring floods.

The largest project in this program now under construction, is the Lac Qui Parle flood control project which will cost $2,025,000 when completed.

The Lake Traverse-Bois de Sioux estimated to cost $1,400,000, the Roseau river flood control project to cost about $1,500,000, and the Minnetonka restoration project to cost $1,200,000 are three of the largest under consideration.

"U" TO GRADUATE 1,200 JUNE 17 IN CAMPUS STADIUM

Commencement Exercises for Huge Class to be Held Outdoors

Class sessions at the University of Minnesota will end this week for the current term and more than 1200 seniors and graduate students will begin looking forward to Monday, June 17, on which day they will receive their diplomas in the annual outdoor commencement exercises in Memorial Stadium.

For many years the university has braved the possibility of rain to dampen down the year's final ceremony and never yet has the graduation pageant been driven indoors. However, Northrop Auditorium stands ready to take care of the exercises if that becomes necessary.

Few gatherings of the year exceed in public interest the university's June graduation which has come to draw between 16,000 and 20,000 people, many of them friends of graduates and members of their families.

President L. D. Coffman will deliver the graduation address, after which the long line of students will cross the platform for their diplomas, those from each of the colleges being differentiated by the color of the tassel on their academic caps.

The Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, son of the late Dr. C. W. Eliot, president of Harvard, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in Northrop Auditorium on Sunday morning, June 16, the day before commencement.

Registration for summer sessions at the university will begin on Commencement day and classes in the summer will begin July 27 and run to August 29. Between 5,000 and 6,000 students are expected to enroll in the two summer study periods.

Funeral Rites Today for Iver Tande, Oklee

Funeral services for Iver Lawrence Tande who died Sunday will be held today, June 6, from the Larson Chapel and the Games church in Oklee with Rev. J. K. Lerohl officiating. Iver Tande was born September 2, 1898 in McIntosh and was engaged in farming near Oklee at the time of his death. Surviving him are his wife and two sons, Olaf Jerome and Robert Paul; his father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Tande of Oklee; two brothers, Melvin and Selmer; three sisters, Alma Bertina, Paula Emelia, and Olga Regena. Eight Local Young Men Seek to Join CCC Camps

With a quota of 25 Pennington county young men to be enrolled in Civilian Conservation camps before June 15, applications are coming in slowly, Mrs. Trudie King, county relief worker who is receiving applications, said today, only eight young men having signified a desire to enter the camps. Men between the ages of 18 and 28 are eligible under a new ruling.

Ralph Foster, Jr. Named Winner of Maytag Racer

Following the ending Wednesday of the Maytag Racer contest conducted by the Larson company, local Maytag dealers, announcement was made that Ralph Foster, Jr., of this city was the winner of the miniature automobile with a total of 853,700 votes. In second place was Erdman Pearson of St. Hilaire with 274,087 votes, while Eugene Prestegaard of Erie was third with 72,000 votes. Approximately 90 contestants took part.

Long Distance Night Phone Rates Effective at 7 P. M. June First

Beginning June 1 night rates on station-to-station long distance telephone calls became effective at 7 p. m. instead of 8:30 p. m. and continue until 4:30 a. m. These rates apply to those calls on which the customer asks to talk with anyone available at the telephone called for which the day rate is 40 cents or more. This announcement was made today by A. J. Rau, manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

This change means that the lowest rate for this type of long distance calls is available to telephone users for an hour and a half longer than has heretofore been the case, and is in effect a reduction in rates beyond certain distances for this class of service between 7 and 8:30 p. m.

Mr. Rau explained that there are several advantages to users of long distance service that will result from advancing the night rate period to 7 p. m. It will, he said, enable users of long distance service to place many of their calls at a more convenient hour and still permit them to receive the benefit of the lowest long distance rate. Also, many long distance calls can be handled more promptly because the change will reduce the number that have been placed immediately after 8:30 p. m. and distribute them more evenly throughout the low nightrate period.

Bye and Rev. Tungseth Speak at Rotary Meet

Tungseth, who attended a water conservation conference in Fargo Monday, reported on discussions at the meeting at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club Tuesday noon in the Evelyn hotel. The conference had been called by Governor Olson of Minnesota and Governor Welford of North Dakota.

Mayer-Oakes Will Open Summer School Monday

Summer school classes for high school students will commence at 8 a. m. on Monday, June 10, and continue for six weeks, it was announced today by G. H. Mayer-Oakes, who will be the instructor. Enrollments have already been made in chemistry, geometry, algebra, bookkeeping and typewriting. These summer school classes offer an opportunity for review of subjects already taken or for new subjects. The classes will be held in the Lincoln high school building by permission of the school board.

LOCAL BALL TEAM SCORES TWO WINS DURING PAST WEEK

Defeat Colored Giants on Memorial Day and Again Last Sunday

Scoring a two time victory over the Minnesota Colored Giants, the local baseball team during the past week ran their string to four straight victories. The Dekko team played good ball in both games but the competition was not good enough for the home club.

Push-em-up Tony Eeg, big right hander, pitched the first game on Memorial Day, the score being 9 to 2. The locals scored four runs in the third inning on singles by Brevick and Eeg and four free trips to first base, the result of some wild pitching by young Mince Davis, Giant's hurler. There was one more run scored in the fourth, two in the fifth, and two in the sixth to complete the scoring for the locals. The Giants scored three runs in the fourth inning, getting two singles and a base on balls to account for their two runs.

In the second game played last Sunday, Lefty Heiberg was credited with the victory the Giants receiving the short end of a 12 to 5 score. With a total of 14 hits, the locals scored 12 runs while the Giants gathered 5 runs off 8 hits.

The Dekko men scored one run in the second inning, four in the third, four in the fourth, and three in the sixth, while the Giants scored three in the sixth and two in the seventh, one being a terrific home run by Bangs which lit on the race track in right field. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning.

The Giants featured three old timers in their lineup with Lewis at short, Leo Davis behind the plate, and old Bobby Marshall at second base. Marshall is a former Minnesota football star, having graduated from that school in 1906. The battery in the first game, Mince and Leo Davis, are father and son, a very unusual thing to see in baseball. The old timers proved themselves to be very spry for their age and got around with less trouble than lots of youngsters.

Bob Heiberg and Tony Eeg pitched good ball for the home team, while Brevick, local centerfielder was the chief batsman, getting seven hits in ten times at bat which boosts his average considerably. Glen Haugen also hit the ball with plenty of gusto, getting five hits in eight trips to the plate including two two baggers.

M. Peenk, secretary of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, announced today. He urged that each creamery organization be represented at the meeting, which will be addressed by Charles Ommodt, assistant commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food. In the afternoon members of Districts 3 and 4 of the Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers association will hold a special cream grading contest in the Crookston city hall.

Baptists Will Conduct Bible Camp at Drayton

The Red River Valley Baptist young peoples union will sponsor a Bible camp in the Memorial Park at Drayton, N. D., June 16-23. The Union has been fortunate in securing two excellent speakers, Rev. C. Milton Lind, pastor of the First Swedish Baptist Church, St. Paul, Minn., and Rev. Vance Webster, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Fargo, N. D. Mr. Lind is a thorough Bible scholar and was formerly teaching in a Seminary in the East. Mr. Webster has for a number of years been a successful pastor and evangelist. Since his coming to Fargo he has become a much liked radio speaker speaking over radio station WDGY Fargo, N. D. Bible classes will be held on week days as follows: 9:30-11:30 a. m. and 2:00 p. m. There will be three services each Sunday at 11:00, 2:30 and 7:30, and every week night at 8:00 o'clock. There are no registration fees. Sleeping quarters will be provided for the ladies. The men must bring tents. All are requested to bring their cots, bedding and food.

3 Local Men Deliver Addresses Past Week

Local men delivered several addresses during the past week in communities in this section. Rev. E. A. Cooke was the principal speaker at Memorial day exercises in Warroad last Thursday, while Rev. E. L. Tungseth delivered the commencement address at Holt Friday evening and W. E. Dahlquist addressed the graduating class of the Karlstad high school the same evening.

Rural Mail Carriers Meet in Warren Sunday

Northern Minnesota rural mail carriers representing five Northwestern Minnesota counties held their annual meeting and picnic at the Tourist Park in Warren Sunday with a good attendance being present, says the Warren Sheaf. The carriers discussed problems of interest to their positions and were addressed by Mr. Zimmerman, state secretary and Alvin Huston, Northfield, state treasurer of the organization. Officers of the association include Geo. Willey, Warren, president; Carl Hovie, Thief River Falls, vice president and Herman Lindberg, Karlstad, secretary-treasurer. The next summer meeting of the association will take place at Alvarado on the first Sunday in June while the fall meeting will be held in Thief River Falls on the last Sunday in August.

WHEN LIVES ARE AT STAKE

You need the same tire protection that race drivers demand

KELLY PETILLO ON MAY 30, WON THE 500-MILE Indianapolis Race on Firestone tires breaking the track record and driving the entire distance at a rate of 106.240 miles per hour.

This record is an astounding demonstration of tire efficiency. To go 500 miles in less than five hours on this rough and bumpy 26-year-old brick track demonstrates the strength and blowout protection that Firestone builds into their Gum-Dipped Tires.

AB JENKINS ALSO RECENTLY DEMONSTRATED THE stamina, efficiency, and blowout protection built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. He drove his 5000 pound car over the hot salt beds at Lake Bonneville, Utah, 3000 miles in 23½ hours. This was an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, and although temperatures were as high as 120°, he had no blowouts or tire trouble of any kind.

These records are made possible by special construction features built into Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

Take no chances—protect your life and the lives of others by letting us equip your car with Firestone Tires.

Before you buy new tires ask yourself these three questions

1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"

3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Answer No. 1—University tests show Firestone Tires stop your car 15% quicker than best tires.

Answer No. 2—Unequaled performance records prove that Gum-Dipping gives the greatest blowout protection known.

Answer No. 3—Car owners report unequaled mileage records of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone Tires.

1 University tests show Firestone Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker
2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires
3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear

PLUMMER

CATHOLICS TO PRESENT THREE ACT PLAY SUNDAY

A group of young people of Plummer will present a three act comedy drama entitled "Whittlin" on Sunday evening, June 9, at 8:15 o'clock in the Plummer Hall.

The cast of characters are as follows: Dr. Adam Good, "Doc Yak", the village doctor, Joseph Fallon; Ruth Wilson, her mother's daughter, Marie Enderle; Mrs. Josiah Wilson, her mother, Florence Gerardy; Dave Petterman, the village crab, Bennie Schiefert; Annabelle Dee, a giggling girl, Edna Lemireux; Jimmy Edwards, who has possibilities, Joseph Brekke; Gip, an old friend of Jimmy, Walter Lonergan; Johnny Dee, a boy of the village, Alvin Johnson.

A play of mother love and home influence, but withal a simple story of the plain people, which will promise to its audience an evening of good entertainment and make them go home feeling that they have seen something worth while. Many of the cast are well known of the Plummer audiences for their excellent performances in the past and they will not prove a disappointment to anyone Sunday evening.

Delicious MACARONI PRODUCT

It's cheaper to buy the best

Many men who thought they were saving money by buying cheap overalls have found out their error.

Prove it by buying a cheap overall and an Oshkosh B'Gosh Overall and wearing them every other day. You will still be getting good service from the Oshkosh B'Gosh long after the other is in the rag bag.

You'll be comfortable on Oshkosh B'Gosh days and cussing on the others. And you'll be "off" cheap overalls for life.

Will You Accept a Set of Lovely NEW SILVERWARE ABSOLUTELY FREE?

WHY, RUTH... WHAT BEAUTIFUL NEW SILVERWARE!
WELL GIRLS - BELIEVE IT OR NOT ... THIS SILVERWARE DIDN'T COST ME A CENT!
WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
W-H-A-T?
I GOT IT FREE WITH NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE... WITH EACH 3LB. VACUUM GLASS JAR OF NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE YOU GET YOUR CHOICE OF A KNIFE, FORK OR SPOON FREE.... ISN'T IT WONDERFUL ... BESIDES NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE CAN'T BE BEAT FOR FLAVOR.
NOTE SMART NEW PATTERN OF THIS LOVELY FREE SILVERWARE
Given only with the three-pound jar of NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE

EFFECTIVE immediately, with the purchase of each three-pound, vacuum-packed, glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee, your grocer will give you, absolutely without added cost, your choice of a knife, fork or spoon of this fully guaranteed silverware.

This offer is made for one reason only. Most people buy coffee a pound at a time. The cost of packing and distributing a one-pound jar is practically the same as that of a three-pound jar, apart from the coffee itself. Where millions of pounds are involved, as is the case with so popular a brand as Nash's Toasted Coffee, the saving is considerable when it is packed in three-pound jars. So, to induce more people to buy the economical three-pound jar, the Nash Coffee Company is passing on to the public the extra value in silverware.

Of course, the high quality of Nash's Toasted Coffee remains the same—a quality of flavor that has earned for it the approval of millions of families who say, "Every Drop Delicious."

Note silverware attached to three pound vacuum glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee. You get your silverware with the coffee—nothing to mail or send away for

82 MILLION SPENT FOR STATE RELIEF DURING 29 MONTHS

$20,000,000 of Total Spent Under CWA, Zimmerman Reports

More than $82,000,000 were spent for relief in Minnesota between November, 1932 and April 1935 according to the monthly report of the Minnesota SERA made public this week.

Of this amount $20,000,000 were expended under CWA direction in the period from November 15, 1933, to April 1, 1934. The report showed that of the $82,000,000 spent by the SERA $45,000,000 or 8 per cent by the state.

The March figures showed that the human relief load of 114,4[illegible] cases was an increase of 2.8 per cent as compared with February figures. The greater portion of this increase occurred in Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis which contain more than 50 per cent of the cases in the state receiving human relief.

While the March load represented an increase as compared to February the latter month had a decrease in the human relief load of 112,940 as compared to January. This was due largely to a decrease in urban relief.

The report showed that between April 1, 1934, and April 1, 1935, projects were approved representing a cost of about $54,000,000. Of this amount $36,000,000 had been expended by April 1. In March the payroll on SERA projects amounted to $2,300,000.

State Land Appraisals Started for Fall Sales

Appraising of state-owned lands in preparation for fall sales was started June 1 by the Division of Lands and Minerals, V. A. Wildes, Director, announced. Six appraisers are in the field.

Persons desiring any tract of state land to be offered for sale at the next public auctions should address a request to one of the appraisers or to the Division of Lands and Minerals, St. Paul. It is expected that fall public sales will be conducted in several northern Minnesota counties, Mr. Wildes said.

Appraisers are T. J. Welsh and Carl Mousky, Thief River Falls; F. B. Getchell and O. I. Buckmaster, Bemidji, and J. C. Long and Iver Wisted, Hibbing. Requests for leasing of state-owned lands should be made to an appraiser or to R. Ray Kreis, state squatter agent, North Hibbing.

FLOATS FOUR ROOM HOUSE ACROSS RIVER

Grand Rapids—Citizens were treated to a difficult and unusual stunt when a one-story, four-room house was floated across the Prairie river at Grand Rapids in the process of being moved to a new location. F. H. Dockeray, moving contractor, was confronted with the necessity of getting the small house across the river, which is now swollen with spring rains. Rather than take a chance on the usual fords, which were running with swift water, Dockeray fashioned a raft of watertight oil barrels, using 48 barrels, and moved the house onto it, pulled the raft across the river with his caterpillar tractor, loaded it back on trucks and completed the journey in the regular way.

Trick Riders Prepare for Big Rodeo Meeting at State Fair Grounds

Plans have been completed and active arrangements are under way for the presentation of the second annual All-American Rodeo on the Minnesota state fair grounds in the Twin Cities from June 22-30.

The event is being sponsored jointly by the Minneapolis and St. Paul Junior Associations of Commerce and the Officers' Club of Fort Snelling as one of the highlights on the summer sports calendar. A total of 14 performances will be given; nine in the evening under lights and five matinees.

Trick and fancy riders, broncobusters, lariat experts, bull-doggers and steer riders from all parts of North America will be attracted to the event. North American championships will be determined by the results in all classes listed on the schedule.

Camping Facilities Will be Improved in Minnesota Forests

Establishment of camp grounds on state forests and state lands will be stressed this summer in northern Minnesota, according to Grover Conzet, Director of the State Division of Forestry and Fire Prevention. Physical improvements will be made under the Emergency Conservation Work program of the Federal government with work to be done by members of the Civilian Conservation Corps.

Preliminary plans have been completed following surveys of desirable locations, Mr. Conzet said. Picnic grounds will be developed and scenic sites improved. Overnight camps will be provided at strategical points and regular tourist camp sites will be included in the program. Camping for fishermen will be accomplished with better facilities along highways and well known trout streams.

Purposes of state forest camp grounds development are to concentrate the use of fire in protected and safe areas and thus reduce fire hazards.

Mr. Conzet pointed out that "the camp grounds will make recreational uses of state forests more easily available to the average citizen." Minnesota's scenic beauties and wealth of natural resources will be more advantageously displayed and conservation will be encouraged and fostered with the general public as a result of recreational improvements on the state forests.

DEER SMASHES CAR, THEN BREAKS OWNER'S FINGER

Brainerd — Francis Mousseau didn't mind so much when a deer got in front of his car and smashed fenders, windshields and headlights, but when that deer kicked him in the finger and broke that member, he was ready to fight! As Frances and his brother Dave were driving north near Pequot, a deer dashed across the road in front of them, the impact breaking the deer's back leg and breaking windshield, fender, lights and bumper on the car. When Frances approached the animal kicked, breaking his fingers. The boys called a game warden, who came and disposed of the deer. Near Baudette, however, deer are getting faster on their legs, and one doe appeared beside the car of C. H. Welch while he was traveling 60 miles an hour and raced along side for some time.

1935 STATE TAX IN THIS COUNTY WILL BE $52,849

Must Pay 25 Per Cent More in State Taxes Under Record Levy

Taxpayers in this county will have to dig up approximately $52,849 in taxes for state purposes for 1935, officials of the Citizens' Tax Relief Association pointed out today in a survey showing the effect that may be expected here from imposition of the highest state tax levy ever authorized in Minnesota.

The state levy to be spread for 1935 is 25 per cent higher than the levy for 1934, John F. Scott, president of the association, said, and the amount of state taxes levied against property owners here will approximate a 25 per cent boost over the current levies which they are paying.

"The legislature found it necessary to authorize a tax levy of 14.95 mills for 1935", Mr. Scott explained. "The levy for last year was 11.93 mills. The 1935 levy thus represents an increase of 25 per cent, and it will be applied on valuations which very likely will be about as high as the current valuations.

"There is no general revaluation of real estate this year and no great change in total valuations are likely. The record millage of 14.95 mills will be applied on valuations that are almost as high if not as high as those of 1934. This means that the total tax levied for state purposes for 1935 will be more than $20,500,000 as compared to $16,800,000 levied for state purposes in 1934."

The increase will add materially to the heavy tax burden resting on homes, farms and other general property, Mr. Scott said. In many rural communities the 1935 state tax will represent more than a third and in some places fully half of the taxes which farmers will be required to pay, he added.

The omnibus tax bill passed by the recent legislature provided that funds for state purposes should be obtained from other sources than the general property tax and this would have obviated the record state levy that is to be made against property owners this year. Governor Olson vetoed this bill, however, and the increased sums needed for state purposes must be raised from the general property tax.

"Greater efforts must be made to reduce expenditures of all units of government," Mr. Scott said. "It is not enough to redistribute and equalize the tax burden. We must wherever possible reduce expenditures."

Bulletin on Planting Standard Windbreaks

To provide the fullest benefit, a farm windbreak ought to be more than just a fringe of trees, points out Parker O. Anderson, extension forester, in a new University Farm extension bulletin, "Planting the Standard Windbreak."

The standard windbreak plan calls for a substantial planting of trees that will not only furnish plenty of protection to the farmstead, but with proper management will yield fuelwood, repair material, fence posts, and some day even lumber.

Points covered in this booklet include preparation of the land, sizes and kinds of trees to use, planting plans and methods, location of the windbreak, pruning, mulching, protection, and practically everything a farmer needs to know in establishing and tending a windbreak that will be a real asset to his place and a joy forever to the entire family, livestock included.

County agents, or the Bulletin Office, University Farm, St. Paul, will supply copies free to those asking. The label is Special Bulletin 168.

The Best Market —for— BUTTERFAT

For more than a quarter of a century the Co-operative Creameries have proven to be the best market for butterfat.

Why are the prices for butterfat higher where there are Co-operative Creameries than where there are none? Because the Co-operative Creamery fixes the market value on butterfat, and fair prices can always be paid by a good Co-operative Creamery, as all profits are returned to the patrons who supply the raw materials.

If Minnesota's 610 Co-operative Creameries were put out of business, what would the price of butterfat be then? Better think this over before you sell your butterfat elsewhere.

Every good business man should boost his own business, and the farmer should boost his own business also, especially when he knows it is making him real money.

Who can be expected to boost for the Co-operative Creamery if the farmer himself fails to support it?

Why is butterfat selling at 5 to 10 cents less per pound in other States than in Minnesota? Ask the farmer in Kansas, Nebraska, and other states where there are very few Co-operative Creameries.

If you study this matter as you should, you must be convinced that the Co-operative Creamery is "The Goose that laid the Golden Egg."

The Co-operative Creameries will continue to prosper if the farmers stay by them.

No power in the world can break the Co-operative Creameries if the farmers patronize them.

A good creamery, backed by a good Board of Directors and a loyal bunch of patrons delivering cream, is a great asset to any community.

Sell your next can of cream to the Co-operative Creamery. Yours for a bigger and better Co-operative creamery in Thief River Falls.

SCHOOL BOARD CALLS FOR BIDS ON 1935-6 COAL

Board Also to Get Figures on Second Concrete Tennis Court

GETS RESIGNATIONS FROM TWO TEACHERS

To Act Next Monday on Minor Repairs to School Buildings

Consideration of vacation repairs on local school buildings, calling for bids on next winter's coal supply as well as bids on a second concrete tennis court, and acceptance of resignations by two faculty members constituted the principal matters to be acted on by the board of education at its June meeting Monday evening.

After considering a lengthy list of needed minor repairs on the school buildings submitted by Supt. Morris Bye, the board voted to inspect the various buildings next Monday and decide on what part of the program is to be carried out.

Mr. Bye announced that Miss Winifred Sampson, fifth grade teacher in the Knox school, and Miss Victoria Edberg, high school instructor in English, French and dramatics, had tendered their resignations and asked to be released from their contracts for the coming year. Miss Sampson is to be married and Miss Edberg wishes to teach elsewhere. Their resignations were accepted.

Mr. Bye pointed out that the one concrete tennis court adjoining Lincoln high school is entirely inadequate to accommodate the tennis players who wish to use it, and that there is a strong demand from students and adults for another court. He said the sum of $250 is available for the purpose from a memorial fund accumulated by the senior classes of the last three years. A new court would cost approximately $500, it was estimated, and the board voted to advertise for bids.

The board also voted to advertise for bids on the next winter's supply of coal, the bids to be opened at the July meeting, and to cover [illegible] tons of lump coal and 125 tons of screenings.

"Altho the price paid for coal during the past year," Mr. Bye said, "was from 70 cents to $1.55 more per ton than the previous year, the total fuel cost for 1934-35 was $96.91 less than the previous year and $300.87 less than the average annual cost for the ten-year period from 1921 to 1931. Less coal was used in all the buildings except the Northrop, where the amount used was 2.35 tons greater, while in that building we used three cords less of wood."

THOMPSON HEADS JUNIOR CIVIC AND COMMERCE GROUP

Other Officers Selected in First Election Last Thursday

Gorman Thompson was elected president of the recently organized Junior Civic and Commerce association in the first annual election conducted last Thursday evening in the Evelyn hotel.

Other officers named include Lincoln Arnold, vice president; James Rowland, secretary; Archie Hendrud, treasurer; Otis Wold, Chester Myrom and Clarence Sande, directors for two-year terms; and Clifford Bjorkman, George Winters and Douglass Boeten, directors for one year.

The new organization, with a present membership of approximately 25, will be enlarged following the appointment by President Thompson of a membership committee. Meetings will be held the first and third Thursdays of each month, with the next meeting set for June 20.

In order to cooperate more closely with the senior Civic and Commerce association, Mr. Thompson accepted an invitation from the board of directors of that body to attend its meetings.

Local Motorists Warned of Check by Patrol on Auto Brakes and Lights

Members of the state highway patrol in the city this week announced that the annual summer checkup on automobile lights and brakes will open shortly, and advised motorists to have their cars checked in the meantime at official light adjusting stations. Garages also are being asked to check brakes free of charge to determine if they need adjustments or repairs. A recent check on the Iron Range revealed that one car out of ten has defective brakes and that one out of 20 have virtually no brakes at all. One out of three cars checked were found to have defective lights, patrolmen reported.

Sangerfest Concert Scores Hit Saturday

Local Organizations Mark Railroad Week

Railroad Week, which is being observed this week thruout central and western United States, was recognized locally by the Rotary club Tuesday when W. H. Mann and H. A. Pratt of the local Soo Line staff discussed improvements being made in railroad equipment and service to combat the competition offered by other forms of transportation. At the Civic and Commerce luncheon this noon twenty pensioned employes of the Soo Line will be guests of Mr. Mann. A total of 481 employes are being entertained in a similar manner this week in communities served by the Soo Line.

SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT DISCUSSED BY C. & C. GROUP

Propose Taking Action After Engine Grant Has Been Disposed of

Following a discussion of the advisability of urging the city administration to take steps to secure a federal grant and loan for the construction of a sewage disposal plant to relieve the present situation in the southern section of the city, members of the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday voted to refer the matter to the board of directors for a recommendation.

It was agreed that no steps to secure a grant should be taken until the pending application in connection with the installation of a new Diesel unit in the municipal power plant has been disposed of. The discussion followed a report by Morris Bye of the water control meeting in Fargo Monday of last week, which went on record as urging the early installation of sewage disposal plants by all cities along the Red river and its tributaries.

At the suggestion of the Bemidji Association of Commerce the local group adopted a resolution urging the highway department to improve the section of Trunk Highway 75 from Donaldson north to the boundary as a means of halting diversion of Canadian traffic to the North Dakota side of Red river.

The matter of boys walking across lawns in peddling handbills was brought up by Alf Berry, and after some discussion was referred to the merchants committee.

Mayor Rinkel Requests Observing of Crippled Children Week June 16

The following proclamation calling for the observance of Crippled Children's Week June 16 to 22 was issued today by Mayor Frank Rinkel:

"Whereas, the citizens of this State of Minnesota are known for their interest in and compassion for their less fortunate fellows, and

"Whereas, the Minnesota Department of the American Legion Auxiliary is sponsoring the work of the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children, and

"Whereas, there is no helplessness more appealing than that of the crippled child, now

"Therefore, I Frank A. Rinkel, Mayor of Thief River Falls, do hereby designate June 16th to 22nd as Crippled Children's Week in this Community, and urge the people of the Community to observe the week by renewing their interest in our handicapped ones, and by becoming members of the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children.

"Given under my hand and seal, this 10th day of June, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirty five."

More Than 100 Singers Give Impressive Performance at Auditorium

Citizens of the Thief River Falls community were given a rare treat Saturday night when more than 100 singers of the Red River Valley Norwegian Singers association gave a concert at the City Auditorium, as part of the convention program of the group. Affiliated with the association are choruses from Devils Lake, Fargo, Grand Forks, Petersburg, Dahlen, Winnipeg, Hatton and Thief River Falls.

On the stage were 100 men, both old and young, dressed in white caps, dark coats, white trousers and white shoes making it a very striking chorus in appearance. There were many men who showed considerable age and mingled with them were those of the coming generation. The singing brought forth enthusiasm which is seldom heard from a group of male voices. The spirit in which every singer entered into the various songs showed the love they had for the Norwegian songs. Their response to the director was instantaneous and appeared as if the soul of each singer came forth in the various phrasing of the songs.

Accompanying the chorus was an orchestra from Grand Forks, which did splendid work and gave an account of themselves worthy of a great deal of credit. The directing of the orchestra and chorus was shared between Mr. Louis Waag of East Grand Forks, and G. E. Oyloe of Fargo.

Special mention should go to Henry Hougium of Moorhead who sang a group of solos accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Engen Hamilton. They were very well rendered. He possesses a mellow voice which was very pleasing to the audience. Mr. Hougium also sang the solo parts in the chorus.

The opening number of the chorus was "America" followed by the national Anthem of Norway, namely "Ja Vi Elsker dette Landet". These two numbers were evidently sung as an honor to America and Norway and were not a part of the printed program. The orchestration was well balanced favoring very strongly the string and reed instruments. Some of the songs by the chorus worthy of special mention were old favorites such as The Lost Chord, Her ved Den Store Hvide Flok, Beautiful Savior, and Landkjending. It was noticable thruout the concert that many singers used no music, but sang the songs from memory. This added a great deal to the efficiency of the director in bringing out the spirit of each song.

Much can be said relative to a concert of this kind, but one of the greatest characteristics is that men will gather from a large number of communities and join in a chorus to sing songs they love to sing. It does not require trained voices, or long rehearsals. When a chorus sings and brings forth the soul of the music and that of its composer, the results are always pleasing to any audience.

A total of 110 singers from other communities were registered here Saturday in addition to 60 members of the women's auxiliary. In the biennial election of officers that featured the business session Sunday morning J. H. Mickelson of Fargo was named president succeeding Dr. J. N. Nesse of this city; Mr. Christianson, Dahlen, N. D., vice president; Hans Rosenberg, Fargo, secretary; Peter Flem, Petersburg, N. D., treasurer; Louis Wang, East Grand Forks, director-in-chief; G. E. Oyloe, Fargo, assistant director; Andrew Thorson, Hatton, N. Dak., marshal; and L. H. Larson of this city, trustee for six years.

WEED MEETING TO BE CONDUCTED IN CITY NEXT MONDAY

Town Chairmen to Share in Discussion of Weed and Seed Control

The annual weed meeting held in Thief River Falls under the sponsorship of the state department of agriculture, dairy and food will be conducted at the court house next Monday, June 17, at 1:30 in the afternoon, it was announced today by C. P. Bull, special assistant to Commissioner R. A. Trovatten.

While all township board chairman are directed to attend as provided by the weed control act, the general public is invited to attend and participate in the discussion of weed and seed control, Mr. Bull stated.

Among the topics scheduled to come up for consideration are new phases of the weed problem, weed eradication methods, costs and implements; pure seed and weed seeds and other matters.

PROPOSAL FOR COURT HOUSE IS GIVEN TO BOARD

District ERA Engineer Suggests Trying to Get Federal Aid

BOARD REQUESTS MORE INFORMATION

Takes No Action to Appeal St. Lukes Hospital Tax Case

S. F. Sharples, third district ERA engineer with headquarters in this city, and F. B. Pfeifer, consulting architect with the federal works division, appeared before the Pennington county board at its June meeting Tuesday and proposed that the county take steps to acquire a new court house building by means of the federal grant and loan program expected to become effective after July 1.

While not committing itself to taking the necessary steps, the board asked the officials to supply information regarding the possibility of securing financial assistance on the project, reserving a definite decision on the matter until more data is available.

Mr. Pfeifer had with him a set of plans for a proposed new court house for Clearwater county in Bagley, and he indicated that several other counties in northern Minnesota are expected to take similar steps. The need of protecting invaluable county records against fire hazards was pointed out.

Altho discussing the matter, the board took no action to appeal to the supreme court from the recent ruling of the Minnesota tax commission holding St. Lukes hospital exempt from payment of real estate taxes. Members expressed the opinion that any further action should be left in the hands of the city council inasmuch as the city stands to receive a large portion of the taxes levied on the structure.

ROY OEN ACCEPTS COACHING JOB AT OBERLIN COLLEGE

Confirms Report on Return From Duties in Hibbing High School

Following his return Saturday from Hibbing, where he had completed his first full year of service as athletic coach in the Hibbing high school, Roy Oen confirmed reports that he had signed a contract with Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, to serve the coming year as assistant football and basketball coach as well as instructor of classes in physical education. He will assume his new post in September.

Mr. Oen, who won wide acclaim for his football prowess at the University of Minnesota, serving as captain of the 1933 team, had a successful first season at Hibbing last fall, winning five games and losing two.

Oberlin college, with an enrollment of approximately 1,500, has a highly developed liberal arts college and school of music. The institution carries on an extensive program in physical education for both men and women.

COUNTY RELIEF WORKER GOES TO BEMIDJI OFFICE

Acting Worker is Appointed Successor to Mrs. Trudie King

Mrs. Trudie King, who has been in charge of the Pennington county relief office since late in December, Monday took charge of the Beltrami county relief office with headquarters in Bemidji. Taking her place here as acting relief worker is Miss Marjorie Shaw, who has served as investigator in the local office.

Due in part to a change in the system of records, as well as to increased employment, the number of relief cases in the county declined from 243 in April to 186 in May, this latter number including a total of 874 persons.

Direct relief orders issued in May aggregated $1,728.96, while the amount spent on work relief was $1,700.27. In addition to which flour valued at $126.36 was distributed, making total disbursements for the month of $3,555.59. There were 14 active work relief projects under way during the month.

Pennington Receipts of Current Taxes Hit $89,354.92 During May

Collections of current taxes in Pennington county in May aggregated $89,354.92, approximately $7,800 more than the total for the corresponding period last year, County Treasurer John Gullingsrud announced today. Other receipts for the month included $11,743.17 in delinquent taxes, $280.42 from private redemption, $535.03 in state land interest, $641.78 ditch tax collections, and $106 in game and fish licenses. Other minor items made up total receipts of $103,538.80.

DIRECTORS OF THE LAND O'LAKES ARE LUNCHEON GUESTS

Board of State Unit Meets in Thief River Falls Wednesday

More than 20 directors of Land O'Lakes Creameries from thruout Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Wisconsin, who held their monthly board meeting in this city Wednesday, were luncheon guests of the Civic and Commerce association at the Evelyn hotel.

Following the introduction of members of the local association by Secretary Paul Lundgren, Stuart McLeod of the Land O'Lakes board, introduced his fellow members as well as plant officials and fieldmen and members of the boards of Districts 17 and 14.

After a group of selections by the local Land O'Lakes quartet, City Attorney Theodore Quale welcomed the visitors in behalf of the city, while W. E. Dahlquist extended greetings in behalf of the Civic and Commerce association. Robert J. Lund, manager of the wool pool in this city, told briefly of the record of the local concentration point.

John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes, who was introduced by H. O. Norby, manager of the local plant, took occasion to praise the neighboring communities in this section for their cooperative spirit in supporting the local Land O'Lakes plant. The cooperative movement, he said in closing, constitutes a practical "share the wealth" program.

The Land O'Lakes directors devoted the remainder of the day to their board meeting and to an inspection of the facilities of the local poultry plant, this being the first time some of the directors had visited Thief River Falls.

LYCEUM THEATRE IS PURCHASED BY AVALON OWNERS

Will be Opened Shortly for Showing of First Run Pictures

Announcement was made this week that the Thief River Falls Theatre company, owner of the Avalon theatre, had purchased the Lyceum theatre on LaBree av., formerly owned by Roy Morgan.

The Lyceum, a completely equipped theatre, has not been in operation the past year, and Manager A. M. Holte announced that it would be opened shortly for the showing of one or two programs each week. In the meantime a number of minor improvements will be made in the equipment of the theatre.

Mr. Holte stated that the policy of the Lyceum would be the same as that of the Avalon, and that first run pictures would be shown altho at a lower scale of admission fees than that in effect at the Avalon.

Los Angeles Man Talks on Christian Science Monday

John Ellis Sedman of Los Angeles will give a free lecture on Christian Science in the Auditorium next Monday evening, June 17, at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Thief River Falls Christian Science society. Mr. Sedman, who is a member of the board of lectureship of the Mother Church in Boston, Massachusetts, will speak on the topic "Christian Science and Eternal, Indestructible Life". The public is invited to attend.

Charter is Approved for Northern State Bank

Word was received this week by organizers of the Northern State bank of Thief River Falls that a charter for the institution had been approved by state authorities in St. Paul following a hearing on the application conducted two weeks ago. The bank will get into operation as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made.

CITY COUNCIL TOLD OF PLANS FOR HUGE RINK

To Seek Federal Aid for Construction of Enclosed Rink in City

EIGHT BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

Get Preliminary Report by Engineer on Proposed Diesel Unit

Sketches and cost estimates for the proposed enclosed skating rink sponsored by the American Legion post and supported by other local organizations were submitted at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday evening by O. C. Paulson and Henry C. [illegible], architect. The proposed building, which it was estimated would cost approximately $22,000 if completed in all details, would be financed by a federal loan and grant, and it was predicted that the earnings would be sufficient to retire the debt over a period of years.

Plans call for a building of tile construction with concrete floor and with a warming room at one end, and would provide space for a rink 199 by 75 feet in dimensions with accommodations for 1,000 spectators. It was pointed out that it will be necessary for the city to sponsor the project in order to qualify for a grant from the federal government, and the council agreed to communicate with W. H. Carey, acting state public works engineer, and get information as to the prospect of obtaining federal aid.

Eight building permits calling for an expenditure aggregating nearly $8,000 were approved at the meeting. Included in the list were permits to M. P. Erickson for improvements to the Erickson & Lund Funeral Home, $2,000; Mrs. H. G. Sager for 20 tourist cabins to cost $2,000; C. L. Williams, garage, $250; Mrs. Martha [illegible], residence, $800; Clarence Forsberg, addition to dwelling, $[illegible]; E. L. Holm, garage, $175; [illegible] Nelson, garage, $400; and T. E. Magnuson, store addition, $[illegible].

A petition from the [illegible] company for the closing of a [illegible] road leading north from Sixth st. near the Great Northern tracks was ordered laid on the table. Another petition was presented by William LaFave asking the city to construct a road across the ball yard from the First st. bridge to the new section of Greenwood cemetery. The matter was referred to the street committee for a report.

The petition of a group of residents along West Fourth st. for the abatement of the Godfrey Carlson and H. A. Brudeson properties was denied by the council, on the grounds that the premises are in good condition subject to minor improvements which the parties involved have signified their intention of making.

A letter was read from W. H. Skinner, consulting engineer engaged in making a survey of the local power plant, in which he suggested the wisdom of making a larger investment in new equipment than was originally contemplated. At the same time he stated he was continuing his study of a 1,000 horsepower installation, and the council indicated it would await his final report, in the meantime planning an inspection of Diesel and steam plants in northwestern communities. Mayor Frank Rinkel commented on the efficiency of a steam plant which he inspected in Valley City Tuesday afternoon.

Supt. Ole Lagvold of the water and light department reported that the proposed extension of electric lines north from the fair grounds would cost an estimated $345 exclusive of transformers. The council light committee was instructed to ascertain how many homes would connect up with the line, and was given power to act in the matter.

Olson and Kolden submitted the only bid on the proposal to furnish steel window shutters and doors for the power plant building and the dam and a concrete roof for the oil reservoir, their bid being in the sum of $3,610. Action on the matter was deferred.

The council voted to get an estimate of the cost of installing a concrete tennis court on the park block on the east side, which it was pointed out would fill a much needed want.

J. M. Thelge, secretary, and G. S. Bergland, manager, of the local creamery, asked the council to make a study of the tax assessment on the creamery property with a view to easing the burden. It was indicated that the matter would be brought up at the board of equalization meeting which opens June 24.

DOUBLE WEDDING RITES WEDNESDAY IN TRINITY CHURCH

Halvorson Sisters Wed to Alfred Solem and Clifford Carlson

In a double wedding ceremony read by Rev. R. M. Fjelstad in the Trinity Lutheran church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, Miss Rebecca Halvorson became the bride of Alfred R. Solem and Miss Helen Halvorson, the bride of Clifford A. Carlson. Following the playing of "To a Wild Rose", the wedding procession entered to the strains of Lohengrins wedding march. The bridesmaids, Stella and Dagny, sisters of the brides, were dressed in blue gowns, stella's of blue crepe, ankle length, and Dagny's of silk organdy, also ankle length. Both carried corsages of sweet peas and yellow roses.

The brides entered with their father, both wearing models of white satin, floor length, and veils. Their flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. The flower girl was Phyllis Halvorson, sister of the brides. Allen Solem, brother of Alfred, and Olger Erickson acted as groomsmen. William and Morris Halvorson, brothers of the brides were ushers. Walter Ekeren beautifully sang, "O, Promise Me" immediately after the bridal party had taken their places at the altar.

The brides are sisters, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Halvorson of near this city. They attended school together and graduated at the same time from eighth grade and high school. Miss Helen attended Union Commercial college at Grand Forks and has worked in that city the past nine years. Miss Rebecca attended the teacher-training department here in 1925 and has been engaged in rural teaching since. Alfred Solem, husband of Rebecca, is the son of P. Solem of near here. Clifford Carlson, husband of Helen, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Carlson of Grand Forks. Following the ceremony, a wedding reception for forty relatives and friends was held at the brides' farm home.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson left on a wedding trip to points in Minnesota and will be at home in Grand Forks where the groom is employed with a glass and paint company. After a tour of the Black Hills and Yellowstone park, Mr. and Mrs. Solem will make their home on the groom's farm near here.

Miss Marion Peirson and A. M. Steenerson Wed at Bride's Home

The home of Dr. and Mrs. H. F. Peirson, 207 West Winona street Austin, was the scene of a pretty wedding Monday afternoon at four o'clock when their daughter, Marion Allen, became the bride of Alfred Melvin Steenerson of Crookston, son of G. L. Steenerson of this city. The Rev. Joseph Greyham Morgan of the Congregational Church performed the ceremony in the presence of thirty-five guests.

Preceding the service, a program of nuptial music was played on the harp. Miss Lorna Bluhm sang "I Love You Truly" and "At Dawning", and during the ceremony, soft music on the harp was played. Lohengrin's wedding march was used for the processional.

The bride was met at the foot of the stairway by her father who gave her in marriage. Vows were spoken before an improvised altar beautifully decorated with ferns, pink stocks, white daisies and lighted tapers.

The bride wore a Lanvin model ivory satin gown trimmed with corded satin fashioned with a train. Her finger-tip length veil was worn coronet style and she carried an arm bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and Johanna Hill roses.

Miss Helen Petrson, sister of the bride, attended her sister as maid of honor and wore green mousseline de sole with matching picture hat, and carried Talisman roses and white daisies.

Mr. Steenerson was attended by Wright Miller of Plainview, acting as the best man.

The reception was held following the ceremony. The bride's mother wore a flowered chiffon dress with a shoulder bouquet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley. In the receiving line was also Mrs. G. H. Allen, grandmother of the bride.

In the dining room, a color scheme of green and white was artistically used in the decorations. The bride's table was centered with a large wedding cake and lighted tapers. At five-thirty a buffet supper was served by Miss Florence Larson and Mrs. Baird Detwiler, friends of the bride.

The bride and groom left immediately on a wedding trip to Grand Marais and other points in northern Minnesota. For traveling, the bride wore a suit of beet-root and white silk with white accessories. They will be at home after July 1 at Crookston, Mr. Steenerson being associated with the Chevrolet Garage of that place.

The bride is a graduate of the Austin High School and the University of Minnesota where she was a member of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority. For the past several years she has been an instructor of Physical Education in the schools of this city.

Local people who attended the wedding were Mrs. Thelma Holm Erickson and Miss Alice Peterson, teacher at the Washington.

Surprise Farewell

Mrs. Emil Hedlund who left for an extended visit in the west, was surprised by a number of friends at her home Friday evening. The guests gave her a gift and spent the hours in a social way. Those present at Mrs. Hedlund's were the Mesdames Harry Ness, Luther Johnson, A. M. Anne, Clement Cote, Joe Hazelton, Joe Propelle, Alma Anderson, Phil Cote, Oscar Hauge of St. Hilaire, and the Misses Lois Cote and Jewel Klevestad.

LEGION AUXILIARY OPENS DRIVE FOR CRIPPLES MONDAY

Seeks Funds to Enlarge Program of Minnesota Association

The opening gun in the statewide campaign for cripples will be fired when members of the local unit of the American Legion auxiliary meet on Monday, June 17th, to begin their solicitation in all sections of the county.

The campaign, under the auspices of the Legion auxiliary, is to raise a state fund of $32,450 to expand the services of the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children. The auxiliary of the state is sponsoring this movement because of the year's study made by the association which shows a vital need for attention to the problem of child and adult cripples. This fits in with the child welfare program of the American Legion Auxiliary, according to Mrs. M. E. Withrow, of International Falls, state president of the auxiliary.

Experiments launched by the association a year or two ago have proved successful and will be incorporated in regular services. The proposed plan contemplates seeking out cripples over the state who have not proper treatment and care.

According to studies made by by the association and other bodies, there are 25,000 crippled adults and 10,000 crippled children in Minnesota. Since the association has announced its expanded program, requests for attention have come in from all sections of the state for cripples who have not been recorded in previous efforts.

At the present time, 44 cripples in various parts of the state are receiving instructions in handicrafts which tend to make them self-supporting. There are over a hundred on the waiting list who cannot be served due to the fact that the association does not have adequate funds at the present time to employ additional teachers.

Academic teachers for home-bound cripples will be employed by the association and a medical worker to prepare for and follow up clinics. Where therapeutic services are called for the association will furnish them, by expert therapists.

The state office of the association is preparing a folder giving the program in detail and the aims of the association. Anyone interested in receiving this pamphlet should get in touch with Mrs. Claude Evenson of the local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Parcel Shower

Mrs. C. Carlson, Mrs. Claire O'Hara, and Mrs. Jake O'Hara were joint hostesses at a parcel shower given for Mrs. Willis Grindeland at the Ed O'Hara home Thursday evening. Theodore Hornseth and Hannah Weber Married

Rev. H. L. Sjogren performed the ceremony that united Miss Hannah Weber and Theodore Hornseth in marriage Wednesday morning at nine o'clock in the Augustana Lutheran church. The couple was attended by Miss Estelle Phillip and Irvin Houghum. The bride was dressed in a white satin gown with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of talisman roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore a dress of rose shade and had accessories of white. Her flowers were sweet peas. Mrs. Hornseth is a daughter of Mrs. Melvin Ihle of Newfolden. She graduated from Lincoln high school with the class of 1933 and has been employed at the Palm Garden Cafe. The groom is the son of Peter Hornseth of this city. Following a wedding trip to the Twin Cities, Duluth and Lake shore drive, the couple will be at home on the groom's farm.

Patrick Harris Marries Myrtle Sevre June 6

Patrick Harris was united in marriage to Miss Myrtle Sevre in a ceremony performed in Crookston Thursday afternoon. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harris of this city. He has attended the local schools and was graduated with the high school class of 1931. At present he is employed by the Minnesota highway department. Mrs. Harris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sevre of St. Hilaire. They are making their home at 313 N. Duluth.

W. H. Mann Married May 27 in Devils Lake, N. Dak.

Of interest to the residents of this community is the marriage of W. H. Mann, assistant division superintendent on the Soo railroad, to Mrs. L. A. Peters of Devils Lake, N. Dak. The wedding took place May 27 at nine o'clock in Devils Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Mann are making their home in this city.

Local Pianists Praised by Music Critics at M.F.M.C.

Judges and music critics praised highly Robert Douville and Angeline Havel for their work at the M. F. M. C. in the Twin Cities last week-end, according to word received today from Mrs. Thelma Holm Erickson. Robert Douville placed second in the state contest and Angeline Havel was piano soloist at the program for Schubert club members given at the St. Paul hotel Saturday. At the same place Friday, Mrs. Erickson as first vice president and state education chairman of M. F. M. C. gave a report at the meetings and had an educational display. Monday she was honor guest and played for the Kiwanis club in Albert Lea.

Officers of Auxiliary Attend Warren Meeting

Mrs. Claude Evenson and Mrs. Carl Hovie of the local auxiliary unit spent Saturday afternoon in Warren attending a district meeting of the Minnesota Association for Crippled Children, at which Mrs. C. L. Stickney presided. C. M. Young and Miss Pearl Kinney of Minneapolis were present to instruct the unit officers of the Legion auxiliary in the work.

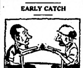
For Alice Olen

Mrs. H. Ostrom and Mrs. H. Olen were hostesses at a shower Wednesday evening at the Ostrom home for Miss Alice Olen who is to be a bride this week. Games formed the evening's entertainment and the bride-to-be received many articles of kitchen ware. Lunch was served, guests including the Mesdames Ralph Shetler, J. Soderberg, J. Johnson, L. Furan, Melvin Peterson, and the Misses Violet Furan and Ardith Ostrom.

Auxiliary Notes

At the meeting of the auxiliary June 6, Dr. Helen Hughes Hielscher who passed away May 31 at Mankato was remembered during devotions. An autographed picture of Mrs. Tess Carlson national president, was presented to Mrs. Steen for being second highest in the state for membership. Nominations for delegates to the district convention were made as follows: unit president, Mrs. Claude Evenson; unit secretary, Mrs. A. C. Campbell; ninth district rehabilitation chairman, Mrs. Oscar Smith, Mrs. Frank Tunberg and Mrs. A. B. Stenberg. The alternates were: Jr. activities chairman, Mrs. W. W. Powell; unit treasurer, Mrs. J. Steen; Americanism chairman, Mrs. R. Woolhouse; drum major of auxiliary drum corps, Mrs. L. Fossum and Mrs. Luther Hagen. Mrs. Sina Larson, one of the Gold Star mothers, was reported ill. The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Oscar Paulson and Mrs. N. O. Norby. At a special meeting in honor of the Juniors, the Mesdames Harold Eide, Ralph McCain and Oscar Monsebroten acted as hostesses. The returns from the poppy sale was not the highest amount ever taken in, but it was higher this year than last, which seemed to be general throughout the state.

EARLY CATCH



"Yes, sir, the fish was so big it pulled him in the river."

"And he was drowned?"

"No, but he might as well have been for he lost his grip on his lunch basket and it floated down stream."

W. C. T. U. News Notes

At the silver medal contest held at the Community church Monday evening, Mrs. W. L. Patterson, Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, and Mrs. J. M. Bishop as judges voted Ethel Kivle as winner from the six girls who took part. Mrs. Wm. Korstad, local director of the medal contest presided at this meeting which also included vocal selections by Arnhild Fjelstad, and a piano solo by Helen Granum. Miss Kivle is now eligible to compete along with Kathleen Monsebroten, Robert Sjoberg, Elizabeth Jorde, and David Belcher for the gold medal at Warren Thursday at 8:00 when the district convention is being held both Thursday and Friday at the first Methodist church. Mrs. Della Bates of Fraser, district president, will preside at the meetings and Mrs. Harriet Northfield, state president, is to be the guest speaker following the contest. Mrs. Minnie Stylund of Warren, medal director for the district, will award the gold medal. The gold medal contestants will also be guests of the Warren local unit at a 6:30 banquet that will be held Thursday.

NEW CONTRACTS OFFERED WHEAT SIGNERS SHORTLY

Recent Referendum 7 to 1 for Continuance of Program

With almost complete returns of the national wheat referendum showing that growers by a vote of 7 to 1 favor the continuance of the wheat allotment program after the 1935 crop year, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has decided to offer wheat farmers a new contract about July 1. Word to this effect has been received at University Farm, St. Paul, from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The AAA's statement says that of 392,283 contract signers voting May 25, in 37 states, 348,496, or 89 per cent, favored continuing the wheat allotment program and 43,888, or 11 per cent, opposed it. Of 65,500 non-signers of contracts voting, 48,345, or 72.5 per cent, favored the proposal, and 18,245 or 27.5 per cent opposed it. About 68 per cent of all contract signers voted.

"As a result of this mandate from the wheat farmer, the work of drafting a new wheat contract to cover the years 1936, 1937 and 1939, is already under way" announces George E. Farrell, director of the AAA division of grains, Washington, D. C. "It is hoped to have the new contract ready to offer to farmers July 1."

The new contract will be similar to the one now in effect, except for the following:

1. It will run for four years, unless ended before that time by a vote of the contract signers. Such a vote will be taken at the end of any marketing year, if 25 per cent or more of the growers in any major wheat area, such as the spring wheat belt, request it.

2. The secretary of agriculture may require contract signers to reduce their acreage as much as 25 per cent, if the supply and demand situation should warrant such a reduction. The 1933-35 contract permits a reduction of as much as 20 per cent, but the largest reduction yet required in any one year has been 15 per cent.

Producer committees will continue, as in the past, to administer the local phases of the allotment program, but with broader administrative powers, designed particularly to wipe out inequalities between producers, existing in a few cases, under the present contract.

HOODS ARE FASHION FAD OF THE MOMENT

Spring Debutantes Rush for Them Like Mad.

Little Red Riding Hood would be up among the winners in the spring fashion parade.

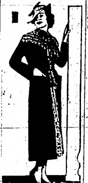
For hoods are the fad of the moment, and the spring crop of debutantes is rushing for them like mad.

Hooded evening wraps are to be seen in our best stay-up-late spots this season, recalling the romance of the Far East, or something. These geographical illusions always get us all mixed up. But it seems that the big idea first came from the Hindu girls, who still like to protect their finger waves from the mischievous breezes.

It's a good idea, for more than one perfect coiffure has been ruined by a brisk ride in an open car of an evening. And now you can simply pull up the hood of your cloak and arrive at the ball as unruffled as if you had just stepped from the hairdresser's salon.

MODISH REDINGOTE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS



Redingote fashions are in the lead. They have everything to recommend them. From the practical standpoint no wiser investment can be made than buying one of these costumes which include a redingote that later can be worn with most any dress, while the print frock that comes with it will turn out to be one of your most prized possessions, since it will flatter at the same time that it does active service, the whole spring and summer through. The model pictured has a frock of red and white crepe. A deep tuck in the skirt gives it the appearance of a tunic dress. The redingote is of black crepe with patch pockets and loose sleeves.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to City of Thief River Falls and the Home for the aged for the kind care they have taken during the illness of our brother H. W. Hager. Also for the consoling message of Rev. J. H. Smith and the songs of the choir.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Schroeder,
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kirschner.

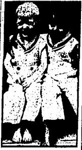
FAR FROM IDENTICAL



These children, Umberto and Rudolph Rios of Santa Catalina island, are twins, however little they may look like it. Umberto is a pure albino and Rudolph resembles his Mexican parents; wherefore they arouse the interest of scientists. The only known albino in their family tree was their grandmother's great-grandmother.

Heredity

Except for a few cases of sex-linked heredity, such as color blindness, hemophilia, night blindness and Gower's disease, in which sons inherit directly from the mother, there are no evidences that heredity differs between the sexes.

Deaf Never Given Such Guarantee Before—Lifetime Service Now FREE

The most sensational announcement to be made to the deafened since the discovery of bone conduction, has been released by Acousticon, world's foremost creator of hearing aids. With a sweeping decision which revolutionizes the hearing device profession, Acousticon becomes now not only the most satisfactory but by far the most economical scientific aid for the deafened.

Ruggedly designed and manufactured completely in the Acousticon laboratories—the largest in the world devoted exclusively to hearing devices—the new Silver Seal Symphonic Acousticon is the first such instrument in history to be offered with a written Guarantee of FREE LIFETIME SERVICE!

Acousticon alone dares make such a sweeping guarantee. With more than thirty years of solid success behind it—with a world-wide, securely established organization—Acousticon's lifetime guarantee is a real and lasting protection to the individual.

The deafened who wish to try the new Silver Seal Symphonic Acousticon are invited to do so without cost or obligation. Surely the one hearing device which alone guarantees a lifetime of Free Service should be thoroughly investigated by every man and woman who is hard of hearing.

Those who have been into our offices, to hear these demonstrations, have been delighted with the simplicity and compactness of this greatly improved new instrument. They have heard more clearly and naturally, in many cases, than they had been able to hear for years. There is no strain, no nervous tension, but sound of every type—conversation, music, singing—is instantly heard and appreciated.

To arrange for a free demonstration, come in without delay. Or phone for a private appointment if you prefer. We shall be glad to help you. Mr. H. N. Elofson, Dept. (1012) Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Farmer-Labor Forces Sweep the Minneapolis City Election Monday

When Minneapolis in Monday's city election chose a Farmer-Laborite, Attorney, it went the state of Minnesota, governed by the nation's only Farmer-Labor chief executive, Governor Floyd B. Olson, one better.

Minnesota voters failed to choose a legislature favorable to Olson, but Minneapolis voters sent to the city hall a majority of Farmer-Labor supported candidates for the city council and chose followers of the new mayor for principal boards.

Latimer is Minneapolis' second Farmer-Labor mayor. William E. Anderson served a single term, without support of the council, and failed of re-election two years ago when A. G. (Buzz) Bainbridge, veteran theatrical man, who lost in the last primary, was elected.

Fifty-four new colonels were created in Kentucky in April—none of them prohibitionists.

CROOKSTON GIRL KILLED BY CIRCUS ELEPHANT JUNE 6

Animal in Atterbury Circus Stampedes, Tramples Margaret Francis

One person was killed and nearly a score injured late Thursday afternoon when a stampeding elephant crashed through a row of seats in a capacity filled tent of the Atterbury Brothers Shows at Crookston.

Margaret Ann Francis, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Francis, Crookston, was fatally crushed under one of the animal's feet and died at St. Vincent's hospital.

Spectators reported the elephant turned from her cage, bellowed and rammed her way through a side retaining wall of the tent carrying the bleachers before her. The elephant then ran the entire length of the tent.

Armed with a bull-pike, William Woodcock, the trainer, subdued the beast without trouble. The audience of an estimated 1,000 persons was panic stricken. Women and children screamed and fought to evacuate the tent. The cry of "fire" was raised by many near the main entrance who were unaware of the cause of the disturbance.

The animal and Woodcock were held for several days by Crookston authorities, being released when the circus management made settlement with victims of the mishap. The amount paid the Francis family was reported to be in the neighborhood of $5,000.

The same circus had appeared in Thief River Falls two days earlier, at which time the elephant was apparently completely tractable.

COMMISSION ASKS TRUCKERS TO HEED REGULATORY LAWS

Serves Notice Prescribed Hauling Rates Will be Enforced

The state railroad and warehouse commission has served notice on Minnesota truckers that beginning this week, the truck regulatory laws and the hauling rates which it has prescribed will be rigidly enforced.

Already, within the last ten days, four truck operators have been prosecuted for cutting rates, one has had his permit cancelled, and a Duluth shipper has been fined for paying a trucker less than the prescribed rates.

Declaring that the 1933 truck law has now been in effect long enough for all truckers and shippers to become fully acquainted with its provisions, the Commission Friday in a resolution to W. E. Hustleby, secretary, directed that the lenient policy which has prevailed until now be immediately abandoned, and that an intensive enforcement drive be initiated. The commission will call upon the state highway patrol, the attorney general and all county attorneys to aid in prosecution of violators.

Carl Hagen, a trucker of Olivia, Minnesota had his permit cancelled when it was shown at a hearing that he had violated the law by hauling for more than five persons, which is the limit the Commission has prescribed for truckers other than those operating as regular common carriers under Chapter 185, Laws of 1925. One large Twin City trucking company, and three Duluth truckers, are being prosecuted for cutting rates, and will almost certainly be fined. One shipper has already been fined $100 for paying less than the commission-prescribed rates, and trade associations are warning merchants of the state to beware of patronizing any illegal truck operations.

First National Contest for 4-H Food Project Offers Big Prize List

A national contest in 4-H food preparation the first ever to be held, will be conducted for the 300,000 club members enrolled this year, announce the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work. County, state and four sectional prizes and a grand national prize are offered. The presentations will be a feature of appropriate 4-H club events at the end of the project year.

State Club Leader T. A. Erickson of St. Paul has just accepted the contest for the state from the National 4-H Committee in Chicago which will supply detailed rules at once to county and local leaders, who will cooperate in conducting the contest.

County winners will receive a handsome gold medal bearing a design symbolic of the contest and embossed upon the back with appropriate data. The state prize is a trip to the 14th National Club Congress, the annual meet for over 1200 4-H delegates and leaders. Victors in the four sectional contests will each receive a kerosene operating "Electrolux" refrigerator. The final feature of the contest will be awarding the national champion a $400 cash college scholarship.

THE HARM CANNOT BE UNDONE

In its issue of February 7 the Times carried a story of a car stolen at Crookston by an Arthur Jorstad of Fargo. It was because the car was owned by Donald Sayder of this city that the incident was mentioned in our news columns. It has now been called to our attention that through careless reading of that item and with the aid of some irresponsible tongue wagging there is a story in circulation in this community to the effect that Harold Jorstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Jorstad of Kratka, had been convicted of stealing a car. The story has gotten back to the Jorstads and they, of course, are very much distressed over the untrue statements that have been circulated.

Aside from presenting the facts of the case, the Jorstads need no defense in this matter. As a family they are highly respected in the community and Harold, who has been so unjustly criticised, is a young man of excellent reputation. The incident does serve as an example however of the danger of loose talk. The few scandal mongers scattered around through every community would do little damage were it not for the assistance they receive from the many people who, without any particularly malicious intent, repeat the gossip which they hear without making any effort to verify the charges.

There is a story of a man who, being of advanced years and desiring to make peace with his God sought the advice of his parish priest. Among other things he confessed that he had frequently borne false witness against his neighbors. He acknowledged that he had wronged many good people by repeating untruthful things about them. As a proper penance for this mischief the good padre suggested that he secure a bag full of fine feathers and scatter them thruout the village, depositing a few at each doorstep. This he did and when the task was completed he returned to the priest for further instructions. "Return now," said the priest," and gather all of the feathers which you have scattered." "But that I cannot do," answered the man. "The wind has blown them about and many of them are now scattered far and wide over the countryside. It would be impossible to recover them." "And that", said the priest, "is what has happened to the falsehoods you have spoken. The mischief you have done by speaking falsely of your neighbors can never be undone. The harm you have wrought can never be repaired."

Under the provisions of a new law in Wisconsin, every restaurant in that state must serve two thirds of an ounce of Wisconsin butter and two thirds of an ounce of Wisconsin cheese with every meal costing a quarter or more. Just how many pounds of Wisconsin butter and cheese will be wasted in this way and how many new inspectors will be placed on the state's payroll is difficult to estimate but it would seem that if Wisconsin is determined to waste its butter and cheese a more efficient method could be devised. It may be, of course, that we are a little biased on the subject but it does occur to us that a little money spent in advertising the excellent qualities of Wisconsin dairy products to the rest of the world would mean a bigger net return to the good people of Wisconsin than enforced wastefulness among themselves of the things they produce. It has been pretty well demonstrated by now that we can't drink ourselves into prosperity and many people are now beginning to suspect that we can't loaf ourselves rich. The Wisconsin experiment may further prove that the way to wealth is not through waste.

Thief River Falls was headquarters of the Land O'Lakes organization yesterday, the officers and directors having held their monthly meeting at this point. It is encouraging to know that this great co-operative marketing association has not regretted its establishment of a branch in this territory. At the time that the local plant was built things were not going along as nicely hereabouts as they are at the present time and there was skeptics who doubted the wisdom of making so large an investment in a section of the state that was experiencing so many difficulties. Since that time the city, along with the entire territory, has made good progress and the plant now serves what is recognized as one of the brightest spots in the Northwest. Perhaps it is not out of order to suggest that the establishment of the plant, and the better market which it created, may have been one of the important factors in the improvement of conditions in this section of the state.

By unanimous choice, honors for outstanding local achievement this week go to Brage Chorus for the success of its efforts in bringing the convention of the Red River Valley Singers Association to the city. Not only in the Auditorium, where the official program was presented, but in the restaurants about town as well, was there much good singing on Saturday and Sunday. If the visiting singers enjoyed their visit to the city half as much as citizens of Thief River Falls enjoyed having them then the event was a happy one from every standpoint.

The dry cycle may not have ended yet but it is encouraging to know that when clouds appear in the west there is likely to be rain rather than dust. It is comforting to think too that during the cold, wet days of May the grasshoppers suffered more than we did.

Thanks to the fact that there is water in the river once more, engine trouble at the power paint this week meant no inconvenience to users of electricity. Had it not been for an available water supply the power would have been off for several hours.

While other parts of the state suffered much damage from storms Sunday, our community received beneficial showers. No one locally will object if wind and hail fail to pay us a visit this season.

THE RAILROADS' JUBILEE
(Duluth Herald)

The Western railroads have chosen the week of June 10 to commemorate half a century's progress since the various lines completed their connections with the Pacific coast. Individual roads have been holding celebrations in recent years and now the group is joining to invite public inspection.

For most of this section the railroad was a pioneer, preceding civilization, not an intruder to upset a balanced economy as in the East and older countries.

The railroads, as the most powerful business interests of the times, were once blamed for everything, but people are coming to see that these carriers are so tied up with the fate of the states they cross that they cannot prosper unless their communities do.

Of late the railroads have been shaking off their lassitude and seeking the approval and interest of the public in many ways. With this point of view, and a growing progressiveness, they can be great factors in the recovery of this section and begin a new half century of life, not so exciting as the first, perhaps, but no less important in its contribution to the development of the West.

INTO THE FUTURE
(Chicago Herald and Examiner)

Rexford G. Tugwell apparently enjoyed himself very much when he told an audience at Albany, N. Y., the other day that the entire middlewest will be a trackless, treeless, waterless desert in 500 years unless something is done to conserve water levels and check erosion.

He put his prophecy in the form of some travel notes by a British explorer in the year 2235, and it made pleasantly shivery reading. He had his explorer poking about on the site of St. Louis, finding the Mississippi nearly dry, traversing a lifeless waste where the corn and wheat belt now lies, and meditating profoundly on the evils that arise from lack of national foresight.

However timely as a warning all this may be, it might be just as much fun to write a similar prophecy based on optimism rather than pessimism.

Let us suppose, for instance, that we heed all the warnings we have been getting in recent years—warnings about soil conservation, industrial waste, social injustice, the need for rehousing, and so on; let us suppose that we manage to do all the things which it is evident that we need to do, and put our national house properly in order.

What would the traveller of 2235 A. D. find then?

It makes an enchanting picture. We can see him visiting great cities that are free from slums, with every family occupying a clean, decent home and every child having access to grassy parks and groves for play; cities which manage to get along without unemployment or soup kitchens or poverty, governed as efficiently and sensibly as a school of technology, say, is governed today.

Beyond these cities our traveller would find the world's happiest and most prosperous farm lands. Where the land is tilled, it is green with growing crops, and the farm houses and villages are both lovely to look at and comfortable to live in; where the land is not tilled it is park-like, reserved for enjoyment of all the people—who, by this time, have plenty of leisure to enjoy such things.

A prophecy built along these lines is quite a contrast with the one Mr. Tugwell put together; and the comforting part about it all is that it is quite as likely to come true as his.

If we run the risk, through blindness and greed, of making Mr. Tugwell's doleful forecast come true, we also have a chance—and, all in all, a better chance—of building a future brighter than anything we dream of today.

CONFUSION OF THOUGHT

Children riding bicycles think, if they think at all, that drivers of automobiles should look out that they don't hit them. Automobile drivers, too many of them, think it is the children who should look out. With this confusion of thought accidents are sure to occur and an occasional child killed, as told about a day or so ago in the news columns. We know the type of driver who thinks everybody must look out for him. He never slows up at a street crossing and if there is a pedestrian he honks his blasted horn and expects the persons on foot to jump lively.

DIFFERENCE IN PIONEERS
(Lake Wilson Pilot)

All this furore about those so-called Alaskan pioneers is a little distasteful to the ears of the early pioneers of this section. Most of the early settlers came here in covered ox wagons and the wagons contained all their earthly possessions. There was no loads of lumber back of them, only sod and logs in front of them; no kicking on the meals furnished by the government. They ate what plain food they could get, most of it shot on the hoof or on the wing. No photograph section blazed their trail. They were just plain, honest, God-fearing men and women who struck out to make a home for themselves and families.

Through a printer's error it is said that the Oklahoma legislature passed a bill providing funds to prevent an "epidemic of babies." The trouble with the bill was that the printer started the last word with a "b" instead of an "r". It just shows what little things will sometimes do.—Swift County Monitor.

Just so we don't get too enthusiastic over our splendid climatic conditions it might be well to keep in mind that the grass is growing just fast enough to require weekly mowings from now on. Also that the old lawn mower seems to push just a little harder than it did last year.—St. Cloud Sentinel.

The most lovable quality that any human being can possess is tolerance. It is the vision that enables one to see things from another's viewpoint. It is the generosity that concedes to others the right to their own opinions and their own peculiarities. It is the bigness that enables us to let people be happy in their own way instead of our way. —Northfield News.

THREE POUND BABY TAKES MILK FROM EYE-DROPPER

Fairmont.—Fed with an eye-dropper every two hours, a two pound 14 ounce baby at Fairmont is putting on weight rapidly and threatens to grow up to be a second Jack Dempsey. The tiniest resident of Fairmont, Roger Wayne Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, was born prematurely. An eye-dropper of milk every two hours was his sustenance during the first two weeks of life, and Roger has registered a gain of three-quarters of a pound in 15 days and is still going strong. Doctors state he is near the minimum in size of human infants, but under careful supervision he is expected to gain rapidly. Kept in an improvised incubator, Roger's supply of food has been increased and he now takes an ounce of food a day, still from an eye-dropper.

BOY FREES ROBIN BIRD BECOMES PET

Willmar.—There isn't any doubt in the mind of Earl Larcom but that birds are not only intelligent creatures but are grateful for favors. Earl did his Boy Scout good turn recently when he saw a robin caught in a tree, hanging by one leg with the other caught by several pieces of cord. It would have been impossible for the bird to free itself. He climbed into the tree and while the bird pecked away at his hand, not realizing that the boy was trying to save its life. Earl completed his task. Now the robin is grateful, and to show his appreciation is so tame that it comes up to the back porch and eats out of a little tin dish.

HOME PLANTER'S NOOK

The What, When and How of flowers, lawns, and shrubbery, by L. Sando and L. E. Longley, Division of Horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul.

Some garden plants require more or less expert care to bring them to a fair degree of excellence but every garden should have some plants that grow and bloom successfully without elaborate care. One of the best plants of this type is the iris, which is easy to propagate, quite as easy to grow, and has a fairly long season of bloom.

The iris is widely distributed in the northern hemisphere. Hence there is a wide variation in form of flower and in root systems. The Japanese iris is one of the most beautiful but unfortunately not dependably hardy for Minnesota. Another group has bulbous root systems, but like the Japanese they are not hardy. However, they are grown fairly extensively in greenhouses during the winter, while the Siberian iris is quite hardy and will grow in almost any kind of soil.

The most common of all is known as iris Germanica. It is characterized by its hardiness variation in color and height, and if one has sufficient space for several varieties one will have flowers over a fairly long period of time. The essentials for success are few, light, drainage and freedom from acid soil being most important.

To produce the largest and best blooms, irises should be divided every 4 years or thereabouts. If a fertilizer is needed, use either bone meal or superphosphate, adding a little ground limestone to the soil, which will assist in getting better growing conditions. Very rich soil is undesirable for irises.

Plants may be divided and set out at any time from July until September. The thick fleshy (rhizome) of large plants should be cut into fairly small pieces. The fibrous roots may be trimmed back a little, at the same time reducing the foliage by at least one third.

Be careful not to plant iris roots too deep. Should the soil be very heavy, set the plants on a ridge. to insure a longer season of bloom the home gardener should plant a few of the early dwarfs, some of which will bloom in April. A group known as Intermediates will supply bloom between the early drawf and the later types which bloom in June.

Diseases and insect pests are few. The most important diseases are root rot, leaf blotch and Botrytis. All are serious and if your plants are discared, send specimens to your experiment station. The iris borer appears to be the worst insect pest and its presence is usually indicated by the yellowing of the foliage. Digging up the plants and examining the root stock in August may reveal the borer in the rhizome from which he can be dug out and destroyed. Burn all rubbish and disease infected leaves and roots.

Minnesotans Careless About Mosquito Pests, State Physicians Say

Minnesota summers need not be turned into a misery by mosquitoes in the opinion of the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association expressed in its weekly bulletin today.

Most mosquitoes are bred near home this bulletin states, and any neighborhood that wanted to combine forces, could eradicate the pests. That people fail to do so is mostly due to carelessness or to lack of knowledge of mosquito habits. Such steps would soon be taken if, in the North, mosquitoes caused yellow fever and malaria as they do in the South. Even in this section they may be a menace to health.

Eradication would be worth attempting both from the standpoint of health and comfort in the opinion of the doctors. Certainly the delights of being able to stay in the open and enjoy a Minnesota summer instead of being driven to desperation and stuffy screen porches and houses would repay any effort.

Like other insect pests, mosquitoes breed by the millions. But they must have water in which to breed. The eggs are laid in water, clean preferred but sewage will do. Even a tin can containing a little water hid in the long grass of a vacant lot, or a little rain water in a leaf-clogged eave will permit breeding of thousands of husky mosquitoes.

To prevent it, mosquitoes must be prevented from reaching water or the larvae must be destroyed. A light film of oil on the water will destroy larvae. Also there are tiny fish which eat the eggs and larvae, which are especially good for garden pools. Streams should be cleared of debris which offer them lodging. On a larger scale other methods are available. In one way or another a little effort is all that is necessary to eradicate the pests.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will

State of Minnesota,
County of Pennington—ss.
In Probate Court

In the Matter of the Estate of Henry H. Williams, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to All Whom It May Concern:

Whereas, William W. Williams of the Town of North in said County and State has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Henry H. Williams, late of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, together with his petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to William W. Williams which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection, IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard on the 6th day of July, 1935, at Ten o'clock A. M. at the Probate Court Room in the Court House at the City of Thief River Falls in said County and State; that you be and appear before this Court at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted; that you file your objections, if any there be, in writing, in this Court to the allowance of said will, before said hearing; and that this citation be served by the publication thereof according to law in the newspaper known as The Thief River Falls Times. A general description of all of the property of said deceased is, his homestead, being all of that part of the SE¼ of Section 8 in Township 154 North of Range 43 West, which is bounded on its east side by the right of way of the Winnipeg line of the Minneapolis St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company, and that is bounded on its south side by the right of way of the Dakota branch of said railway, as they are now located over and on the said NE¼ Section of land; which tract of land consists of about 75 acres, more or less, and is bounded on its north and west lines by the quarter lines of said section 8.

Witness, the judge of this court and the seal thereof this 11th day of June, 1935.

ANDREW BOTTELSON,
Probate Judge.

Attest: J. M. Bishop,
Attorney for Petitioner.

CALL FOR BIDS

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 18, County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, will receive sealed bids for the construction of one concrete tennis court on the east side of the present concrete court on Lincoln Field. A copy of the plans and specifications may be secured at the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the Lincoln Building.

Bids must be delivered to the office of the Superintendent of Schools before 7:30 P. M. on Thursday, June 20, 1935.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

OLAF NESSET,
Secretary, Board of Education
Independent School Dist. No. 18

Galaxy and Metagalaxy

With the rapid growth of astronomy its terms have often changed their meanings. Dr. Harlow Shapley, director of the Harvard observatory, recently defined some of them as follows: Galaxy refers to a star system of the spiral nebula order of size (greater than star clusters), like the Great Nebula in Andromeda; super-galaxies are systems of two or more galaxies apparently revolving around a common center or otherwise acting as a unit; the metagalaxy is the entire system of galaxies. It differs from the universe in that the latter presumably also contains "radiations, laws of nature, consciousness, etc."—Literary Digest.

Religion of the Eskimos

A statement about the Eskimo religion can scarcely be brief and clear without being misleading. It is not far wrong, however, to say that the idea of worship as Christians understand it is rudimentary or absent. Like more highly civilized people, the Eskimos are, of course, confused in their religious thinking. Different answers and confused answers come from the most thoughtful and best informed members of the same community.

Stocks Still Stand

Visitors to England passing through the village of Albury, Hertfordshire, a few miles from London, may see the old village stocks, where vagrants, trespassers, poachers and ne'er-do-wells had their ankles pinioned in a pair of notched planks. Several could be dealt this cruel type of justice at one time.

"Maid's Money" to Servants

In the Guildhall every January 30, "Maid's Money" is given the maidservant who has been in service for two years or more in Guildford, England. The old custom is maintained under the will of John How, who died in 1674. Claims are settled by the throwing of dice.

Motion was made by Alderman Christofferson that the above be declared the result of the election and that the question be declared carried. The motion was seconded by Alderman Urlebstein and was unanimously adopted.

W. E. Skinner, Engineer of Minneapolis, Minnesota, was present in the interest of preparation of plans and specifications for the project and other work in connection therewith. Alderman McFarland introduced a resolution appointing Mr. Skinner as Engineer in charge, his fee for services to be 4% of the total amount of Federal Grant proposed to be obtained and necessary traveling expenses authorized by the Council and moved the adoption of the same. The motion was seconded by Alderman Urlebstein and the same was unanimously adopted.

Alderman Christofferson introduced a resolution authorizing the Mayor and City Clerk to prepare an application for Federal Grant and Loan on the proposed power plant improvement project and moved the adoption of the same. The motion was seconded by Alderman Urlebstein and the resolution was unanimously adopted.

On motion duly made and carried the meeting was declared adjourned.

P. O. MYHRUM,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the City Council held June 1st, 1935, Alderman McFarland, seconded by Alderman Urlebstein, introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

BE IT RESOLVED, By the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, that

WHEREAS, the City Council has heretofore determined to make certain improvements in the Municipal Light Plant of the City, consisting in the main of installation of additional generating unit and

WHEREAS, the Council is about to apply to the Public Works Administration of the United States for a grant to assist in the financing of said project,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the City Council does hereby appoint W. E. Skinner, a registered Engineer, in charge of said work and authorize him to prepare plans, specifications and other data necessary and required in order to make application for said grant and does hereby agree to pay the said W. E. Skinner a sum equal to Four per cent (4%) of the total amount of the grant obtained also to pay the necessary traveling expenses, if and when required by the Council.

ROLL CALL

Aldermen voting Yes: Urlebstein, Jung, Knight, Myhrum, Christofferson, McFarland.

Aldermen voting No: None.

Resolution declared passed.

P. O. MYHRUM,
President of the Council.

Presented to Mayor June 1, 1935.
Approved June 7, 1935.

F. A. BINKEL,
Mayor.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

Pursuant to due notice of hearing on complaint under the provisions of Ordinance No. 160 the City Council met in session in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on Tuesday, June 4, 1935. The meeting was called to order at eight o'clock P. M. with Alderman Urlebstein, Jung, Knight, Myhrum, Christofferson present and Alderman McFarland absent.

The petition signed by Gunder Legvold, E. E. Dahl and others protesting against the condition of lots 11-16 of Block 38 of the original townsite and requesting the Council to call a hearing as to why the objectionable uses to which the premises were put should not be discontinued, was read. Gunder Legvold was present and stated his case for the petitioners. Ben Bredeson and Godfrey Carlson were present on behalf of the defendants in the matter. Mr. Bredeson and Mr. Carlson both denied that the premises occupied by them were in any way objectionable or detrimental to the adjoining property. After discussion of the matter a motion was introduced by Alderman Christofferson, seconded by Alderman Urlebstein and carried that the Council as a whole be constituted a committee to inspect the premises and report back at the time of the next regular meeting and that the hearing be continued to that time, whereupon the meeting was declared adjourned.

P. O. MYHRUM,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., June 10, 1935 (U.S.D.A.): Slaughter steers were numerous today and the trade ruled slow with most sales steady to 25c lower. Majority desirable 750-1150 lb. fed steers and yearlings brought $9.50-11.00, choice 1200-1275 lb. steers $11.25-11.75, medium grade light steers around $8.50-9.00. Medium to good heifers earned $7.50-9.50, common yearling heifers $5.50-6.00, bulk of cow $5.25-6.50, best $7.00-7.50, cutter grades mainly $3.75-5.00, sausage bulls $5.00-5.75, and most better grade vealers $7.50-8.50, with choice sorts to $9.50, and common grades down to $5.00. Medium to good lightweight stock steers made $6.00-8.25, well-bred fleshy kinds $8.75.

Demand for dairy cows proved narrow but a few better kinds brought $60.00-70.00, less desirable milkers $35.00-50.00.

Hogs scaling under 250 lbs. held mostly steady but heavier weights and sows dropped 5-10c. Better 200-250 lb. butchers bulked at $9.40-9.50 with a few at $9.55, heavier kinds $9.10-9.40, 150-200 lb. weights $9.25-9.50, good packing sows $8.35-8.40, and good pigs at $9.00-9.50.

Spring lambs and yearlings opened the week 25c lower, sheep steady, choice springers scoring $9.50, better shorn yearlings $7.50, with choice kinds salable higher, common and medium grades $6.00-7.00, and good to choice shorn ewes $2.00-3.50, with weights above 150 lbs. at the inside.

Red, White and Blue Are Popular Hues for Flags

Red, white and blue, colors that come into the minds of people whenever flags are mentioned, are the most popular hues, it happens, for the flags of the world, says a writer in the Montreal Herald. Red is used more generally than any other color in flag-making, followed in order by white and blue. Next in order, but much less popular than the three leaders, are yellow, green and black. Orange, which appears in the banners of three countries, about exhausts the colors used in the world's flags. One country (Spain) uses purple. Brown does not appear on any national flag.

Astronomical devices are favorites of flag-makers. Stars are used by many countries and there are suns and moons, the latter usually in the form of crescents. Brazil makes use of a circle of the firmament showing the Southern Cross and neighboring stars and the Southern Cross also appears in the flags of Australia and New Zealand. Alaska has placed on its flag the Great Dipper and Pole star.

Other countries use characteristic symbols—Afghanistan, a mosque; Cambodia, an eastern temple; the Republic of Lebanon, a cedar; the Papal state, crossed keys and triple crown; Germany, a swastika; Siam, white elephant; and the Soviet union, a hammer and sickle. Tibet shows the sun rising over a snowy mountain.

Great Himalayans Grew for Millions of Years

A few million years before the Northern hemisphere came into the grip of the Ice age, the Himalayan mountains began to rise from a low mountainous land, notes a writer in the New York Times. At that time dense jungles covered its southern slope, which was drained by numerous rivers that wound their way to the ancient Ganges plain. These primeval streams washed down the rock waste from the highlands, and their floodwaters carried with them logs of fallen trees, leaves and skeletal remains of forest animals which eventually got embedded in shaly and rock matrix. This process continued for a long time and thick rock formations began to pile up in the plains, which gradually sank under the load. These formations nowadays form the foothills of the Himalayas.

It is here that, among numerous other fossils, are found the relics of large apes. These are represented by jaw fragments belonging to certain genera whose evolution developed in several directions, some becoming more like the recent great apes, while others approached man.

The graduate now has his chance to tell the world exactly what is wrong with its wag.

Tuskers Unusual in Ceylon

Sinhalese native carvers are not beyond "gilding the lily" when preparing ebony elephants for tourists and curio dealers, say naturalists familiar with wild life in Ceylon. Nearly all the little black elephants bought in Ceylon by tourists or featured in displays of tea in Canada are carved in Galle in Ceylon. They are artistic and, except in one respect, lifelike. Each is made with shiny white tusks. The reason for the tusks is that everybody expects an elephant to have tusks—and the Sinhalese are obliging people. Actually, however, very few of Ceylon's live elephants are built that way.—Montreal Herald.

With the Hawk Family

The Coopers and the sharp-shinned hawks are deserving of their reputation as predators, an authority states, and there is some doubt as to the status of the marsh hawk and the redtail; but most of the other hawks are properly classed as beneficial. Likewise he declares that all species of owls other than the Great Horned owl are valuable residents because of the large numbers of mice and other rodents they consume.

Vitamin G—Dried yeast, milk, eggs, liver, kidney, wheat germs, meat, and green vegetables.

Origin of Honeydew Melon

The honeydew melon on the market in this country is the same as the melon listed by Paris seedsmen as Antibes Winter green fleshed melon. The original seed of the honeydew melon is said to have been obtained from a melon shipped from Africa to New York city. This seed was planted at Rocky Ford, Colo.

HOWARD DAVIDSON PROMOTED TO NEW DUTIES IN ST. PAUL

Succeeded as Reemployment Office Manager Here by Warren Man

Howard Davidson, for the past several years manager of the Pennington county agency of the National Reemployment service in this city, last week-end went to St. Paul where he will be engaged in an occupational survey being conducted under the supervision of the United States employment service.

His new duties, which include the checking of job specifications on public works projects, were assigned to him in recognition of his success in similar duties which he had previously performed.

Donald Snyder, district manager of the reemployment service, announced the appointment of Elmer Stanghelle, for the past year in charge of the Warren office, as successor to Mr. Davidson. In addition to his duties as Pennington county manager he will serve as district statistician. Mr. Stanghelle assumed office here Monday.

ISSUES FRAUD ORDER ON PHILADELPHIA SCHOOL

The United States civil service commission this week called attention to a fraud order issued May 17 against the Bureau of Public Service Instruction of Philadelphia, Pa. The institution, which is one of the so-called civil service correspondence schools, has been denied the use of the mails.

MIDWEST G. O. P. MEETING FRAMES PLANS FOR 1936

Mrs. Tobias Reep of This City Attends Gathering in Springfield, Ill.

A ringing demand for a return to an "economic program based upon the theory of plenty and not scarcity" was voiced by Permanent Chairman John Hamilton Monday night before the "grass roots" gathering of Republicans from 10 midwestern states in Springfield, Illinois.

Mrs. Tobias Reep of this city left Friday evening for Springfield to participate in the meeting as one of a group of representatives of Northwestern Minnesota Republicans.

Turning from a raking attack on all phases of the New Deal, Hamilton outlined a platform to guide his party through its fight to regain national domination.

He called for "a pledge to stabilize the monetary system and to restore confidence in government credit by a balanced budget.

"A repudiation of laws fostering monopoly.

"A policy calculated to take the government out of business.

"A return to the people of their constitutional rights.

"A social program to meet every reasonable obligation of the national government to its citizens, including a recognition of its duties to those in distress and governmental relief free from political corruption."

"Above all else", he declared, "we must look to a return of an economic program based upon a theory of plenty and not scarcity. Our industrial, commercial and agricultural achievements are sufficient to provide our people with the highest minimum standard of living ever known to man. They must be used for that purpose."

Gudbrandsdalslag Meets in Webster, S. D., June 21

The national convention of the Gudbrandsdalslag of America will be held at Webster, S. D., June 21, 22, and 23. Motion pictures dealing with Gudbrandsdalen in Norway will be shown, in addition to which there will be a large number of speakers, including Kristian Prestgard editor of the Decorah Posten, and Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota.

Their itinerary includes points in South Dakota, southern Minnesota, Minneapolis June 16; points in Wisconsin; Chicago June 28. July 1 and 2 they will be in New York and on the third they sail for Norway where they will be gone until August. James and Robert graduated from Concordia college June 3.

RECOVER HALF OF RANSOM PAID FOR WEYERHAUSER BOY

Federal Agents Arrest Two Who Confess Sharing in Kidnaping

Tuesday Federal agents discovered $90,700 in a canyon five miles from Salt Lake City, buried by the Weyerhaeuser kidnapers, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation announced.

Harmon M. Waley, who was arrested with his wife, Margaret, on charges of participating in the kidnaping of George Weyerhaeuser at Tacoma, Wash., confessed that the $200,000 ransom was split between himself and William Mahan, who still is being sought, Hoover said.

He said that young George Weyerhaeuser had gone from Tacoma to Spokane and had identified positively a house there, where he was held captive by the kidnapers.

Today's recovery makes a total of $110,555 recovered or accounted for and leaving $89,445 still in the hands of William Mahan, suspect, or hidden by him.

Water Conservation Plan Makes Progress in State

Completion of one important dam and construction of another is reported by Walter S. Olson, Director of the Division of Drainage and Waters, with water conservation and flood control as dual objectives.

A dam at Breckenridge on the Red River is practically completed and work of building a dam on the Whetstone River near Ortonville is going forward. Both projects are under relief labor.

Approval of 12 dams in the Chippewa National Forest by Mr. Olson will result in construction by civilian Conservation Corps workers.

83 YEAR OLD HUNTER KILLS WOLF, 7 CUBS

Appleton—One more effective blow at the wolf at the door was delivered when J. H. Smith, residing near Appleton killed a female wolf and seven of her cubs in their lair in the river area southwest of town. Hunters shot a male wolf, which escaped but they believe he was seriously wounded and is now dead. Mr. Smith, 83 years of age, is a veteran wolf hunter, and his kill is expected to stop loss of sheep and property damage, reported by farmers living in the section where the wolves were located. Bounty paid by the county for the killing of the wolves totaled $57 according to Leo E. Engleson, computed on the basis of $15 for the full grown female and $6 for each of the cubs.

LOCAL WORKERS ESTABLISH UNION MONDAY EVENING

Henry Van Pelt Named First President of New Organization

The main topic of discussion at the W. P. A. meeting Monday night at the Court House was the Independent Union of All Workers. As a climax to much discussion, a local unit of the union was founded, with nineteen members signing up, eight of whom were employed workers.

Herman Kjos, corresponding secretary of Local No.13, highway workers, of the I. U. A. W., explained the purpose of the union and invited all who were interested in belonging to this working class organization, to stay after the meeting and sign their application. After Mr. Kjos gave his talk and read some literature pertaining to the movement, a general discussion was held.

It was finally decided to organize employed and unemployed, of all trades into one big group, subject to segregation later into various crafts. A business meeting was held immediately after the signing of the members, Mr. Kjos acting as chairman and Palmer Pederson as secretary. After the reading of the preamble and the oath, the bylaws, pertaining to time and place of meeting, how dues should be taken care of, etc., were read, discussed and acted upon by vote.

A full set of officers was then elected, as follows: President, Henry S. Van Pelt; vice-president, Wm. J. Douville; corresponding secretary, Ben C. Hagglund; financial secretary, Palmer Pederson; treasurer, James Burrell. A membership committee, consisting of Nick Waldorf, Kenneth O. Latta, Palmer Pederson, Omar Lee and Godfrey Larson, was also chosen.

It is planned to have union meetings the first and third Mondays of each month, in connection with the W. P. A. meetings, which will continue as before, every Monday night. Much interest is being displayed in the local unit of the I. U. A. W., and new members are being added to the rolls daily. Local union officials hope to have one of the livest units.

Robt. Chommie and Lyle Hess Named Alternates for West Point Exams

Three northern Minnesota youths, designed as candidates for admission to West Point, made hasty trips to Fort Snelling Tuesday to take their entrance examinations. They were named at the last minute by Representative Buckler to fill vacancies in the appointments to which he was entitled. Those named were: George Ketherm, principal, of Fosston; Robert Chommie, alternate of Thief River Falls; and Lyle S. Hess, of Thief River Falls named as alternate to Arthur Douville, of the same city, designated as principal for one of the appointments some time ago.

Substantial Rainfall Comes in Two Showers

Substantial rainfalls Sunday afternoon and again early Tuesday evening covered most of the county and put the soil in excellent condition for growing crops. Tuesday's rain was a torrential downpour in the city, the greater part of an inch of rain falling in less than an hour. Warm weather followed the precipitation, and growing conditions are ideal. Light showers fell again this morning.

Local Ball Team to Play Oslo Here Next Sunday

Shorty Dekko's fast-stepping baseball team will meet the Oslo aggregation of ball tossers on the fair grounds diamond Sunday afternoon. The Oslo team is reported to have considerable power, and lively battle is in prospect. The locals have won all their games thus far this season with the exception of a defeat at the hands of the strong House of David nine.

Return From Funeral in Spokane, Washington

Mrs. Michael Schmitz and son Joseph returned Sunday from Spokane, Washington, where they attended funeral rites May 31 for Mrs. C. J. King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Schmitz, who died in Spokane May 28 following a brief illness from pneumonia. Reared in Thief River Falls, Mrs King had made her home in other cities most of the past 20 years, having made her last visit here three years ago. In addition to her parents, she is survived by her husband, two sons and one daughter, as well as four brothers, Joseph and Philip of this city, and John and Henry, living on the west coast. She was 42 years old.

LIGHTS DEFECTIVE ON HALF OF CARS TESTED IN STATE

Drivers Warned of Continuing Campaign by the Highway Patrol

More than half of the automobiles on Minnesota highways have defective lights, while about 15 per cent have defective brakes, if 5,000 cars checked by the state highway patrol in the past two weeks are typical of the rest of motor vehicles, according to a highway department bulletin.

In view of these conditions, the patrol will continue its present intensive checking campaign until the whole state has been covered. Return trips also will be made to localities already visited.

The patrol has issued a public warning that drivers will avoid trouble and expense, and at the same time will be aiding the cause of public safety, if they have their drivers licenses at all time on the road, and see that their brakes and lights are in first class condition. Several score of arrests have been made of persons driving without a license. The patrol also is making arrests for failure to have 1935 registration plates.

In the past two weeks, out of 3,978 cars given brake tests, 541 were defective. Of 1,151 cars given light tests, 664 were defective.

Visiting Day July 15 Scheduled at Northwest Station in Crookston

Monday, July 15, has been designated as Visiting day at the Northwest Experiment station. Not only is this the date for the annual crops and soils day; it has also been chosen as a fitting time to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of the Northwest Experiment station and the thirtieth anniversary of the Northwest school. The combination of events will interest all growers of pure seed grain and potatoes, and all other friends of the institution.

Invitations have been extended to T. A. Hoverstad, first superintendent of the station; to C. G. Selvig, for many years superintendent of both the school and station, to A. D. Stephens, a most loyal friend of the institution since its earliest days; and to W. C. Coffey, dean and director of the Minnesota College of Agriculture and experiment station. Tentative plans include a morning inspection of the livestock and poultry, a dinner at noon, with a short speaking program, and an inspection of the experimental plots in the afternoon.

Of special importance this year will be the work with pasture crop planted singly and in various combinations, the trials of farmers' lots of seed flax on wilt-infected soil in which it appears some sixty samples will be available, the use of sweet clover as a soil improvement crop for cereals and potatoes, depth of tillage experiments, and potato breeding work.

R. S. Dunham, station agronomist, will be in charge of the crops and soils program, while T. M. McCall, horticulturist, O. M. Kiser, animal husbandman, and A. M. Pilkey, poultryman, will have charge of the inspection of the work in their respective departments.

Fifty-four new colonels were created in Kentucky in April—none of them prohibitionists.

INITIAL ITASCA PAGEANT OF 1935 GIVEN JUNE 30TH

Cast of 200 Persons Will Depict Pioneer Days in Minnesota

Perilous—but adventurous and exciting—days in Minnesota, when canoe trails and forest footpaths served in place of the 11,000 mile trunk highway system the State boasts today, will be re-enacted at Itasca State Park Sunday, June 30. It will be the first of 12 performances to be held throughout the summer at Itasca Whitewater, Jay Cooke and Ft. Ridgely state parks.

The cast of 200 of whom 50 are Chippewa Indians from the White Earth reservation, will portray the scenes of Minnesota pioneer days when the Indian explorer trapper, voyageur and early settler held sway.

The pageant's central figures include the intrepid John Baptiste Cadotte, a mixed-blood with a college education, noted for his fearlessness and courage; William A. Aitkin, after whom the Minnesota town was named; Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, who discovered Lake Itasca, the true source of the Mississippi; Rev. William Boutwell, a courageous missionary who accompanied Schoolcraft; Hestor Crooks, the part Indian girl who married Rev. Boutwell and lived to become one of Minnesota's outstanding pioneer women; and Joseph Renville, son of a French trader and a Sioux woman, who became an outstanding worker and organizer among the Indians, encouraging them in religious, agricultural and other useful and noteworthy pursuits.

Picturesque oxen, prairie schooners and Indian settings will be stressed with particular emphasis placed upon the musical theme. The period during which Minnesota was an integral part of the battle ground between North America's largest and most commercially-powerful fur trading companies, when the name of John Jacob Astor was one to conjure with in the robust business of that early day, will be paraded before the spectators with true-life glamour in this season's spectacular performances.

First dress rehearsal will be held in Itasca State Park Wednesday, June 26. Following the first performance at Itasca on June 30, the cast will perform on July 14 in the same park, repeating the following Sunday, July 21, at Whitewater State park.

NEEDLE IMBEDDED IN GIRL'S CHEST

A common sewing needle was imbedded in the chest of a 19 year old girl last week at Hollandale in a peculiar accident. Myrne Mansager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Mansager, felt the prick of the needle in her chest as she sat down to the breakfast table. The pain caused her to throw herself forward against the table edge, the force of this contact driving the needle straight into her chest, only a slight pimple-like bulge showing where the needle had entered. Hurried at once to a doctor's office, the needle was cut out—without mishap, only a slight flesh wound resulting which was not painful. The needle had apparently been accidently lost in the dress while sewing.

GRYGLA

A big share of the local sports were in attendance at Thief River Falls last Wednesday evening and greatly enjoyed the ball game between Thief River Falls and the House of David, under the flood lights. The weather was more in keeping for a good football game, but the novelty of it made the trip from here worthwhile. Why not a game between Thief River and the local clubs?

Miss Anna Viken returned to her home from Moorhead where she has been attending the Normal School.

Douglas Maney, very much improved after his recent operation, is glad to get back home to his cronies and friends. The Shetland ponies have not had a well deserved rest. —Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lobdell from St. Paul, arrived in this village Monday. Mr. Lobdell has a farm and other interests in this vicinity. —Darrell and Maitland Carter of St. Hilaire are visiting friends and relatives in this community.—The local ball club journeyed to Middle River Sunday, accompanied by a good bunch of rooters. After the smoke of battle had cleared the Grygla team had scored 16 runs to 4 for the Middle River team. Three home runs were a feature of the game.

Ed Geving and wife accompanied by Mrs. F. A. Brown spent Tuesday in Grand Forks on business and pleasure.

Geo. Sheldrew, our master fisherman, spent Sunday at Red Lake in the interest of his art. It is a pleasure to hear him tell of how many he threw away and also about the big one—that got away. Nevertheless, many folks in the village are enjoying fish foods thanks to his generosity and will vouch for his success as an angler.

Tom Lonson and family with Mrs. T. J. Rowan as their guest, drove through this village last Monday evening. Next time they return it is hoped the "some" people will stay at home so that their visit may be a little more enjoyable. —Cliff Lunde who is employed at Shelly, at his trade as a plasterer, spent the week end with his family here. —Latest reports from the hospital at Thief River Falls are to the effect that Hannah Watton is very much improved and soon will be removed to her home.

Chas. Josephson of Godridge is being emplyed by our butcher J. Gonnering. —Ed Geving and family with Ethel Monuin and Donna Wee spent an enjoyable Sunday at the Lake of the Woods. They had the pleasure to see Ed and Bert Olson, former residents of this village, while up there. —Miss Charlotte Loyd had charge of the culinary dept. and acted as Chef at the Cafe during their absence.

Scientists think the earth looks blue to the Martians. That's nothing. It looks blue to us, too.—Wichita Eagle.

RIVER FALLS

Gust Larson and family called at the Albert Larson home Wednesday.—Mr. and Mrs. John Fellman, Harold and Avis and Melvin Nolander attended the confirmation services at the Augustana church at Thief River Falls Sunday. —Mr. and Mrs. Peder Omundson, Stella, Edna, Eunice and Deloris visited at the Oscar Omundson home near Warren on Sunday. —Miss Helen Johnson came from St. Paul Friday where she had attended the short course at the University farm.—Mr. and Mrs. Otto Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bergh and Wanda Lee and Ed Hauske returned Friday from Idaho where they spent a month. They also visited in Washington. On the trip they went through eight states making a 6000 mile trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fellman attended Ladies aid at the Charles Erickson home Friday. —Thief River shoppers Friday were: Mrs. Omundson, Gilmen, Stella, Edna, Eunice and Deloris, Mr. B. Walseth and Annie, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Larson, Axel Larson, Teckla and Iris, Harold and Avis Fellman and Melvin Nolander. —Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jepson motored to Red Lake Falls Sunday where they visited friends. —Frank Johnson was near losing over 200 turkeys when his brooder house caught fire last week. Several men in nearby fields helped extinguish the fire and only a few were lost. —Visitors at the Peder Omundson home Saturday were Miss Estelle Hanson, Miss Ina Omundson and niece Joanne of Silverton and Mrs. Herman Jepson. —Mr. and Mrs. K. T. Dalager, Horace, James and Shirley visited at the Axel Larson home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson called at the A. P. Anderson home Sunday. —Dinner guests Sunday at the Bernt Walseth home were Mr. and Mrs. Nelson, Milo, Nona and Robert of Thief River Falls and Gilmen Omundson. —Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson visited at the Bennie Johnson home Sunday.

Paul Anderson has purchased and erected a new windmill on his farm.—The Wm. Yonke family visited at the Oscar Haugen home Thursday., Mr. and Mrs. Gust Larson, Stanley and Elden, Axel Larson, Teckla and Iris spent Sunday at Plummer. Helen Wilson shopped in Thief River Falls Thursday.

Woodrow Wilson returned last week from Moorhead where he has attended Teacher's college. He was among the graduates this year.

STATE ACTS TO SPEED FEDERAL ROAD PROGRAM

Paving Ruled Out by Regulations, N. W. Elsberg Announces

Minnesota's program for expenditure of the federal grants for road construction and grade crossing separations will be submitted to Washington authorities in sections in order to speed up approval of the work, according to N. W. Elsberg, state highway commissioner.

Engineers of the department, faced with regulations altogether different from those which governed previous grants, have had to abandon tentative programs prepared in advance.

"Judging from incomplete official information thus far received," Mr. Elsberg said, "The $5,000,000 federal grant for road work must be used largely on pick and shovel, hand labor projects. Apparently it will be impossible to use any of this money for paving or any other high type of improvement. Light grading, graveling, shoulder widening and frost boil treatments are some of the work which seems to be eligible under the federal regulations.

"Another complicating phase of the situation is that 90 per cent of labor employed must be from relief rolls. This would rule out counties having few men on relief unless arrangements can be made to transport workers back and forth from unemployment centers. If this cannot be done, all work apparently must be done where there are large numbers on relief.

"The relief labor requirement also applies to the $5,000,000 grade crossing separation program."

CHARRED WOOD FOUND AT DEPTH OF 170 FEET

Sleepy Eye—Bits of wood, clearly branches of trees, and larger pieces which are somewhat charred were found at a depth of 170 feet in a test hole being drilled at Sleepy Eye. The "find" which is not the first of its kind at similar depths in this vicinity, gives rise to speculation concerning this section which was a treeless prairie when first discovered by white men. On various occasions drillers have found bits of wood. In farm well-being drilled, Amateur geologists hold to the belief that the depth at which these "finds" are made was the level of the country some thousands of years ago. They believe that it may have been covered by forests which were partially destroyed by fire at various times and which were eventually buried beneath thousands of tons of rock, earth, snow and ice when the glaciers came down from the north. A considerable amount of burned wood ashes is coming out of the well.

Capitol News Review

By A. I. Harris

Certain interests recently have been stimulating criticisms of short sections of water-bound macadam highway constructed by the state highway department in southeastern Minnesota. The work was done with federal funds granted specifically to create hand labor and to provide jobs in winter months as well as in summer. The amount of immediate employment to be provided was the factor which determined the selection of the type of construction, not the question of final cost, according to highway department officials. Those interests which now assert that concrete paving should have been laid forget that Uncle Sam in the type of surfacing when he was more interested in jobs than gave Minnesota the money; and that if his regulations had been disregarded there probably would have been no improvement at all of the roads in question.

Governor Olson will seek between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 in federal funds for Minnesota in the largest public works program ever submitted by the state. The program was prepared by the state planning commission on request of the Governor. Minnesota probably is the best prepared state in the union to submit detailed plans and projects under the public works program as a result of planned effort and study in anticipation of such a policy on the part of Washington. This is particularly true as it pertains to conservation. Various state departmental projects will be submitted under one coordinated plan.

Examinations were held last week at the University of Minnesota to determine the fitness of candidates to fill 10 new positions which the state Legislature created in increasing the force of the personnel of the Bureau of Criminal Apprehension. The examinations were conducted by Dr. George W. Vold. Nine new crime investigators which will be appointed, a supervisor of the radio broadcasting station, three radio operators, a statistician and an assistant and a finger print expert and photographer. The radio broadcasting station for the bureau will be erected at Redwood Falls, plans and specifications of which are now being drawn. Actual construction of the station, according to Melvin Passolt, bureau head, will be started and completed not later than August. The new positions, according to Mr. Passolt, will be filled from those who make the best records in the examinations. Under the plan, law enforcement officers in all parts of the state will receive immediate notification by radio of commission of major crimes and apprehension of dangerous criminals will be more certain.

Minneapolis has a new industry. The state emergency relief administration has opened a cannery in that city with the support of the federal government. Relief workers will man the factories and the products manufactured will go to relief clients. Here is a fine example of production for use and not for profit.

The approach of July 1 is not looked forward to with enthusiasm by employes in the Farmer-Labor controlled state departments as it will mean a cut in wages in the face of leaping living costs. The Legislature ordered the cuts. Employes in departments under Republican control were not cut. In fact, a few were given boosts in wages by conservative legislators.

The tourist bureau, under the direction of George H. Bradley, has been carrying out an extensive advertising campaign over the radio and in the national magazines and newspapers in an effort to get out-of-state people to visit our beautiful state and enjoy its limitless facilities for pleasure and healthful vacation. Advertisements have been run in Time, National Geographic, Sports Afield, Field and Stream, Highway Travelers, Outdoor Life and other magazines. Each add has brought a flood of inquiries. Minnesota can well stand this national publicity as the tourist trade is one of its leading industries. In its number of summer tourists, the North Star state, with its lakes and forests, drew more visitors than any other state in the union, a recent survey revealed.

A consumers co-operative grocery store was opened in Minneapolis to swell the co-operative movement in this state. Minnesota incidentally leads the states in the nation in number of co-operation with 6,000 co-operatives operating successfully.

During the month of May, 1935, the Division of Women and Children of the Minnesota Industrial Commission reports one outstanding wage adjustment made by a firm to three employes amounting to $125, one minor employe receiving $110, which was the total of unpaid minimum wages due him for services covering a period of approximately two years.

David R. Arundel, state liquor control commissioner is in Cleveland at an emergency meeting of the National Association of Liquor administrators. The session was called so that states could set up uniform advertising the labeling regulations for protection of the public against "junk" liquor. The Supreme court decision which abrogated the federal alcohol control administration, left the liquor industry without national control, and it is necessary for the state to meet this need until Congress acts. Mr. Arundel, vice-president of the conference, called the conference and will make the principal address.

Egypt's Mickey Mouse

Among Egyptian records over 3000 years old have been found drawings on a scrap of papyrus of a cat acting as a goose-herd, with a hooked stick and with geese waddling along under the cat's control —the equivalent of the Mickey Mouse of today.

Red River Valley History

By Wm V. Werking

(Our First Farmers)

Exceptions prove the rule in history. We are wont to rate the Indians of the frontier years as savages, who were slowly, very slowly, improved and enlightened by contact with the whites. History shows that the government furnished men called "Indian farmers" to teach the Indians the technique of agriculture. But the sober truth is that the Chippewa in northern Minnesota and northeastern Minnesota and northeastern North Dakota were fairly well advanced as farmers long before the first white settlers arrived.

A history of the Minnesota Agricultural society, published in 1910 says:

"Of course the first tillers of Minnesota soil were the Indians of the country. They were engaged, to some extent, in agricultural pursuits when the first white men came. Father Hennepin found them with corn fields and truck gardens when he came to the Mille Lacs district, in 1680. They had raised corn and squash for perhaps hundreds of years before.

"The results of the efforts of the aborigines at agriculture were proportionate to the care and industry employed. The work was very nearly always done by the Indian women. If they prepared the ground well with their rude hoes, made a timely planting, kept down the weeds, waged a vigilant war on blackbirds and cutworms, and gathered the yield in due season, the crop was generally good—barring disasters by the ravages of too much or too little water, and the visits of Jack Frost.

"In 1820, the Chippewa of Red river were raising plenty of corn, pumpkins, and turnips. In 1832, when Schoolcraft and Boutwell visited Leech Lake, they found the Chippewa of that region with big patches of corn, pumpkins, and other vegetables. At intervals between 1827 and 1858, the quartermasters at Fort Snelling bought corn from the northern Chippewa, who shipped the grain down the Mississippi in canoes to St. Anthony Falls; the Indian women had in many instances carried it several miles to the shipping points.

"The Sioux, too, had corn fields —or rather small patches of the common 'squaw corn'—at every village on the Minnesota and the Mississippi, but their crops were usually meager. Commonly all of the yield was eaten up before the middle of winter, except a small supply for seed, and sometimes this was eaten.

"But the corn of the Minnesota Indians was a small-eared variety, so that, even if there were two ears to the stalk, not more than 25 bushels to the acre could be produced. This small variety was deemed too insignificant by the early settlers, who held that it could never be cultivated with profit or made available as an agricultural staple. A majority of the first white men were from states where an ear of corn was commonly of the diameter of a man's fore-arm, and often as long. They made many an experiment in attempting to reproduce the big corn to which they had been accustomed."

Cumulative evidence found in historical data from all sources indicates that the Chippewa were in most instances well ahead of the Sioux as farmers. It appears that in central and northern Minnesota, at least, the Chippewa were more competent and persistent. Perhaps the fact that they lived in a wooded region contributed to this situation, but whatever was the reason, these Indians were far more successful in their ventures in agriculture than most of us have been led to believe.

It seems probable that in more favorable circumstances the Indians, both the Chippewa and Sioux as well as other tribes of the northwest, might have progressed further as farmers and through this activity become what we are pleased to call civilized more readily, if they had been treated differently by the whites. Introduction of intoxicating liquors and exploitation of the red men were factors that militated against progress and on the contrary tended to degrade the Indians. Of course, there is ample ground for argument that the Indian is not equipped by inclination and temperament for the prosaic career of farmer; yet the world is full of paradoxes, and some of them have become commonplace and among them is a picture of an Indian band planting and harvesting their crops regularly although finding time for annual hunts and even warfare. It is logical to assume that the Chippewa at least were sensible and practical enough to realize that a recognized routine in the matter of crops lessened their labors and reduced the uncertainty of the harvest. Principally, however, this article is designed to disabuse readers' minds of the notion that the Indians of the northwest were savages and as such incapable of even elementary farming activities. To be sure this was not true of all the Northwestern Indians, particularly the Sioux in the western Dakotas, but in time it is probable that they would have become fairly proficient. Really, it is not too much to assume that the Indians might have progressed to a status far beyond that of the most advanced among them today, if the white man had never invaded their domains.—Northwestern Feature Service.

IT'S TOO LATE TO ORDER INSURANCE AFTER A LOSS OCCURS

"Insure and Be Sure"

WHOSE WORD WILL YOU TAKE FOR BLOWOUT PROTECTION?

Low wheels, larger tires, and the high speeds of today make blowout protection in your tires vital to your safety as never before. Are you accepting exaggerated and unsupported advertising and sales claims —or are you accepting the judgment of men who risk their lives on their tires and know from experience the tire that gives them the greatest blowout protection?

Thirty-three race drivers and their mechanics lined up for the dangerous, gruelling grind of the 500-Mile Race at the Indianapolis Speedway May 30th. Firestone Tires were purchased and used on every one of the thirty-three cars.

Kelly Petillo won the race at an average speed of 106 miles per hour. Wilbur Shaw was second, flashing across the finish line just behind the winner. Both drivers broke the track record without tire trouble. In fact, not one of the thirty-three drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Gum-Dipping is one of the outstanding reasons why Firestone Tires give such amazing performance. By this process every cotton cord is soaked and every strand is insulated with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat, the main cause of blowouts. Gum-Dipping is a patented extra process not used in any other make of tire.

When you consider that there were 882,000 automobile accidents in the United States last year, and of these, 43,000 were caused by blowouts, punctures, and skidding, you will more fully realize how very important it is for you to protect your life and the lives of others by equipping your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped High Speed Tires—the safest tires built.

It will be worth your time to read these three questions and their answers:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—Leading university tests show Firestone High Speed Tires stop your car 15% quicker than the best of other popular makes of tires.

QUESTION 2—"Are they built to give me the greatest blowout protection?"

ANSWER—Unequaled performance records for sixteen consecutive years prove that Gum-Dipping gives you the greatest blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

ANSWER—Thousands of car owners report unequaled mileage records—evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

1 University tests show Firestone Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker.
2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires.
3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear.

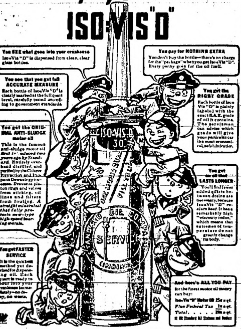
There are these advantages in buying Standard's ISO=VIS "D"



ISO=VIS "D" 30
STANDARD OIL COMPANY SERVICE (INDIANA)

You SEE what goes into your crankcase. Iso=Vis "D" is dispensed from clean, clear glass bottles.

You pay for NOTHING EXTRA. You don't buy the bottle—there's no charge for the "package" when you get Iso=Vis "D". Every penny goes for the oil itself.

You see that you get full ACCURATE MEASURE. Each bottle of Iso=Vis "D" is clearly marked at the full quart level, carefully tested according to government standards.

You get the RIGHT GRADE. Each bottle of Iso=Vis "D" is plainly labeled with the exact S.A.E. grade of oil it contains. The serviceman can advise which grade will give your particular car the most economical, safe lubrication.

You get the ORIGINAL ANTI-SLUDGE motor oil. This is the famous anti-sludge motor oil first introduced two years ago by Standard. Entirely overhead distilled, and purified by the Chlorex Extraction and Propane Dewaxing processes. Prevents piston rings and valves from sticking, oil lines and filters from fouling. A straight mineral oil that fully protects new-type high-speed bearing metals.

You get an oil that LASTS LONGER. You'll find fewer added quarts between drains are necessary, because Iso=Vis "D" resists heat. It has a remarkably high "viscosity index," which means that extremes of temperature do not greatly change its body.

You get FASTER SERVICE. It is the quickest method yet devised for dispensing oil. Each quart is ready to pour into your crankcase immediately—no delay, no waste.

WHAT A BEAUTIFUL PATTERN!
EACH 3LB. VACUUM JAR HAS THE SILVERWARE ATTACHED DIRECTLY TO IT.. IT'S A SPECIAL OFFER OF THE NASH COFFEE COMPANY TO INDUCE PEOPLE TO USE THE ECONOMICAL 3LB. JAR.
THE 3LB. JAR FOR ME FROM NOW ON...I'LL HAVE A SET OF THAT BEAUTIFUL SILVERWARE IN NO TIME.
NOTE SMART NEW PATTERN OF THIS LOVELY FREE SILVERWARE

Given only with the three-pound jar of NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE

EFFECTIVE Immediately, with the purchase of each three-pound, vacuum-packed, glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee, your grocer will give you, absolutely without added cost, your choice of a knife, fork or spoon of this fully guaranteed silverware.

This offer is made for one reason only. Most people buy coffee a pound at a time. The cost of packing and distributing a one-pound jar is practically the same as that of a three-pound jar, apart from the coffee itself. Where millions of pounds are involved, as is the case with so popular a brand as Nash's Toasted Coffee, the saving is considerable when it is packed in three-pound jars. So, to induce more people to buy the economical three-pound jar, the Nash Coffee Company is passing on to the public the extra value in silverware.

Of course, the high quality of Nash's Toasted Coffee remains the same—a quality of flavor that has earned for it the approval of millions of families who say, "Every Drop Delicious."

Note silverware attached to three pound vacuum glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee. You get your silverware with the coffee—nothing to mail or send away for

School and Community Hall

Owing to the new and especially liberal terms offered by the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, the people of the Goodridge community have taken a special interest in planning for the building of a hall on the school grounds in Goodridge.

Thus there will be held a special school election at the Goodridge School to grant the school board power to build such a hall according to law as a P. W. A. project. According to latest information from the P. W. A. the U. S. Government will give to the school district 45% of the cost of he hall or building project in cash. The rest of the cost of such building can be borrowed from the U. S. Government at 3% interest on long term bonds. Such are the terms of the project if approved.

To vote for the construction of such a building, vote yes, June 20 th on Thursday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The community enjoyed a real rain last Sunday which in some sections surpassed the well remembered rain of 1919 when we received nearly 13 inches of rain in 24 hours. We received about 1½ inches of rain in the village in about 2 hours, while at the Olof Walberg farm, 4 miles west of town on Highway No. 1 they reported a rainfall of about 5 inches or a regular cloudburst. Mr. Walberg says he was in his garage when the downpour started and had an empty pail in his hand and he ran from there to the house, which is not very far and upon reaching it found he had the pail half filled. That is some rain for any county.

Ever Thus

Jud Tunkins says he has listened to many speeches and has pretty near decided that even a speech may need a political pull to get it across.

BIG CROWD TURNS OUT AT MARSHALL CREAMERY PICNIC

Many From Pennington Present at Old Mill Event Last Sunday

One of the most successful gatherings held in northwestern Minnesota, the Marshall county creamery picnic Sunday at the Old Mill drew a crowd estimated at 7,000.

Every creamery in the county was represented. They include those at Warren, Middle River, Holt, Newfolden, Stephen, Argyle, Alvarado, Gatzke and Viking. A large number of Pennington county residents also were present.

Speakers were John Brandt, president of the Land O'Lakes Creameries Inc., F. J. Webb, Grand Forks who substituted for R. A. Nestos of Minot who was unable to come; and Charles Aamodt, assistant dairy commissioner, St. Paul.

Aamodt discussed the grading law for creameries and the other speaker discussed details of cooperation.

E. M. Evans of Middle River was chairman of the program. Music was supplied by the Alvarado band and a program of sports included horseshoe, kittenball, races and other events.

Recognition to be Given Minnesota Farm Leader

The 45 years of work for Minnesota's agriculture by Andrew Boss, vice director of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, will receive formal recognition at the observance of the Semi-Centennial of the experiment station at University Farm, St. Paul, Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15. Dr. Boss is probably as widely known in the state as any other farm leader, and, as he is to retire from active service with the station before long, a recognition of his work is to be made one of the features at a dinner, in connection with the Semi-Centennial observance, next Friday evening. A. J. Glover, editor of Hoard's Dairyman, a long-time friend of Dr. Boss will deliver the recognition address.

Interest Rate Reduced on All Land Bank Loans, St. Paul Office States

Interest will be temporarily lowered on all land bank loans July 1 according to information received by the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul from Washington, and announced today.

The new rate will be 3½ per cent on all loans made through National Farm Loan Associations for all interest payable in the 1-year period following July 1; and 4 per cent for all interest payable in the 2-year period commencing July 1, 1936. On loans made directly by the bank to individual borrowers, the rate will be reduced to 4 per cent for the first year and 4½ per cent for the 2-year period.

These interest reductions are provided in the farm credit act of 1935 which was approved by President Roosevelt on June 3. The act does not make any change in the interest rate on commissioner's loans which remains at 5 per cent.

Plans Being Completed for Grand Forks Fair Set for June 25 to 29

Competing for cash premiums totalling $2,500, hundreds of entries for exhibits and contests are being received for the North Dakota State Fair in Grand Forks, June 25-29, according to directors of the exposition.

With the contracting of the United Shows of America, the newest Midway attraction in the country and the largest ever to play in North Dakota, and the "Fascinations of 1935," a grandstand show which will play only one engagement in the United States, the entertainment value of the Fair is assured to be equal and frequently better than the biggest fairs in the country.

Still another feature of the Fair will be the giving away of four free cars in front of the grandstand.

Last year, 60,000 people passed the gate of the fair grounds. This year, an even greater attendance is expected as the Fair follows immediately upon the heels of the North Dakota American Legion Convention, June 22-25, also in Grand Forks.

Opening the exposition will be a midnight performance of the "Fascinations of 1935" Tuesday, June 25. This show features stage settings inspired by the Radio City Music Hall, New York, and using five-colored neon lighting diffused upon a background of glowing chromium. On its program will be a 24-girl chorus directed by Margot Koche, premiere ballerina and dance directress of the Chicago Civic Opera Company.

Varmlands Forbund to Convene at Alexandria

The Northwestern Varmlands Forbund will meet Saturday and Sunday, June 15 and 16, in the Alexandria high school auditorium. Featuring the meeting will be a number of addresses and the showing of the talking picture "Varmlanningarna", in addition to musical numbers. G. H. Gustafson of Barrett is president of the organization, and William Ringdahl of Wheaton is secretary.

HITCHHIKERS MAKE LINCOLN ON 10 CENTS

Fairmont— When it comes to cheap traveling, leave it to two Martin county boys hitch-hiking their way to California. The young men, Woodrow Reed, 21, son of Mrs. Dan Wright of Fairmont, and Bud Stockdill, 17, of Welcome wrote a postal card from Lincoln, Nebraska, saying they made that point in two days and had spent 10 cents since they left Fairmont. They didn't explain how they got their meals, but wrote, "Don't worry about funds holding out. We've only spent 10 cents so far and we'll have money left when we get to California."

ALUMNI REUNION AT N. W. SCHOOL SET FOR JUNE 29

Special Committee Named to Represent Pennington County

Anticipating one of the largest crowds in years, preparations are already under way for the annual Northwest School alumni reunion which has been scheduled for Saturday, June 29. Various committees have been appointed to assist with the program. R. J. Christgau, Retta Bede and J. W. Milnar, all members of the faculty, will be in charge of preliminary arrangements, while officers of the alumni association will have charge of the preliminary arrangements, while officers of the alumni association will have charge of the program of the day.

This group includes: John Gronner, Underwood, president; Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls, vice president; Dr. Harry Hedin, East Grand Forks, secretary, and Archie Lee, Roseau, treasurer. Officers of the "A" club will assist with the athletic program. This group includes: Stanley Alseth, Breckenridge, president; Elmer Ross, Fisher, vice president; Marcus Wolden, Fergus Falls, corresponding secretary; and Esther Haugo, Mahnomen, recording secretary.

The afternoon program will open with a baseball game between alumni and student. This will be followed by a business meeting of the alumni association. The early evening will be devoted to a faculty alumni kittenball game, while the main feature of the day will be the alumni dance to be held in the physical education building during the evening.

A special committee representing Pennington county includes the following: Clarence Weckwerth, Hazel; Morris Engelstad, Thief River Falls; Donald Toomey, Thief River Falls; Estelle Phillip, Mavie.

Blood Disorder Found to Result From Use of Pain Killer Remedies

Some so-called "pain-killers" kill more than the pain they are supposed to assuage. The unfortunate victim who tries by means of them to get rid of a headache may find that he has acquired a dangerous blood disease, according to recent discoveries that are the subject of a bulletin issued by the Public Health Education Committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association today.

The blood disease is called "Granulocytopenia" and it develops when something causes the death of the white blood cells that protect the body from invasions of disease organisms.

A good many different things may destroy these white blood cells but a surprisingly large number of cases, according to studies cited in the bulletin are the direct result of long continued doses of remedies in which the various forms of the drug called amidopyrine is used.

Not everybody who takes amidopyrine gets sick with granulocytopenia, to be sure—only those who happen to be sensitive to the drug. But it is impossible to tell who may be sensitive to the drug until symptoms appear. If amidopyrine is to blame for the illness, withdrawal of the remedies that contained the drug will relieve it.

This curious disease and the role that common drugs play in its cause is of great interest to all physicians. It will occupy an hour of the important symposium on blood diseases that is to be the subject of a joint symposium of the Minnesota State Medical Association for the Advancement of Science Tuesday, June 25 at the Minneapolis Auditorium. This joint session will be a feature of the great three day session of the state medical body that opens Monday, June 24 in Minneapolis. Dr. William P. Murphy of Harvard Medical School, 1934 winner of the Nobel prize, Dr. W. A. Bloedorn, Washington, D. C. of George Washington University and Dr. T. L. Squier of Marquette University will speak.

PAYS $100 FOR STOVE IN NICKLES, DIMES

Moorhead—Merchants are sometimes surprised these days when a customer pays cold cash for a large purchase, but to pay over $100 for a new stove in nickles and dimes—that was a new experience for Memfred Nelson, manager of the Moorhead Hardware Company. A customer came in selected a stove and tossed a bag on the counter with a loud "thump". It contained sufficient pennies and dimes to pay for the stove. For curiosity, Nelson put the bag on the scales. It weighed 10 pounds.

TRUCKERS ARE HEARD FRIDAY BY K. WEFALD

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner Hears Complaints in City

SAYS LAWS WILL BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

Local Truck Men Charge Certain Rates Are Unreasonably High

At a hearing conducted at the court house in this city last Friday morning by Knud Wefald of the railroad and warehouse commission, a number of complaints of violations of the Minnesota truck laws by local operators were cited by R. E. Henry, investigator for the motor truck and bus department of the commission.

At the same time several instances of what were termed unreasonably high hauling rates fixed by the commission were called to Mr. Wefald's attention by the truckers, who pointed out it would be impossible to get any business if the scheduled rates were rigidly adhered to. In response to their criticism, the commissioner suggested that the truckers should first agree among themselves as to the rates they believed to be fair and then submit the proposals to the commission, which he indicated would give full consideration to the request.

Expressing the opinion that violations to date had been due mainly to a misunderstanding of the provisions of the common carrier law of 1925 and the contract trucker law of 1933, Mr. Wefald stated that no attempt had been made up to the present time to enforce the statutes rigidly, but he warned that prosecutions would be in order henceforth.

As a means of clearing up the situation County Attorney H. O. Berve advised placing copies of rate schedules and classifications in the hands of truckers and shippers, who are both liable under the law. It developed, however, that the commission has no copies of the freight classification schedules available for distribution and that they are obtainable only from a Chicago concern.

In answer to the charge that some rates imposed on truckers were unreasonably high, Mr. Wefald stated that no complaints regarding rates had been filed to date from this section of the state. At the same time he pointed out that the commission lacks funds to make a needed comprehensive survey of trucking costs.

COUNTY FARMERS MAY SIGN UP NEW BANGS CONTRACT

Provides for Second and a Third Retest on Infected Animals

A new Bangs disease testing contract will be offered to Pennington county farmers as soon as the necessary forms are available, it was announced today at the office of County Agent R. M. Douglass. The new agreement provides for a second and third retest on present infected herds, and will also be used in signing new owners in order that they may have the same privilege.

In connection with the new contract it was pointed out that the indemnity or benefit payment on grade animals is raised to $25, but remains at $50 on registered purebred animals, the revised indemnity rates being effective on all appraisals made after June 10.

Parties that have signed contracts, but whose cattle have not yet been tested, will be notified when the new forms arrive so that they may come in and sign them. Testing has been discontinued temporarily, but is expected to be resumed on or about July 8.

Mrs. Hovie of This Community is New President of Organization

All previous attendance records were shattered when over 150 women from all parts of Northwestern Minnesota registered for the Tenth Annual Women's camp which was held at the Northwest School of Agriculture during the past week. Registrar J. W. Milnar states that an unusually large number of ladies attended their first camp this year. However, a great many have returned year after year as they look forward to the women's camp as offering an opportunity to renew acquaintances with other ladies throughout Red River Valley counties.

Four ladies have attended each of the ten camps since this course was established in 1926. This group included Mrs. A. Lindstrom, Waubun; Mrs. Emma Wright, Middle River; Mrs. Jay Payne, Goodridge, and Miss Retta Bede of the Northwest School. Mrs. E. E. Green, Crookston, and Mrs. Emil Peterson, Middle River, have attended nine of the ten camps.

Officers elected for the coming year include: Mrs. G. K. Hovie, Thief River Falls, president; Mrs. C. H. Boholt, Mayville, N. D., vice president; Mrs. E. E. Green, Crookston, secretary; Mrs. Emma Wright, treasurer, and Mrs. Gus Gustafson, Crookston, sergeant-at-arms.

Those in attendance from Pennington county included the following: Misses Harriet Anderson, Marie Olen, Ruth Olen, and Clara Olson, and Mesdames Walter Lindeleja, A. Norberg, S. T. Helland, C. D. Knox, James McCrum, Freeman Allen, G. K. Hovie, Soren Knutson and C. H. Toomey, of Thief River Falls, Mesdames Lee Beebe, Oscar Gunstad, J. A. Hansen, Oscar T. Haugen, Chas. Huff, Myles Jackson, A. ROCKSBURY CLUB WINS 1-ACT PLAY CONTEST FRIDAY

Cast to Present "Kidnaping Betty" at Crookston Short Course

More than 800 persons witnessed the 4-H one-act play contest held in the Auditorium last Friday night. "Kidnapping Betty" the comedy put on by the Rocksbury club placed first and "Just Like a Woman" by the Norden club, second, "Elmer", by the Silverton club, was third.

The program was enjoyed by a large number of 4-H members, their parents and friends. Charles Joyce and Violet Anderson, dressed as clowns and wearing masks, greeted the people as they came in. Their antics were very much enjoyed.

In the musical division the band from St. Hilaire placed first and the old-fashioned orchestra from River Falls, second. Furniture was had through the courtesy of the Oen Mercantile Company. The Northwestern Bell Telephone company furnished a telephone, and Land O'Lakes furnished transportation.

The various winners were awarded trips to the short course in Crookston June 20th to 22nd. "Kidnapping Betty" and the St. Hilaire 4-H band will compete there for regional honors.

CREAMERY MEN AGREE ON PRICE DIFFERENTIALS

New Rulings Effective July 1st Are Established at Crookston

SWEET CREAM 2 CENTS ABOVE NO. ONE GRADE

Supporters Contend Plan Will Mean Increased Use of Butter

Price differentials of two cents per pound between sweet cream and grade one cream, and between grade one and grade two, will prevail throughout Red River Valley counties after July 1, as the result of action taken in Crookston last week at a meeting of creamery men from eight counties, says the Crookston Times.

The meeting was held at the Northwest school auditorium, with approximately 200 creamery representatives in attendance. They came from Polk, Red Lake, Norman, Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Clearwater counties.

The decision on cream price differentials to prevail in the valley came after more than two hours of discussion and a vote. In the ballot, 37 creameries voted for the two-cent price differential between each grade and seven creameries voted for a one cent variance between sweet cream and grade one and a two-cent variance between grade one and grade two.

Dr. A. A. Dowell, superintendent of the Northwest school, praised the creamerymen and the dairy industry for the cream grading program which has been set up in this country. He pointed out that in this respect the dairy industry is far ahead of other agricultural industries, such as hog-producing, in which there is no uniform grading system.

In the discussion on the cream price differential, those favoring the smaller spread in prices between grades maintained that the butter market at present does not warrant a two-cent premium on sweet cream over grade one cream.

It was the contention of those favoring the larger spread in prices between grades that the cost of production to the farmer warranted paying a two-cent premium on sweet cream over grade one cream and that with the former grade a better butter could be produced, thus inducing increased butter consumption and strengthening the butter market.

In the final vote the cooperatives, favoring the two cent spread between each grade, won over the centralized and independent creameries favoring the smaller premium.

Sweet cream, as specified by law, is fresh, fine-flavored cream with not more than two-tenths per cent acid at the time of grading; grade one cream is clean, free from undesirable odors and flavors and has not more than six-tenths per cent acid at the time of grading; and grade two cream includes any lawful cream not eligible to grade as No. 1 because of too high acidity or because it contains undesirable odors and flavors in a moderate degree.

The law provides for a minimum one cent spread in price between each grade, but creameries in general have attempted to discourage the number two grade as much as possible by providing a greater variance between this grade and grade one.

Charles Ommodt, assistant commissioner of agriculture, dairy and food, conducted the meeting.

STEINER WINS 2 GAMES FROM SILVERTON TEAM

Playing Sunday in the community club softball league on the Steiner grounds, the Steiner team took both games of a double header from the Silverton team, the score in each game being 7 to 5.

Origin of Pennington County Place Names is Detailed in This Issue

In this week's installment of his series of articles dealing with Red River valley history, published elsewhere in this issue, Win V. Working supplies interesting information as to the origin of names of many places in Pennington county. He quotes from material assembled by Warren Upham of the Minnesota Historical society, who states that he based his data on information supplied to him 20 or more years ago by Lars Backe, former mayor; Harry Ives, former clerk of court; and Joseph Johnson, all of this city; and Edward L. Healy of Red Lake Falls. The resume will be continued in next week's issue. Mr. Working also calls attention to the fact that the silver jubilee of the establishment of Pennington county will occur on its 25th anniversary November 23, 1935.

C. C. GROUP MARKS RAILROAD WEEK AT WEEKLY LUNCHEON

W. H. Mann Presents Active and Retired Soo Workers as Guests

Railroad Week was observed last Thursday at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon when W. H. Mann, local Soo Line superintendent, had as his guests a number of active and retired Soo Line workers. In the latter group were several from out of town, including John Mitchell and Frank Barton of Mahnomen, and Julius Christianson of Alvarado. W. E. Baker, Great Northern agent, also was present.

Speaking in behalf of the association Secretary Paul Lundgren welcomed the group to the meeting, and expressed appreciation of the contribution made by the railroads to the community thru large local payrolls. In response Mr. Mann said the Soo Line appreciates the cooperation given it by the businessmen of the city.

Following a report by Postmaster Andrew Anderson that the postmasters' organization in this section of the state had accepted an invitation to hold its 1936 meeting in Thief River Falls, the association voted its support of the invitation.

O. C. Paulson reported briefly on plans for the enclosed skating rink which it is planned to build in the city if federal funds are made available.

MINNESOTA-N. D. U. C. T. HEADED BY ELMER N. BENNES

Local Man Named to High Office at Convention in Albert Lea

E. M. Bennes of this city was named grand counselor of the Minnesota-North Dakota division of the United Commercial Travelers in the election that featured the final session of the annual convention at Albert Lea last Friday. Mr. Bennes has been an officer of the division organization the past six years, rising in rank each year until he attained the highest position.

The Minnesota North Dakota jurisdiction embraces 32 local councils with a total membership of 4,850. Mr. Bennes is now serving his twentieth year as secretary of the Thief River Falls council, which has 82 members.

To Leave for Insurance Meeting in Fort Wayne

E. M. Bennes plans to leave Friday for Fort Wayne, Indiana, to attend a convention of representatives of the Lincoln National Life Insurance company. A feature of the meeting will be a journey to Detroit, Michigan, and a four day trip on the Great Lakes. School Board Opens Bids on Tennis Court Tonight

The local board of education will hold a special meeting this evening for the purpose of considering bids on the construction of a second concrete tennis court east of the present court on the Lincoln athletic field. The board Monday made an inspection of local school buildings and agreed on a program of minor repairs to be made during the vacation period.

Township Chairmen Told of Weed Pests

State Authority Addresses Town Weed Inspectors Here Monday

Addressing a group of 20 township chairmen, who also serve as weed inspectors, as well as others interested in the weed control problem, C. N. Sundby, state weed and seed inspector in the department of agriculture, dairy and food, Monday afternoon in the court room at the court house cited some of the most common weed pests and outlined methods for eradicating them.

Mr. Sundby stressed the seriousness of the stinkweed or Frenchweed pest, pointing out that it is more costly than others in that it taints dairy products, smothers seeded grain and goes to seed early in the season. It should be killed he said, while still in small patches.

The Canada thistle, he stated, while one of the most prevalent weeds in the state, is not such a serious menace since it can be eradicated in one season by black fallowing, while small patches can be killed with sodium chlorate.

Leafy spurge, Mr. Sundby said, is a growing menace, and he expressed skepticism when informed by local weed inspectors that they knew of no infestation in this county. The roots, he pointed out, go down to a depth of six feet or more, and the tops are poisonous to livestock. He added that in many instances the sodium chlorate treatment has been successfully used in killing the pest.

Another weed with a large root system that cannot be killed in one year, he said, is the creeping jenny, a form of wild morning glory with pinkish flowers, which has gained a strong foothold in parts of this state and particularly in Kansas.

Weed infestation, he pointed out, threatens the future market for locally raised seeds, a number of counties in the southern part of the state having lost their market thru the prevalence of weed seeds. He stressed the profit resulting from taking the necessary steps to clean up the fields.

R. OEN DEPARTS ON FIRST JOURNEY TO EUROPE SINCE '80

Pioneer Merchant and Son Robert Sail Saturday on Normandie

Rasmus Oen, pioneer local merchant, left the city Tuesday evening enroute to New York city, from where he will sail Saturday on the liner Normandie, world's largest and fastest ship, for a tour of Europe and a visit at his old home in Ness, Aadalen, in southern Norway, which he has not visited since leaving there in 1880, 55 years ago.

He will be accompanied on the tour by his son Robert, who recently completed his sophomore year at the University of Minnesota. Among the countries on their itinerary are England, Scotland, France, Germany, Denmark and Sweden. Pleasure will be added to their stay in Norway by the presence there of four sisters and a brother of Mr. Oen. They plan to return to this city about August 10.

On the eve of his departure Mr. Oen was the guest of honor Monday evening at an informal party in the store staged by the large group of employes of the Oen interests. Following the serving of lunch Mr. Oen was presented with a handsome Gladstone traveling bag as a parting gift.

Wyandotte Community Club Picnic Tuesday

The Wyandotte Community club will stage a picnic next Tuesday, June 25, at the site of the old dam adjoining Plummer, it was announced today. Music for the occasion will be supplied by the Red Lake Falls band, and a program of sports events will be conducted during the afternoon, including a kittenball game between teams representing Wyandotte and Silverton. The day's events will conclude with a dance in the Plummer community hall in the evening.

Township boards of equalization also will be in session next Monday throut the county.

COUNTY FAIR DETAILS FAST TAKING FORM

Prize Tickets Now Being Distributed by Most Business Places

ANNUAL EVENT IS SET FOR JULY 30 TO AUG. 2

Outstanding Grandstand Acts and Free Acts Are Scheduled

With less than six weeks remaining before the Pennington county fair July 30 to August 2, the board of directors, Secretary Robert J. Lund and Assistant Secretary Alex Campbell are engaged in attending to final details of the annual exposition.

Mr. Lund announced today that virtually all business places in the city now have prize tickets for distribution to patrons up to the opening of the fair, entitling the holders to chances on a car to be awarded the last day of the fair and a total of $200 in cash prizes to be awarded the two preceding days.

Copy is now being prepared for the premium lists to be distributed to exhibitors in the various departments of the fair, and the lists are expected to be available the first week in July, Mr. Lund said.

Headlining the grandstand attractions at this year's fair will be Ernie Young's new revue with a cast of thirty members as well as a five-piece band. Mr. Young scored a hit with the revue he presented here three years ago, and the current production is said to surpass the earlier one. In addition to the revue grandstand patrons will view six outstanding vaudeville acts embracing 18 persons.

The carnival attractions will be supplied by the John Hennies shows, which are also appearing this season at the Steele county fair in Owatonna, the largest county fair in Minnesota. The shows include nine rides, twelve shows and a ten-piece band.

The principal improvement in the equipment of the fair grounds this year is the recently completed livestock barn replacing the one destroyed by fire late last year. The structure has a main section 117 by 28 and two wings, each 90 by 28 feet in size.

LOCALS WILL PLAY OMAHA GIANTS IN CITY NEXT SUNDAY

Traveling Aggregation Has Record of Numerous Victories

Shorty Dakko's winning baseball team will go into action Sunday afternoon on the fair grounds diamond when it will cross bats with the Omaha Giants, a fast stepping traveling aggregation.

The visitors are reported to have a record of 33 victories out of the last 38 games played, and the locals hope to give them a setback. The Thief River Falls lineup will be strengthened Sunday by the addition of Bob Bell of Roseau, an all-round athlete who plays various positions.

It was found necessary to cancel the game scheduled for last Sunday with Oslo on account of wet grounds following the rainfall Saturday evening.

Smiley Community Club to Celebrate July 4th

Plans are being completed this week by the Smiley Community club for a celebration to be held at the Smiley club hall July 4 beginning at 1 o'clock. Miss Alice Olson and Paul Lundell Speak Wedding Vows Saturday

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday when Miss Alice Evelyn Olson became the bride of Paul Lundell at the home of the groom's parents, Rev. and Mrs. O. J. Lundell, at 410 St. Paul avenue. Vows were spoken before an improvised altar decorated with ferns, honey suckle, and roses, and Rev. Lundell read the service in the presence of Miss Violet Furan, as bridesmaid and Irving Lundell, brother of the groom, as groomsman, as well as the immediate members of the family and friends.

The bride wore a white silk boucle knit dress with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Furan was dressed in pink boucle knit with white accessories and she also wore a corsage the same as that of the bride's. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the groom's home where a pink and white color scheme, garden flowers and ferns were used in decoration. The table was centered with a large wedding cake. Mr. and Mrs. Lundell left on a trip to Winnipeg and are at home at 216 West 4th Street. Both are graduates of the local high school. Mrs. Lundell has been employed at the Ford Garage and Mr. Lundell is an employee of Jung's bakery.

Roy Brown Weds Agnes Heidahl Sun.

Simplicity was the keynote of the ceremony that united Roy H. Brown and Miss Agnes Heidahl in marriage at high noon Sunday. The vows were spoken before Rev. Korshaven at the home of Simon Heidahl, brother of the bride, at Winger. Attending the couple were Florence and Olaf Heidahl, brother and sister of the bride. Darlene Knutson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Preceding the ceremony, Eleanor Burchert sang "O Promise Me" and later "I Love You Truly", the accompaniment of both selections being played by Edith Engelbert who also played the wedding march. Miss Heidahl wore a white suit and a corsage of purple violets and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid was dressed in a pink lace suit and wore a corsage of pink and white sweet peas.

Following the ceremony, a reception was given at the bride's farm home. The groom is the son of Mrs. J. F. Brown of Grygla. He attended high school here and was employed at the Great Northern depot for some time. He is now with the Northern Chevrolet company. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home here after they return from a ten day trip by way of the North shore drive.

Birthday Party

The Mesdames W. K. Hoefer, Ira Nicholson, H. Buck, N. Nelson, F. L. Comstock and Cecil Ralston, pleasantly surprised Mrs. Allen Merritt at her home Friday evening, the occasion being her birthday. The guests gave her a lovely gift and served lunch.

Miss Gladys Weeks Becomes Bride of Clarence N. Nelson

Miss Gladys B. Weeks, daughter of J. J. Weeks of this city was married June 12 at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Storvick, of Mason City, Iowa, to Clarence N. Nelson, son of Mrs. Minnie J. Nelson of Northfield. Bridal wreath and rambler roses formed the setting for the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. E. R. Weeks of Karkhaven, brother of the bride.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in ivory satin made in princess style with long sleeves, pointed at the wrist, and having a high cowl neckline and a train. The orange blossoms on her cap of braided tulle were worn by her mother at her wedding fifty years ago and her veil was the one which had been worn by her sister, Mrs. Storvick. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies. Mrs. Storvick as matron of honor wore rose chiffon and carried Johanna Hill roses. The bridesmaids, Miss Pearl Weeks and Miss Marian Nelson wore aqua chiffon and carried Talisman roses. Little Elsie Storvick was flower girl and David Storvick, trainbearer. Eldred Nelson, brother of the groom, was best man. Preceding the ceremony the songs "At Dawning" and "I Love Thee" were sung by Miss Dikka Moen accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Gilbertson who also played the wedding march.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nelson are graduates of St. Olaf college. Since her graduation Miss Weeks has been music instructor in the schools of Cottonwood and Sherburn. Mr. Nelson received his M. A. degree from the Ohio State university in 1933 and has since been a member of the research staff of the Eastman Kodak company of Rochester, N. Y. Following a motor trip to Niagra Falls and the Adirondacks, they will be at home at 269 Seneca Parkway, Rochester, N. Y.

Winifred Sampson Wed in Crookston June 6

June 6 was the date of the wedding that united Miss Winifred Sampson and John Orvold in marriage. The ceremony took place in Crookston and was officiated by Rev. Vordale, pastor of the Lutheran church in that city, who is a cousin of the groom. Miss Grace and William Sampson, sister and brother of the bride were in attendance. The couple took a motor trip to Bemidji and Itasca State park and other points before going to their home on the groom's farm near Trail. Mrs. Orvold has been teaching the fifth grade at the Knox school.

Mildred Loftness Weds Karlstad Man

Weapons of Wasps, Bees

Wasps and bees are equipped with the most formidable weapons of defense of all insects. Many insects can bite and puncture with their mouth parts, but they can't do it as handily, neatly and effectively as the wasps can puncture with their sting. The sting of the common social wasp or bee is simply a weapon of defense which is not used so long as the insects are not disturbed or threatened with injury.

Growing With Your Child

Which Way Does the Wind Blow?

We have all been amused, some time or other, at the determination with which a three year old announces that he is going to be a fireman or a truck driver. We know his choice bears no relation to his abilities, but is made because it would be such fun to run such powerful things as trucks and fire engines. A few months, we know, and his ideas will have changed, he'll have set his heart on something else. Young children are never at a loss to know what they want to be and do when they grow up—it's only as they grow older that they begin to hesitate and vacillate.

By what age can children be expected to take a more or less permanent interest in one line of work? As a matter of fact, such interest seems not to be connected with any special age, but to appear fairly early in some cases, very late in others. About one out of five children at the high school age has no definite ideas as to what he wants to do. Children who make an early choice seem a little more apt to stick to it, while others who are undecided in high school are just as undecided when they get to college.

As the time involved in preparing for one's life-work becomes prolonged with increasing specialization, it seems desirable that children should be assisted in uncovering desires and capacities that will be helpful in making plans. What children like to work at would seem to be a useful guide but as a matter of fact we often find children going into employment that has no relation whatever to their work interests. Sometimes this is the fault of the parents, who, without being aware of it, are inclined to pick out occupations for their children. The doctor, even if he doesn't force his son into the study of medicine, can't help feeling a little reproachful toward him if he prefers a business career. Sometimes, again, the success which a parent has had, and the liking which he has displayed for his own work, influences an admiring child to make an effort along a line to which he is thoroughly unsuited.

How can we help children to discover what they might be good in? First of all, we can listen to what they say about what they think they would like to do. What they tell us indirectly may sometimes be of more help than direct statements. A girl in her daydreams may paint the most glorious portraits, and yet in real life be shy about telling her aspirations. The boy who dreams about being the pitcher on one of the great baseball teams may never "let on" at home for fear he will be laughed at. But what they do when they are free to do what they please may give us suggestions as to abilities that need encouragement. The child who has a strong social bent should make use of it; it would be a shame to waste his ability to get along with other people. Advantage should be taken of the fact that a girl delights in work that takes her out of doors; instead of being urged into teaching, or some other confining type of work, she should be allowed to try out gardening, or playground work, or some selling job that will let her move about.

The matter of deciding upon a life work is a serious one. Certainly it is not a matter that should be decided for the child, nor should he be pestered if he hasn't his mind all made up by the time he is in high school. We parents can help by giving try-out possibilities in connection with several different kinds of work, by watching for and encouraging abilities, and by sympathetic understanding of the child's problem.

For Your Cook Book

RHUBARB ROLY POLY

Dough:
2 cups flour
¾ cup milk
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt.
3 heaping tablespoons lard.

Mix the flour, salt and baking powder together. Cut lard in with a knife and add the milk. When dough is soft and well mixed, place on a floured board. Press out until ½ inch thick. Spread with these ingredients:

2 cups diced peeled rhubarb.
4 teaspoons cinnamon.
1 cup brown sugar. Dot with 4 tablespoons of butter. Press ingredients into the dough so that ingredients will not fall out during baking. Roll up, pinch ends together. Sprinkle top with a thin layer of brown sugar, cinnamon and butter. Bake in moderate oven. Serve while warm. For baking, use a pan 7x10. Serve with lemon hard sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Lemon Hard Sauce

4 heaping tablespoons butter, melted.
1½ lemons
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind and about 1½ cups sifted powdered sugar.

Beat with beater for 2 minutes. Let stand for 5 minutes on warm stove. Beat and serve while warm.

83 YEAR OLD ATTORNEY HIKES 25 MILES

Hastings—Ernest Otte, 83 year old Hastings attorney, an ardent pedestrian added new laurels to his hiking record Memorial Day when he tramped from Hastings to River Falls, Wisconsin, and part of the way home—a jaunt of twenty-five miles—just because he happened to feel like enjoying a "stroll" in the glorious May weather. He left Hastings at ten minutes to six in the morning and at two o'clock he was partaking of a hearty meal in a River Falls restaurant a distance of 16 miles. He was offered many rides by passing motorists but declined them. En-route home, however, he accepted a lift of about five miles.

Lecture on Christian Sciene

by John E. Sedman, Board of Lectureship First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston

Following is the substance of a lecture on Christian Science delivered at the Auditorium Monday evening by John Ellis Sedman of Los Angeles, Calif., member of the board of lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.:

Christian Science brings a message of encouragement to all mankind. Indeed nothing could be more encouraging than the message which Christian Science brings; for it makes known to the people of today that eternal, indestructible life to which Christ Jesus referred when he said: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." We long for life that is rich and full and free. We cannot be satisfied with mere existence. Indeed we cannot be satisfied with anything less than the life which is infinite, spiritual, eternal, indestructible, harmonious, happy, unfettered, perfect. Can we enter into the enjoyment of such life? Most assuredly we can, and Christian Science points out the way.

On page 468 of the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, we find what students of Christian Science commonly refer to as the scientific statement of being. This statement, as well as every other statement in this remarkable book, was written by the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. In this scientific statement of being, Mrs. Eddy mentions four realities, which everyone desires and which everyone needs. They are life, truth, intelligence and substance. Mrs. Eddy first points out that we can never lay hold upon these glorious realities so long as we seek them in matter. Then she assures us that we can find them in divine infinite Mind. Her statement reads as follows: "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is All-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. Therefore man is not material; he is spiritual."

Thus we see, at the very outset of our discussion, that Christian Science teaches people to rely, not upon matter, but upon divine infinite Spirit or Mind. In taking this position, Christian Science agrees with the inspired teaching of the Bible. The Bible never counsels trust in matter or materialism. It urges its readers to center their trust in God, and to keep it there at all times and under all circumstances. The great Exemplar and Wayshower of mankind, Jesus defined God as Spirit; and he assured us that we can worship God truly only as we worship Him spiritually. He said: "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life."

What is Life? God is Life, and God is the Supreme Being. We all intuitively feel that we owe our existence, and that everything that actually exists owes its existence, to the fact that something possesses the quality or attribute of self-existence. All down through the ages people have recognized, at least to some degree, this fact. Even savages have perceived it; and consequently, in instance after instance, they have offered up praise and thanksgiving for their blessings to some power or powers in which they believed. Christian thinkers know that God, and God alone, possesses the quality or attribute of self-existence. God alone exists at the standpoint of causation. He is the one infinite cause and creator, who produces and forever maintains and governs everything that has actual existence. Abraham described God as the everliving God; and Moses was divinely led to know God as the great I AM.

Now it is clear that the infinite God must be present everywhere! and divine logic and revelation assure us that the presence of God everywhere renders impossible the actual existence or presence anywhere of anything that is opposed to the nature, essence and character of God. Naturally and logically then, Christian Science teaches that the presence everywhere of the one infinite God, the Supreme Being, the great I AM, who is eternal, indestructible Life, makes it impossible for death, the supposed opposite of Life, to have real or actual existence anywhere.

Here again Christian Science agrees with the Bible, and it is exact accord with the pure theology which Jesus taught and exemplified. Jesus never attributed power or reality to evil. He taught that evil is unreal and powerless, and he demonstrated the truth of what he taught. He designated death as one phase or aspect of evil. He taught that death is opposed to the nature, character, will, and law of God. In instances, recorded in the Bible, where Jesus came in contact with death, how did he deal with it? The Scriptural record clearly indicates that he destroyed it. And by destroying death, Jesus conclusively proved that death is unreal and unGodlike; for that which God produces, sustains, and sanctions can never be destroyed.

TWIN GEESE HATCHED IN SINGLE EGG

Red Lake Falls—At the Fay Walker farm where geese have been raised every year an unusual event took place in the goose family when twin geese were hatched from a single egg. One of the goslings came forth into the world from the egg shell in fine shape but the second was unable to make its way out and was dead when discovered by members of the Walker family.

Lietuva and Latvia

Lietuva is more familiar to Americans as Lithuania. Latvia is another country entirely. Both are republics situated on the Baltic, Lithuania being immediately south of Latvia.

Minnesotan New Head of AAA Dairy Section

Further recognition of Minnesota's leadership among the dairy states has been given by the appointment of Dr. Edwin W. Gaumnitz as chief of the AAA dairy section. Dr. Gaumnitz succeeds A. H. Lauterbach, also a Minnesotan, who has resigned to become general manager of the Interstate Milk Producers' association of Philadelphia.

Dr. Gaumnitz is a native of Minnesota. He attended the St. Paul public schools and in 1921 was graduated from the College of Agriculture, University of Minnesota. In 1922, he received the degree of Master of Science and in 1925, a Doctor of Philosophy degree from this institution. He then became extension specialist in dairy and poultry marketing in Iowa, and in 1927, he entered the employ of the Division of Markets of the California State Department of Agriculture.

In 1930, he took up dairy and poultry marketing research work for the Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington. Since May, 1933, he has been assistant chief of the dairy section of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

He will assume his new duties as chief of the AAA dairy section July 1.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

Tomorrow is the longest day of the year and up in this country that means something. We're a little too far south to qualify as the land of the midnight sun but when daylight beams up over the north horizon at twelve o'clock P. M. we should be justified in boasting that we live in the land of the midnight twilight. We may be a little short on sunshine during the winter months but we certainly get our share of it during the growing season—when it counts.

One of these fine days the city is going to have a lot of naming to do. There are several new parks that should be given an official designation. And something should be done about Third and Johnson streets. There is no good reason why the street from the new bridge east should be Johnson and from the bridge west be Third. Some new name that would properly designate the street all the way in to the business section should be adopted. And such a fine approach to the city should not be referred to merely by number. Here is a problem that might properly be settled by popular choice.

Suggesting that suitable names be provided for new parks and the Johnson-Third street approach reminds us that as yet nothing has been done about converting the mill pond into a lake. It would be so much nicer to tell visitors that our city water came from lake so-and-such. A lake at this point would look good on the maps. And, as a matter of fact, it is really more of a lake than nine thousand of the state's boasted ten thousand. Maybe that's a little strong but we wish someone would get sufficiently interested in the idea to at least try to prove we are wrong.

April showers bring May flowers and what is so rare as a day in June and all that sort of thing, but as far as we are concerned we prefer snow flakes to the green worms that dangle down from the trees. One of these days someone is going to discover that they can be eradicated with a little effort and then we will be able to get enthusiastic about the delightful summers in the far north again.

There seems to be a steadily increasing crop of "moochers" on the streets, probably attracted here by stories of local prosperity. And as we swing into the harvest season it is not likely that these transient beggers, many of them evidently professionals, will diminish in numbers. Under the circumstances it might be well to establish a community wood pile for the remainder of the season, where those deserving transients who really want to earn a meal can be accommodated. A community wood pile would probably be an expense to the city. It is hardly to be expected that such a project would be self supporting. But as the word was passed along through the hobo ranks that Thief River Falls was a wood pile town, it is quite certain that the undeserving, professional beggers would decide to seek their fortunes elsewhere. It is not an unusual thing for an experienced "moocher" to pick up ten dollars worth of dimes a day in a town like this and there is no good reason why such a thing should be permitted to continue.

Now that it has started to rain again and there might be some possibility of making trees grow, the government seems to have lost interest in its tree planting project that was to provide a shelter belt a hundred miles wide extending from the Canadian border to the Gulf. One of the complimentary things that will be said about the braintrusters by future generations will be that they didn't do all of the things they threatened to try. The nice thing about the shelter belt idea is that it isn't going to be a burden on the tax payers.

BEARDS AT BRAINERD

In honor of the mighty Paul Bunyan and his blue ox, who, on reliable authority, made their headquarters in that community in the early days, men of the Brainerd community are growing beards and performing other acts of hardihood in preparation for a celebration to be staged there this summer. Several hundred husbands and wives of this community, where a beardy Pioneer Days celebration is not yet forgotten, will understand what the editor of the Princeton Union means in the following comment on domestic problems down thataway:

> Princeton may give the Reno divorce courts some business this summer if the men of this village hold to their vows to grow the Paul Bunyan beards. The wife of one prominent business man is now enjoying a sojourn on the West coast. Another young matron has announced her intention of going to Kansas City as soon as the village school closes to remain there until after the Paul Bunyan celebration. If the beards do not break up the happy homes in this village, they apparently will force the men to dig into their bank accounts to finance vacation trips for their wives.

WHEN THE CONSUMER ORGANIZES

(Montevideo News)

In its weekly bulletin the Central Co-operative association of South St. Paul tells how agitation in New York City has resulted in a consumers boycott against eating meats. It is due, the bulletin explains, to too much publicity about the high price of meat. From 2,000 to 3,000 retail meat markets have been forced to close their doors in the east because of consumer boycott. While pointing out that the agitation is not justified the Central admits it has resulted in curtailed orders at western markets for livestock and has been a factor in the recent weakened condition of all markets.

This incident may be more than an isolated case of agitation that had something to do with the prices western Minnesota farmers got last week. It may be a sign, seriously to be studied in farming communities, of what can happen if the consumers became aware of their potential power as a group. Efforts to organize the consumers have been made. If they succeed, the government that has made laws to help agriculture get better prices and in general a better break will begin enacting measures the consumers group feels will bring it some benefits. One of the things the consumer wants first is lower prices for what he consumes.

It will be a real tug of war.

Why not own an EIGHT?

with the V-Type eight, Ford gives you a car as economical as a four

FROM the driver's point of view, 8 cylinders make the ideal engine for a car. They give responsiveness, smoothness, quietness.

And in the Ford V-8 engine, you get this performance at 4-cylinder cost. The Ford V-8 you buy today costs less to run than any car Ford ever built! Its initial cost is at rock-bottom, and includes many "extras," such as safety glass all around, big 6.00 x 16-inch air-balloon tires, built-in luggage space.

Operating costs have also been pared this year—in sparing use of gas and oil, and in improvements which cut down brake, clutch, and tire wear.

Drive this Ford V-8. There's a Ford dealer near you—see him today. Let a Ford V-8 tell you what it has already told to a record number of eager buyers the country over.

AAA Provides Billion Pounds of Relief Meat

Nearly a billion pounds of beef, mutton, pork and lard have been collected and made available for persons on relief, as a result of the federal government's livestock produce programs. This is shown by figures compiled by the procurement Administration. The live animals were bought last year by the AAA and turned over to the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation to be processed and given to persons of relief.

The cattle and sheep purchases combined food conservation with a program of direct relief for drouth-stricken farmers whose cattle would have died for the lack of food and water, or would have been sacrificed on a glutted market. Though the pig and sow purchase program was primarily to cut down the surplus of hogs on farms, it also turned out to be a drouth-relief program, since a large share of the purchases was made in the area later hit by drouth so that the feed saved was of tremendous benefit.

On May 1, about 250 million pounds of the meat products still remained in storage for relief distribution.

HOME PLANTER'S NOOK

The What, When and How of flowers, lawns, and shrubbery, by L. Sando and L. E. Longley, Division of Horticulture, University Farm, St. Paul.

Long Live The Lily

The lily is one of our longest-lived flowers, and there are many species that are hardy in Minnesota. Some others normally do well. The following are fully hardy in most locations at least in the southern half of the state: Tigrinum with its varieties, splendens, Fortunei and albo-plena; Elegans, umbellatum, Hansoni, Henryi, and Batemanniae. To this list might be added three of our native species, superbum, canadense and philadelphicum which are hardy but should be grown in soil such as is found in the woods and in somewhat shady situations.

The following species are not quite hardy but usually come through the winter fairly well. Regale (Regal Lily), Sargentiae, Maximowiczi, Speciosum, Willmottiae and Tenuifolium. Of these the Regal Lily (L. regale) is usually hardy but under some conditions fails to survive.

The following four species sometimes survive with special care, but are not dependable: Martagon, Auratum (Gold Band Lily), Candidum (Madonna Lily) and Testaceum.

Lilies should be planted in a rich soil that is very well drained. Planting the bulb on a handful of sand tends to prevent rotting. Most of these should be planted rather deep, about 6 to 8 inches. However, Candidum and Testaceum should be planted only about 3 inches deep and Tenuifolium (Coral Lily) about the same.

Some of the lilies require special treatment. Some growers successfully handle the Regal lily as follows: The bulbs are dug in the fall, carried over winter in a cool cellar, and then replanted in the spring. The Regal lily has wintered consistently well at the University experiment station, but some growers have had failures during certain winters. Also, the Regal lily is often injured in the early spring by hard frosts. The Coral lily seems hardy enough for two or three years and then is likely to disappear, making it necessary to replant every few years. Lilium auratum is erratic, often persisting for a year or two and then failing. This lily is often handled as noted above for the Regal lily, by digging the bulbs in the fall and replanting them in the spring.

A number of the lilies mentioned above do better if grown in partial shade. This is especially true of our native species, L. superbum, L. canadense, and L. Philadelphicum which are native in more or less wooded situations. The following also give better flowers if grown under at least slightly shaded conditions: Henryi, Hansoni, speciosum, martagon, Willmottiae, Maximowiczi. If grown in full sun, the colors are likely to be somewhat bleached.

Lilium candidum (the Madonna lily) and L. testaceum (The Nankeen lily) are difficult to handle because of their habit of producing in the fall a heavy crown of leaves which persists through the winter. It is necessary to put a frame or some brush around these crowns of leaves to prevent their being crushed, before the mulch is applied. The mulch should be deep enough to cover these crowns of leaves well.

In our region it is necessary that the soil be exceptionally well drained to ensure survival of the bulbs. Also special precautions should be taken in protecting them by a good mulch of straw or hay in the fall, preferably applied just before the ground freezes.

State Will Conduct Census of Tourists

How many tourists come into Minnesota, where they are from and where they go while here will be determined by a traffic study starting this week under the supervision of the state highway department and the state tourist bureau. The work has been set up as a relief project financed largely by the SERA. About 167 relief workers have been assigned to the project, which will continue for probably 60 days.

Tourists will be checked by census stations near border towns, and will be given postcards on which to mail in information regarding their stay in the state. Among the points near which census crews will work are:

Pigeon River crossing, Duluth, Taylors Falls, Stillwater, Prescott, Winona, La Crescent, Prosper, Lyle, Albert Lea, Blue Earth, Fairmont, Jackson, Lakefield, Worthington, Laverne, Pipestone, Lake Benton, Dawson, Ortonville, Browns Valley, Breckenridge, Moorhead, East Grand Forks, Noyes and International Falls.

Fairmont—For the first time in 1913—22 years—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nolte no longer will know first hand what's going on in Fairmont high school. It was in 1913 the first of their eleven children entered high school. At the 1935 commencement last week Nolte No. 11 and the last received his diploma. Of the entire eleven only one did not graduate. One son attended for a short time but left school to help his father on the farm.

BLUE EARTH PASTOR HAS TESTAMENT 399 YEARS OLD

Blue Earth—Just thirty years after Columbus discovered the continent that later became the United States, a New Testament was printed in London England. Published in 1526, it was the work of a scholar by the name of William Tyndale, the martyr who took the work from the original Greek. A copy of this Bible, brown with age, is in the library of Rev. J. W. Taylor. Rev. Taylor bought it in New York City, 25 years ago when he was browsing about a second-hand book shop. The aged Testament was used as the text of Rev. Taylor's sermon a couple of weeks ago when he traced the history of the gospels. Students of Chaucer would be interested in the Old English spelling that the Bible uses.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK

(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

So. St. Paul, Minn., June 17, 1935: Fairly liberal supplies of slaughter steers found a restricted demand today and a large part of the run was carried into the afternoon session with bids around 25c lower. A fairly wide-spread consumer boycott is reported in the East to be depressing the dressed trade, which in turn is adversely affecting the live trade. Medium to good yearlings and lightweight steers today brought $7.50-9.75, small lots $10.25 or better. Lower grade heifers turned at 6.00-8.50, beef cows $4.50-6.50, low cutters and cutters $3.00-4.25, weighty sausage bulls $4.50-5.25, and medium to good vealers at $5.50-6.50, with choice kinds to $7.50. Stock cattle sold very slowly, but fleshy well-bred steers reached $8.25 and choice heifers $7.00.

Spring lambs sold largely at $7.50 today with bucks at $1.00 less, medium to good shorn yearlings at $5.50-5.75, and good to choice shorn ewes at $1.75-2.00.

Better 180-250 lb. hogs opened the week at $9.25-9.35 largely, few choice 200-240 lb $9.40, 250-300 lb butchers, $8.90-9.25, 300-350 lb, $8.75-8.9, underweights and pigs $8.75-9.25, and good packing sows at $8.20 mostly.

Windstorm Thursday Damages Property in Detroit Lakes Region

Reports assembled Friday showed that Trail and Steele counties in eastern North Dakota bore the brunt of a wind, hail and rain storm that wrecked buildings and caused some crop damage Thursday night in the area between Grand Forks and Fargo.

Damage also was reported in western Minnesota where winds of western Minnesota where winds of numerous small buildings. In the Detroit Lakes and Fergus Falls areas, property damage was heavy.

Three persons were injured, it was reported after a checkup Friday. They are Lowell Carlson of Detroit Lakes, Minn., hurt when a tree fell across a truck he was driving, William Wyborny, farmer east of Hope in Steele county, injured when his barn blew down while he was inside, and Mrs. Ed Yakel, wife of the depot agent at Callaway, Minn., injured when the station was damaged by wind.

Detroit Lakes Plans Water Carnival With Regatta for June 30

Plans are nearing completion for the first annual northwest water carnival and regatta, which will be staged at Detroit Lakes Sunday, June 30 under the auspices of the junior chamber of commerce. A throng of at least 15,000 visitors is expected to witness events on the program.

Topping the water sports program will be the featured balloon-busting speed boat handicap in which 25 boats from all parts of the northwest will participate. Another interesting event will be a one mile marathon swim supervised by Niels Thorpe, University of Minnesota swimming coach.

There will be swimming and life saving exhibitions in addition to the swimming races for all and boat events of every nature. These will begin in the morning and continue throughout the afternoon.

The carnival will reach a climax in the evening, when at least 25 bathing beauties from 15 communities will vie for the honor of being chosen as "Miss Northwest" in a bathing beauty contest, which will be staged under floodlights on a boardwalk. A carnival ball in the municipal pavilion will conclude the festivities. Jack Mills will play.

Speed boat and swimming entries may be sent to Gordon Helgeson, Detroit Lakes while Francis Schroeder is receiving bathing beauty entrants. It is planned to make the carnival an annual affair.

Working on Highway 32 South of Red Lake Falls

Grading work on Trunk Highway No. 32, leading into Red Lake Falls from the south, was started by the contractors, S. J. Anderson of Warren, last Friday and is going forward at a rapid rate, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. A large crew of men are employed on the job and the fleet of trucks working makes the scene a particularly busy one this week. The grading work will take only a few days, the job being but three-quarter miles in length. After the grading is completed an overhead bridge will be constructed over the Great Northern track, south of the site of the present wooden overhead that leads to the golf course.

Funeral Rites for Elias P. Joringdal Were Held Monday

Funeral services were conducted Monday from the Oakridge Lutheran church, Rev. M. L. Dahle of St. Hilaire officiating, for Elias J. Joringdal who passed away last Friday at the age of 73. Born in Norway in 1862, Mr. Joringdal was married in that country in 1887 to Miss Petrine Sulesund, the young couple leaving the same year for the United States where they settled on a homestead near Angus. The family later moved to Numedal township in this county, where they have since made their home. Surviving are Mrs. Joringdal and eleven children, including Joseph, Tecoma, Wash.; Thomas, Clarence, Maynard and Mrs. K. O. Johnson of Warroad; Julian, Peter and Melvin of Milwaukee; Elmer of Gagen, Wisconsin; and Mrs. O. Pederson and Richard of this city, and 14 grandchildren. Interment was in Oakridge cemetery.

Arrested With Load of 1,200 Pounds Tullibees

Arrested in the city early Tuesday morning with 1,200 pounds of tullibee fish from Lake of the Woods, Frederick Schafer and R. Blain of Frazee were brought before Judge J. M. Bishop in municipal court later in the day, where Blain pleaded guilty to a charge of not having a license to sell or transport fish and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or serve 60 days in jail. The men were arrested on complaint of Game Warden W. H. Quist.

Fred Bakke, Marshall County Treasurer 20 Years, Died Saturday

Fred Bakke of Warren, who had served as Marshall county treasurer for 20 years and who had been a resident of the county since 1882, died Saturday night at his home following a lingering illness. He was 73 years old. Born in Norway in 1862 he came to this country and settled in Warren at the age of 20, later spending some years in Stephen where he engaged in the mercantile business. He was first elected county treasurer in 1910 and served continuously until he retired from office in 1930. He is survived by Mrs. Bakke and three sons, Clarence Bakke of Redwood Falls and Adolph and Clayton Bakke of Warren. Funeral rites were held Tuesday afternoon from Our Saviors Lutheran church in Warren, Dr. L. E. Brynestad officiating.

Bible Camp Decides to Build Home at Warren

The Bible Camp that has been going on in Strandquist from June 9th closed last Sunday evening with an overflow crowd in attendance. On Friday afternoon the annual business meeting was held and it was decided to build the permanent Camp at Warren. Greetings and invitation to build at Warren were received both from the Commercial Club and the city council. A building committee of five were selected to have charge of the erection of the building. They are: Gust Peterson of Warren chairman, Henry Anderson of Viking, Joe Koland, of Strandquist, Arvid Carlson of Warren and Edmund Andeen of Frodahl. Mr. John Swandson of Warren will be the carpenter in charge.

There will be an incorporation meeting of the Covenant at the Mission Church in Warren July 12, at 8:00 p. m. when the incorporation articles will be adopted. On Sunday afternoon a subscription was lifted for the building of the camp at Warren and it amounted to $1,293.26.

Warns of Fake Solicitors for Public Health Group

Following reports that a group of women claiming to be representatives of the Minnesota Public Health Association are soliciting funds in the state, Dr. E. A. Meyerding, executive secretary of the State Christmas Seal organization, has issued a warning to the public that these agents have no connection with his organization. In calling attention to the misrepresentation, Doctor Meyerding states:

"The annual Christmas Seal sale is our only fund-raising campaign for health and anti-tuberculosis work in the state. Anyone using the name of the Minnesota Public Health Association or the National Tuberculosis association to solicit funds is doing so without authority and should be reported to the authorities in any community they visit."

Feature at North Dakota Fair June 25-29

The Minnetonka, proud dean of northwestern transcontinental locomotives, will be an outstanding attraction at the North Dakota State Fair at Grand Forks, June 25 to 29, according to announcement today by D. F. McGowan, manager of the exposition.

Just back from a triumphant performance of two seasons under its own steam on A Century of Progress grounds at Chicago, where it assumed a prominent role in the transportation pageant, "Wings of a Century", and was applauded by more than 3,000,000 persons, the Minnetonka will wheel into the state fair grounds, a relic of the earliest days of railroading in the American Northwest.

This saddle tank, balloon-stack locomotive, which was the first locomotive purchased in 1870 by the first of the northern transcontinental railroads—the Northern Pacific—had been discarded and was regarded as of little value, even as junk, until a chance discovery by Northern Pacific engineers resulted in bringing it back into nation-wide prominence.

The Minnetonka, which was affectionately known to pioneers of the Northwest as "Old Betsy" is reminiscent of the steam power units of the days of tall hats, flounces and bustles. Records show that the locomotive was purchased on July 18, 1870, from manufacturers at Pittsburgh, Pa., for $6,700.

Old Betsy went into service between Lake Superior and Brainerd, Minn., a few weeks after initial construction was started on the Northern Pacific's transcontinental system. She remained in that service until the line was turned over for operation as far west as Brainerd. In 1871 it was transferred for service in the Pacific Northwest. Later, it was engaged between Ainsworth, Wash., and Spokane, and in 1886 was sold to a western logging company. Abandoned in the recesses of a Pacific Northwest forest, it was identified in 1933 by a marking— No. 84 on the manufacturers' plate over the cylinder—and was taken to St. Paul, where it was revitalized.

She will be engineered at the state fair by Fred Metcalf, of East Grand Forks, Minn., who fired the locomotive with wood a half century ago and who was in charge during its world's fair engagement.

Announcement is made by the management of the railroad that the Minnetonka soon will occupy a coveted position among pioneer transportation units in the Museum of Science and Industry at Chicago.

Bridgeman Creameries List Winners of Prizes

Mrs. W. H. Bissell, 523 Woodland avenue, Crookston, is winner of the $100 prize awarded by the Bridgeman Creameries in their "ice cream get-acquainted" contest, it was announced today.

Judges in the contest were M. Beatrice Johnstone of the University of North Dakota extension division; J. H. Pearson, advertising manager of the Grand Forks Herald, and J. M. Chapman, principal of the Crookston Central high school.

Second prize of $50 was awarded to Donald Robertson of Grand Forks; third prize of $20 to Mrs. Ray Hanson of Thief River Falls, and fourth prize of $10 to Selma M. Lafson of Grand Forks. Miss Gertrude Lockrem of this community was awarded a $1 prize.

Local People to Attend N. D. Legion Meeting

A number of local Legionnaires are expected to journey to Grand Forks for the North Dakota State American Legion convention which will be in progress Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The Ninth District Legion band is scheduled to participate in the event. The convention parade will take place Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, while the drum and bugle corps competition will be held at the University stadium Tuesday evening at 8:30.

Announces Beginning of Work on Roseau Dams

S. F. (Sharpless, third district ERA engineer with headquarters in this city, announced this week that work was started Saturday on a Roseau county project involving the construction of two dams in the Roseau river at a total cost of $58,000. One dam in the water conservation project is being constructed in the village of Roseau and the other one 27 miles southeast. Of the total cost $25,000 was appropriated by the state executive council, the remainder being supplied thru the state ERA organization.

Warren Creamery Will Construct New Building

A new creamery building will be constructed in Warren this summer, stockholders of the Warren Co-operative Creamery association endorsing the project with a big vote at a special meeting held recently, says the Warren Sheaf. The new building will be constructed at an estimated cost of $13,000 which includes construction, heating, ventilating, wiring and plumbing, according to the estimates prepared by Theodore B. Wells, Grand Forks, architect who has been retained by the association to supervise the construction. The official call for bids for the construction will be made at an early date.

MARSHALL COUNTY FAIR IN PROGRESS JULY 3, 4, 5 AND 6

Thrill Days, Horse Racing and Night Show Features Annual Event

Offering a greater array of big time attractions than has ever before been presented in this section and an attractive list of premium awards that is greater than last year, preparations are rapidly nearing completion for Marshall county's exposition at Warren on July 3, 4, 5, and 6.

"We have made an effort to make the 1935 fair outstanding in every department and have spared no expense in bringing to the people of this section truly state fair attractions that will be worth coming many miles to see", said William Forsberg, president of the fair association.

The Marshal county fair has established a reputation for its high quality exhibits of livestock, farm produce, women's handiwork, culinary and art departments and things made by rural school children, and judging from the large number of inquiries received, more displays than ever will be exhibited this year. Entry day at the fair will be on July 3 until noon, with judging scheduled to begin promptly at one o'clock p. m. Premium lists may be secured from your local stores or by writing to J. A. Grindeland, secretary, at Warren.

Marshall county's 4-H club members always play a prominent part at the fair, and with 1935's large enrolment and interest being at a high pitch, unusually large displays of projects will again be exhibited.

Headlining the grandstand programs this year will be thrill days during the afternoons of July 4 and 5. Thrill days will include professional motorcycle races, head-on collision between two speeding automobiles, a man driving a speeding motorcycle through a solid board wall, and Jane Schafer, the woman auto race driver in competition with a speeding motorcycle.

Each afternoon during the thrill days, Lew Rosenthal will present ten big circus acts, including acrobats, jugglers, roller skaters, animals and high pole acting, all showing trained men and women accomplishing almost unbelievable feats. The final afternoon of the fair horse racing will be featured. Lew Rosenthal has presented the grandstand attractions at the local fair during the past several years, and each year he has offered only the best and cleanest entertainment.

The night show at the Marshall county fair has grown in popularity and this year Lew Rosenthal's continental Revue will entertain the large crowds at the fair. The Continental Revue will offer a complete change of programs nightly and will feature a bevy of beautiful girls in clever costumes and dances; clean cut comedians and inspiring music. Dancing featuring both old and new time music will take place each evening at the Wigwam, Marshall county's finest summer dance pavilion.

On the Midway Hildegard's Amusement Co., with numerous rides for children and adults, well managed shows and concessions together with the largest portable ferris wheel manufactured will prove another amusement place for all fair goers. Plan now to atend the Marshall County Fair.

Olson Names Conditions on Which He Will Call Legislature in Session

If the majority groups in the legislature want "war" instead of cooperation on legislation to be taken up, there may not be any special session at all, Gov. Floyd B. Olson said Thursday.

The governor was asked when he expects to call the legislature together and for what purposes.

"I am not anxious to have a special session at all," he answered. "My idea of a special session, if one is to be called, would be the important matters that need to be cleaned up, meet for a few days to put them through, and then adjourn.

"If the leaders in the legislature do not want to cooperate, if their idea is to organize for war, I don't see anything to be gained by calling a special session."

If there is any special session, the governor said, it will hardly be sooner than September.

Deposit Insurance Corp. Pays off 20,000 Depositors in U. S.

A report just released by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in Washington reveals that twenty thousand depositors of closed insured banks have been paid their insured deposits in the first seventeen months of deposit insurance.

They were depositors in seventeen closed banks which the Insurance Corporation had taken over up to May 31, and their insured claims totalled more than two and a quarter million dollars. In all there have been 25,000 depositors in these banks whose estimated insured funds amount to about two and one-half million dollars.

Payment of claims by the F. D. I. C. has started within an average time of a week of the day the banks closed the report shows. It further reveals that in the last bank to be taken over by the Insurance Corporation all but sixty dollars of insured money has been paid to depositors. The pay-off began on May 13 and all but twelve of its depositors had received a settlement of their claim on the last day of the month.

It is estimated by officials of the Corporation that ninety-nine of every hundred of the individual depositors in the closed insured banks have received all the money they had on deposit, or will receive it just as soon as they come to the banks.

The F. D. I. C. in insuring deposits in 14,000 banks throughout the country at the present time. It has announced that this is ninety per cent of all licensed commercial banks and that they hold all but two per cent of the total bank deposits.

U. S. Road Fund Rules Still Being Awaited

Detailed regulations governing the expenditure of about $5,000,000 of emergency federal relief funds on highways and about $5,000,000 on grade crossing eliminations in Minnesota have not yet been received by the state highway department, which will administer the funds, says a department bulletin. "Our engineers are busy setting up a program based on a preliminary outline of the relief principles adopted by the national government for expending these with the federal authorities. No construction program can be completed, however, until the detailed regulations are available."

SETESDALSLAGET WILL CONVENE AT BEMIDJI JUNE 28

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Werking

Consulting Minnesota Historical Collections, volume 17, the writer made an interesting discovery. Pennington county will be 25 years old Nov. 23, 1935. This fact would seem to warrant a silver jubilee this fall, especially if crops fulfill their present promise. The writer's purpose in consulting the state historical volume was to glean information about the geographic names of Pennington county. As many readers may know, this volume is devoted exclusively to Warren Upham's report on geographic names of this state and their sources. The introductory paragraph on Pennington county reads:

"This county, the latest established in the state, Nov. 23, 1910, was named in honor of Edmund Pennington, of Minneapolis. He was born in LaSalle, Ill., Sept. 16, 1848; began his life work in railroad service in 1869; and since 1888 successively superintendent, general manager, and vice president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie railway company, and since 1909 has been its president. From 1858 to 1896 this area was included in Polk county, and from 1896 to 1910 was a part of Red Lake county."

The following paragraphs present information concerning the sources of the names of townships and village of the county as obtained by Upham:

"Information of geographic names in Pennington county was received from Edward L. Healy, real estate dealer, of Red Lake Falls, interviewed during a visit there in August, 1909; and from Harry E. Ives, clerk of the court, Lars Backe, former mayor, and Joseph Johnson, each of Thief River Falls, the county seat, interviewed there in September, 1916.

"Black River township slopes mostly southwestward, sending its drainage to the stream of this name, given on Nicollet's map in 1843, which alludes to its dark water, stained by the peaty soil of some parts of its course.

"Bray township was named in honor of Damase Simon Bray, one of its pioneer farmers. He was born at Cedars, near Montreal, Canada, Mar. 17, 1828; came to Minnesota in 1860, settling on a homestead in this township, as it was later organized; removed to Red Lake Falls, 1886; and died there, Sept. 24, 1908.

"Clover Leaf township was named for its white clover, growing abundantly in many places beside roads and on pastured lands.

"Deer Park township was formerly a favorite hunting ground for deer, which under legal protection continue to be found sparingly in this eastern part of the county.

"Erie post office, in Star township, was named by the late Alex P. Latimore, who came from near Erie, Pa. He was editor of 'The Eleven Towns,' a newspaper especially representing a group of 11 townships in the eastern part of this county, formerly in the Red Lake Indian reservation, but opened to white settlers June 20, 1906.

"Goodridge township and its village on an electric railway, in section 21, are named for a broad but very low ridge, only a few feet above the adjoining areas at each side, which reaches from the village about four miles southeastward.

"Hazel is a village of the Soo railway in section 1, River Falls. Two species of hazel, much sought by children and squirrels for their excellent nuts, are generally common in this county and throughout northern Minnesota.

"Hickory township, the most southeastern in the county, is at or near the northwestern limit of the swamp hickory or bitternut. This species furnished nearly all the hoop-poles for flour barrels cut in the southern and central parts of the state.

"Highlanding township and its village on the north bank of the Red Lake river, are named from the relatively high ground there adjoining the stream, which makes this a favorable place for the landing of steam-boats on their passage between Thief River Falls and Red lake.

"Hilda, a post office in section 1, Deer Park, was named in honor of the wife of Olaf Hanson, a pioneer farmer, who was its first postmaster.

"Kratka township and village, beside Red Lake river, were named in honor of Frank H. Kratka, an early merchant of this county. He was born at Sugar Island, Wis., May 21, 1850; settled in 1884 at the site of Thief River Falls, then called Rockstad as a trading post for the Ojibway of the adjacent Red Lake and Pembina Indian reservation; learned their language, and was an interpreter; was the first postmaster of Thief River Falls, in 1887-88, when the village was platted and named; was its president in 1891 and 1894, the first mayor after its incorporation as a city, 1896-97, and again in 1902-03; likewise for a second time was the postmaster, 1907-14; removed to Pasadena, Calif., where he died Jan. 27, 1916. The Ojibway called him Ogema, meaning a chief; but in 1890 he opposed an endeavor to rename this city as Ogema Falls." — Northwestern Feature Service.

HOME LOAN BODY LISTS TERMS FOR GRANTING LOANS

Period for Making New Applications Will Expire Next Thursday

Dealing with the amendment to the Home Owners' Loan Act, signed recently by President Roosevelt, which permits the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, for a period of 30 days, to accept new loan applications, John H. Fahey, chairman of the corporation last week issued the following statement, emphasizing that such applications will be accepted only from home owners who are clearly in distress, and are threatened with the loss of their homes through foreclosure:

"The same tests of eligibility of HOLC applicants which have applied in the past will in general continue in full force under this new legislation. The corporation intends to make every effort to assist home owners who are in genuine financial difficulty, but it will be forced to reject every application which is not clearly eligible.

"No home owner should apply for a loan until he has first made certain that his application will be eligible under the corporation's restrictions. He should realize that the rejection of an ineligible application, on grounds of deliberate default on existing debts, is likely to cause the home owner the loss of his property, because of the unwillingness of his present mortgagee to carry the loan following such default.

"Largely as a result of more than 2½ billion dollars in bonds already disbursed to them by the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, lending institutions are in a far stronger position today than they were a year ago. They are well able to recast and carry reasonably sound mortgage loans, instead of coercing, or even encouraging such borrowers to make application to this corporation.

"The tests of eligibility are as follows:

1. The applicant must have been in involuntary default on his home loan on June 13, 1933, and be unable or carry or refund his present mortgage, unless it can be shown to the corporation's satisfaction that a default occurring later than June 1, 1933, was the result of unemployment or other misfortune beyond the applicant's control. The corporation was created to protect honest home owners who are in temporary difficulty, and not for the purpose of saving money lenders from the results of their own past mistakes in making excessive loans, or in lending to persons not entitled to credit.

2. The past record of the applicant for integrity is a vital factor. Any applicant will be rejected as ineligible if his general record is unsatisfactory, particularly if he has deliberately defaulted on his existing indebtedness and has a record of not paying his bills when he is able to do so.

3. To redeem the home from forced sale or voluntary surrender, such sale or surrender must have taken place since January 1, 1930.

4. The applicant must be in actual distress with his mortgage indebtedness and threatened with the loss of his home by foreclosure. Applicants who have no present or prospective income of any character, and clearly could not meet the indebtedness, are ineligible unless their notes are also signed by responsible parties.

5. The property must be used by the owner as his home or held by him as his homestead, and, as a rule, it must have been used as his home on June 13, 1933.

6. The home must have a value not exceeding $20,000 as appraised by the corporation. No loan may be made for an amount exceeding $14,000 or 80 percent of the corporation's appraisal of the property, whichever is the smaller.

7. The property of the applicant may have a dwelling or dwellings located upon it for not more than four families.

8. Ordinary farm property is not eligible unless the applicant draws his main livelihood from non-farm occupations.

9. No applicant will be granted a loan is such refinancing is intended only to protect a bank loan or other business obligation.

10. The corporation will not refinance the home of an owner who can continue to carry his present loan."

Application forms may be secured by calling at the state or district offices or will be mailed immediately upon request addressed to Home Owners' Loan Corporation, 616 Bremer Arcade, St. Paul.

The amended act provides that new applications may be received for a period of thirty days only and acceptance will terminate at midnight June 27, 1935.

Two Are Bound Over on Charge of Stealing Wool

Following a hearing before Judge J. M. Bishop in municipal court last Thursday, at which they waived examination, Douglas Olson and Andreas Gausen of this city were bound over to district court under $500 bonds on a charge of having stolen wool valued at $42.80 the night of June 11 from Gilman Homme at 402 Riverside av. The wool was reported to have been sold in Grand Forks in the name of Bert Hanson of Fisher.

GRYGLA

HARRY HAUGLAND DIES AT FARGO SUNDAY

Word was just received at the village Monday morning of the passing away of Harry Haugeland, at the Veteran's Hospital at Fargo, N. D., on Sunday evening.

For the past year Harry's health was not of the best. For some little time he received the best aid possible locally, but last fall his condition became worse and it was decided to seek relief at Fargo. For some time he was much on the amend and it was thought that he would soon be even in our midst, but about a month ago his condition changed for the worse, and on Sunday evening he was called to the great beyond. Harry has lived in this community and village nearly all his life. His passing will leave a place hard to fill in the hearts of his relatives and friends here. Funeral arrangements as yet, have not been made altho it is thought that they will be held here, with burial at the local cemetery.

ATTENTION MEMBERS OF CONSERVATION CLUB

It has been decided by the officers of the club and the captains of the two contesting sides that the Crow Hunt shall terminate the night of June 29 which falls on Saturday and that all points or credits must be turned into Oliver Peterson by that time to be properly credited. On Sunday evening the 30th, a meeting will be held in the R. N. W. hall by the club, announcing the winners of the contest, reports, etc., and any other such matters as will be of benefit to the club and conservation in general. Do not forget to have your points all in by Saturday. Any brought in on Sunday will not be counted. After a business meeting a lunch will be served, followed by a smoker and any other enjoyment that the members desire. It is the wish of the officers that the entire membership turn out as this very likely will be the final session of the club until the fall season starts.

Brown-Holdale

At the bride's beautiful home on the farm just a mile from the village of Winger, at high noon Sunday, occurred the marriage of Roy Brown, formerly of this village and Miss Agnes Holdale.

Mr. Brown for a number of years assisted his father in the operation of a store here, the last 4 years having the management of a local independent oil station. Last fall he was offered a very responsible position with the Northern Chevrolet Co., at Thief River Falls, where the newly weds will make their home.

Miss Holdale taught school here for 3 terms where she has made many friends and acquaintances.

Immediately after the wedding the happy couple departed on a trip, going by the way of Duluth and then along the North Shore drive expecting to return to their home the later part of this week. The many friends of this community extend the best of wishes with lots of good luck on their journey through life together.

Mrs. Josephson of Goodridge spent last Wednesday visiting friends in the village, also her son the new butcher.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Oaks now of Cass Lake, arrived in town on Thursday bound for their farm east of Shilling. Mr. Oaks has a foreman's position in the C C C camp near Cass Lake and says that he enjoys his work very much. They have purchased a home near the camp and will continue to reside their indefinitely. They made a trip to their home "way out East" and Al said it made him lone and hated to leave. It is hoped that they will decide to again cast their lot with us after the work at camp is concluded.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Leverson of Thief River Falls are spending the week in this village.—Gunder Grovum and family together with the Ben Vigen family motored to International Falls Tuesday where they were in attendance at the funeral of Jack Bolstad. The trip was made in a driving rain, both coming and going. Considerable more moisture around Bemidji was noted than hereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Anderson residing north of town up in Big Grass township, went through the village last Friday on their way to Thief River Falls where they were to visit friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Day moved to Bemidji this last week where Mr. Day will have employment during the summer months. Mr. Day has taught many terms of school up in Big Grass township and it is hoped that they will return again to our community.

Rev. Father Gonnering, a brother of our butcher John Gonnering, visited in town last Thursday. Father Gonnering resides in Wisconsin where he has a large parish. He was very favorably impressed with this country. —Mr. and Mrs. Orvis Fladeland and children motored to Howard Lake, and other points for a well earned vacation. During Orvis' absence, Leo Svengladsen will take care of all wants for Standard oil. —Mildred Meldy from Duluth is this week, visiting relatives and friends in this community. —The auction sale on new and used furniture held at Sandberg's last Friday was largely attended. Many fine pieces of furniture were sold and at very reasonable prices.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. H. E. Mussey is none too well at the present writing. Recently she had a fall which was very aggravating but it is thought with good nursing she will soon be around at her former duties. —After spending a couple of weeks visiting his uncle and aunt Darrell Carter returned to his home at St. Hilaire.

Clarence Schmidt of Brookings, S. D., visited with relatives the past week. Mr. Schmidt is a nephew of J. W. Theling of Big Grass Township. —Mr. and Mrs. John Thieling accompanied by Mrs. Walker, motored to Bemidji on business and pleasure. —Alton Anderson recently left for Bemidji to be employed at Birchmont hotel for the summer season. —Many friends in this community will be pleased to learn of the marriage of Chester Englund to Miss Dorothy Hermanson near Grand Forks. The best of wishes is extended to the newlyweds. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Englund from Thorhult and Mrs. J. C. Nelson and son from here were in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wurscher and children, Floyd, Marie and Eleanor accompanied by Miss Margaret Maney of Lucan are spending the week visiting relatives. Mrs Wurscher is a sister of Mrs. O. J. Johnson. Miss Margaret, a daughter of Martin Maney and a granddaughter of P. P. Maney, was favorably impressed with this country and says that we may see her again.

Mike Tiegland just recently moved to the village with his family. They have taken up quarters in the north side of the Brown building and will continue to make Grygla their home for some time.

John Viken has taken the spirit of the times, and so this week is starting the construction of a new blacksmith shop and implement house. John says he hates to see the old shop torn down. He's put in a lot of hard work there, but he must make room for his large expanding business.

Henry Holte is the proud owner of a new Chev. truck purchased from Sandberg and Bjertness this week. His expanding truck business will now be better taken care of and giving more satisfactory service. —Considerable cement, lumber and other material is being hauled to the creamery grounds which is a good sign that it won't be long before construction starts on the building. —A. Mortenson went to Minneapolis Saturday for another treatment to his eye which became infected. Martin thinks that the doctors will be able to save his eye, altho it will take some time.

This community must have a blessing all its own. Many people have come and gone to various parts and from all reports there has been an over-abundance of rain. As far as locally prospects never could look better. We have had a good share of rain, but with the cool days and sufficient time to let the moisture go down prospects now look wonderful. The hay crop too, looks forward to a bumper and if nothing unforeseen happens the grain crop too. Everybody is in a joyful mood and are just getting to realize that we live in the best spot of the world.

TIRES MAY LOOK ALIKE ON THE OUTSIDE ON THE INSIDE THEY ARE DIFFERENT

HEAT on the inside created by friction is the main cause of blowouts. Firestone Tires are different on the inside—they are built with the patented extra process of Gum-Dipping that soaks every cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber, preventing internal friction and heat. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped.

Firestone performance records again emphasize the undisputed evidence that Firestone Tires are not only blowout-proof, but give greatest protection against skidding. There are three questions and answers that will solve the problem of what tires to buy:

QUESTION 1—"Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

ANSWER—Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes. For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

QUESTION 2—"Are they blowout-proof?"

ANSWER—Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Not one of the 33 drivers had any tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles at 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

QUESTION 3—"Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

ANSWER—Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile due to the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This rugged tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread, a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequaled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

You Always Get Better Quality at No Higher Price when You Buy a Firestone Tire with the Firestone Name and Guarantee

1 University tests show Firestone Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker.
2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires.
3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear.

Worn with Pride by Millions

LIEBERMAN'S
"Good Clothes for Men and Boys"

A THRIFTY HOUSEWIFE EXPLAINS TO HER HUSBAND
JOAN, THIS IS NEW SILVERWARE. WHERE DID YOU GET IT AND WHAT DID IT COST?
IT DIDN'T COST ME A CENT, MR. TIGHTWAD
DON'T TRY TO FOOL ME, MRS. SPENDTHRIFT. NOBODY IS GIVING SILVERWARE AWAY THESE DAYS..
THAT'S WHERE YOU'RE WRONG..MY GROCERY MAN GAVE ME THIS SILVERWARE ABSOLUTELY FREE WHEN I BOUGHT NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE..THE NASH COFFEE CO. GIVES THIS SILVERWARE FREE WITH EACH 3LB. VACUUM GLASS JAR OF THEIR COFFEE.
NOTE SMART NEW PATTERN OF THIS LOVELY FREE SILVERWARE
Given only with the three-pound jar of NASH'S TOASTED COFFEE
EFFECTIVE immediately, with the purchase of each three-pound, vacuum-packed, glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee, your grocer will give you, absolutely without added cost, your choice of a knife, fork or spoon of this fully guaranteed silverware.

This offer is made for one reason only. Most people buy coffee a pound at a time. The cost of packing and distributing a one-pound jar is practically the same as that of a three-pound jar, apart from the coffee itself. Where millions of pounds are involved, as is the case with so popular a brand as Nash's Toasted Coffee, the saving is considerable when it is packed in three-pound jars. So, to induce more people to buy the economical three-pound jar, the Nash Coffee Company is passing on to the public the extra value in silverware.

Of course, the high quality of Nash's Toasted Coffee remains the same—a quality of flavor that has earned for it the approval of millions of families who say, "Every Drop Delicious."

Note silverware attached to three pound vacuum glass jar of Nash's Toasted Coffee. You get your silverware with the coffee—nothing to mail or send away for

N. D. STATE FAIR AT GRAND FORKS OPENS NEXT WEEK

Big Grandstand Show and Automobile Races Feature Exposition

Immediately following the last fanfare attending the State American Legion Convention at Grand Forks, June 23-25, five-colored neon lighting will blaze the opening of the five-day North Dakota State Fair in Grand Forks.

Announced by a gala midnight show, the exposition, which was attended by more than 60,000 people last year, will offer exhibits of grains, cattle, handicraft, and school work, for which $2500 in premiums will be awarded; races with prizes totalling $1500; four free cars; and entertainment by the "Fascinations of 1935", most elaborate outdoor production in the country, and the United Shows of America, the largest Midway troupe in the United States.

Wednesday, June 26, will be Children's Day, with children, accompanied by parents, admitted free to the grounds and grandstand attractions. Features of the day will be the giving away of a free midget automobile and the spelling contest between county champions of North Dakota and northern Minnesota.

On Saturday, June 29, one of the largest fields of auto racers ever assembled in the State, will line up in front of the grandstand for several long-distance grinds. Entries already received include Emory Collins, Canadian Champion and United States runner-up, Archie Powell and Shano Fitzgerald, both of whom have raced on the famed Indianapolis speedway.

PICKPOCKET GETS $70 FROM VICTIMS AT CHURCH DINNER

Royalton—A pickpocket who jostled about among the crowd at the church dinner of Holy Trinity church took about $70 from the pockets of three victims. His method was to push through a crowded group, jostling his victim, and remove the wallet from the victim's pocket in the confusion. When it became known that the three parties had lost money, members of the parish recalled seeing a stranger but no one took notice of his departure.

Tabor Man Slips Off Dam at Red Lake Falls and Drowns Saturday

Albert Filipy, 43 years old, farmer near Tabor, was drowned Saturday when he fell into the Red Lake river in Red Lake Falls while fishing. Funeral services were held Monday at Tabor with Rev. Father Frank Tomanek officiating.

With Filipy at the time of the accident were his father, Frank J. Filipy, and a half-brother, Elmer. Filipy lost his footing while standing on the apron of the dam in the Red Lake river and is believed to have struck his head as he fell into the water.

Elmer leaped into the river to aid him but failed and his father ran for assistance. The body was recovered two hours later.

Survivors are his parents, a brother Frank of Tabor, a sister Mrs. Frank Vanek of East Grand Forks, his half-brother Elmer and two half-sisters, Mrs. J. Myerchin and Mrs. G. Myerchin, both of Tabor.

Tronderlag Will Meet at Bottineau June 28

The Northwest Tronderlag has selected Bottineau, N. D., as its convention city for 1935, and June 28th, 29th and 30th have been designated as the dates when the national organization convened in Minneapolis last summer, it was deemed necessary to change the boundaries of the several districts, and the executive committee was directed to work this out. The northwest Tronderlag are inviting the 5th district lag which constitutes the western portion of Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana.

COURSES OF BANDED BIRDS VASTLY DIFFERENT

Sauk Center.—A farmer living near Sauk Center, found a banded blue bill drake in an exhausted condition near his farm several weeks ago. Reporting the number to the Biological Survey Bureau in Washington, D. C. they told him the bird had been banded January 1, 1933 at Avery Island, Louisiana by E. A. McIlhenny. A robin found dead in East Chain township several weeks ago was reported banded by the Bureau on June 6, 1933 of that same township indicating that the bird had found its way back to its original home two years after being hatched.

MANY EVENTS THIS MONTH SCHEDULED FOR N. W. SCHOOL

More Than 1,000 4-H Club Members to Meet on Campus This Week

Northwest School officials report unusually large gatherings at all of the special meetings that are being held on the campus this month. One of the earliest groups was in the nature of an interdenominational Young Peoples' conference with a marked increase in attendance one year ago. Attendance at the Women's Camp which was held during the past week surpassed by a considerable margin the previous record established in 1929.

District Club leader H. A. Pflughoeft anticipates an attendance of over one thousand 4-H club members for the two 4-H club gatherings scheduled for this week. Because of the rapid increase in enrollment during recent years, it was decided that two short courses, rather than one, would permit more efficient instruction. Consequently the southern valley counties will attend during the early part of the week and the northern valley counties during the latter part of the week.

The annual alumni reunion will be held Saturday, June 29. Officers of the Alumni association include, John Gronner, Underwood, president; Paul Engelstad, Thief River Falls, vice president; Dr. Harry Heding East Grand Forks, secretary; and Archie Lee, Roseau, treasurer. Mr. Gronner reports unusual interest in the summer reunion this year. Committees in each of the thirteen valley counties are already at work on the special class reunions which include Classes of 1910, 1915, 1920, 1925, 1930, 1935.

A special visitors' day which will include a celebration marking the fortieth anniversary of the establishment of the Northwest Experiment Station will be held in connection with the annual Corps and Soils day Monday, July 15. Former Superintendents T. A. Hoverstad of Dennison and C. G. Selvig have already notified school officials that they will be present. Dean W. C. Coffey of the University Department of Agriculture and A. D. Stephens, Crookston, who played a leading part in the establishment of the experiment station forty years ago, will also take part in the day's activities.

CLOVER WITH 11 LEAVES PROMISES FINDER LUCK

Rochester— Little boys who grow up to become disillusioned about the veracity of Paul Bunyan's story may not believe that an eleven leaf clover three inches in diameter was recently found near this city. Claire Rooney of this city has this clover to prove it. While working on the belt line beautifying project he found something which if four-leaf clovers bring good luck should set him up for life.

80¢ of your gasoline dollar is spent driving 'round home

4 out of every 5 miles you drive are stop-and-go

Today's short trips waste your money—unless your gasoline has these Three Kinds of Power

ONE short run from a "cold" start can use up a "mile" of gasoline, and rapid accelerating can use 33% more gasoline than steady running.

Today's "short hop" driving costs entirely too much money—unless your gasoline has THREE kinds of power.

For economy, your gasoline must combine power for QUICK STARTING . . . power for HARD PULLING . . . power for STEADY RUNNING . . . and must combine all three in perfect balance!

Super-Shell is the FIRST truly balanced gasoline. With its 3 kinds of power, it cuts driving costs 3 ways:

STARTING—With its even volatility, Super-Shell can save up to a cupful of gasoline on every "cold" start.

SHIFTING—Super-Shell can save up to a cupful in 10 minutes of hard pulling, or rapid accelerating, or on hills.

RUNNING—With its abundant heat units, it can save up to a cupful every hour of running, motorists say.

Start saving money with Super-Shell TODAY! . . . at any of the stations below!

SCHOOL BOARD SELECTS THREE NEW TEACHERS

Miss Harriet Helquist Is Named Physical Education Instructor

WARREN MAN WILL TEACH AGRICULTURE

August A. Johnson Awarded Contract for Building Tennis Court

The board of education at an adjourned meeting last Thursday evening took action to award the contract for the construction of a second concrete tennis court on Lincoln athletic field, and elected three new members of the public school faculty, leaving only one vacancy to be filled, that of teacher of English I and French in the high school.

The board accepted the low bid of $599.86 submitted by August A. Johnson covering the cost of constructing a concrete court 42 by 92 feet in dimensions. Four other bids were submitted in amounts ranging from $620 to $795.

To take charge of the agricultural department which will be a feature of Lincoln high school during the coming school year the board named Harold F. Harrison, who is at present in charge of the agriculture department of the Warren high school. Mr. Harrison is a graduate of the Hallock high school and of the college of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, and he taught in the Jackson, Minnesota, high school previous to coming to Warren.

Miss Harriet A. Helquist was elected high school instructor in girls' physical education and supervisor of physical education in the grade schools. A graduate of Lincoln high school and of the University of North Dakota, Miss Helquist has served during the past year as ERA recreational director for girls in this city and has also done substitute work in the physical education department of the local schools.

The board named Miss Adeline Erickson to fill the position of fifth grade teacher in the Knox school. Miss Erickson was graduated from the local teacher training department in 1930 and from Moorhead State Teachers college in 1932, since when she has taught at New York Mills.

A committee report recommending a considerable number of items of summer maintenance work was approved by the board.

C. & C. APPROVES PLEA FOR SUPPORT OF T. H. 32 PAVING

To Support Plan to Extent It Does Not Conflict With Work on 59

A group of Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire citizens, headed by Dr. J. S. Roy, mayor of Red Lake Falls, were guests at the Civic and Commerce association luncheon last Thursday and urged the local group to support their efforts to secure the early paving of Highway 32 from Marcoux corner to this city.

Chairman W. E. Dahlquist of the association's road committee stated that while his group could not forget its obligation to towns along the Soo Line highway, now designated as No. 59, to work for improvement of that route, it nevertheless recommended giving support to the campaign for paving Highway 32 insofar as it would not affect the possibility of getting work done on Highway 59. The report of the committee was approved by the association.

Mayor Roy, in presenting the matter, cited the fact that federal funds are now available and that Highway 32 is in better shape for an early start on a paving program than is Highway 59, and he expressed the view that there is essentially no conflict between the two routes.

Only One Application Filed in City for CCC

The Pennington county quota for the Civilian Conservation camp enrollment ending last Saturday remained unfilled, only one application being received, according to Miss Marjorie Shaw, acting county relief worker. The lone applicant successfully passed his physical examination at Warren Saturday.

FIREMEN RESPOND TO CALL MONDAY EVENING

The fire department was summoned to the Thief River Pharmacy Monday evening when sparks developed in the large electric sign in front of the establishment, resulting from a short circuit caused by water from a heavy shower earlier in the evening. The trouble was stopped when the current was shut off.

Local Farm Loan Group Lends $160,600 in 1934

Officers Were Re-elected at Annual Meeting Held Last Week

At the annual meeting of the Pennington National Farm Loan association held last week, Secretary Peter Engelstad reported that during the past year a total of 49 land bank loans were closed by the association in the aggregate amount of $92,400, in addition to which 50 commissioner loans were made amounting to $68,200, a total of $160,600.

In addition, Mr. Engelstad stated, loans amounting to $22,200 have been closed since January 1, and a large number of applications are pending. The association now has outstanding 77 land bank loans in the total sum of $119,500 and 66 commissioner loans aggregating $77,100.

The annual election of directors resulted in the naming of J. M. Theige, Clarence L. Peterson, Andrew M. Jorde, Mrs. Milda Christensen and Anton H. M. Jensen of Goodridge. At the organization meeting of the board Mr. Theige was elected president, Mr. Peterson vice president, and Mr. Engelstad secretary-treasurer.

SEVERAL LOCAL PROJECTS MAKE GOOD PROGRESS

Laying of Curbing for New Bridge Approach Gets Under Way Monday

Altho handicapped to some extent by rainy weather during the past few days, work on a number of local construction projects has made substantial headway.

Grading on the approach to the new bridge connecting Johnson and Third sts. is now virtually completed with the exception of the placing of a layer of black dirt on the boulevards. Pouring of the concrete curbing began Monday at the west end of the bridge, and indicates the approach will be highly attractive with a circular effect in the highway adjoining the Elks memorial park.

Exterior brick work on the addition to the C. Gustafson & Son building will be finished this week, and the shop section of the structure will be ready for occupancy within a short time. The O. K. One Stop service station is also well along toward completion.

Pouring of concrete for the basement walls of the new postoffice building got under way Wednesday morning following completion of the work of setting up the forms, and continued except when interrupted by rain until the work was completed at 1 o'clock this morning.

Three File for 2 Posts On Board of Education; Election Held July 16

Two members of the board of education of School District 18, embracing the city of Thief River Falls, will be named in the annual election set for Tuesday evening, July 16. Terms of Olaf Neset, clerk, and Mrs. Frances E. Larzen, treasurer, expire at this time. Both filed for reelection Wednesday, and Dr. A. M. Smith has also entered his name as a candidate. The filing period expires next Thursday, July 4, twelve days in advance of the election.

Only a Few Reports of Grasshopper Pests Are Received Here to Date

A few scattered reports of grasshopper infestation, the first to be received this year, were turned in during the past week at the office of County Agent R. M. Douglass, the pests being reported from Rocksbury, North and Bray townships. It was announced that a substantial supply of poison bran is available in the county for combatting the hoppers. No serious infestation this year is indicated on the basis of information available at the county agent's office.

Thief River Falls Night at Warren Fair July 5th

Friday evening, July 5, has been designated as Thief River Falls night at the Marshall county fair in Warren, and arrangements are being made to entertain a representative delegation of local citizens, it was announced Monday following a conference between R. R. Faraboth of Warren and President W. L. Carlisle of the Civic and Commerce association.

Wool Concentration Point in This City to Close Next Saturday

After receiving a considerably smaller quantity of wool than in past years, owing largely to much keener competition from cash buyers in this section, the local concentration point of the Minnesota Cooperative Wool Growers association will close Saturday, Robert J. Lund, manager, announced today. A total of approximately 110,000 pounds has been received to date. Market quotations have improved in recent weeks, Mr. Lund said, and a satisfactory settlement on pooled wool is in prospect. John Riley of Boston, who served as grader here, will leave Saturday for his home.

HEARING ON MUD LAKE REFUGE IS HELD IN WARREN

Judge Brattland to Name Appraisers in Condemnation Action Soon

Condemnation proceedings in the Mud Lake Migratory Wild Game refuge, located in Eastern Marshall county, took another step forward Saturday when a hearing was held before Judge M. A. Brattland in Warren for the purpose of appointing appraisers to determine values of the lands in the area, says the Warren Sheaf.

At the same hearing proofs of waivers of service on the property owners were filed in the court as was also the affidavit of publication of the notice.

A talented array of lawyers representing the Minnesota attorney general's office, the federal government and respondents, or the people living in the affected area appeared before the court and voiced their opinions regarding the proceeding. Several residents of the area and many other interested persons also appeared.

O. T. Bundlie and Armand D. Brattland, assistant Minnesota attorney generals, Theodore Shields, special counsel of St. Paul, and S. P. Murphy of the Federal Government staff, represented the state in the action and submitted a list of names from whom they wished the court to make its selection of appraisers. In the list submitted by the state attorney general's office there was no one included from Marshall county or in this section of the Northwest.

Attorneys representing the respondents or individuals having land interests in the area, held a conference and as a result submitted a supplemental list of individuals, several of whom were from Marshall and adjoining counties. The court expects to make its selection of the viewers within the next ten days, the viewers being expected to start work about July 15.

Frank W. Murphy, Minneapolis, and Wheaton lawyer, represented a number of the respondents, all other attorneys being from this district including W. E. Rowe and Ole J. Vaule of Crookston; H. O. Chommie, Theodore Quale, Lincoln Arnold and H. O. Berve of Thief River Falls and Oscar R. Knutson, A. A. Trost, Rasmus Hage and Nels M. Engen of Warren.

State Highway Patrol to Check Brakes and Enforce Penalty Here

Members of the state highway patrol, who came to this city Wednesday to conduct an automobile brake test, canceled their plans when rain set in and announced that the test will be held at a later date within the next two weeks. They announced that anyone operating a car unable to stop within 50 feet when traveling at the rate of 20 miles an hour will be subject to arrest, and suggested that every motorist have his car checked in the meantime. Lights also will be tested, it was announced.

Preus, president of Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, and high in the councils of the Norwegian Lutheran church. The program will also include musical selections, which will be announced in detail next week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Arhart accompanied by Mrs. Crane and Mrs. [illegible] of Grand Forks, N. Dak., visited at the H. H. Arhart home [illegible].

FOUR JULY 4TH CELEBRATIONS IN THIS REGION

Programs at Smiley, Rocksbury, Red Lake Falls and Warren

BIG PROGRAM SET FOR SMILEY COMMUNITY

Local Business Places and Public Offices Will Close Thursday

With a number of Fourth of July celebrations scheduled in this section for next Thursday, local residents will have a choice of places in which to observe the nation's birthday. Neighborhood celebrations will be sponsored by the Smiley Community club at the Smiley hall and by the Rocksbury Community club at Valhall hall, while an elaborate program is being arranged at Red Lake Falls and the Warren community will observe the occasion in connection with the Marshall county fair then in progress.

The Smiley program will open at 1 o'clock and will be featured by stunts by visiting community clubs and an address on Indian life by Mrs. H. C. Holte of Crookston, member of a state Indian welfare group, who will appear in full Indian regalia. Games and races and baseball also will be provided. Free coffee will be supplied by the Smiley club to those bringing their lunches, it was announced. The Smiley women's chorus will sing several selections, and the Moonbeam Serenaders will provide music for dancing.

While the program for the Rocksbury celebration at Valhall hall has not been announced in detail, a variety of entertainment is assured for those who attend both in the afternoon and evening. The club will serve free coffee during the noon hour.

Plans announced in Red Lake Falls last week for the observance of the Fourth in that city call for a parade, exhibition by the Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary drum corps, horse races, foot races, novelty events and a baseball game between Red Lake Falls and Oklee. There will be dancing in the afternoon and evening, and a fireworks display after dark.

Events at the Marshall county fair in Warren the afternoon of July 4 include professional motorcycles, a man driving a speeding motorcycle thru a solid board wall, and Jane Schafer, woman auto race driver.

The night show at the fair will be provided by Lew Rosenthal's Continental Revue, featuring a group of attractive girls in dance numbers, as well as comedy and music. Dancing will be provided at the Wigwam.

Business activities will be at a standstill in this city as well as throut the nation next Thursday in observance of the holiday, and all public offices will remain closed for the day.

DISTRICT LEGION, AUXILIARY MEET SET FOR WEEK-END

Local Drum Corps and Ninth District Band Go to Bagley Convention

A large delegation of local Legionnaires and auxiliary members will attend the ninth district convention of the American Legion and auxiliary in Bagley Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Participating in the annual parade Sunday afternoon at 1:30, followed at 3:30 by the drum corps competition will be the ninth district band, Thief River Falls auxiliary drum corps, Crookston auxiliary drum corps, [illegible] drum corps, [illegible] auxiliary quartet and the Crookston auxiliary trio. Bemidji, Park Rapids, Bagley, Pelican Rapids and Breckenridge also will be represented, it was announced by convention officials.

Monday will be devoted largely to business sessions of the district legion and auxiliary organizations, the annual election of officers being scheduled for Monday afternoon. Official delegates of the local Legion post will be H. O. Mel[illegible], T. A. [illegible] of Goodridge and John Maney of [illegible].

Jean Harlow and William Powell Coming to Avalon

Two popular stars, William Powell and Jean Harlow, are paired for the first time in "Reckless", which will be the offering at the Avalon theatre Sunday and Monday. In the picture Jean Harlow plays the role of a dancer who achieves fame on Broadway, while Powell sport[s] the part of promoter of a variety of enterprises. In the supporting cast are Franchot Tone, May Robson, Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton and Henry Stephenson.

Local Units Score Hit in Big Legion Parade in Grand Forks Monday

The Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary drum corps made a splendid impression on its appearance Monday in the Minnesota section of the parade featuring the North Dakota state Legion convention in Grand Forks, according to local residents who witnessed the impressive spectacle. Also appearing in the parade was the ninth district band and a float entered by the local Legion post. Enroute to Grand Forks the float was deluged by a sudden shower, and altho protected by canvas it was found necessary to rebuild it in part on arriving in Grand Forks. Accompanying the float were S. P. Orwoll, Alex Campbell, Carl Gulrud and J. G. Messenger.

LOCALS WIN FROM OMAHA TIGERS IN CONTEST SUNDAY

Lefty Helberg Holds Visitors to Five Hits; Score is 9 to 4

Lefty Helberg added another game to his list Sunday when he set the highly touted Omaha Tigers down with but five hits to win 9 to 4. Shorty Dekko's Giants played a fine game in winning their fifth home game in six home starts.

The scoring started in the second inning when Mandy Thordal singled to right and Langlie reached first on Gillard's error. Haugen then forced Thordal and Nordby walked filling the bases with Hovden singling to right scoring all three and then scoring on Harold Thordal's three bagger. The locals scored again in the third on a walk and a double and in the fourth on a sacrifice and a single. In the fifth inning, Langlie hit a terrific 450 foot homerun, to the left field fence, one of the longest hits ever seen in the park. Harold Groningen accounted for the two final scores when he hit a homerun to right with H. Thordal on base.

The Tigers scored their first run in the fourth inning. Welch and Bennett singled and Langlie and Harold Thordal made errors to account for one score. Another score was added on Decelr's single and Bremer's walk. In the eighth inning Easterling got a round trip ticket to centerfield with Bennett on base to end the scoring.

The Dekkomen collected ten hits off the offering of Bremer while the local moundsmen set the Tigers down with five hits. Manager Dekko's club is beginning to be feared by visiting teams for its long distance hitting and superb pitching staff.

Bob Bell and Ted Birkland, two new recruits on the local club, showed up well at third base and pitcher respectively. Bell is a flashy fielder while Birkland has plenty of steam but lacks in control due to lack of experience, but should develop under the handling of Harold Gronigen and Shorty Dekko.

Pioneer Oklee Couple Mark Golden Wedding

400 Relatives and Friends Honor C. O. Lindbergs at Home Sunday

In the presence of 400 relatives and friends, the marriage in 1885 of Mr. and Mrs. Christian O. Lindberg, pioneer couple of the Oklee community, was reenacted Sunday on their golden wedding anniversary.

A novel feature was provided by the attendance on the couple of the same bridesmaid and groomsman who attended them in 1885, Mrs. Kala Halvorson Christenson and Hans O. Halvorson, brother of Mrs. Lindberg. Rev. J. K. Lerohl, pastor of the Salem Lutheran church at Oklee, officiated at the commemoration rites, and also supplied a poem and song dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Lindberg.

The day's program opened with services of the Salem Lutheran church held in the morning in the beautiful oak grove on the Lindberg farm, which was followed by the serving of a bounteous dinner by the Salem ladies aid and the Lindberg children, assisted by other relatives and friends.

During the afternoon William A. Lindberg of Warren, oldest son of the venerable couple, presided over a varied program of vocal and instrumental numbers, readings and short talks given by relatives and friends, including a talk on "School Days" by Dr. O. F. Mellby of this city. Later in the afternoon a beautiful golden wedding cake prepared by Mrs. Lewis Stenseth of Minneapolis, a sister of Mrs. Lindberg, was cut and served with ice cream.

Mr. Lindberg was born in Hedemarken, Norway, in 1861, and came to this country at the age of four, his family settling near Owatonna. After graduating from St. Olaf college in 1883, he taught school for a number of years, later serving as police chief at New Richland until he started farming on the homestead which is now the family home. During his residence in the Oklee community he has served in official capacities on town, school, church and creamery boards.

Mrs. Lindberg was born in New Richland township, Waseca county, in 1863, where she attended grade and parochial schools. She was married to Mr. Lindberg in New Richland January 9, 1885, since when she reared a family of ten children in addition to taking an active part in church and community activities.

The sons and daughters of the pioneer couple include Mrs. Alma Rindahl, Erskine; Mrs. Sarah Green, Glasgow, Montana; William A. and Carl Lindberg, Warren; Mrs. Hannah Larson, Minneapolis; Mrs. Marie Anderson, Skime, Minn.; Mrs. Esther Baker, Chicago; Mrs. Veleda Malonat, Glasgow; and Rudolph Lindberg, Thief River Falls. One son, Oscar, is deceased. Numerous relatives and friends were present on the happy occasion Sunday from many communities throut the northwest.

NEARLY 100 ENTER SWIMMING COURSE HELD IN THIS CITY

Donald Chalmers Conducting Classes Monday to Friday Each Week

A total of 87 local boys and girls have enrolled to date for swimming instruction being given under the auspices of the Pennington county Red Cross chapter by Donald Chalmers, who is serving as instructor.

Mr. Chalmers returned last week from Brainerd, where he was one of a group of 93 men and women from eleven northwest states who attended an aquatic school conducted by the American Red Cross.

Classes are being conducted at the Tindolph park swimming pool Monday to Friday inclusive each week. Beginners' and swimmers' classes for both children and adults will be organized each Monday during the month of July so that all who wish will have an opportunity to learn.

The park board has provided a roped-off swimming area of more than 20,000 square feet with a sand bottom and a maximum depth of three to four feet of water. The beach is clean and safe for children and adults of all ages.

MEET CROOKSTON PIRATES ON LOCAL GROUNDS FRIDAY

Dekko's Men to Compete With Northern League Team at 6:15 P. M.

Local baseball fans who last Sunday saw Shorty Dekko's baseball team defeat the Omaha Tigers in snappy style by an 8-4 score are looking forward to another victory Friday evening when the Thief River Falls team meets the Crookston Pirates on the fair grounds diamond at 6:15.

The Pirates are coming to this city on an off day in their Northern league schedule. Manager Danny Boone of the Crookston team is a former major league star, and is developing a fast-stepping outfit that can be depended on to give a first class demonstration of the national sport.

Next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 Dekko's men will compete with an all-salaried team from Page, N. D. The Page aggregation has this season made an excellent showing against teams representing such towns as Jamestown, Bismarck, Valley City and Devils Lake.

GOLF TOURNEY ON LOCAL COURSE IS SET FOR SUNDAY

Local Men Defeated by Win-E-Mac Golfers Sunday at Erskine

A president's and vice president's blind bogey match has been scheduled for the local golf course next Sunday, H. O. Chommie, tournament chairman, announced today, urging all members of the club to participate in the event. This is the first tourney to be scheduled this year on the local course, which is now in excellent condition.

A group of local golfers journeyed to Erskine Sunday to participate in a match on the Win-E-Mac course adjoining that village. The Win E Mac men, playing on their home course, won by a score of 17 to 8, but the Thief River Falls players hope to turn the tables when the Erskine golfers come to this city for a return match, which has been tentatively scheduled for July 14.

A. Nelson of this city was low man in the Sunday event, with a score of 40. Other players included H. O. Chommie, Kern Olson, John Mostue, Orvis Oien, John Kiewel, C. H. Jung, Victor Jung, Clifford Storholm, W. H. Mann, Walter Moen and Douglas Booren.

CHARGED WITH DEATH OF HIS STEPFATHER

Coroner's Jury Holds Mike Quirk Fatally Beat up William Quirk

TRAGIC EVENT TOOK PLACE FRIDAY NIGHT

Mike Quirk Held on Charge of First Degree Manslaughter

The story of one of the most tragic events in the history of this section of the state was pieced together at a coroner's inquest summoned following the death in a local hospital shortly after midnight Saturday of William H. Quirk, age 76, for the past 31 years a resident of the Kratka community.

Hearing the testimony of a dozen persons Monday evening, the coroner's jury after a half hour's deliberation returned a verdict stating that Mr. Quirk's death resulted from blows inflicted at his home Friday evening by his stepson, Mike Quirk.

Arrested on a charge of first degree manslaughter the stepson waived examination when brought before Judge J. M. Bishop in municipal court Tuesday afternoon and was bound over to the October term of district court. He has been confined in the city jail since his arrest on the scene of the attack Friday evening by Sheriff Arthur Rambeck.

Testimony brought out at the inquest revealed that Mike Quirk was in the city in a drunken condition early Friday evening, and that his sister, Mrs. Frank Welch, with Mrs. Quirk and Miss Sophie Solheim, undertook to take him home. When they neared a turn to the William Quirk home he insisted on being taken there, and when his sister objected he struck her several times until she consented.

Arriving there, he, with his wife and sister entered the house. A few minutes later, the testimony revealed, William Quirk came down from upstairs with a rifle in his hands, whereupon the women went out to the car and, taking Mrs. Quirk, Sr., with them, went to the William Causin farm home nearby to summon the sheriff.

Confronting his stepson, William Quirk chided him for being intoxicated again and ordered him out of the house, according to the testimony of Edward Schenke, farm hand, who was in the kitchen with them. Retreating momentarily, Mike came back, Schenke said, and took the gun away from the old man and began beating and kicking him until

ASSESSORS FILE 1935 FIGURES ON TAX ASSESSMENTS

Personal Property Totals Shrink as Result of Exemptions

Relatively few complaints were filed early this week with the city council, which Monday went into session as the board of tax equalization. With no new assessment of real estate this year and with household goods exempt from assessment under a new state law, the work of Assessors A. M. Stenstad and George W. Werstlein was considerably simplified.

Building construction during the past year increased the assessment of real estate from a true and full valuation of $3,196,170 in 1934 to $3,207,342, the assessed values as turned in by the assessors being respectively $1,100,921 and $1,104,951 for the two years.

Due to the exemption of household goods from taxation, the true and full valuation of personal property declined from $850,612 in 1934 to $609,342, and the assessed valuation from $273,935 to $206,881, a shrinkage of $67,054. Assessments of moneys and credits showed a substantial increase from $414,420 in 1934 to $529,958 this year, the gain amounting to $115,538.

Frequent Rains Mark Week in This Vicinity and Throut Northwest

June showers were prevalent in the Thief River Falls vicinity and throut the northwest this week, rain falling Monday morning and evening, Tuesday morning and off and on during Wednesday. Cool temperatures prevailed for the most part during the week. A severe windstorm Monday evening caused some damage in Grand Forks, blowing down a number of trees and disrupting wire communication. The rainfall was heavier that evening at other points than in this city, a total of 1.77 inches falling at Bemidji.

Edgar M. Olson Weds Alvarado Girl June 16

The Swedish Lutheran church at Alvarado was the scene of a lovely wedding June 16 when Edgar M. Olson of this city was united in marriage to Violet Klingborg of Alvarado. The ceremony took place before an altar banked with fern, white peonies, palms and snowballs, with Rev. A. A. Larson of Warren officiating, assisted by Rev. J. C. Mattson of Bemidji. Preceding the ceremony, a program of organ music was given, and W. E. Hanson sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white all-over lace cut in princess style with a train. Her veil was of silk net fastened cap effect with orange blossoms, and she carried Johanna hill roses and blue larkspur. Miss Olive Olson, sister of the groom was maid of honor and the Misses Earlisa Sands and Elaine Tangen were bridesmaids. Little Alice Joy Mitchell, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. Marlen Lindquist acted as ring bearer. Erland Johnson was Mr. Olson's best man and ushers were Norman Olson, brother of the groom, Bertel Johnson, Donald and Ralph Dahlstrom. A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with a color scheme of pink and white carried out. The wedding cake formed the centerpiece of the table.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Klinborg, former residents of this city who now live in Alvarado. She is a graduate of the Deaconess hospital at Grand Forks. The groom is the son of Mr. C. O. Olson, also of Alvarado, and a graduate from Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter. At present he is assistant manager of the Red Owl store in this city. The couple went on a wedding trip to Minnesota lakes and Duluth, and will be at home in the Dudley apartments here after July 1.

Mosbeck-Lindbloom Wedding Rites Sunday

Rev. H. J. Sjogren officiated at the service that united Miss Mable Lindbloom and Richard Mosbeck in marriage Sunday at nine o'clock at the Augustana Lutheran parsonage. George Lindbloom and Miss Hulda Mosbeck were the attendants. Miss Lindbloom had been operating a beauty parlor here and Mr. Mosbeck is of Wylie. The couple are at home on Conley ave.

Johnson-Torkelson

Ellen Johnson and Anton Turkelson were united in marriage at nine o'clock Saturday morning by Rev. R. M. Fjelstad in the Trinity parsonage. They were attended by the bride's brother, Willard Johnson, and Miss Torkelson, the groom's sister. Mrs. Torkelson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Johnson and the groom is the son of Ole Torkelson, both of Smiley township. After the wedding breakfast they left for a week's outing at the lake. They will reside on the groom's farm east of the city.

Johnson-Wagner

Miss Teun Johnson and Adolph Wagner were married June 18 by Rev. V. E. Schroeder in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gaspo of Middle River. The bride was dressed in blue silk with accessories to match. After the ceremony, a wedding supper was served to fifteen guests at the Ada Johnson home.

Lilas Olson Weds Christ Klefstad Tues.

In a pretty wedding ceremony performed in the Trinity Lutheran church Tuesday afternoon Miss Lilas Olson, daughter of Gurdon Olson, became the bride of Christ Klefstad, son of Mrs. C. W. Thames of Winnipeg. Rev. R. M. Fjelstad read the service. The bride was gowned in her mother's wedding dress of white all-over lace and her veil also was worn by her mother at her wedding twenty-seven years ago. Her bouquet was of Premier roses. Kenneth Olson brother of the bride was groomsman, and Miss Mary Otmar was maid of honor. The latter wore a dress of blue silk organdy and carried Premier roses. Violet Nelson, cousin of the groom was flower girl. She was accompanied by Donald Olson, small brother of the bride. Miss Ruth Fjelstad played the wedding march. Following the ceremony, a reception for over twenty guests was given at the Palm Garden cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Klefstad will be at home on the bride's father's farm.

For Mrs. Vandervoort

Miss Lois Norlander was hostess at a miscellaneous shower given at St. Luke's hospital Wednesday evening of last week for Mrs. Forrest B. Vandervoort of Santa Rosa, New Mexico. Mrs. Vandervoort will be remembered by friends here as Eunice Lindgren, former school nurse. Bowls of flowers and candles were used in decoration with orchid and white as the color scheme. Bridge was played at four tables with Mrs. Otis Wold winning high prize. A two-course lunch was served to those present. Those who attended were the Mesdames Otis Wold, Harvey Patten, Rudolph Sagmoen, Wally Carlson, Forrest Vandervoort, honor guest, and the Misses Josephine Johnson, Hannah Launa, Myrtle Myrold, Ruby Conklin, Selma Mikkelson, Hannah Strom, Edith Mickelson, Dorothy Norlander, Mary Otmar, Barbara McLaughlin and Edna Moen.

Jacobson-Amrin

A wedding of local interest took place at Hibbing June 15 at the home of Rev. Heine, pastor of the First English Lutheran church of Hibbing, when Margaret Jacobson daughter of Mrs. Geo. Eastman became the bride of Oscar Amrin. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of Mrs. Elmer Eastman, sister of Mrs. Amrin. The couple left for a trip to Duluth and will be at home on the groom's farm near here.

Announce Daughter's Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hollander announce the marriage of their daughter, Lorrayne Pearl to Arthur Thompson. The ceremony took place December 29. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who recently returned from a trip to Duluth and points east, are making their home on the groom's farm northwest of the city.

Official Paper of Pennington County and City of Thief River Falls

SHOULD PROCEED WITH THE PURCHASE

Next week the government will start considering applications for grants under the new work relief program and the request of this city for aid in the purchase of additional power equipment will probably be given early attention. But judging by the restrictions that have been imposed on such grants it is not likely that the local project will be acted upon favorably. In all probability the application will be rejected. Under the new set-up government money is available only for relief labor. The restrictions are so drastic that even the state highway department is in doubt as to whether it can use the funds that have been allocated to it. According to reliable interpretations of the new regulations, the federal funds now released will be available only for pick and shovel work. Business Week, in commenting on the situation, says:

> After months of confusion and misguidance and the raising of false hopes, the Administration definitely reveals its work relief program—and it turns out to be nothing else than a modified version of the old CWA, with a large degree of direct relief and a very small degree of public works—in effect it is hardly anything but a dole, except that it does require work and thus sustains the recipient's morale and eliminates the loafer. The President must be given credit for that aspect of his program. But praise must end there. The upshot of his program will be the expenditure of four billion dollars, with very little to show for it.

Under the circumstances, considering the importance of the time factor in the purchase of additional power equipment, it would seem that the council would be justified in proceeding with the purchase without further delay. If a government grant were secured it would probably mean that the procedure would be tied up in government red tape to such an extent that installation of another engine would be impossible this year. We can get along without a government grant. But at the rate the demand for power is increasing we can't go through another winter without more power.

HUMBLE, PROGRESSIVE AND WISE

Reform movements come and go; new laws are adopted and old laws are modified; revolutionary scientific discoveries follow each other so closely that yesterday's marvel is today's commonplace; methods change—but thruout it all human nature remains pretty much the same and life continues to be but a short struggle between the cradle and the grave.

Maybe this sounds a little as though another one of our ships had been hung up on a reef. But that isn't the case. This lamentable state of mind is the result of a couple of hours of miscellaneous reading, including several recent political speeches.

It must have been the political speeches that ruined the evening. The world was going to be remade. Each of the speakers had a different idea as to how universal human happiness was to be obtained, but the specifications to the various plans are not important. The important thing is that for many centuries similar speeches have been made. And in all probability those same speeches will be made at regular intervals for thousands of years to come. It was this thought that prompted us to chuck the whole bundle of pamphlets and reports into the waste paper basket. At that particular time no one could have convinced us that it wasn't all a lot of baloney.

Good people may make good laws but good laws do not make good people. If humanity could have been legislated into righteousness then wickedness would have disappeared a long time ago. The solution, unfortunately, is not so simple.

Greed is a human shortcoming that is just as certain to make its appearance as tooth decay.

Who ever heard of a politician advocating a new law to protect us from our own foolishness. Laws are written to regulate the other fellow. Reforms are attempts to control someone else.

When the world develops a race of men humble enough to recognize their own shortcomings, progressive enough to strive for self perfection and wise enough to understand that happiness must come from within themselves, then the millenium will not be far away.

A good citizen told us the other day that he didn't have time to fuss around with a lot of community activities. His business needed his attention, he said. And there was nothing wrong with his argument. If his business needed his attention then he should not neglect it. A person's first responsibility to his community is to be successful in his own private undertakings, whether he operates a store, farms or lays bricks. But there are few people who are so occupied by their own affairs that they cannot find a little time for some useful community activity if they are so inclined. Most people find plenty of time to do the things they really want to do.

Two South American nations, with a total population of less than four million people, have now ended a war that cost a hundred thousand lives. Nothing was gained by the struggle and the whole adventure can now be written off as a total loss.

If Minnesota would broaden the base of its present income tax it wouldn't be difficult to raise enough money from this one source to replace the state's present tax on real estate. Income of Minnesota people for the depression year of 1933 has been estimated at a little over a billion dollars. This would mean that a straight one per cent tax would raise approximately ten million dollars. And by starting the tax out in the lower brackets at a half of one per cent, graduating the rate upwards on larger incomes, an average rate of more than one per cent probably would be obtained. A tax on incomes could be made a very fair tax if the politicians would quit playing politics with it. As long as the great American game of politics is played according to its present rules the income tax will be a leveling tax rather than a means of distributing the cost of government and owners of real estate will continue to be penalized for improving their property.

We wasted at least a half an hour the other day listening to two farmers argue the question of tractors and horses. One of them maintained that he wouldn't have a tractor on his place and that the country would be a lot better off if there never had been a farm tractor built. His friend, on the other hand, declared that he had owned several tractors and had found them to be decidedly worth while. As far as we know this argument wasn't settled. At any rate when we left they were still going strong. But it occurred to us that both of them might be right. Perhaps that's the way it is with most of our arguments. If we gave a little more consideration to the other fellow's point of view we wouldn't have to spend so much time trying to convince him that he was wrong. But then there wouldn't be so many arguments either and that certainly would make the world less interesting.

There probably is nothing to the story that the government is going to ship several carloads of leaves into the Dakotas next fall so the unemployed of those states can be put to work raking leaves.

A TYPICAL BUREAUCRATIC ORDER

(Long Prairie Leader)

The state highway department is in a ridiculous fix these days because it has to depend on the federal government very largely for funds for new construction and after receiving notice of a grant of $11,000,000 was advised the next day that not less than 90 per cent of it must be used for pick and shovel labor.

The idea of some official in distant Washington was that such an order would insure the funds being used to relieve unemployment. The intention was good but the official or bureau was short on information, as most officials directing at a distance usually are. The state road system upon which these funds must be spent cannot use that proportion of pick and shovel labor in any practical way.

The manual labor on the job cannot function to advantage without purchase of large quantities of material and if the allotment has to be used for labor of the pick and shovel kind the present outlook is that the laborers will spend a good share of the time sitting under the shade trees waiting for something to happen—which is not conducive to road construction. Commissioner Elsberg says the order "has completely upset the highway department plans for 1935."

THIS IS ABOUT JAY-WALKERS

(Montevideo News)

It is the request of people making a special effort to save lives from being crippled or crushed out that something be said to the jay-walkers. There is daily need for warning, as everyone knows who has in amazement watched the jay-walker make his, or her, way cheerfully and blindly through a stream of traffic, in front of moving automobiles whose careful drivers are getting the jitters, or back to back with parked cars that may decide to move out any second.

The drivers have been lectured plenty. Especially those who drive trucks. Perhaps some of them had it coming. It now is time to turn on the jay-walker who asks too much consideration from the other fellow, who puts too heavy a strain on the patience and carefulness of the driver who is using that part of the street for its intended purpose. The driver is not to be censured too much if he is tempted sometimes to give the loitering jay-walker a gentle push. A practical invention for curing the street stroller would be a row of long pins projecting from the front bumper. Until the jays are given another chance to mend their ways, the installation of these pins should be delayed. But it's an idea to hold in reserve.

No longer does man ponder the question of why does a chicken cross the road. Man himself makes the same kind of aimless crossings, and in the same uncertain manner. He walketh where he should not, and is struck down. There are crossings marked for safe crossing by pedestrians. Use them.

By one who sometimes jay-walks and knows he shouldn't, this exhortation is dedicated to the safety council. We hope it fills some of the specifications.

HAZARDS OF FARM WORK

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

If the notion that farming is a quiet, pastoral way of life, comparatively free from the dangers of the hurley-burley world, needs to be further refuted the report of the National Safety Council should be sufficient.

This authority makes the straightforward statement that "more persons are accidently killed while at work in agricultural pursuits than in any other occupation." Certainly, this is contrary to the popular impression, which is that most industrial accidents occur in "factories." Figures show, however, that in 1934 the 4,300 farm fatalities in this country exceeded the toll of all other occupations and constituted 27 per cent of last year's industrial accidents. The trade and service industry came next with 3,500 deaths, construction accounted for 2,300, transportation and public utilities, 2,000, manufacturing, 1,880, and mining and quarrying 1,350.

The Kansas health department has made a special analysis of fatal work accidents on the farm, revealing that in the last five years half of all industrial deaths in that state occurred in agriculture. Of the 201 Kansas farmers killed during that period, 100 met death by machinery and 100 were killed by animals. While mechanization has added a new hazard to farm life, the old hazards are still there, such as kicking mules, runaway horses, falls from barn lofts, goring bulls, lightning, sunstroke and falling trees. The farm accident situation has received less attention than it deserves, evidently because this occupation is generally not covered by compensation laws.

Judging by the casualty lists the Minnesota Mascot concludes that the most striking feature of our modern civilization is the automobile.

We read that 30 per cent of Minnesota residents are on relief or working for the federal government. That means the other 70 per cent have to do some hustling to pay the bills.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will

State of Minnesota,
County of Pennington—ss.
In Probate Court

In the Matter of the Estate of Henry R. Williams, Decedent.

The State of Minnesota to All Whom It May Concern:

Whereas, William W. Williams of the Town of North in said County and State has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Henry R. Williams, late of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, together with his petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to William W. Williams which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection, IT IS ORDERED, That said petition be heard on the 6th day of July, 1935, at Ten o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Room in the Court House at the City of Thief River Falls in said County and State; that you be and appear before this Court at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted; that you file your objections, if any there be, in writing, in this Court to the allowance of said will, before said hearing; and that this citation be served by the publication thereof according to law in the newspaper known as The Thief River Falls Times. A general description of all of the property of said deceased is, his homestead, being all of that part of the SE¼ of Section 8 in Township 154 North of Range 43 West, which is bounded on its east side by the right of way of the Winnipeg line of the Minneapolis St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie Railway Company, and that is bounded on its south side by the right of way of the Dakota branch of said railway, as they are now located over and on the said SE¼ Section of land; which tract of land consists of about 75 acres, more or less, and is bounded on its north and west lines by the quarter lines of said section 8.

Witness, the Judge of this court and the seal thereof this 11th day of June, 1935.

ANDREW BOTTELSON,
Probate Judge.

Attest: J. M. Bishop,
Attorney for Petitioner.

CALL FOR BIDS

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 18, Thief River Falls, County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, will receive sealed bids on 225 tons, more or less, of screenings adapted for use in Iron Fireman Coal Stoker. These screenings must meet the following specifications:

Location of mine: Eastern Kentucky
Size: 1¼ in. or less
Sulphur: .8 or less
Ash: 4% to 5%
B. T. U.: 14250 dry or more
Fusion point: 2550 degrees or higher

Bids will be received also on 30 tons, more or less, of Youghiogheny lump coal or coal of equivalent quality.

A complete analysis stating past unit content of the coal, the fusion point, the percentage of moisture, of volatile matter, of carbon, of ash, and of sulphur must accompany each bid. If B. T. U. content of coal as received is shown by test to be greater than guaranteed by the analysis furnished with the bid, a proportionate premium will be paid; if it is less, a proportionate penalty will be deducted. City scale weights shall govern in making settlement for coal delivered.

Coal is to be delivered in bins in the different school buildings in Thief River Falls as needed and called for during the school year 1935-1936.

A certified check for $100.00 must accompany each bid.

Bids must be delivered before 7:30 o'clock P. M., July 8, 1935, at the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the Lincoln Building. Bids should be marked, "Bid on Coal." The Board reserves the right to accept any bid in part only, as well as the right to reject any or all bids.

ROSEWOOD

Pioneer Woman Called

Mary Sjoberg, a resident of this community for 53 years was called to her eternal rest Sunday afternoon.

Born in Orebro, Sweden on April 18, 1873 she was at her death slightly over 62 years old. In 1881 she came with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Sor to America and was for a couple years a resident of Ishpeming, Mich., working in the mining fields and came to New Solum in 1882 to homestead the farm which has continuously since been her home. Her father died in 1920 and her mother in 1925, and she has since with the only remaining son Joel Sjoberg been operating the home farm. Married in 1896 to Carl Sjoberg, this proved an unhappy union, and she remained with her home folks together with her boy.—Several cousins including Emil and Victor Henderson, Mrs. Frans Lund and Mrs. C. [illegible] are residents of Grove City. The funeral will be conducted from the Mission church at Rosewood on Thursday afternoon, and interment will be made at the Wildwood Cemetery located on her own farm. Rev. C. E. Anderson pastor of the church will be the speaker and possible pall bearers will include Axel Larson, J. A. Hellquist, Thure Styrlund, Albert Hellquist, Gust and Olof Ojeoth.

Closing exercises of the Mission Bible school conducted by Misses Anna Walen of this place and Helen Hanson of Crookston will be held at the church Friday evening. On Saturday evening the Young Peoples Society meets there with program and lunch.—Nick Tody and son Carl motored here on Sunday from Red Lake Falls and brought there Mrs. Henry Rye for a brief visit. Mrs. Rye is the mother to Mrs. Carl Tody.—Mrs. Henning Backlund and daughter Miss Violet are visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mellem and with other relatives.

Rev. Merle Nelson motored here on Sunday from Strandquist and conducted services at the Mission church.—Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson are this week attending a covenant 50 year jubilee at Chicago.—Thure Styrlund and Emil Peterson accompanied by Thor Sevaldson and Herman Axelson expect to leave this week for Hoople, N. D., where they will build a dairy barn.

Mrs. Emil Peterson of Grand Forks and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Styrlund and daughters brought a flower remembrance for Mary Shoberg on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Pederson, Misses Mildred and Dorothy and Kenneth Pederson returned this week after a two weeks motor tour visiting with relatives near Prince Albert, Canada.—Helge Jacobson left on Friday for a visit at Wannaska after visiting at the Mrs. Julia Axelson home for a week.—The Shipping Association will ship mixed stock from here on Saturday, June 29.

There seems to be another revival of Shakespeare lately, and some theatergoers think he's almost as good as George Cohan and Eugene O'Neill.—Tacoma Ledger.

[illegible] President.

GOODRIDGE

Alumni Elect Officers

A meeting was held Friday evening at the school house for the purpose of organizing an Alumni Association of the Goodridge high school graduates. There were about thirty former graduates present, and it was decided to hold another meeting Sunday evening August 4. Officers elected were president, Clair McEnelly, vice president, Elmer Ronken and secretary and treasurer, Ruby McEnelly.

Community Hall Carried

The results of the meeting held Thursday evening to vote on the proposition of building a Community Hall were 37 in favor and 21 against, nearly a two to one majority. It is now left in the hands of the school board to put through.

OLSON ACQUITTED WHEN ACCUSED OF CORRUPT PRACTICE

Court Holds Governor Had No Interest in Farmer-Labor Paper

Holding that a cause of action had not been established, District Judge D. D. Dickinson last week dismissed a suit to oust Gov. Floyd B. Olson from office.

Judge Dickinson sustained a motion for dismissal made by the governor's attorney F. W. Murphy of Wheaton, after four days of testimony on the ouster petition, signed by 29 Hennepin county voters.

Gov. Olson was accused by the petitioners of having violated the state's corrupt practices act by accepting space in a Farmer-Labor newspaper and time on radio stations for talks without accounting for them in his campaign expense reports as required by law.

"The court", Judge Dickinson ruled "will have to find the governor had no financial interest in the Minnesota Leader and certainly the omission of donated radio time from his campaign expense accounting is not a violation of the corrupt practices act."

Funeral Rites Monday Held for Henry Koop, Sr., Who Died Thursday

Funeral services for Henry Koop Sr., who died Thursday, June 20, at the age of seventy-four in a local hospital, were held Monday from the German Lutheran church of which he was a life long member. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery. Henry Koop was born in Cook county, Ill., December 20, 1860. At the age of twelve he moved with his parents to a farm near Dietrich, Illinois where in 1888 he was married to Helena Siefken. He has resided in this state since 1910 when he moved here with his family. Surviving him are his wife and eleven children, Ida, Edna, Mathilda and Albert all at home; Mrs. J. D. Krick of Montrose, Illinois, Mrs. Frank Stuemke of Warren, Caroline, Henry, Jr., and Mrs. T. J. Noonan of Chicago, and Fred and Mrs. Elmer Geske of St. Hilaire. He also leaves eighteen grandchildren. His oldest son, Martin, preceded him in death. Those here from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Krick of Montrose, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koop, Jr., Caroline Koop, Mrs. T. J. Noonan and Mrs. Martin Koop, all of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Chas Melslahn of Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gruber of St. Peter, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Stuemke and family of Warren.

Due to some chemical change in the manufacture candles of some colors, such as green and black, seem to drip more readily than other colors.

MARSHALL COUNTY FAIR OPENS GATES NEXT WEDNESDAY

Friday Evening Designated as Thief River Falls Night at Fair

Residents of Marshall and adjoining counties in Minnesota and North Dakota are invited to spend one or more days in Warren next week to visit the 29th annual Marshall County Fair on July 3, 4, 5 and 6. Friday evening has been designated as Thief River Falls night and a large delegation of local people is expected to be present.

All preparations have been completed for Marshall county's biggest exposition and with a talented program of entertainment for afternoon and evening arranged and hundreds planning to enter exhibits in the various home and agricultural departments, record breaking crowds are expected said J. A. Grindeland, secretary of the association.

The fair program will open auspiciously on the Fourth of July with a complete afternoon and evening program, and will continue with afternoon and evening programs Friday and Saturday.

Derby day will be the feature of the Saturday afternoon program when two big horse races will bring to the Marshall county track some of the fastest horses in this section of the entire northwest. A circuit race with entries eligible from the entire Red River Valley Better Fairs' circuit including Pennington and Roseau counties will be the big race of the day. The fair association has put up a purse of $75.00 for this race, which together with the added entry fee of $3.00 per horse will draw some exceptionally fine horses. A local pony race with a $20.00 purse and no entry fee, will draw horses from Marshall and Northern Polk counties into the competition.

Wherever one goes, Thrill Days are talked about, indicating that the public is anxiously waiting the appearance of the professional motorcycle racers, the head-on collision between two speeding automobiles; the death defying crash thru a solid board wall and many other features that the Gopher State Attractions will present. Thrill Days will be on July 4 and 5 in the afternoons.

In addition to the big events on the race track, the Lew Rosenthal Amusement Company will present an outstanding program of vaudeville attractions that include a trained sea-lion, the Great Zorsky performing death defying stunts on an apparatus 100 feet in the air; the five Selyas who are athletes superb, the sensational Kirks, dare devil performers on bicycles; Joe Kramer, the world's funniest juggler; the Barger Miller Trio, the world's greatest roller skaters and many others who will thrill you every moment you see this fine program.

The night show of the 1935 fair, bringing Lew Rosenthal's Continental Revue is a stupendous production, bringing to this section some of the leading stage and screen stars of today's amusement world. This revue's big feature is the glorifying of the American Girl. This revue has a complete change of program each night during the fair.

Apply for Charter for Greenbush State Bank

A hearing will be held July 2 in St. Paul on the application for a charter by the Greenbush State bank, which seeks permission to operate in that village. The incorporators include A. E. Hildahl, Andrew W. Clay, Carl Rielle, N. H. Folland, George P. Pihlstrom and R. J. Spilde.

According to latest reports, the government is encouraging some railroads to go into bankruptcy. That's strange. They needed no encouragement heretofore.

MIKE QUIRK HELD ON CHARGE OF CAUSING STEPFATHER'S DEATH

he fell on the floor in the corner of the kitchen. Presently he told Schenke to get out if he didn't want the same treatment, and the man obeyed.

A few minutes later Al Walker, 17 year old boy also staying at the William Quirk place, came from the barn and, looking in thru the kitchen window, saw that something was amiss. Entering the room, he testified, he attempted to pull Mike away from his stepfather, but was shoved aside and, stumbling over the body of the old man, fell half way down the cellar stairs, from where he made his way outside.

Some time later Mrs. Mike Quirk returned from the Harry Causin home, where she had left the other women, and found the two men seated in the kitchen with Mike apparently in a repentant mood. By the time Sheriff Rambeck arrived with Deputies Robert Rasmussen and Gilbert Reiersgaard, the old man was lying on a cot in a room adjoining the kitchen and Mike was sitting beside him.

Noticing William Quirk's seemingly critical condition, as well as bloodstains on his garments and a pool of blood on the kitchen floor, the sheriff immediately took him to a local hospital, at the same time handcuffing Mike and bringing him to the jail.

After lingering for more than 21 hours William Quirk passed away at 12:30 Sunday morning. Dr. C. M. Adkins, who with Dr. A. M. Smith, coroner, conducted a post mortem, testified at the inquest that they found two fractured ribs, a fractured jaw, ruptured internal organs and probably a light concussion of the brain.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner Smith with County Attorney H. O. Berve in behalf of the state and H. O. Chommie representing the Quirk family. Serving on the jury were H. Safford, Frank Shanahan, Oliver St. Martin, Alfred Bredeson, Tobias Reep and C. E. McCracken.

William Quirk was born in Indiana in 1858, later living in Bozeman and Billings, Montana; Winnipeg, Manitoba; and Larimore, N. D., before moving in 1901 to a farm in Kratka where he had since made his home.

He was married in 1914 in this city to Mathilda Faas, who survives him together with a son Michael and three daughters, Mrs. Helen Beate of Osakis, Mrs. Agnes Welch of this city, and Miss Margaret Quirk, living at home. Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday morning from St. Bernard's church, Rev. A. I. Merth officiating, and interment was in St. Bernard's cemetery.

Andrew A. Haugen Passed Away Monday

Andrew A. Haugen a well known resident of this city for thirty years, died Monday, June 24 at his home. Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:00 from the Trinity Lutheran church with Rev. R. M. Fjelstad officiating. Mr. Haugen was born in Goodhue county, Mar. 5, 1875. He was sixty-two years old at the time of death. He moved to Crookston in 1898 and was married to Betsy Johnson in 1903 in that city. Two years later he moved here where he has lived since. Surviving him are his wife, two sons, Melford and Herbert, and two daughters, Mrs. Edyth Cassady and Irene Sainio of Minneapolis, also four grandchildren.

Local Pharmacy Leads in Sales in Minnesota

O. H. Ekeren & Son, proprietors of the Thief River Pharmacy, received word this week that their store led all Rexall stores in the state in 1934 in respect to volume of sales for cities the size of Thief River Falls, and that the local institution ranked 12th in this respect among Rexall stores in all countries where the system operates.

2-Charged With Larceny Get Suspended Sentences

Pleading guilty Friday before Judge M. A. Brattland in district court to a charge of grand larceny arising out of the recent theft of a quantity of wool from Gilman Homme, Andreas Gausen and Douglas Olson were given indeterminate sentences in a state penal institution, the sentences, however, being suspended during good behavior. Police Chief A. B. Stenberg was named probation officer.

STATE INCOME TAX REACHES BUT FEW OF STATE CITIZENS

Only 1.5 Per Cent of People Affected, Taxpayers Group Says

"Only 1.5 per cent of the people of Minnesota pay a state income tax, officials of the Minnesota Federation of Associations for Tax Reform pointed out in a report received here today urging the necessity of spreading the tax base.

Nine tenths of the income of Minnesota citizens is not reached by the net income tax, the federation's study discloses. A readjustment of the tax structure is needed which will spread the tax base and require contributions toward the cost of government from larger numbers of citizens, Constant Larson of Alexandria, president of the federation, said in summarizing results of an inquiry which it has just made of returns under the net income tax.

"The net income tax has produced only a small fraction of the relief for real estate which was expected from it," he said. "Nor can we hope for any large return from this source alone. The number of people with large incomes in Minnesota is very small. To obtain any substantial revenue in the way of replacement taxes, we must have a tax system that requires contributions from the great bulk of our citizens.

"Taxes properly can come only out of the earnings of our citizens, and most of the income of Minnesota people is that earned by persons of ordinary means. The income of the people of Minnesota in 1933 has been estimated at $1,023,000,000. Yet the income taxed under the net income tax for that year including individuals and firms was only $87,000,000. That is less than a tenth of the total income.

"Only 1,429 individuals and firms in Minnesota had an income of more than $10,000 in 1933. The total net income of this group was only about $51,000,000 in 1933, and this was before the deduction of exemptions. This, you see, is but a small fraction of the total income of our people. Only about 5,000 in 1933.

"Attempts have been made to create the impression that we can solve our tax problems merely by enacting high income taxes. Nothing could be farther from the truth. The big money is not in the higher brackets. The great bulk of the income of our people is in the lower and middle brackets."

Northern Zone Bass Fishing Legal Friday

It became legal to take crappies, bass and sunfish by angling in the northern zone of the state beginning Friday, June 21. Members of the bass family included are striped, grey, yellow, black, silver and rock bass. With the opening of the season in the northern zone for these three species of nest-building fishes, all forms of angling will become legal in Minnesota. An imaginary line extending across the state from Browns Valley to Sunrise through Morris, St. Cloud, Princeton and Cambridge divides the state into the southern and northern zones.

MAN FINDS THAT THERE IS STILL MONEY IN COUNTRY

St. Cloud.—A business man in this locality who felt there was no money in the country received a surprise this week. A man dropped into a local garage to buy a car and deposited a bag of money weighing 65 pounds in payment. Then the visitor opened up the huge bag, poured out a mountain of silver coins and announced it was payment in full. It took five men an hour and a half to count it all out. There were 5166 pennies, 420 half dollar pieces, 360 quarters, 500 dimes and nine old paper dollars, comprising in all $410.66.

High Court Ruling Not to Affect AAA Benefit Payments, Says Wallace

The recent Supreme Court decision declaring unconstitutional certain provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act will in no way prevent the Agricultural Adjustment Administration from making payments to farmers under their production adjustment contracts.

This assurance was given June 5 in the following statement by Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture:

"In cooperation with leaders of Congress, amendments to the Agricultural Adjustment Act are being perfected which are intended to bring the Act's provisions as to marketing agreements and licenses into line with the Schechter case (Supreme Court) decision and also to safeguard the farmers' voluntary adjustment program on basic commodities.

"These voluntary adjustment programs were not in the path of the Schechter case decision, and in no event could there be any question of the Government's ability to fulfill its contracts with farmers.

"Nevertheless, we have taken advantage of the decision to seek perfections in the law which will make certain the Government's authority to continue processing tax rates in accordance with amended provisions of the Act."

100 Mile Race at State Fair Grounds July 4th

Speedland's great and near great will gather at the Minnesota state fair grounds track on July 4 in the first AAA national championship speed classic ever staged in the northwest when a score or more of the veteran Indianapolis stars including four 500-mile winners vie for fame, fortune and championship points toward the national AAA title. The time trials will start July 4 at 10 a. m. with all cars striving for the first starting positions in the 100 mile grind which will get under way at 3 p. m. The cars will be the two man type race car has been seen in action over the state fair course.

OPERATES 440 ACRE FARM WITHOUT USE OF A HORSE

Sleepy Eye.—Operating a farm without the aid of a single horse seems incredible, but that is just what is being done by Peter Herrstrom and his son Hjalmer on their farm near here. The place isn't a small one, consisting of 440 acres, with 300 acres under plow. Two tractors, coupled with Hjalmer's ingenuity, takes the place of horses. One was made by putting special wheels on the rear of a Model A Ford and gearing it down to give more power and less speed. Hjalmer was employed recently by an electrical firm in Chicago, and has applied his knowledge to the operation of the farm. The Ford tractor is believed by Hjalmer to be the only tractor of its kind in Brown county with four wheel brakes.

FIRST OF ITASCA PARK PAGEANTS SET FOR SUNDAY

Spectacle Will be Presented Also at Other Parks in Minnesota

Historic scenes in Minnesota's early days, before she was admitted to statehood, hectic happenings in the fur-trading business when Minnesota was an integral part of the battleground between America's two leading fur companies, will be depicted in the 1935 Historical pageant which opens Sunday, June 30, at Itasca State park. The performance will be the first of 12 to be given throughout the summer at the various state parks in Minnesota.

Chief figures of this early Minnesota history include John Baptiste Cadotte, Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, Rev. William Boutwell, William A. Aitkin, Hester Crooks, and Joseph Renville, all colorful, intrepid characters whose valorous deeds went far toward establishing the then seething, riotous territory into a state governed by law and order.

The picturesque voyageur, with his odd dress: dark trousers, deerskin leggins, short shirt, blue capote, red wool cap, gaudy sash, gay beaded bag hanging from the sash, and the inevitable pipe, is faithfully portrayed in the pageant story.

Odd methods of trade which the white man employed: a stack of beaver pelts piled on the ground to equal the height of the gun the Indian wanted, soon became outmoded when the Indian discovered the true value between pelts and gun, and cash payment was established. And sometimes the pipe of peace was smoked with the same insincerity on the part of the red man and his white brother showed in barter, with the result that ambushes were so frequent they became almost monotonous (except to those directly involved), and skirmishes were so frequent they finally flared into open and prolonged warfare. Then the colonists moved in, and the Indian found himself gradually, but surely, moving out.

So goes the story of the 1935 Minnesota historical pageant which opens Sunday, June 30, at Itasca State park, repeats there on July 14, and then proceeds to Whitewater State park a week later, where history will be given another chance to repeat itself, on July 21. More than 200, including 50 Chippewa Indians from the White Earth reservation, take part. Presentations at Jay Cooke and Fort Ridgely parks will be held during the month of August.

Auto Races at Grand Forks Fair Saturday

Automobile racing returns to this section for the 1935 season with the opening meet scheduled for Saturday on the state fair track at Grand Forks.

Dan McGowan, manager of the exposition, expects between 15 and 20 drivers to compete in the different events, open to all pilots. Entry blanks have been mailed to more than 100 dirt track and speedway drivers, including the greatest in the country. Greater speed than ever is expected in dirt track meets this year, as new rulings of the association permit the use of superchargers and remove the limit on piston displacement and compression ratio. These new advantages are figured to set up a list of new track records over the entire circuit.

Red River Valley History

By Wm. V. Working

Origin of Pennington Co. Names—Resuming the study of geographic names of Pennington county we read:

"Mavie is a village on the electric railway in Clover Leaf township. Mayfield township was named in honor of A. C. Mayfield, who was one of its early homesteaders, coming from Wisconsin. Norden township at the north side successively of Polk, Red Lake and Pennington counties, received this name, meaning northern, from the languages of its Norwegian and Swedish settlers.

"North township, next east of Norden, is named similarly for its location, and for its including the most northern part of the Red Lake river, at the city of Thief River Falls. Numedal township bears the name of a river in Norway, and of the series of farms and pasture lands along its valley. Polk Center township, the most southwestern in this county, was named for its situation near the center of the original area of Polk county.

"Reiner township was named in compliment for Reinhard Johnsrud, who later was the township treasurer. River Falls township has rapids of the Red Lake river, flowing over glacial drift boulders, at St. Hilaire village, and in other parts of its course through this township.

"Rocksbury township was named in honor of Martin Rockstad, one of its first settlers, whose homestead farm in section 4 nearly adjoined Thief River Falls. Rockstad, more exactly bearing his name, was the earliest post office there, established about the year 1882, at a trading station in or near the south edge of the present city area, as before mentioned in the notice for Kratka township.

"St. Hilaire, a Great Northern railway village, on the west side of the Red Lake river in the northwest corner of River Falls, platted in 1882, was named by Hon. Frank Ives for the French statesman and author, Jules Barthelemy-Saint-Hilaire, who was born in Paris, Aug. 19, 1805, and died Nov. 24, 1895. The former railway branch from Crookston to St. Hilaire began its regular train service on July 4, 1883.

"Sanders township was named in compliment for Sander Engebretson, a native of Hallingdal, Norway, who was one of its pioneer farmers. Silverton township received this euphonious name by vote of its people. It is near the eastern limit of the silverberry, a shrub having whitish leaves and bearing edible berries of the same silvery color, common along the Red river valley and thence far westward.

"Smiley township was named in honor of William C. Smiley, who in 1904 was the county surveyor of Red Lake county, and in recent years has practiced law in St. Paul. Star township, for which the name Zenith had been proposed by Joseph Johnson, received its name by vote of its people, who thought Zenith difficult to pronounce. It has reference to the polar or north star, in the French language 'L'Etoile du Nord' of the state seal, whence Minnesota is popularly called the North Star State.

"Sunbeam, a post office in Highlanding township, was named by W. G. Hunt, publisher of its local newspaper, which has the same name.

Next on the list is Thief River Falls, but we already have dealt with the origin of its name, so we go on to the next and read:

"Torgerson, a post office in Reiner, was named for Mikkle Torgerson, a homestead farmer, who was the first clerk of this township. Wyandotte township bears the aboriginal name of a confederation of four Iroquoian tribes, called Hurons by the French, who lived in the part of Canada southeast of Lake Huron by the French, who lived in the part of Canada southeast of Lake Huron and the Georgian bay. It is also the name of counties in Ohio, Michigan and Kansas. In the year 1655, Huron and Ottawa exiles, driven from their homes by raids of the Iroquois, accompanied Groseilliers and Radisson to Prairie Island of the Mississippi on the southeast boundary of the present state of Minnesota."

Next we take up the name of rivers in the county. In this instance there are no elusive sources of names, since all of them appear to have been of the most prosaic origin, as the following paragraph indicates:

"Black river and Thief river have been noted in the preceding pages, for the township and city named for them. Red lake and the streams to which its name is given, Red Lake river, crossing this county, and the Red river on the west boundary of the state, are considered in the first chapter, which treats of lakes and rivers that belong partly to several counties, and they are again somewhat fully noticed in the chapter of Red Lake county. The glacial and modified drift in Pennington county, and the relatively thin lacustrine and alluvial beds which in some parts of this area cover the drift, were spread very evenly on the bed of the Glacial Lake Agassiz, so that the surface has no hollows holding lakes." — Northwestern Feature Service.

AGE OF MUSHROOM-GROWING CAR GIVEN BY RESIDENT

Sleepy Eye.—The question often asked as to how old some cars have to be before growing mushrooms has been answered in part by Al Seidl of this city. His seven year old car was the object of a crowd of curious people all last week. The first Al noticed the growth was when the mushrooms began pushing their heads thru tiny cracks in the fabric covering. In a few days there were eight stools about an inch and a half high and still growing.

YOU ALWAYS GET BETTER QUALITY AT NO HIGHER PRICE WHEN YOU BUY A FIRESTONE TIRE WITH FIRESTONE NAME AND GUARANTEE

TIRES may look alike on the outside, but on the inside where blowouts start, they are different. Firestone Tires are made blowout-proof by Gum-Dipping, a patented extra process which soaks every cotton cord and insulates every strand with pure liquid rubber. In fact, every 100 pounds of cotton cords absorb eight additional pounds of liquid rubber. This special process prevents internal friction and heat, the main cause of blowouts. No other make of tire is Gum-Dipped, yet you pay no more for Firestone blowout-proof protection.

The make of tires you buy for your car becomes a matter of vital importance when you realize that in 1934 alone 43,000 accidents were caused by blowouts, punctures and skidding.

Firestone High Speed Gum-Dipped Tires hold all world records on road and track for safety, speed, mileage and endurance — undisputed evidence that Firestone Tires are not only blowout-proof but give greatest protection against skidding.

THERE ARE THREE QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS THAT WILL SOLVE YOUR PROBLEM OF WHAT TIRES TO BUY

1 "Will the tread give me the greatest traction and protection against skidding?"

Recent tests by a leading University show that Firestone High Speed Non-Skid Tires stop a car 15% quicker than any other of the leading makes.

For eight consecutive years Firestone Tires have been on the winning car in the dangerous Pike's Peak Race where a skid means death. This is undisputed evidence that Firestone gives car owners greatest protection against skidding.

2 "Are they blowout-proof?"

Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have the most amazing records for being blowout-proof of any tires ever built. In the gruelling 500-Mile Race at Indianapolis, May 30th, every one of the 33 cars was equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. Kelly Petillo won the race and broke the record over this 26-year-old rough brick track without tire trouble—in fact, not one of the 33 drivers had tire trouble of any kind.

Ab Jenkins drove his 5,000 pound car on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires over the hot salt beds of Utah, 3,000 miles in 23½ hours, at an average speed of 127.2 miles per hour, with temperatures as high as 120°, without tire trouble of any kind. These are most amazing proofs of blowout protection ever known.

3 "Without sacrificing these two important safety features will they give me longer mileage, thus making them the most economical tires I can buy?"

Firestone High Speed Tires not only give you more than 50% longer wear, but also lowest cost per mile. This is made possible by the tough, wear-resisting tread built with higher shoulders and a wider, flatter contour. This thick, rugged, scientifically designed tread is held securely to the Gum-Dipped cord body by Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of cords under the tread. This is a special construction feature not used in any other tire. Unequalled mileage records by thousands of car owners add undisputed evidence of the longer wear and greater economy of Firestone High Speed Tires.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION
1 University tests show Firestone High Speed Tires stop cars 15 to 25% quicker.
2 Gum-Dipped cords give greater blowout protection. Gum-Dipping is not used in other tires.
3 Wider, flatter tread gives more than 50% longer non-skid wear.

YOU GET A RUN FOR YOUR MONEY

(a long, fast one!)

Because of the extra Live Power—real working power—now at your command in Standard Red Crown you get long, low-cost mileage. But economy isn't the only big feature of this 1935 gasoline.

The increased power output has a twofold purpose: (1) to restore, in older motors, a major share of their former speed, keenness and vigor; (2) to give new-car owners the full performance capacity of the 1935 motors.

And Standard Red Crown, of course, also has an abundance of Tetraethyl Lead, the finest anti-knock agent—yet it still sells for the price of "regular."

From any angle, it is the best buy in gasoline today. Stop for a tankful where you see the familiar sign of . . . STANDARD OIL SERVICE.

VIKING

The anual meeting of the Viking Shipping Association was a success with a greater attendance than for many years. Considering the strong competition from individual buyers and truckers, the association has met with fairly good success and judging by the enthusiasm shown at the meeting even better results will be in all probability be seen at the next annual meeting. A resolution was passed for a truck service for those who can not bring stock to the station. Just call the manager and a truck will come and bring it to the stockyards. All present were pleased to receive a dividend check.

SAFETY EXHIBITS WILL BE SHOWN AT PENNINGTON FAIR

Highway Department Joins in Campaign to Curb Traffic Mishaps

Exhibit space has been made available free of charge to the Pennington County Public Safety committee by the Pennington county fair association for a safety display at the fair to be held July 30 -August 2. Offer of space was made by Secretary R. J. Lund for the fair board in response to the suggestion of C. H. Zealand, St. Paul, Director of the Minnesota Public Safety Committee.

The state department of highways, and the State Emergency Relief administration are cooperating in the preparation of model miniature maps which will show the new type of railroad grade separations and highway intersections some of which are planned for Minnesota as part of the new federal relief work program. One of these maps will be available for inclusion in the safety exhibit.

Chief Officer J. P. Arnold, of the state highway patrol, has offered to cooperate to the extent of assigning two uniformed highway patrolmen to distribute literature and answer questions on traffic regulations at all local fairs for which safety exhibits are arranged provided information reaches him sufficiently in advance of fair dates to permit proper arrangements being made.

Local public safety committees have been urged by the Minnesota Public Safety Committee to prepare "Spot Maps" to show the location of all traffic accident fatalities occurring in the community and to make such maps a prominent feature in their fair safety exhibit.

The Public safety committee of Pennington county consists of W. H. Quist, chairman; Police Chief A. B. Stenberg; A. M. Campbell, county attorney H. O. Berve, sheriff Arthur Rambeck; Supt. Morris Bye, W. E. Dahlquist, Dr. O. F. Melby, Andrew Ellingson, Highlanding; Oscar Gunstad, St. Hilaire; W. H. Mann; and Leonard Johnson, Goodridge.

Place your printing order today! It will be delivered when you want it. Phone 16.

Bonds of Federal Land Bank Called for Payment

Bonds of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul which have been drawing 4½ per cent interest since 1923, 1924 and 1925 will be retired July 1 and will be replaced by consolidated federal farm loan bonds drawing a lower rate of interest, issued jointly by 12 Federal Land Banks, it was announced this week by the St. Paul bank. Holders of the bonds may present them for payment July 1 or any later time at any federal reserve bank, and after that date they will bear no interest. Present holders will be favored as far as practicable in allotting the bonds to be issued in their place. It is from the sale of bonds that the Federal Land Bank obtains the funds it lends to farmers, and the savings obtained by the lower interest rates are reflected in lower rates on the loans made subsequently.

County Agent Supplies Information on Means of Killing Dandelions

When dandelions take possession of the lawn, there are a number of ways to proceed to get rid of them, depending on the degree of infestation says E. H. Norum, assistant county agent. If only a few scattered plants are present, "spotting" or individual treatment of plants with toxic chemicals may be resorted to quite successfully. Chemicals may be applied either to the crown or to the cut surface of the taproot. Common liquid toxins are gasoline, sulphuric acid, or a solution of ammonium sulphate. A few drops may be applied with a dropping bottle. Common dry chemicals are ammonium sulphate, iron sulphate, sodium nitrate or sodium chlorate. These may be applied with a spoon.

General treatment must be resorted to in cases of heavy infestation. In this case the effectiveness of treatment depends on selective poisoning or crowding, or both. An application of 1 gallon per 300 sq. ft. of a solution of iron sulphate, 1½ pounds per gallon, applied with a pressure sprayer will be helpful in thinning dandelions if the treatment is repeated four or five times at intervals of ten days. This is most effective when plants are just budding, and should be applied in the forenoon of a clear warm day. Caution must be used, for this spray will permanently stain clothing and cement work a yellowish brown color, and is extremely corrosive in contact with metals.

Another treatment is the application of ammonium sulphate. Apply at the rate of 6 pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn preferably on a dewy morning. If weather is dry, wash it with a spray from a hose sometime the same day to prevent burning the grass. Ammonium sulphate acts first as a selective poison for broad leaved plants and later fertilizes the soil, inducing a thick growth of grass, which tends to prevent the encroachment of weeds.

After thinning the stand in this manner, "spotting" may be necessary to totally eradicate the dandelions.

LOCALS PROVE 'YOUR BARK IS WORSE THAN YOUR BITE'

Benson Athletic carnival promotors who challenge all comers will pass up this city in the future judging from the reception which the carnival that played here during the recent state fireman's convention, received. One of the main attractions on the midway was Irish Kennedy, former welterweight champion of the twin cities. He offered 20% cut of the gate to any fighter who could stay four rounds with him. But the Irishman took in too much territory and when Johnny Matos, a local, let go a hay-maker, it took a doctor several hours to revive him. Art Knutson, of Montevideo, stayed with the wrestler on a like proposition to collect another 20% of the gross receipts.

PENNINGTON 4-H WORKERS WINNERS AT SHORT COURSE

Get Championship Banner for Showing in Inter-County Events

In competition with thirteen Northwestern Minnesota counties, Pennington county scored the highest total number of points in all inter-county contests and thus was awarded the championship banner at the close of the 4-H club short course held at the Northwest School of Agriculture during the past week. Second place was captured by Norman county, with Kittson county, third.

East Otter Tail county won first in the general livestock judging contest, with a score of 777 points, with East Polk county, second; Norman, third, and West Otter Tail, fourth. Myles Nelson, E. Otter Tail, was highest ranking individual, followed by Olaf Hedlund, Kittson county.

In the dairy judging contest, Clearwater county ranked first with 639 points; Norman county, second; Mahnomen, third, and Lake of the Woods, fourth. Palmer Freborg, Clearwater, was high individual, with Irwin Stenborg, Clearwater, second, and Wesley Johnson, Becker, third.

The three highest ranking one-act plays were "Pearls" by a Clay county group, first; "Elmer" by West Polk, second, and "Putting on the Dog" by Marshall county, third, with "Dr. Mable", east Polk, as alternate.

The three highest ranking vocal groups were: Clay County octette, first; Roseau county trio, second, and Kittson county trio, third, with the West Polk County sextette, as alternate. In the instrumental group, the Pennington county band ranked first, with the Clearwater county band second.

The three winning one-act plays, together with the three highest ranking vocal groups and the Pennington county band will compete in the statewide 4-H contest to be held during Minnesota State Fair week.

Marshall county captured championship honors in the crops judging contest with a total score of 1281, followed by Pennington county, second, and West Polk, third. Wesley Hazelton, Kittson county, was the highest ranking individual with Frank Hughes, Mahnomen, second, and William Zak, west Polk, third.

Silver trophies were awarded first place winners in the general livestock judging, dairy judging, and crops judging contests.

Pennington county swept the field in the athletic section with a total score of 470 points compared with 131 points for Norman county, which ranked second, and 315 points for Kittson county, which ranked third.

Four separate divisions were arranged for the Better Groomed Girl contest: one for girls under fifteen, and one for girls over 15 during the first session of the short course, and similar groupings during the second session. In the division for girls 15 and under, Bernice Peterson, East Otter Tail, and Dorene Thoelke, Mahnomen, won first place. Those receiving honorable mention included Mildred Torkelson, East Polk; Morrell Reibhoff, Becker; Audrey Johnson, West Otter Tail; Edith Clow, Kittson; Clara Berg, Red Lake, and Janet Krause, Clearwater. Other county contestants in the younger division included Dolly Dyer, Norman; Shirley Giese, West Polk; Violet Goulet, Roseau; Adeline Anderson, Marshall; Vrone Schultz, Pennington, and Shirley Walser, Lake of the Woods.

First prize winners in the class for girls over fifteen included Hazel Ervestrom, East Polk, and Marie Skottem, Pennington. Those receiving honorable mention included Juliette Jacobson, Clearwater; Clara Waldal, Red Lake; Rene Mortenson, Kittson; Hazel Jacobson, West Otter Tail; Emma Gernmoius, Norman, and Eileen Burk, East Otter Tail. Other county representatives included Joyce Jensen, Roseau; Lydia Molacek, Becker; Ruby Howard, Marshall; Vernette Rivard, Lake of the Woods, and Mildred Johnson, Mahnomen.

Between 900 and 1000 4-H club members were in attendance during the week, while a total of 100 junior and senior club leaders registered for the special leadership course. District Club Leader H. A. Pflughoeft was assisted by members of the staff of the Northwest School of Agriculture, state club leaders, agricultural extension specialists, and county agents and club leaders from the thirteen counties included in the conference.

More than 125 4-H club members and leaders were in attendance from Pennington county.

FIFTY MILLION DOLLAR INSTRUMENT SETS RECORD

Detroit Lakes—Large instruments and large investments go together, and one of these instruments which was one of the largest and most heavily financed ever recorded in Becker County was recently reported. This is a trustees mortgage and trust deed given by Swift & Company to the First National Bank of Chicago in the sum of $50,000,000 and it carried revenue stamps in the sum of $13,000,000. The instrument is preparatory to the floatation of a bond issue of that amount, and the law requires that it be filed in every county in the United States where the company owns property or branch houses such as the one in Detroit Lakes. It consists of 237 pages of text matter and its transcription occupies more than 20 pages of typewritten matter, closely spaced, and on both sides of the register of deeds record.

196 PERSONS NOW ARE ENTERED IN SWIMMING WORK

Chalmers Will Hold Adult Classes Five Evenings Each Week

A steady growth has been experienced during the past week in swimming classes being conducted at the Tindolph park pool by Donald Chalmers under the sponsorship of the local unit of the Red Cross, a total of 196 men, women and children now taking part.

Mr. Chalmers announced that registrations will be made Friday evening at the beach for adult classes which will be held at 7:30 and 8 o'clock every evening except Saturday and Sunday.

He also stated that docks are being built in deep water for diving swimming races and recreational games. The games are scheduled for each afternoon between the hours of 3:30 and 5 o'clock.

Air Conditioned Cars Now on Soo-Winnipeg Trains

Two air conditioned Pullman cars of the latest type appeared Monday for the first time on the Soo Line trains serving points between St. Paul and Minneapolis and Winnipeg, indicating that the system is doing its part to keep abreast of the latest in transportation trends. One of the cars is a sleeper-observation car and the other is a sleeper-compartment car.

WORK BEGINS MONDAY ON NEW TENNIS COURT

Preliminary work was begun Monday on the new concrete tennis court on the Lincoln high school athletic field, the contract for which was let by the board of education June 20 to August A. Johnson.

Postal Receipts Here Hit All-Time Record

Local Delegation to Leave Friday at 6:30 on Warren Fair Trip

As a friendly gesture to sponsors of the Marshall county fair at Warren, in progress this week, a cavalcade of cars filled with Thief River Falls citizens will journey to Warren Friday evening, leaving from the Auditorium promptly at 6:30 in order to arrive in time for the evening program at the fair, opening at 7:30. The local delegation will be headed by Alf Borry, chairman of the tour committee of the Civic and Commerce association, and will be accompanied by the Legion auxiliary drum corps, which it is expected will perform before the grandstand in Warren. As in past years a delegation of Marshall county residents will return the visit in the course of the Pennington county fair scheduled for July 30 to August 2.

Gain $4,305.14 for the Past Fiscal Year, Postmaster Anderson Reports

Setting a new all-time record, receipts at the Thief River Falls postoffice for the fiscal year ending June 30 aggregated $33,040.60, a gain of $4,305.14 over last year's previous high mark of $28,735.46, Postmaster Andrew Anderson announced today. The increase was consistently maintained thruout the year, each quarter of the past year showing a substantial gain.

The steady growth in volume of receipts at the local office is revealed in a comparison of figures for the past twenty years. In the 1915 fiscal year the total was $20,250.64, this amount growing to $25,257.24 in 1920, $26,865.35 in 1925 and $27,117.54 in 1930.

An estimated ten per cent of the increase for each of the past three years is ascribed by postoffice officials to the three cent rate on first class postage which went into effect in July, 1932, but the principal factor is the growth in business activity in the community.

Receipts, including sales of postage stamps and stamped envelopes, box rentals and second and third class postage, were as follows for each quarter of the past two years:

	1933-34	1934-35
September	$ 6,059.36	$ 6,874.30
December	9,133.34	10,464.71
March	6,619.59	7,625.34
June	6,923.17	8,076.25
	$ 28,735.46	$ 33,040.60

SKARSTAD RESIGNS AS CASHIER OF THE UNION STATE BANK

Belle Plaine Banker Will Succeed to Position in August

Alfred Skarstad, cashier of the Union State bank during the past two years, resigned from his post effective Monday, July 1, it was announced by Leon J. Kulther, vice president of the institution.

Mr. Skarstad, who is withholding announcement of his future plans for the time being, will be succeeded by E. O. Peterson, formerly president of the First National bank of Belle Plaine, Minnesota, where he has been located the past fifteen years.

Mr. Peterson, who is married and has two sons, plans to assume his new duties shortly after August 1. The bank with which he was associated in Belle Plaine is also affiliated with the Northwest Bancorporation.

LOCAL BALL TEAM DROPS TWO GAMES DURING THE WEEK

Dekko's Men Will Meet N. D. State Mill Team Here Next Sunday

Shorty Dekko's Giants dropped two games last week to the Crookston Pirates and the Page, N. D., Independents. Crookston came out on the long end of a 10 to 4 score and Page trimmed the Giants by an 8 to 1 count.

Danny Boone and his Crookston Pirates last Friday held the Giants to four runs while they themselves collected ten. The local club started out with a bang when they collected two runs in the second inning when Langlie singled to center and Haugen reached first on Bergman's error. Nordby scored Langlie on a long single to right and Haugen scored on Hovden's fly ball to right field.

Crookston scored four runs in the fourth in a three base hit to right by Blanchard and singles by Davidson, Johnson, Patras and Boone with two men scoring on Haugen's error of Mucciolas ground ball. Crookston scored one more run in the fifth and three in the sixth. Baumgartner then settled down and the Pirates didn't score again until the ninth inning when they drove in the two final runs when Johnson tripled to right and scored on Celusta's single with Celusta scoring on Bergman's single to right to end the scoring.

Thief River scored their third run in the sixth when Groningen reached first on Bergman's error and Langlie drove him in with a sharp single to right field. In the seventh inning the Giants scored the final run for the day when Hovden singled and scored on errors by Hallet and Celustas.

The Pirates displayed a team that could hit in the pinches while the local club couldn't handle the ball, making for errors with men on base to account for four of the Pirates' scores. Thus Langlie and

New Phone Directory Has 50 More Listings

Ready for distribution Monday to local residents served by the telephone exchange was the 1935 directory, the first to be issued since last July. The current issue has approximately 1,750 listings, Manager A. J. Rau announced, this figure representing an increase of about 50 listings since the last directory was published, and indicating an increase in the population of the Thief River Falls community. The book is a product of the Times print shop.

HENNING MAN NEW COMMANDER NINTH DISTRICT LEGION

Legion, Auxiliary Meeting Concluded at Bagley Monday

Marion Thompson of Henning was elected commander of the ninth district, American Legion, at the closing session of the three day convention late Monday in Bagley.

The only other officers named are two vice commanders, Andy Peterson of Bagley and Oscar Holton of Ada.

The auxiliary re-elected all its officers, headed by Mrs. T. L. Stickney of Crookston, president.

Participants included Crookston's auxiliary drum corps, Thief River Falls Legion auxiliary drum corps, the North Dakota champions from Fargo, and drumming outfits from Breckenridge, Detroit Lakes, Park Rapids, Grand Forks, Eagle Bend and Pelican Rapids.

WINDSTORM AT MARCOUX KILLS MAN WEDNESDAY

Another Critically Injured; Polk Co. Beet Worker Also Killed

Two men were killed and eight people were injured, one reported to be in a critical condition, in a storm that swept from south of Crookston to Marcoux and Mentor Wednesday afternoon, according to reports received as the Times was going to press. John Farden, a farmer of Tilden township, two miles south of Marcoux, was crushed to death by the roof of his barn which was blown off.

Jerry Williams, a hired man on the same farm was also injured and was reported to be in a critical condition at the Erskine hospital. The second death was Sam Sancedo, a Mexican beet worker, killed on the Delber farm six miles southwest of Crookston.

Property damaged according to scattered reports was:

Barn damaged on John Farden farm, 2 miles south of Marcoux.

Two cabins wrecked at Marcoux.

All buildings but house wrecked on Omer Hoole farm ½ mile north of Marcoux.

Barn twisted and all but four trees of grove down on farm of John Kass, 2 miles south of Marcoux.

Corner of fine school at Mentor blown off.

Five barns in Mentor area reported down.

Large barn destroyed and two horses killed on Henry Thiele farm 8 miles south of Red Lake Falls.

Four Candidates in Field for Two Posts on the School Board

With the ending Wednesday of the period for filing of candidates for the two positions on the board of education to be filled in the annual election Tuesday evening, July 16, four candidates were in the field. They include Mrs. Frances E. Larson and Olaf Neset, the two incumbents; and Dr. A. M. Smith and William J. Dezoule, the last named having filed Monday.

N. W. LUTHERAN ASSEMBLY TO MEET SUNDAY

Squaw Point to be Scene of Annual Gathering of Lutherans

PRESIDENT OF LUTHER COLLEGE WILL SPEAK

Dr. O. J. Preus to Speak at Morning and Afternoon Services

The annual Northwest Lutheran assembly, sponsored by the Thief River Falls circuit of the Norwegian Lutheran church of America, will be held next Sunday at Squaw Point, Rev. R. M. Fjelstad, president of the organization, announced today.

The speaker of the day will be Dr. O. J. H. Preus, who will conduct services at 11 in the morning and at 2:30 in the afternoon. Dr. Preus, who is president of Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, is a member of the third generation of a distinguished family of Lutheran church workers, his father, Dr. C. K. Preus, having preceded him as president of Luther college, and his grandfather, Rev. H. A. Preus, having been a pioneer Wisconsin pastor.

Rev. H. O. Peterson of Viking will serve as liturgist at the services Sunday, and several musical numbers will be presented, including songs by the North Star college quartet.

Officers of the assembly, in addition to Reverend Fjelstad, include M. M. Peterson of Greenbush, vice president; John Wold, secretary; and L. A. Nelson, treasurer. Committee chairmen assisting in handling arrangements for the event include J. H. Hermanson, refreshments; Carl Christofferson and Severt Benson, coffee; L. H. Larson, stands and seating; and Christ Engen, Lewis Nelson and E. A. Yonke, parking.

COSGROVE TAKES CHARGE OF BLOCK ON LABREE AVENUE

Sells Cafe and Beer Parlor; to Operate Rooming House

James Cosgrove Monday transferred the ownership of his cafe and beer parlor on LaBree av., to L. J. Stokke of the Holt community, who took over the operation of the establishment immediately.

At the same time Mr. Cosgrove, who has been in business in the city the past 20 years, announced that he had acquired the two story Meehan property on South LaBree av., and that beginning August 1 he would operate the second floor as a rooming house, 28 rooms to be available.

The work of renovating the building, which has been unoccupied recently, has been in progress the past month. Mr. Cosgrove stated that he had rented one of the two store spaces on the first floor to John Lind of Hutchinson, Minnesota, who is expected to occupy the quarters at once. Mr. Cosgrove indicated that he may use the other first floor room for his own purposes.

70 Former Residents at California Picnic

Homer Mussey Submits Interesting Account of Annual Gathering

The following account of the annual California picnic of former Thief River Falls citizens is supplied to readers of the Times thru the courtesy of Homer Mussey, a former resident of this community. Older residents of the city will find many familiar names in the list of those in attendance. Mr. Mussey's story follows:

Seventy former residents of Thief River Falls, now residing in Southern California, and comprising membership in the Thief River Falls Society, headed by Pres. Oscar Spenheim, gathered at Recreation Park in Long Beach on Sunday, June 23. It was the annual summer picnic, and the attendance was the largest on record.

Recreation Park is an ideal natural picnic ground, attested to by the fact that several other city and state groups met for their annual confabs last Sunday. The former Thief Riverites began to arrive early in the day and the first event was the Golf Tournament. No definite information as to the "champ" was divulged, but it was noticed that Pres. Spenheim seemed to be pocketing most of the prize money.

Noontime found picnic lunches spread upon the tables. Coffee, brewed and served by Mrs. Emil

COURT UPHOLDS DIRECTORS OF T. R. CREAMERY

Denies Plea for Injunction to Prevent Sale of Building

JUDGE MONTAGUE HANDS DOWN ORDER

Court Holds Defendants Are Entitled to Costs and Disbursements

An end to litigation instituted a year ago by a group of shareholders in the local cooperative creamery to enjoin the board of directors from selling the creamery building to Land O'Lakes Creameries was seen Tuesday when Judge J. E. Montague filed an order with Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund denying the plea for a permanent injunction.

Judge Montague's order reads, "The court finds that the defendants are entitled to the judgment of the court denying the prayer for relief of the plaintiffs and of the intervenors and dismissing the complaint of the plaintiffs and intervenors on the merits, and that the defendants are entitled to recover their costs and disbursements in this action. A stay of 30 days is entered".

This action was brought against the creamery August 21, 1934, by a group of 13 members headed by L. O. Stenseth. This was dismissed in November, and the present action brought, being tried before Judge Montague at a special term of court April 5 of this year. Charles E. Boughton, Sr., of Red Lake Falls represented the plaintiffs, while Theodore Quale appeared for the intervenors and Paul Lundgren and Lincoln Arnold represented the defendant creamery board.

In his review of the case Judge Montague briefly outlined the history of the creamery, citing the fact that the building was erected in 1921 at a cost of $32,000, and that, finding the structure too large for its needs, the board in 1934 entered into negotiations with Land O'Lakes Creameries to sell the building or trade it for a smaller one more suited to the needs of the institution. The record further shows that when the matter was submitted to the stockholders at a legally called meeting August 3, 1934, 62 voted in favor of the proposal to sell and 17 against.

Dr. E. M. Sorenson of Round Lake, Minnesota, Joins Bratrud Clinic

Dr. E. M. Sorenson, who has been practicing medicine in Round Lake, Minnesota, the past two years, Monday of this week joined the staff of the Bratrud clinic, and will specialize in children's diseases. Dr. Sorenson was graduated from the medical school of the University of Minnesota in 1932 and served as interne at Ancker hospital in St. Paul, since when he has been at Round Lake. His wife will join him here as soon as he has made arrangements for living quarters.

HIGHWAY WORKERS MEET

The regular meeting of the highway employees' unit of the Independent Union of All Workers will meet Sunday at 1 o'clock, it was announced today by Herman A. Kjos, recording secretary.

Local Man is Charged With Violating Parole

Charged with violating a parole which has been effect since a year ago when he was implicated in the theft of a motorcycle, Merlon Cole of this city will shortly be brought before Judge M. A. Brattland in district court. Cole was arrested Saturday evening on a charge of entering the home of Mrs. Martha Lustad on East Bridge st. and taking a sewing machine and clock and selling them.

Firemen Respond to Three Calls Wednesday

The fire department was summoned to the elevator of the Thief River Falls Seed House Wednesday morning when a motor operating under a heavy load began to smoke. Fire failed to develop and there was no damage. Two additional calls were received during an afternoon thunder shower, neither resulting in any fire damage. Firemen were called to the residence of Mrs. A. W. Crown on Riverside av. when lightning followed electric light wires into the house. A fire alarm a few minutes later summoned the department to the Kronoth harness shop when clouds of smoke were seen emerging from the chimney.

Drum Corps Benefit Dance Set for July 12

Local Organization Makes Fine Showing at Bagley Convention

A drum corps benefit dance will be given at the Auditorium Friday evening, July 12, under the sponsorship of Elmer J. Eklund post of the American Legion, it was announced today. The auxiliary drum corps will appear in a floor demonstration in the course of the evening.

Music for the occasion will be supplied by Abbie Andrews and his snappy nine-piece dance band of Fargo. Proceeds of the affair will be used to help defray expenses in connection with sending the drum corps to the state American Legion convention in Albert Lea August 11 to 14, when the local organization is counted on to be a strong contender for the state drum corps championship in Class B. At last year's state convention the Thief River Falls group lost to Aitkin by only .2 of a point for the title.

Playing at the district convention in Bagley Sunday the drum corps demonstrated that it has greatly improved its performance during the past. Competing against the Crookston drum corps, state champion in Class A, the local group was rated at only 6.4 points behind. Rain that fell in the middle of the afternoon greatly hampered the day's program. A large delegation of Thief River Falls citizens was present at the convention to cheer for the local organization, which appeared in costumes of white and gold.

The drum corps is scheduled to give a demonstration today in Red Lake Falls on the occasion of the Fourth of July celebration being staged in that community.

FEDERAL HOUSING AGENCY GETS LOAN REQUESTS IN CITY

D. J. Fouquette of State Organization Spends Tuesday in City

Local money lending institutions, dealers in building materials, architects and local residents contemplating loans for building improvement were interviewed in the city Tuesday by D. J. Fouquette, manager of the financial relations department of the Minnesota division of the Federal Housing administration in Minneapolis, headed by Fred Schilplin of St. Cloud.

Mr. Fouquette's purpose was to solicit the support of and participation in the activities of the housing agency on the part of local residents, and he stated that he met with an unexpected degree of success during his short stay in the city, receiving a number of applications for loans which he said he was hopeful of placing shortly thru local lending agencies.

He explained that the government agency itself makes no loans, limiting its participation to insuring lenders against loss on loans made for new construction, remodeling or financing the purchase of household equipment. Each loan, he said, is judged on its own merits as to its duration and size of installment payments.

Mr. Fouquette came to the city at the request of H. O. Chommie, local attorney for the federal who stated that he had received many inquiries from prospective borrowers whose needs could not be supplied by the organization he represents.

Bjornaraa Reelected Head of Setesdalslag at Meeting in Bemidji

Bj. Bjornaraa of Trail was reelected president of the Setesdalslag at its annual convention in Bemidji which closed last Sunday. Other officers also were retained, including Olaf Neset of this city and John Johnson of Grand Forks, vice presidents; Ingebrigt Lie of Fargo, secretary; Arne Grundeson of Fisher, treasurer; and Gunnar Neslund and B. K. Dahle of this city, Ole Torjenson of Thompson, N. D., and Bernt Seile of Fargo, directors. Mr. Bjornaraa presided at all the sessions, which were well attended, an audience of 1,000 persons being present Saturday evening. Most of the members attended the pageant at Itasca state park Sunday afternoon.

Mercury Hits 90 Mark First Time Wednesday

The mercury reached the 90 degree mark in this city Wednesday morning for the first time this season, the heat being intensified by excessive humidity. The temperature fell early in the afternoon following thunder showers. Warm weather also prevailed the earlier days of the week and hastened the growth of late corn and other field crops.

—Miss Ruth Melby was a guest of the Rotary club at its luncheon Tuesday noon, and provided a novel program of musical entertainment for the members.

Electric Current to be Interrupted Next Two Sunday Mornings

Electric current in the city will be shut off between the hours of 4 and 10 o'clock next Sunday morning and again the following Sunday, July 14, between the same hours, Ole Legvold, superintendent of the water and light department, announced today. The shutdown, he explained, is made necessary by changes being made in the distributing system, and he asked the cooperation of local residents who may be inconvenienced by the interruption in service.

TO FETE FOUNDING 40 YEARS AGO OF ST. JOHNS CHURCH

Two Former Pastors to Speak at Auditorium Services Sunday, July 28th

Elaborate exercises are being arranged for the celebration Sunday, July 28, of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the congregation of St. Johns Lutheran church and the 25th anniversary of the dedication of the present church structure on St. Paul av. S., Rev. V. E. Schroeder, now serving his ninth year as pastor, announced today.

Services commemorating the events will be held in the municipal Auditorium Sunday, July 28, at 11 o'clock in the morning and at 3 in the afternoon. Songs will be supplied by a choral union group of from 75 to 100 voices.

Speakers will include Rev. F. J. Seltz of St. Paul and Rev. P. E. Hoss of Pomeroy, Iowa, both former pastors of the local church, and District President J. C. Meyer of St. Paul. Further details of the day's program will be announced later.

FAINT PROSPECT FOR PAVING ON 32, C. & C. IS ADVISED

Road Group Reports on Conference With Highway Department Aides

Following a report from its road committee on a conference with highway department officials that revealed little likelihood of any paving work being done at an early date on Highway 32 between this city and Marcoux corner, the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday met to reconsider its earlier decision to work actively for the project.

After a discussion of freight rates on coal, heavy hardware and certain other items in which it pointed out there appears to be discrimination against this community as compared to competing points, the matter was referred to the transportation committee of the association for study and a report.

Gamble Store Expands Space by Adding Part of Adjoining Building

The local Gamble store this week took possession of a space 25 feet square in the rear of the Club cigar store operated by Harry Fry in the quarters adjoining the Gamble store on the north. Manager Ralph McCain stated that the stock room would be moved to the added space from its location in the rear of the present quarters, and that the merchandise display space would be correspondingly enlarged. The alteration will involve no change in the operation of Mr. Fry's establishment.

New Lincoln School Farm Department Head Arrives

Harold F. Harrison, until recently head of the agricultural department of the Warren high school, arrived in this city Monday to take over similar duties as head of the recently organized department in connection with Lincoln high school. He stated that he would shortly begin the work of enrolling students in the department. Mr. Harrison will bring his wife and son to this city August 1.

Marriage Licenses on Increase in Pennington

The marriage license business was brisk in Pennington county in June, the month of weddings, Clerk of Court Adolf Eklund reporting a total of fourteen applications for the month compared to ten in June, 1934. For the first six months of the current year, licenses issued numbered an even fifty, compared to 42 for the same period of 1934.

FOWLER QUITS POST; SHORTAGE IS DISCOVERED

Public Examiner Checkup Shows Irregularities of $1,837.12

ARTHUR M. SENSTAD NAMED SUCCESSOR

Complete Audit of Office Will Get Under Way Next Week

Sensational developments following a routine inspection of court house records by men from the office of the state public examiner resulted in the revelation of a shortage in the accounts of County Auditor Harry Fowler, followed by Mr. Fowler submitting his resignation to the county board together with a signed statement admitting his responsibility for the shortage, which is covered by his bond.

The county board met in special session Monday to act on the appointment of a successor in the auditor's office, and after considering several local men named A. M. Senstad, until now city assessor, to serve out Mr. Fowler's unexpired term, which has three and one-half years to run. To assist Mr. Senstad in mastering the details of the office the board appointed W. F. Davnie of Hallock, former Kittson county auditor, to serve for the present as his assistant.

While all records involved in the irregularities in the auditor's office are in the hands of the state public examiner in St. Paul and will be the subject of an official report to be submitted later, members of the county board were informed that the shortage as discovered originated in the issuance in 1931 of a duplicate warrant in the sum of $1,487 which was never registered, and which amount, with interest paid on it, makes a total shortage of $1,837.12. The existence of the duplicate was discovered by the examiners, all outstanding warrants having been called in for payment this spring when a bond issue was disposed of locally.

To insure the newly appointed auditor starting off with all records in order, the board has called on the public examiner to make a complete audit of records in the office, and the work is scheduled to get under way next week. Mr. Fowler was covered by surety bonds in the amount of $2,000, and he informed the board that he would make restitution of the amount of the shortage. He left the city with his family Sunday. County Attorney H. O. Berve stated this week that no prosecution at this time was contemplated, as the county at present does not have in its possession the records involved.

Mr. Senstad, who was sworn into office Monday, has been a resident of Thief River Falls since 1913, having been employed by the Soo Line during that period as brakeman and conductor, and during the last two years he has served as city assessor. Born in La Crosse, Wisconsin, he attended the public schools in that city and also the Wisconsin Business university in La Crosse. Of Scandinavian descent, he is married and the father of three children.

Mr. Fowler had enjoyed a wide reputation as an accountant and as an authority on tax matters, and last winter was elected president of the Minnesota Association of County Auditors.

GLUEKS LEAD IN LOCAL SOFTBALL LEAGUE TO DATE

Niece of Dr. Adkins Married Here Saturday

The home of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Adkins was the scene of a lovely candlelight wedding ceremony Saturday evening when marriage vows were spoken before an improvised altar by the former's niece, Miss Murial Hamilton of Trail, and Leslie Schwarten of Braham. Rev. E. A. Cooke read the service. The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Wiechart of Trail, was dressed in white, with a veil, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Myrtle Ostbauge in a gown of a pink shade, was bridesmaid, and William Franzen attended the groom. Mrs. Agnes Caswell of Trail played the wedding march, and Mr. Dahle sang "O, Promise Me", and "I Love You Truly". Following the ceremony, a reception was given for forty guests on the lawn of the Adkins home. Mrs. Schwarten, who makes her home at Trail with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wiechart, has been employed as a nurse in St. Paul. The couple left on a trip to Yellowstone National Park and will be at home in Braham where Mr. Schwarten is manager of a drug store.

Entertains for Mrs. Marshall

Mrs. Emma F. Marshall of Minneapolis, who was at one time post master at Red Lake Falls and who has been visiting friends here, was guest of honor at a noon luncheon given at the Evelyn Hotel Friday by Miss Effie Hanry. Other guests included Mrs. Marshall's son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Marshall of Alexandria, Virginia, Mrs. Fink and Miss Aitcheson of the same city, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Healy, Mrs. S. E. Hunt, and Mrs. Geo. Christie of Red Lake Falls, Mrs. W. W. Prichard Sr., Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr., Mrs. Arwood Northby, Mr. King Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bryant, Mrs. Mary V. Shaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brumund.

Noon Luncheon

In connection with the meeting of the salesmen employed in the interests of the Peterson-Biddick Co., that was held Sunday, a noon luncheon for thirty-five guests was given at the Palm Garden cafe. Representatives from Crookston, Twin Valley, and this city were present.

Good Cheer Club

The Good Cheer Club will meet with Mrs. Harry Myrom Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Soren Sorenson and Mrs. Chas. Sorensen as assisting hostesses. Everyone welcome.

Asbjornson-Waale Wedding June 23

In the Ebenezer Lutheran church near Oklee, Miss Tella Asbjornson became the bride of Henry Waale at high noon, June 23, with Rev. Dahle reading the service. The Misses Ragna Asbjornson and Hilda Waale, dressed in harmonizing crepe dresses and carrying bouquets of sweet peas and roses, were the bridesmaids. The groomsmen were Asbjorn Asbjornson and Thomas Waale. The bride was gowned in white satin and wore a veil. Her flowers were talisman roses and lilies of the valley. Joyce Myrom was flower girl and Mrs. Chester Myrom sang a solo. Genevieve Magnell of Hazel played the wedding march. Following the ceremony a reception for twenty-five guests was given at the bride's home. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Waale of Goodridge, and a graduate of the local high school and of the Bemidji state teachers' college. He has taught for several years in the Pennington county schools. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gunder Asbjornson of Oklee and has been employed at the Palm Garden cafe during the last two years. After returning from a trip through the Black Hills and Yellowstone National Park, the couple will make their home on the groom's farm near Goodridge.

Girl Scouts Enjoy Outing

Nine of the Girl Scouts of this city enjoyed an outing at Leaf Lake near Henning last week with Miss Harriet Helgulst, substituting for Miss Harriet Lamson, leader, in charge. A schedule of scout camp routine was observed by the members as well as a program of outside activities and social gatherings that are always enjoyed by those who belong to the organization. Those who made the trip were Dorothy Snelling, Marguerite Simonson, Helen Grinde, Frances Stenberg, Carol Reep, Nona Nelson, Lois Jordahl, June Yatsound, and Miss Anderson. Mrs. Alfred Stenberg and Mrs. Grinde accompanied the girls.

For Mrs. Thompson

A miscellaneous shower was given in honor of Mrs. Arthur Thompson at the home of her mother, Mrs. Fred Hollander, Thursday afternoon. The hours were spent hemming towels, and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Soren Sorenson, Mrs. Harry Myrom, and Mrs. Arthur Larson. At the close of the afternoon, the bride was presented by her little cousin, Maurette Ness, with the gifts from those present. Among the guests were the Mesdames W. A. Parbst, Mary Anderson, Laura Feragen, C. G. Hallard, J. Mullins, J. Dougherty, C. W. Mattson, Ole Tavernas, Caroline Barlow, N. Voldness, T. Thompson, O. Austin, C. Booren, H. Ness, H. Myrom, S. Sorenson, C. Sorenson, A. Larsen, F. Hollander, and the Misses Bessie Slinger and Imogene Mattson.

Miss Durah Kelly Married Saturday

In a simple wedding ceremony performed Saturday evening at eight o'clock in Crookston, Miss Durah Kelly and Nels Bjelland were united in marriage with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hill in attendance. The bride wore a light blue chiffon dress fashioned shirtwaist style, floor length, trimmed in crystal buttons. She also wore silver slippers and a corsage of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hill was dressed in a marie blue silk knit dress with white accessories and wore a corsage of sweet peas. A buffet supper for the wedding party and the immediate relatives and friends was given at the Kenneth Hill home following the service. Mr. and Mrs. Bjelland will take a trip through the Black Hills and upon their return will establish their home in Crookston where the groom is engaged in business with the Equitable Life Assurance Company. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Even Bjelland of Erskine and the bride a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Kelly of this city and is well known here having been employed with the Oen Mercantile company for a number of years.

Harvey Swanson Weds Lucille Loeslie Sat.

Harvey Swanson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Knut Swanson, was married Saturday to Miss Lucille Loeslie of Radium. The services was read in Warren by Rev. Brataas in the presence of Roy Swanson and Barbara Loeslie. Mrs. Swanson has been operating a beauty shop in Roseau and Mr. Swanson is employed here with the Thief River Falls Seed House.

For Elizabeth Baker

The members of the sewing club, of which the Mesdames Ray Hanson, Stuart McLeod, Melvin Peterson, Paul Lundell, Edgar Longren, and the Misses Lillian Erickson, Violet Foran and Edna Alexander belong, gave a bridal shower for Miss Elizabeth Baker at the home of Mrs. Lundell Monday evening. Miss Adeline Solmonson was also present. Games were played during the evening with Mrs. McLeod, Miss Alexander, and Mrs. Hanson winning prizes. These were forfeited to the guest of honor. Each guest presented the bride-to-be with a gift and a two-course lunch was served.

St. John's Aid

The St. John's Ladies Aid will meet Wednesday, July 10, in the church parlors with Mrs. H. Brumund as hostess. Everyone welcome.

For Mrs. Owen

A shower for Mrs. Morris Owen was given at her home Wednesday afternoon by approximately thirty of her friends. Those present served a delicious lunch and spent the hours in a social way.

W. C. T. U. News Notes

Mrs. Walter W. Seymour of Chicago, newly elected vice-president of the general federation of Womens' clubs says: "The American home needs a return of the culture and refinement of yesterday, a return of chivalry and courtesy. The new home must be built upon honor and respect. Smoking and drinking are not conducive to refined womanhood and the return of liquor has brought a loose and demoralized life. The adults are much to blame." Chicago Tribune, June 8, 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar R. Smith Go to St. Paul

Oscar R. Smith, who had served for some years as state oil inspector with headquarters in this city and left last week for St. Paul was joined there this week by Mrs. Smith, their future plans not being announced at this time. It was reported locally that the oil inspection district served from Thief River Falls has been divided between the Crookston and Bemidji areas. During their residence here Mr. and Mrs. Smith were particularly active in American Legion and auxiliary affairs respectively, Mr. Smith having served a term as ninth district commander.

For Mrs. Margaret Froats

Complimenting Mrs. Margaret Froats, mother of Dr. C. W. Froats, a number of ladies entertained informally at their homes for her during her visit here. Mrs. C. W. Froats and Mrs. Phil Bryant entertained at a 1:30 luncheon last week; Mrs. H. Brumund had twelve ladies at her home Wednesday, and Mrs. Mary Shaw entertained as many at her home Thursday.

Celebrates Silver Wedding

About seventy friends of Mr. and Mrs. Oleander Uglom gathered at their home Sunday to help them celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. For the occasion Mrs. Uglom wore the dress and veil that had been her wedding costume. She also carried a corsage of white roses and ferns, the same as her bridal bouquet. A dinner was served during the afternoon, the last course including a wedding cake decorated in pink and white. Rev. A. Bjorgan gave a talk to the family and a purse of money was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Uglom.

For Miss Hicks

At a shower given Tuesday evening at the O. Kulseth home for Josephine Hicks, a six o'clock supper was served after which the guest of honor was presented with a dinner set. Those present were the Mesdames Chandler, Peterson, Gillett, Eliason, Johnson, Tripp, M. Kulseth, O. Kulseth, Knutson, Osness, Anderson, Vevea, Morgan, Ryan, Golseth, J Williams, Dicken, Jensen, J. Kulseth, T. Eide, and the Misses Borghild Johnson, Hazel Rux, Laura Rupprecht, Esther Brown, Tracy Soderberg, Ida Golseth, Anna Kvenlog, Gesine Kvenlog and Margaret Tripp.

Attendance at U. of M. Summer School up Third

Increasing confidence in the financial and social future of the northwest is seen in the large increase in enrollment recorded in the University of Minnesota's summer session over that of last year. Nearly 3400 students were registered at the end of the second day, a growth of 27 per cent over the 1934 summer session figures and the largest single enrollment increase ever recorded by one university session over that of the year before. The largest element in the gain came from the College of Education to which teachers from Minnesota and the northwest go to brush up on their professional training and to prepare for advancement. The increase in their numbers reflects a decline in the economic pressure that has been exerted on public school systems, as well as the improved crop and business outlook of this region.

THIEF DOZES TOO LONG, IS NABBED

Farmington — Some people can keep on the job and get by, but when a thief naps while at his work of stealing, it's just too bad. When Proprietor Adams of Westcott went into his [illegible] early Tuesday morning, he found a man asleep. A window of the main door of his [illegible] had been broken open, and just outside were five boxes of candy, thrown out by the strange visitor, who apparently had lain down for a nap before proceeding to complete the job of looting the place. Adams called the sheriff, who accompanied the sleeper to St. Paul where he was arraigned in municipal court.

Claims for shares in the $2,000,000 estate of an Oklahoma Indian have been filed by [illegible]. What do they mean, "Vanishing American"? — Atlanta Constitution.

SILVERTON

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rowley and son Glen of Grand Forks visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Gilbertson. Mrs. Rowley and Mrs. Gilbertson are sisters. —The play cast of "Elmer" all members of Silverton 4-H club and several others attended the community club meeting at Smiley last Friday and put on their play as part of the evenings entertainment. —Wallace and Merle Christensen and Miss Ruby Solmonson returned Wednesday from a trip to Butte, Scoby and other points in Montana.

The Silverton 4-H club meeting proved a great success Wednesday. In spite of a threatening rain storm about 45 4-H club members and parents spent an enjoyable evening at the Geo. Gunderson home, listening to our local 4-H club talents broadcast over S4H station with Severin Barstad, president of the club as master of ceremonies. There were 11 entries in the contest and all were good. The following visitors served as judges, Mrs. Syvert Hanson, Mrs. O. T. Gilbertson, Mrs. Geo. Gunderson, Mrs. Gust Berggren, and Mrs. Oliver Holmen. —Following is the list of Prize-winners: Gladys Hanson won 1st prize with a piano solo; second prize went to Carl and Alphen Berggren for a "Halling Dans." Olive Holman won third prize with a joke. Fourth prize was awarded to Severin Barstad and Arnold Gunderson for the fine rendering of the 4-H club song "Hello". Honorable mention are as follows: Martin Barstad, Silverton wheat and corn surveyor demonstrated wheat field surveying.

Silverton 4-H "June Bug Harmonizers", Tillie and Madaline Gunderson sang two songs.

Raca Woolson gave a reading on "Hank and his old Lizzie".

Ellen Berggren, "Silverton's Shirley Temple", gave an impersonation of Shirley from "Baby take a Bow".

Orpha Grindland, Edwin Berggren, George Gunderson Jr., and Geneva Anderson were beyond compare in wisecracks and jokes, paragraphs of the old English version of "The Fairye Queene" by Chaucer.

An oration by Silas Hanson.

The "Barber Shop Harmony Razors", Alphen Berggren, Silas Hanson, Severin Barstad and Arnold Gunderson sang two songs, the final one being "Good Night Ladies." An excellent lunch was served by Ina and Martha Anderson and Geneva Anderson. The next club meeting is to be our Club tour to be held sometime in July. Notice of date and route will be announced later. —Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Gilbertson, Vivian and Emmy Christen and Geneva Anderson were dinner guests at the Isaac Olson home Sunday. —The Turnwall family visited relatives at Hazel on Wednesday. —Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Olson of Thief River spent Sunday at the O. T. Gilbertson home. Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Woolson and Dorothy also Cora and Alda Gunderson and Mrs. Geo. Biskey enjoyed last Sunday at Itasca Park and witnessed the pageant.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Sorenson and son Sam were callers Sunday evening at the O. T. Gilbertson home.

Mrs. Gilbertson and niece Vivian Christen called at the G. Ranum and Oscar Anderson homes on Thursday. Nelson Bros. truck picked up a mixed load of cattle and hogs in Silverton last week for South St. Paul. —Elline and Jeanette Grinde have been staying with their grandmother, Mrs. A. Barstad for the past week. They returned to their home in Thief River Sunday. Their mother Mrs. H. O. Grinde and daughter Helen spent the past week at Leaf Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Paulson had as their Sunday dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Chris Paulson, Mrs. Carrie Rowley and Will Nelson, all of Thief River Falls. —Visitors at the A. Barstad home Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. Olson and son, Theodore, Mr. and Mrs. Einar Barstad and daughter, June. —Art Sundfor of Fargo, who has been a guest of his cousins, Martin and Severin Barstad for some time, left for his home on Wednesday. —R. S. Rowley and Louis Lindberg of Grand Forks visited at the O. Gilbertson home on Sunday.

Northwest Counties Pay Tribute to Dr. C. Eckles, Late U Farm Dairy Chief

A feature of the Semi-Centennial Agricultural Experiment Station celebration at University Farm last week was the presentation of a bronze memorial tablet in honor of the work of Dr. C. H. Eckles, late chief of the dairy department, University Farm. Dr. Eckles' most outstanding contribution resulted from his research work in connection with mineral deficiency in rations for livestock. This was an especially critical problem in some of the Valley counties; hence, Dr. Eckles' work was of untold value to this section of the state. In recognition of this work, thirteen leading dairy organizations of the Northwest cooperated in the move which led to the presentation of the tablet which now hangs in Haecker Hall where Dr. Eckles carried forward his work that led to national and international recognition. The presentation on behalf of the leading dairy organizations was made by Dr. A. A. Dowell, president of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, and C. M. Peek. Dean W. C. Coffey accepted the memorial on behalf of the University of Minnesota.

JULY FOURTH FESTIVAL AT KARLSTAD

The Karlstad Baptist church holds its annual festival on July Fourth. Three big services will be held during the day beginning at eleven o'clock. Rev. Eric J. Anderson, pastor of Central Baptist church, St. Paul, will be the guest speaker. The Elling Ericson String Band from Greenbush and Virgil Olson of St. Paul will render the music. There will be recreations for the young folks.

July 2-14 Rev. Eric Anderson, who is an experienced pastor and evangelist, will conduct a series of Gospel messages and a much appreciated speaker, Virgil Olson, son of Prof. Adolf Olson of Bethel Seminary, St. Paul, will be in charge of the music.

Physicians Advocate School Tests for Hard-of-Hearing Children

One of the greatest medical and social problems of the day is presented to educators and doctors in the hard-of-hearing child, according to the members of the public health education committee of the Minnesota State Medical Association.

Such children often go along for years, the committee's bulletin says today, before anyone discovers their misfortune. Sometimes they are put down as just slow to learn. Sometimes they become restless, difficult to manage, what are now-a-days called "problem children."

Sometimes the trouble is an aftermath of some respiratory disease of childhood such as measles; sometimes it is the result of neglected "running ears". Occasionally it appears to be an inheritance from families in which there is congenital deafness.

In any case, the simplest, most practical means of finding all of them, in the opinion of physicians, is to apply a simple, reliable test as a routine measure in school.

Many of the children who are found thus to have damaged hearing can be helped if they are discovered early enough. If the hearing cannot be improved, at least special allowances for this disability can be made in school so that they will not be placed in unfair competition with normal school fellows.

Rocksbury Resident Died Last Saturday

Funeral services for Marthe Torstveit who died Saturday, June 29, were held Wednesday at 1:00 from the house and at 2:00 from the St. Pauli church with Rev. Dahle officiating. Mrs. Torstveit was born July 28, 1867 in Hadeland, Norway. In 1894 she was married to Halvor J. Torstveit at Crookston, and has made her home in Rocksbury township the past years. Surviving her are four sons, Joseph and Arthur of Plummer, Melvin and Olaf of Hazel, and three daughters, Mrs. George Larson of this city, Minnie and Anna of Hazel. There are also two brothers in Norway and one in N. Dak., as well as three grandchildren. Mr. Torstveit, a daughter, Hilda, and a son, Otto have preceded her in death.

Card of Thanks

To all those who extended gestures of sympathy and kindness during the illness and death of Mother we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks. Especially do we want to thank those who contributed floral offerings; Rev. E. L. Tungseth; Miss Alma Rust for her song, and Miss Helen Newberry for her playing.

AND THE TAX PAYERS WILL PAY

Another administration "new deal" bill, introduced by Senator Bankhead and passed by the Senate, would authorize the government to make sixty year loans at three and one-half per cent interest to farm tenants who wish to purchase and equip farms. If this measure is enacted into law in its present form it probably will go down as another chapter in the book of ill-advised legislation.

No one will question the lofty purposes of the bill. It would be a fine thing if all tenant farmers could become land owners and land ownership certainly should be encouraged. But offering a tenant a sixty year contract for deed with the idea of encouraging him to join the ranks of the tax payers really borders on the ridiculous. Offering a farm to a thirty year old tenant, which would be a comparatively young tenant, and assuring him that by the time he reaches the age of ninety he will own the place, is not going to appeal to the enterprising type of tenant who would make a successful land owner. The authors of the bill probably reasoned that if a thirty year mortgage is better than a five year mortgage then a mortgage stretched out over sixty years would be still better. This might be good logic if the span of life extended over several centuries but with the average limit of a man's producing years not over forty, a sixty year obligation would be almost as hopeless as tenancy itself.

Farm relief in this form is little more than a sugar coated sleeping tablet administered for the one and only purpose of bringing temporary rest to the restless. While a few individual farmers may derive some benefits from such liberal terms, the lot of agriculture as a whole will certainly not be improved. What the farmer needs is better prices. Greater buying power is the fundamental need. If the farmer's dollar were restored to its normal size then interest rates and taxes would cease to be troublesome problems.

Principal support for the Bankhead farm loan bill comes from those southern states where the tenancy problem is the most serious. And while we do not question the motives of those who support the measure, we will venture to predict that the net result of the bill, if it is enacted into law, will be the sale of several million acres of southern land of doubtful value to the government. A billion dollars is authorized in such loans and it is our guess that the principle beneficiaries of the project will be the present owners of the farms that are to be sold to the tenants. They at least will get the billion dollars. And the tax payers will pay the bulk of the bill.

Gustafson's new addition took definite form over the week-end, adding materially to both the prestige and appearance of the business section of that part of town. Ten years ago the corner was occupied by a little frame structure that barely provided room for a desk and a typewriter. Then a few years later an adjoining blacksmith shop was converted into the very fine quarters that have served as the home of this organization up to the present time. Two years ago the old warehouse was rebuilt as the next step in the development program, and now, with the completion of the job, the original plan will have materialized, providing a modern seventy-five foot building back to the alley with facilities for display, service and automobile storage better than which there are none in this part of the state. It is a record of gradual and consistent growth of which the organization has good reason to be proud.

While there are no official records available, it is generally conceded hereabouts that Wednesday was the warmest day we have had this winter.

THE PAROLE ABUSE
(Duluth Herald)

President Roosevelt has ordered a special study by the department of justice of "abuses of parole," after reading the criminal reports of the suspects in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping case. It is time for some action to put a stop to the abuses of pardon and parole. In nearly all kidnapping and other serious crimes in recent years it has been found that those arrested had long records of sentences to prison from which they had been either paroled or pardoned. Had they been kept in prison they would not have had the opportunity to commit these crimes. Their release from imprisonment was a gross abuse of the parole system.

One of the suspects in the Weyerhaeuser kidnapping was sent to a reform school in 1929 for burglary; a year later was sentenced to serve from one to fifteen years on a similar count; in 1931 received a suspended sentence of between two and fifteen years for second degree burglary and three months later was ordered to serve a similar term for grand larceny. His name next appears in justice department files with charges against him of stealing an automobile, but this was charged to vagrancy and he was sentenced to six months as a "floater." Another of the suspects was committed to prison in the fall of 1927 on a bank robbery conviction. Previously he had been paroled from a prison sentence for grand larceny. As Will Rogers aptly puts it, "these two guys seemed to just have made one night stands out of the jails in the Northwest."

The principle of parole and pardon, aiming at the rehabilitation of offenders, is sound, but the abuses perpetrated by parole boards for political or sentimental reasons are so numerous that the administration of the system must be changed.—

Nearly half of the 36,000 killed in auto accidents during last year, were pedestrians. Statistics show that the most dangerous time of the day, is at dusk. Watch each evening, when driving, that your car is properly lighted, and when walking, be careful to listen and watch for cars when crossing the street. The greatest number were killed in rural sections. Walk on the lefthand side of the road, and keep in sight the oncoming car.—Redwood County Sun.

Local assessors thruout the state have completed making the assessment of personal property. Their task is an extremely important one for the first and most important act in obtaining a fair and just distribution of the tax load is assessment. Assessments do not govern the levy of taxes, but they do govern the distribution of the tax load, and determine whether all people and all property bear a fair share of the necessary expenses of government.—Northfield News.

To drive headlong into an intersection because he has the right-of-way, does not stamp that driver as a careful one. Giving up the right-of-way may waste two or three seconds but it is more comforting than lying in a hospital knowing you were in the right.—Dassel Dispatch.

Man's inventive genius has wrought wonders in nearly every line of endeavor in this country in the last half a century. Almost unbelievable advancements have been made along mechanical lines, in scientific lines, in medicine and surgery. Even the stratosphere has been penetrated and some of its secrets have been learned. But in this latter line we have apparently only scratched the surface. No living man could predict with certainty that the season of 1934 would be extremely dry in this part of the world, or that we would have more rain than we really needed this spring. Nor can any living man give a valid reason for those unusual conditions.—Waseca Herald.

KANS. SMOTHERED IN DUST; FARMER LEAVES FOR MINN.

Minnesota Lake.—Leaving Kansas because "You couldn't see it for dust", Charles Boldman passed thru this city last Friday on a 1,200-mile trip from McPherson in that state to a new home at Zerkel, Minn., in Clearwater county. Traveling with his uncle, a combined bank roll of $7.00, a wagon which had been made into a "Home on wheels" and a team of horses, the four months of their journey had not daunted their spirits. Mr. Boldman says he has been the victim of a series of misfortunes, first a fire which destroyed his home, taking the lives of his wife and daughter, then the drought destroyed his crops, and finally the dust storms were too much so he set out for Minnesota. "while ago you couldn't see it for dust", he says, "and now the whole town's under water." If he can't find work in northern Minnesota he said he could live hunting and fishing near Cass Lake.

TRACTOR DEMONSTRATION
On next Tuesday, July 9th, we plan a big tractor demonstration on the Emil Krause farm, five miles southwest of town, and invite everyone to come and see the performance of the New McCormick-Deering Tractors in several different models, including the famous "W30" and "F12" Farmall. Come and drive these tractors and learn what satisfaction there is to see and feel the sturdy power, the ease of handling these wonderful McCormick-Deering tractors.

NEW DEISIL WHEEL TRACTOR
The McCormick-Deering line now also includes a new deisil wheel tractor. The first of its kind on the market. We also hope to have one of these new deisil engine tractors for our demonstration, if we can get one here by that time.
We expect to start the demonstration at about ten o'clock on the morning of July 9th. IN CASE OF RAIN OR BAD WEATHER, THE DEMONSTRATION WILL BE POSTPONED TO THE 10TH or day following. But we will look for good weather and a large attendance on the 9th.

USED TRUCKS
During the last few days we have traded in several late model low priced trucks, including:

"I like to Stop at Mobilgas Stations"

WE'RE PROUD of the fact that so many men advise their wives and daughters to stop at Mobilgas Dealers and Stations.

For the Mobilgas sign stands for a great deal more than good gasoline and motor oil.

You'll notice that Mobilgas service men are prompt and courteous.

Such things as up-to-date maps and road information . . . air for your tires . . . help with your car . . . are always given cheerfully at the Sign of the Flying Red Horse.

This summer . . . at home and on the road . . . we invite you to stop for this famous Friendly Service . . . as well as for Mobilgas, the largest selling gasoline in America today.

You'll find them both at dealers that display the Sign of the Flying Red Horse.

CALL FOR BIDS

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 18, Thief River Falls, County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, will receive sealed bids on 225 tons, more or less, of screenings adapted for use in Iron Fireman Coal Stoker. These screenings must meet the following specifications:

Location of mine—Eastern Kentucky
Size—1¼ in. or less
Sulphur—.8 or less
Ash—6% to 8%
B. T. U.—14250 dry or more
Fusion point—2650 degrees or higher

Bids will be received also on 200 tons, more or less, of Youghiogheny lump coal or coal of equivalent quality.

A complete analysis stating heat unit content of the coal, the fusion point, the percentage of moisture, of volatile matter, of carbon, of ash, and of sulphur must accompany each bid. If B. T. U. content of coal as received is shown by test to be greater than guaranteed by the analysis furnished with the bid, a proportionate premium will be paid; if it is less, a proportionate penalty will be deducted. City scale weights shall govern in making settlement for coal delivered.

Coal is to be delivered in bins in the different school buildings in Thief River Falls as needed and called for during the school year 1935-1936.

A certified check for $100.00 must accompany each bid.

Bids must be delivered before 7:30 o'clock P. M., July 8, 1935, at the office of the Superintendent of Schools in the Lincoln Building. Bids should be marked, "Bid on Coal." The Board reserves the right to accept any bid in part only, as well as the right to reject any or all bids.

SO. ST. PAUL LIVESTOCK
(By U. S. Department of Agricultural Economics and Minnesota Department of Agriculture)

South St. Paul, Minn., July 1, 1935: The Monday supply of fed steers and yearlings was light and trade ruled firm, such kinds finding a ready outlet. Medium to good fed steers and yearlings cashed at $8.00-9.50, grassy and warmed-up sorts $5.00-7.50. Butcher heifers bulker at $6.00-8.00, most grassy cows $4.50-6.50, cutters $3.25-4.00, sausage bulls $4.25-5.25, better vealers $6.00-7.50.

Stockers and feeders were 25c lower than last Monday, a load of good 630 lb. stock steers earning $7.00, a load of white-faced heifers 6.50, plainer kinds at $6.00 and down. Medium to good stock cows brought $4.00-4.50.

Hog trade was unevenly weak to 25c lower, most 170-290 lb. $9.00-9.15, odd lots to $9.25, 290-290 lb. $8.50-9.00, 290-375 lb. $8.00-8.50, light lights and pigs $8.50-9.00, packing sows and stags $7.00-8.00.

Sheep and lambs were fully steady, bulk better native lambs $8.00, shorn yearlings $5.25-5.75, good to choice ewes $2.00-3.25.

POISONED GAS WELL KILLS TWO WORKERS

Crosby.—Charles Sherlund, 56, was caught in a poisoned gas well, and he and L. W. Richards, 51, a would be rescuer, both died from the effects of the tainted air. Sherlund, assisted by Richards, were repairing an open well at a depth of 50 feet when Sherlund failed to come up for some time. Richards were down to find out the trouble and both were apparently overcome by the "marsh" gas. A similar fate was about to fall after he had just entered the well, when a companion saved him. When Joe Sherlund attempted the descent with a rope tied around his waist, he could only go down 15 feet, when he frantically signalled to be pulled up, quite sick. The fire department of Crosby finally managed to hook the bodies with ice tongs and bring them up.

GRYGLA

East Siders Win

Surprise was again in store to the members of the conservation club at their meeting June 30th. At the present time there are 93 members enrolled and each and every one active. The turnout, as a finale to the crow hunt, exceeded all expectations but it certainly helped to fill out a good evening, filled with pep, goodfellowship and all that goes with it to make a good club. The following is result of the contest: 1142 woodchucks, 2389 gophers, 214 crows, 160 crow eggs, and 322 barnyard rats. The west side scored a total point of 19,691 the East turning in, and winning, with 28,109. Bill Abola won the beautiful hunting knife presented by the club for high point man, with an individual score of 3745. He was pressed by Henry Grundahl finishing with 3210. Together with the 6000 rabbits killed last winter, this shows what little unified actions and cooperative results will do to all these depredatory pests when you go after them. Club activities will somewhat be curtailed for the next three or four months on account of the busy farming season, but when the fall and winter sets in, watch for further activity.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Woods of Hendrum visited at the Peder E. Nelson home. Mr. and Mrs. Woods returned Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. Nelson who continued on to Fargo where she will visit with relatives.
